The court<sup>1</sup> cannot dispense with the consent<sup>2</sup> of any parent<sup>3</sup> or guardian<sup>4</sup> of a child<sup>5</sup> to the child being placed for adoption or to the making of an adoption order<sup>6</sup> in respect of the child unless the court is satisfied that the parent or guardian cannot be found<sup>7</sup> or lacks capacity (within the meaning of the Mental Capacity Act 2005)<sup>8</sup> or that the welfare of the child requires the consent to be dispensed with<sup>9</sup>. These grounds for dispensing with consent are markedly different from the test which formerly applied<sup>10</sup>, under which the court was asked to consider whether the parent or guardian:

- 476 (1) could not be found or was incapable of giving agreement<sup>11</sup>;
- 477 (2) was withholding his agreement unreasonably<sup>12</sup>;
- 478 (3) had persistently failed without reasonable cause to discharge his parental responsibility for the child<sup>13</sup>;
- 479 (4) had abandoned or neglected the child<sup>14</sup>;
- 480 (5) had persistently ill-treated the child<sup>15</sup>; or
- 481 (6) had seriously ill-treated the child<sup>16</sup>.

Where an applicant requests the court to dispense with the consent of any parent to the child being placed for adoption, or made the subject of an adoption order, he must give notice of the request in the application form (or at any later stage) by filing a written request setting out the reasons for the request<sup>17</sup>. He must also file a statement of facts setting out a summary of the history of the case and any other facts to satisfy the courts that either the parent cannot be found or is incapable of giving agreement, or the welfare of the child requires the consent to be dispensed with<sup>18</sup>.

1 As to the court see para 511 post.

2 For the meaning of 'consent' see para 370 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'parent' see para 332 note 2 ante. See Re C (foreign adoption: natural mother's consent: service) [2006] 1 FLR 318 (adoption order made in Papua New Guinea 12 years ago when child was a baby; order not recognised in England; natural mother's consent required). If a child's father has parental responsibility, his consent is required: see the Adoption and Children Act 2002 52; and paras 332, 370 ante. If he acquires parental responsibility after the child has been placed for adoption (ie by consent), then he is treated as having given his consent in the same terms as those in which the other parent gave consent: see s 52(10); and para 332 ante. It is open to the father without parental responsibility to claim party status as a respondent to the application (see the Family Procedure (Adoption) Rules 2005, SI 2005/2795, r 113); and, where no proceedings have started, an adoption agency or local authority may ask the High Court for directions on the need to give a father without parental responsibility notice of the intention to place a child for adoption (see r 108).

A failure to contact the natural father may give rise to a breach of an agency's obligations under the Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms (Rome, 4 November 1950; TS 71 (1953); Cmd 8969) art 8 (right to family life: see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) para 149 et seq) and art 6 (right to be informed of proceedings: see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) para 134 et seq): see Keegan v Ireland (1994) 18 EHRR 342. See also Re H (a child) (adoption: disclosure), Re G (a child) (adoption: disclosure) [2001] 1 FCR 726, sub nom Re H, Re G (adoption: consultation of unmarried fathers) [2001] 1 FLR 646 (the position of the natural father who did not have parental responsibility was to be considered in an adoption application, and a decision had to be taken in each case whether to give him notice of the proceedings and whether to make him a respondent). This issue was further considered in Re M

(adoption: rights of natural father) [2001] 1 FLR 745. See also Re R (adoption: father's involvement) [2001] 1 FLR 302, in relation to the extent of involvement in the child's life by the unmarried father as being a relevant factor in deciding whether he should be named as a respondent in adoption proceedings. 4 As to the meaning of 'guardian' see para 332 note 3 ante.

5 For the meaning of 'child' see para 327 note 2 ante.

6 For the meaning of 'adoption order', and as to adoption orders generally, see para 359 et seq post.

7 It was held under the former legislation (ie the Adoption Act 1976 s 16(1)(b)(ii), (2)(a) (repealed), which consolidated earlier enactments making provision in this regard) that every reasonable step had to be taken to trace the parent or guardian: see Re B (an infant) [1958] 1 QB 12, [1957] 3 All ER 193, CA; Re F (R) (an infant) [1970] 1 QB 385, [1969] 3 All ER 1101, CA. Agreement was dispensed with in Re R [1966] 3 All ER 613, [1967] 1 WLR 34 (where the parents of a refugee child lived in a totalitarian country and to seek their agreement might expose them to serious hazard), and in Re an adoption application [1992] 1 WLR 596, [1992] 1 FLR 341 (where the mother had handed the child over in El Salvador and the court was satisfied on the evidence that she could not be found). The Adoption Act 1976 s 16(2)(a) (repealed) was also held to apply in a case where there was a possibility that subsequent proceedings in a foreign jurisdiction for contact between the natural parent and the child could be taken against the adoptive parents: see Re A (adoption of a Russian child) [2000] 1 FCR 673, [2000] 1 FLR 539.

8 Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 52(1)(a) (amended by the Mental Capacity Act 2005 s 67(1), Sch 6 para 45). As to when a person 'lacks capacity' for these purposes see MENTAL HEALTH vol 30(2) (Reissue) para 641.

The Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 52 is modified in its application to an order under s 84 giving parental responsibility prior to an overseas adoption and in relation to an adoption within the scope of the Convention on Protection of Children and Co-operation in Respect of Intercountry Adoptions (The Hague, 29 May 1993; TS 40 (1994); Cm 2691): see the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, regs 11, 52, 55; and paras 490, 502 post.

9 Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 52(1)(b). The 'welfare' test has to be applied in the context of the welfare principles in s 1, where the welfare of the child is paramount, and having regard to the issues in the checklist (see para 329 ante). The court is likely also to ask itself whether the order is necessary and proportionate (Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms (1950) art 8); from the case law on this matter decided under former legislation (ie the Adoption Act 1976) the advantages of adoption for the welfare of the child appear sufficiently strong to justify overriding the views and interests of the objecting parent or parents: see Re C (a minor) (adoption: parental agreement) [1994] 2 FCR 485, [1993] 2 FLR 260, CA; Re B (a child) (adoption order) [2001] EWCA Civ 347, [2001] 2 FCR 89.

10 Ie under the Adoption Act 1976 s 16(1)(b)(ii), (2) (repealed).

11 Ibid s 16(2)(a) (repealed). The parent or guardian not being found or being incapable of giving agreement are the only tests from the former legislation to have been specifically carried through into the new provisions: for the caselaw relevant to the 'not being found' requirement see note 7 supra.

12 Ibid s 16(2)(b) (repealed). In considering whether a parent was withholding consent unreasonably under this provision, the test to be applied was not one of culpability, of callous or self-indulgent indifference, of failure or probable failure of parental duty or of potential lasting damage to the child, but of reasonableness in all the circumstances: Re W (an infant) [1971] AC 682, [1971] 2 All ER 49, HL. This was the leading case on the matter and it has been said that this case sets out all that any judge needs to know, and that earlier cases are unlikely to be helpful: Re L (a minor) (adoption: statutory criteria) [1990] 1 FLR 305 at 316, CA, per Balcombe LJ, and at 317 per Harman J. For a general discussion of cases where consent was found to have been unreasonably withheld under the Adoption Act 1976 s 16(2)(b) (repealed) see Re W (adoption: parental agreement) [1984] FLR 880, CA. Welfare per se was not the test (see Re P (an infant) [1977] Fam 25, [1977] 1 All ER 182, CA; Re W (adoption: parental agreement) (1981) 3 FLR 75), but was a factor which could be decisive (Re W (an infant) supra at 693 and 55 per Lord Hailsham of St Marylebone LC). The test of reasonableness was an objective one (Re W (an infant) supra at 699 and 55 per Lord Hailsham of St Marylebone LC; Re D (an infant) [1977] AC 602 at 625, [1977] 1 All ER 145 at 150, HL, per Lord Wilberforce; Re R (a minor) (adoption: parental agreement) [1987] FCR 104, [1987] 1 FLR 391, CA), and the approach to the question of determining whether a parent was unreasonably withholding consent to an adoption order was set out in Re C (a minor) (adoption: parental agreement: contact) supra and expressly approved in Re F (adoption: freeing order) [2000] 3 FCR 337, [2000] 2 FLR 505, CA. The child's wishes and likely reaction were relevant considerations: Re B (a minor) (adoption: parental agreement) [1990] FCR 841, [1990] 2 FLR 383, CA.

374. Consents given abroad.

If consent to an adoption has been given abroad, and it is clear that the parent giving the consent understood that the child should be brought up in England and Wales, this is sufficient consent to an English adoption<sup>1</sup>. If a court of competent jurisdiction abroad has made orders which have deprived the parent of parental responsibility, it is not necessary to obtain the consent of that parent<sup>2</sup>.

(5) LEGAL STATUS OF ADOPTED CHILDREN

375. Relevant legislation and meaning of 'adoption'.

If a child has been adopted, the legislation governing his legal status as an adopted child depends on when his adoption took place<sup>1</sup>: if he was adopted before 30 December 2005, his status is governed by the Adoption Act 1976<sup>2</sup>; and if he was adopted since that date his status is governed by the Adoption and Children Act 2002<sup>3</sup>. This is the general rule; there are, however, transitional arrangements relating to adoptions or applications for adoption orders pending on 30 December 2005<sup>4</sup>.

For these purposes, 'adoption' means adoption:

- 482 (1) by an adoption order<sup>5</sup>;
- 483 (2) by an order made in Scotland, Northern Ireland, the Isle of Man or in any of the Channel Islands<sup>6</sup>;
- 484 (4) which is a 'Convention adoption'<sup>7</sup>;
- 485 (5) which is an overseas adoption<sup>8</sup>; or
- 486 (6) which is an adoption recognised by the law of England and Wales and effected under the law of any other country<sup>9</sup>.

Cognate expressions must be construed accordingly<sup>10</sup>.

1 See the Adoption Act 1976 s 38(2) (amended by the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 139(1), Sch 3 para 19); the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 66(2); and the Adoption and Children Act 2002 (Commencement No 9) Order 2005, SI 2005/2213.

2 See the Adoption Act 1976 Pt IV (ss 38-49) (as amended); and para 376 et seq post.

3 See the Adoption and Children Act 2002 Pt I Ch 4 (ss 66-76); and para 377 et seq post.

4 See the Adoption and Children Act 2002 (Commencement No 10 Transitional and Savings Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/2897. The date of an adoption effected by an order is the date of the making of the order: Adoption Act 1976 s 38(2).

5 Ibid s 38(1)(a); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 66(1)(a). For the purposes of the Adoption Act 1976 Pt IV (as amended), an 'adoption order' is an order under s 12(1) (repealed subject to savings): s 72(1) (amended by the Children Act 1989 s 88(1), Sch 10 para 30(1), (3)). The Adoption Act 1976 s 38(1)(b) provides that 'adoption' can also mean adoption by an order made under the Children Act 1975, the Adoption Act 1958 or the Adoption Act 1950 (all repealed) or any enactment repealed by the Adoption Act 1950, and includes, where the context admits, an adoption effected before 12 November 1975; however, this may be disregarded since no person adopted under any of these provisions can any now be a 'child' for the purposes of that Act (see the definition of 'child' in para 327 note 2 ante). For the meaning of 'adoption order' in the Adoption and Children Act 2002 see para 359 ante.

6 Adoption Act 1976 s 38(1)(c); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 66(1)(a), (b). For the purposes of the Adoption and Children Act 2002, orders made in Scotland and Northern Ireland are referred to as 'Scottish or Northern Irish adoption orders': see s 66(1)(a); and as to such orders see para 331 note 9 ante. The Adoption Act 1976 s 38(2) (as amended) (see note 1 supra) also provides that for the purposes of that Act 'adoption' does not include an adoption of a kind mentioned in s 38(1)(c)-(e) effected on or after 30 December 2005.

7 Ibid s 38(1)(cc) (added by the Adoption (International Aspects) Act 1999 s 4(1)); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 66(1)(c). A 'Convention adoption' is an adoption effected under the law of a Convention country outside the British Islands and certified in pursuance of the Convention on Protection of Children and Co-operation in Respect of Intercountry Adoptions (The Hague, 29 May, 1993; TS 40 (1994); Cm 2691) art 23(1): Adoption Act 1976 s 72(1) (amended by the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 8); Adoption and Children Act 2002 ss 66(1)(c), 147, Sch 6. As to the implementation of the Convention see para 483 et seq post. A 'Convention country' means a country or territory in which the Convention is in force: Adoption Act 1976 s 72(1) (as so amended); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 144(1), Sch 6. See further para 490 post. The Adoption Act 1976 s 38(1)(cc) (as added) does not apply to an adoption order or an adoption under the Convention on Jurisdiction, Applicable Law and Recognition of Decrees Relating to Adoptions (The Hague, 15 November 1965; TS 94 (1978); Cmnd 7342) or an application for such an order: see the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 17.

8 Adoption Act 1976 s 38(1)(d); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 66(1)(d). In connection with the Adoption Act 1976 s 38(1)(d) see also note 6 supra. For the purposes of the Adoption Act 1976, 'overseas adoption' means an adoption of such a description as the Secretary of State may by order specify, being a description of adoptions of children appearing to him to be effected under the law of any country outside Great Britain; and such an order may contain provision as to the manner in which evidence of an overseas adoption may be given: s 72(1), (2) (s 72(2) amended by the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 15(1), Sch 2 para 3(8)); Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 17. For the meaning of 'overseas adoption' in the Adoption and Children Act 2002 see s 87; and para 485 post.

As to the Secretary of State see para 155 ante. For the meaning of 'Great Britain' see para 102 note 7 ante. A declaration that an overseas adoption was a valid adoption may be obtained by making an application under the Family Proceedings Rules 1991, SI 1991/1247: see rr 3.15, 3.16. The Adoption (Designation of Overseas Adoptions) Order 1973, SI 1973/19, art 3, Schedule (art 3 amended by SI 1993/690) specifies for this purpose adoptions made by statute law (but not customary or common law) in any of 39 Commonwealth countries and United Kingdom dependent territories or in 22 other named countries. To qualify for recognition in this way, the adoption must have been in respect of a person who, at the time when the application for adoption was made, had not attained the age of 18 years and had not been married: see art 3 (as so amended). For specific guidance on the practice and procedure to be followed in intercountry adoption cases see Re R (intercountry adoptions: practice) [1999] 4 All ER 1015, [1999] 1 FLR 1042. Evidence of the overseas adoption may be given by the production of specified documents: see the Adoption (Designation of Overseas Adoptions) Order 1973, SI 1973/19, art 4. The fact that the adoption is recognised does not mean that the child will be entitled to British citizenship, since only adoption by a United Kingdom court has this effect: see the British Nationality Act 1981 s 1(5) (as substituted), s 1(5A) (as added), s 1(6) (as amended); para 382 post; and BRITISH NATIONALITY, IMMIGRATION AND ASYLUM vol 4(2) (2002 Reissue) para 26. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see para 102 note 7 ante.

UPDATE

375 Relevant legislation and meaning of 'adoption'

NOTE 4--SI 2005/2897 amended: SI 2010/986.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/5. ADOPTION/(5) LEGAL STATUS OF ADOPTED CHILDREN/376. Legal status of children adopted before 30 December 2005.

376. Legal status of children adopted before 30 December 2005.

A child<sup>1</sup> adopted before 30 December 2005<sup>2</sup> is to be treated in law from the date of the adoption<sup>3</sup> (but subject to any contrary intention<sup>4</sup>):

- 487 (1) where the adopters are a married couple, as if he had been born as a child of the marriage (whether or not he was in fact born after the marriage was solemnised)<sup>5</sup>; and
- 488 (2) in any other case, as if he had been born to the adopter in wedlock (but not as a child of any actual marriage of the adopter)<sup>6</sup>.

A relationship existing by virtue of these provisions<sup>7</sup> may be referred to as an 'adoptive relationship'; male and female adopters may be referred to respectively as 'adoptive fathers' and 'adoptive mothers'; and any other relative of any degree under an adoptive relationship may be referred to as an 'adoptive relative' of that degree<sup>8</sup>.

A child<sup>1</sup> adopted before 30 December 2005 is also to be treated in law as if he were not the child of any person other than the adopters or adopter<sup>9</sup>, except that, in the case of a child adopted by one of its natural parents as sole adoptive parent, this has no effect as respects entitlement to property depending on relationship to that parent, or as respects anything else depending on that relationship<sup>10</sup>. An adopted child is, however, specifically prevented by these provisions from being illegitimate<sup>11</sup>.

These provisions do not apply for the purposes of:

- 489 (a) determining the prohibited degrees of kindred and affinity in relation to marriage and civil partnership<sup>12</sup>;
- 490 (b) the former law of incest<sup>13</sup>;
- 491 (c) any provision of the British Nationality Act 1981 or the Immigration Act 1971 or any instrument having effect under those Acts<sup>14</sup>; or
- 492 (d) any other provision of the law for the time being in force determining British citizenship, British overseas territories citizenship, the status of a British national (overseas) or British overseas citizenship<sup>15</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 327 note 2 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'adoption', and as to the relevant legislation for adoptions before and after 30 December 2005, see para 375 ante.

3 Adoption Act 1976 s 39(5)(b). Section 39 (as amended) applies for the construction of enactments or instruments passed or made before the adoption or later (s 39(6)(a)), and has effect as respects things done, or events occurring, after the adoption (s 39(6)(b)).

4 Ibid s 39(6)(a).

5 Ibid s 39(1)(a).

6 Ibid s 39(1)(b). An adopted child is not prevented by s 39 (as amended) from being legitimated under the Legitimacy Act 1976 s 2 (as amended) or s 3 if either natural parent is the sole adoptive parent: s 4(1) (s 4(1), (2) amended by the Adoption Act 1976 s 73(2), Sch 3 para 23). As to legitimation see para 125 et seq ante.

7 le the Adoption Act 1976 s 39 (as amended).

8 Ibid s 41(1)(a)-(c). This does not prevent the term 'parent', or any other term not qualified by the word 'adoptive', being treated as including an adoptive relative: s 41(1).

9 Ibid s 39(2) (s 39(2) amended, and s 39(3A), (3B) added, by the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 4(2), (3)). This is subject to the Adoption Act 1976 s 39(3) (see the text and note 10 infra) and s 39(3A) (as added): s 39(2) (as so amended). See Re C (Minors) (adoption: residence order) [1994] Fam 1, [1993] 3 All ER 313, sub nom M v C and Calderdale Metropolitan Borough Council [1993] 1 FCR 431, [1993] 1 FLR 505, CA. The Adoption Act 1976 s 39(2) (as amended) does not affect the entitlement to a pension which is payable to or for the benefit of a child and is in payment at the time of his adoption (s 48) and does not prejudice any interest vested in possession in the adopted child before the adoption or any interest expectant (whether immediately or not) upon an interest so vested (s 42(4)); and see Staffordshire County Council v B [1999] 2 FCR 333, [1998] 1 FLR 261 (a contingent interest under a will remains vested in a child after his adoption)).

Where, in the case of a Convention adoption (see para 375 note 7 ante), the High Court is satisfied on an application under the Adoption Act 1976 s 39 (as amended): (1) that under the law of the country in which the adoption was effected the adoption is not a full adoption (s 39(3A)(a) (as so added)); (2) that the consents referred to in art 4(c), (d) of the Convention have not been given for a full adoption, or that the United Kingdom is not the receiving state within the meaning of art 2 (Adoption Act 1976 s 39(3A)(b) (as so added)); and (3) that it would be more favourable to the adopted child for a direction to be given under s 39(3A) (as added) (s 39(3A) (c) (as so added)), the court may direct that s 39(2) (as amended) is not to apply, or is not to apply to such extent as may be specified in the direction: s 39(3A) (as so added). 'Full adoption' means an adoption by virtue of which the adopted child falls to be treated in law as if he were not the child of any person other than the adopters or adopter: s 39(3A) (as so added). The Family Law Act 1986 ss 59, 60 (both as amended) (see para 381 post) apply in relation to, and to an application for, a direction under the Adoption Act 1976 s 39(3A) (as added) as they apply in relation to, and to an application for, a declaration under the Family Law Act 1986 Pt III (ss 55-63) (as amended) (see para 381 post): Adoption Act 1976 s 39(3B) (as so added). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see para 102 note 7 ante.

Where an adoptive child (with a sole adoptive parent) is legitimated (see note 6 supra), s 39(2) (as amended) does not apply after the legitimation to the natural relationship with the other natural parent: Legitimacy Act 1976 s 4(2)(a) (as amended: see note 6 supra). Revocation of the adoption order in consequence of the legitimation does not affect the Adoption Act 1976 ss 39, 41, 42 in its application to any instrument made before the date of the legitimation: Legitimacy Act 1976 s 4(2)(b) (as so amended).

11 Ibid s 39(4).

12 See ibid s 47(1) (amended by the Civil Partnership Act 2004 (Overseas Relationships and Consequential, etc Amendments) Order 2005, SI 2005/3129, art 4(4), Sch 4 para 3). ### 376 Legal status of children adopted before 30 December 2005

TEXT AND NOTES 12, 13--Adoption Act 1976 s 47(1) further amended: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 15 para 7.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/5. ADOPTION/(5) LEGAL STATUS OF ADOPTED CHILDREN/377. Legal status of children adopted after 30 December 2005.

377. Legal status of children adopted after 30 December 2005.

A person adopted<sup>1</sup> after 30 December 2005<sup>2</sup> is to be treated in law from the date of the adoption<sup>3</sup> (but subject to any contrary intention<sup>4</sup>) as if born as the legitimate child of the adopters or adopter<sup>5</sup>. A person adopted either by a couple<sup>6</sup> or by a partner of one of his parents<sup>7</sup> is treated as the child of the relationship of the couple in question<sup>8</sup>. A relationship existing by virtue of these provisions<sup>9</sup> may be referred to as an 'adoptive relationship'<sup>10</sup>; an adopter may be referred to as an 'adoptive parent' or (as the case may be) as an 'adoptive father' or 'adoptive mother'<sup>11</sup>; and any other relative of any degree under an adoptive relationship may be referred to as an 'adoptive relative' of that degree<sup>12</sup>.

A person adopted after 30 December 2005 is also to be treated in law as not being the child of any person other than the adopters or adopter<sup>13</sup> (although in the case of a person adopted by one of his natural parents as sole adoptive parent this has no effect as respects entitlement to property depending on relationship to that parent, or as respects anything else depending on that relationship<sup>14</sup>); a person adopted by one of a couple<sup>15</sup> is to be treated in law as not being the child of any person other than the adopter and the other one of the couple<sup>16</sup>.

These provisions do not apply for the purposes of:

- 493 (1) determining the prohibited degrees of kindred and affinity in relation to marriage and civil partnership<sup>17</sup>;
- 494 (2) the law relating to sex with an adult relative<sup>18</sup>;
- 495 (3) any provision of the British Nationality Act 1981 or the Immigration Act 1971 or any instrument having effect under those Acts<sup>19</sup>; or
- 496 (4) any other provision of the law for the time being in force determining British citizenship, British overseas territories citizenship, the status of a British national (overseas) or British overseas citizenship<sup>20</sup>.

1 A reference in any enactment to an 'adopted person' within the meaning of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 Pt I Ch 4 (ss 66-76) includes a reference to an 'adopted child' within the meaning of the Adoption Act 1976 Pt IV (ss 38-49) (as amended) (see para 376 et seq ante); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 66(3). For the meaning of 'child' see para 327 note 2 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'adoption', and as to the relevant legislation for adoptions before and after 30 December 2005, see para 375 ante.

3 Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 67(5). Section 67 applies for the interpretation of enactments or instruments passed or made before the adoption or later (s 67(6)(a)), and has effect as respects things done, or events occurring, after the adoption (s 67(6)(b)).

4 Ibid s 67(6)(a).

5 Ibid s 67(1), (2). An adopted child is not prevented by s 67 from being legitimated under the Legitimacy Act 1976 s 2 (as amended) or s 3 if either natural parent is the sole adoptive parent: s 4(1) (s 4(1), (2) amended by the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 139(1), Sch 3 paras 16, 17). As to legitimation see para 125 et seq ante.

6 Ibid s 67(2)(a). For the meaning of 'couple' see para 355 note 2 ante. As to adoption by couples see s 50; and para 362 ante.

7 Ibid s 67(2)(b). These are adoptions under s 51(2) (see para 363 ante). For the meaning of 'partner of a parent' see para 355 note 2 ante.

8 Ibid s 67(2).

9 Ie ibid s 67.

10 These provisions do not, however, affect the interpretation of any reference, not qualified by the word 'adoptive', to a relationship: ibid s 68(2).

11 Ibid s 68(1)(a). A reference (however expressed) to the adoptive mother and father of a child adopted by a couple of the same sex or a partner of the child's parent, where the couple are of the same sex, is to be read as a reference to the child's adoptive parents: s 68(3).

12 Ibid s 68(1)(b).

13 Ibid s 67(3)(b). Section 67(3) does not affect the entitlement to a pension which is payable to or for the benefit of a person and is in payment at the time of his adoption (s 75), does not prejudice any interest vested in possession in the adopted person before the adoption or any interest expectant (whether immediately or not) upon an interest so vested (s 69(4); and see Staffordshire County Council v B [1999] 2 FCR 333, [1998] 1 FLR 261 (a contingent interest under a will remains vested in a child after his adoption)), and does not affect any reference in the Adoption and Children Act 2002 to a person's natural parent or to any other natural relationship (s 67(3)).

Where, in the case of a Convention adoption (see para 375 note 7 ante), the High Court is satisfied on an application under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 88: (1) that under the law of the country in which the adoption was effected the adoption is not a full adoption (s 88(1), (2)(a)); (2) that the consents referred to in the Convention on Protection of Children and Co-operation in Respect of Intercountry Adoptions (The Hague, 29 May, 1993; TS 40 (1994); Cm 2691) art 4(c), (d) have not been given for a full adoption, or that the United Kingdom is not the receiving state within the meaning of art 2 (Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 88(2)(b)); and (3) that it would be more favourable to the adopted child for a direction to be given under s 88(1) (s 88(2)(c)), the court may direct that s 67(3) is not to apply, or is not to apply to such extent as may be specified in the direction: s 88(1). 'Full adoption' means an adoption by virtue of which the child falls to be treated in law as if he were not the child of any person other than the adopters or adopter: s 88(3). The Family Law Act 1986 ss 59, 60 (both as amended) (see para 381 post) apply in relation to, and to an application for, a direction under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 88 as they apply in relation to, and to an application for, a declaration under the Family Law Act 1986 Pt III (ss 55-63) (as amended) (see para 381 post): Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 88(3). As to the court see para 511 post. As to the United Kingdom see paras 102 note 7, 341 note 8 ante.

Where an adoptive child (with a sole adoptive parent) is legitimated (see note 5 supra), s 67(3)(b) does not apply after the legitimation to the natural relationship with the other natural parent: Legitimacy Act 1976 s 4(2) (a) (as amended: see note 5 supra). Revocation of the adoption order in consequence of the legitimation does not affect the Adoption and Children Act 2002 ss 67-69 in its application to any instrument made before the date of the legitimation: Legitimacy Act 1976 s 4(2)(b) (as so amended).

15 Ie under ibid s 51(2) (see para 363 ante).

16 Ibid s 67(3)(a). See note 13 supra.

17 See ibid s 74(1)(a) (substituted by the Civil Partnership Act 2004 s 79(1), (7)). For the tables of kindred and affinity see the Marriage Act 1949 s 1, Sch 1 (as amended); and MATRIMONIAL AND CIVIL PARTNERSHIP LAW vol 72 (2009) PARAS 36-37. ## UPDATE

377 Legal status of children adopted after 30 December 2005

NOTE 5--Once orders for adoption have been lawfully and properly made, only in highly exceptional and very particular circumstances will court permit them to be set aside: Re Webster; Webster v Norfolk CC [2009] EWCA Civ 5, [2009] 2 All ER 1156, (public policy considerations and binding authority made it impossible to set aside adoption orders even if parents had suffered serious injustice).

NOTE 13--See Re N (recognition of foreign adoption order) [2010] 1 FLR 1102 (recognition of foreign adoption order allowing husband of child's natural mother to adopt child did not remove mother's parental responsibility).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/5. ADOPTION/(5) LEGAL STATUS OF ADOPTED CHILDREN/378. Devolution on death and inter vivos.

378. Devolution on death and inter vivos.

An adoption<sup>1</sup> does not affect the descent of any peerage or dignity or title of honour<sup>2</sup>, nor does an adoption affect the devolution of any property limited (expressly or not) to devolve (as nearly as the law permits) along with any peerage or dignity or title of honour<sup>3</sup>. The status conferred by adoption<sup>4</sup> generally applies for the construction of enactments or instruments passed or made before the adoption or later, and so applies subject to any contrary indication<sup>5</sup>. Rules of construction are provided by statute for instruments concerning property<sup>6</sup> and for dispositions depending on the date of birth<sup>7</sup>. Statutory protection is also provided for a trustee or personal representative, who is not under a duty, by virtue of the law relating to trusts or the administration of estates, to inquire, before conveying or distributing any property, whether any adoption has been effected or revoked if that fact could affect entitlement to the property<sup>8</sup>. A trustee or personal representative is not liable to any person by reason of a conveyance or distribution of the property made without regard to any such fact if he has not received notice of the fact before the conveyance or distribution<sup>9</sup>, but this does not prejudice the right of a person to follow the property, or any property representing it, into the hands of another person, other than a purchaser, who has received it<sup>10</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'adoption', and as to the relevant legislation for adoptions before and after 30 December 2005, see para 375 ante.

2 Adoption Act 1976 s 44(1); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 71(1). As to peerages, dignities, titles etc see PEERAGES AND DIGNITIES vol 79 (2008) PARA 801 et seq.

3 Adoption Act 1976 s 44(2); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 71(2). These provisions apply only and if so far as a contrary intention is not expressed in the instrument, and has effect subject to the terms of the instrument: Adoption Act 1976 s 44(3); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 71(3).

4 As to this status in relation to adoptions before 30 December 2005 see para 376 ante; and as to this status in relation to adoptions after 30 December 2005 para 377 ante.

5 Adoption Act 1976 s 39(6)(a); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 67(6)(a). This has effect as respects things done or events occurring on or after the adoption: Adoption Act 1976 s 39(6)(b); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 67(6)(b).

6 See para 379 post.

7 See para 379 post.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/5. ADOPTION/(5) LEGAL STATUS OF ADOPTED CHILDREN/379. Construction of instruments concerning property.

379. Construction of instruments concerning property.

In applying the general rule that an adopted person is treated in law as the child of the adopters<sup>1</sup> to a disposition<sup>2</sup> which depends on the date of birth of a child or children of the adoptive parent or parents<sup>3</sup>, the disposition must be construed as if the adopted child had been born on the date of the adoption<sup>4</sup> and as if two or more children adopted on one date had been born on that day in the order of their actual births<sup>5</sup>. This does not affect any reference to a person's age<sup>6</sup> or the property rights of illegitimate children<sup>7</sup>.

The general rule that an adopted person is to be treated as the child of no person other than the adopter<sup>8</sup> does not prejudice any interest vested in possession in the adopted child before the adoption, or any interest expectant (whether immediately or not) upon any interest so vested<sup>9</sup>.

Where it is necessary to determine for the purposes of a disposition of property effected by instrument whether a woman can have a child, it must be presumed that after attaining the age of 55 she will not adopt after the execution of the instrument<sup>10</sup> and if she does so the child will not be treated as her child or as the child of her spouse, if any, for the purposes of the instrument<sup>11</sup>.

1 For this general rule in relation to adoptions before 30 December 2005 see the Adoption Act 1976 s 39(1); and para 376 ante. For this general rule in relation to adoptions after 30 December 2005 see the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 67(1), (2); and para 377 ante.

2 'Disposition' includes the conferring of a power of appointment and any other disposition of an interest in or right over property; and 'power of appointment' includes any discretionary power to transfer a beneficial interest in property without the furnishing of valuable consideration: Adoption Act 1976 s 46(1); Adoption and Children Act 2002 ss 73(1), (2), 147, Sch 6. These provisions apply to an oral disposition as if contained in an instrument made when the disposition was made (Adoption Act 1976 s 46(2); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 73(3)) and to any instrument so far as it contains a disposition of property (Adoption Act 1976 s 42(1); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 69(1)). 'Instrument' includes a private Act settling property, but no other enactment: Adoption Act 1976 s 42(6); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 69(6). The death of a testator is the date at which his will or codicil is to be regarded as made: Adoption Act 1976 s 46(3); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 73(4). Provisions as to the law of intestate succession applicable to the estate of a deceased person are to be treated as if contained in an instrument executed by him, while of full capacity, immediately before his death: Adoption Act 1976 s 46(4); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 73(5). As to intestacy see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS vol 17(2) (Reissue) para 583 et seq. In relation to an adopted child with a sole adoptive parent who is subsequently legitimated see further the Legitimacy Act 1976 s 4(2) (as amended); and paras 376 notes 6, 9, 377 notes 5, 13 ante.

3 Examples of phrases in wills on which this can operate are: (1) children of A 'living at my death or born afterwards'; (2) children of A 'living at my death or born afterwards before any one of such children for the time being in existence attains a vested interest and who attain the age of 21 years' (note that the Adoption Act 1976 s 42(2) and the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 69(2) do not affect this reference to 'the age of 21 years'); (3) as in example (1) or (2) supra but referring to grandchildren of A instead of children of A; and (4) A for life 'until he has a child' and then to his child or children: Adoption Act 1976 s 42(3); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 69(3).

4 Adoption Act 1976 s 42(2)(a); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 69(2)(a).

5 Adoption Act 1976 s 42(2)(b); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 69(2)(b).

7 Adoption Act 1976 s 43; Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 70. Section 70(1) provides that where a disposition depends on the date of birth of a child who was born illegitimate and who is adopted by one of the natural parents as sole adoptive parent, s 69(2) (ie the applicable provision in relation to persons adopted after 30 December 2005: see para 375 ante) does not affect entitlement by virtue of the Family Law Act 1987 Pt III (ss 18-21) (property rights: see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS vol 17(2) (Reissue) paras 588-589). Examples of the application of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 70(1) are given as follows: (1) a testator dies in 2001 bequeathing a legacy to his eldest grandchild living at a specified time (s 70(2)(a)); (2) his unmarried daughter has a child in 2002 who is the first grandchild (s 70(2)(b)); (3) his married son has a child in 2003 (s 70(2)(c)); and (4) subsequently his unmarried daughter adopts her child as sole adoptive parent (s 70(2)(d)), and in all those cases the daughter's child remains the eldest grandchild of the testator throughout (s 70(2)). The Adoption Act 1976 s 43 makes similar provision in relation to persons adopted before 30 December 2005.

8 For this general rule in relation to adoptions before 30 December 2005 see ibid s 39(2); and para 376 ante. For this general rule in relation to adoptions after 30 December 2005 see the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 67(3); and para 377 ante.

9 Adoption Act 1976 s 42(4); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 69(4). A person who is qualified to make a claim under the Inheritance (Provision for Family and Dependants) Act 1975 has to be qualified to make such a claim at the time of the application: see s 1 (as amended); and EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS vol 17(2) (Reissue) para 665 et seq. A child who is subsequently adopted ceases to be so qualified by virtue of the Adoption Act 1976 s 39(2) (and, presumably, the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 67(3)): Re Collins [1990] Fam 56, [1990] 2 All ER 47. However, the Adoption Act 1976 s 39(2) and the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 67(3) do not affect entitlement to a pension which is payable to or for the benefit of the child and is in payment at the time of his adoption: Adoption Act 1976 s 48; Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 75.

10 Adoption Act 1976 s 42(5); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 69(5)(a).

11 Adoption Act 1976 s 42(5); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 69(5)(b). This provision applies notwithstanding the Adoption Act 1976 s 39 or the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 67 (as the case may be): Adoption Act 1976 s 42(5); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 69(5)(b).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/5. ADOPTION/(5) LEGAL STATUS OF ADOPTED CHILDREN/380. Insurance.

380. Insurance.

Where a child<sup>1</sup> is adopted<sup>2</sup> whose natural parent has effected an insurance with a friendly society, a collecting society or an industrial insurance company for the payment on the child's death of money for funeral expenses, the rights and liabilities under the policy must by virtue of the adoption be transferred to the adoptive parents<sup>3</sup> who, for the purposes of the enactments relating to such societies and companies, must be treated as the person who took out the policy<sup>4</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 327 note 2 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'adoption', and as to the relevant legislation for adoptions before and after 30 December 2005, see para 375 ante.

3 Where, in the case of an adoption effected after 30 December 2005, the adoption is effected by an order made by virtue of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 51(2) (see para 363 ante), the references in s 76(1) to the 'adoptive parents' are to be read as references to the adopter and the other one of the couple: s 76(2). For the meaning of 'couple' see para 355 note 2 ante.

4 Adoption Act 1976 s 49; Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 76(1).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/5. ADOPTION/(5) LEGAL STATUS OF ADOPTED CHILDREN/381. Declarations as to legal status of persons adopted overseas.

381. Declarations as to legal status of persons adopted overseas.

Any person whose status as an adopted child of any person depends on whether he has been adopted by that person by either a Convention adoption<sup>1</sup> or an overseas adoption<sup>2</sup>, or an adoption recognised by the law of England and Wales and effected under the law of any country outside the British Islands<sup>3</sup>, may apply to the High Court or county court<sup>4</sup> for one, or for one or, in the alternative, the other, of two available declarations<sup>5</sup>. Those are:

- 497 (1) a declaration that the applicant is the adopted child<sup>6</sup> of that person<sup>7</sup>; and
- 498 (2) a declaration that the applicant is not the adopted child<sup>8</sup> of that person<sup>9</sup>.

No declaration which may be applied for under these provisions may be made otherwise than under these provisions by any court<sup>10</sup>.

Where on an application to a court for such a declaration the truth of the proposition to be declared is proved to the satisfaction of the court, the court must make that declaration unless to do so would manifestly be contrary to public policy<sup>11</sup>. Any such declaration made is binding on Her Majesty and on all other persons<sup>12</sup>, but any proceedings for such a declaration do not affect any final judgment or decree already pronounced or made by any court of competent jurisdiction<sup>13</sup>. On the dismissal of an application for a declaration a court does not have power to make any declaration for which an application has not been made<sup>14</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'Convention adoption' see para 375 note 7 ante (definition applied by the Family Law Act 1986 s 57(1)(a) (s 57(1)(a) substituted, and s 57(2)(a) amended, by the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 139(1), Sch 3 paras 46, 49)). As to Convention adoptions see para 490 et seq post.

2 Family Law Act 1986 s 57(1)(a) (as substituted: see note 1 supra). For the meaning of 'overseas adoption' see para 485 post; definition applied by s 57(1)(a) (as so substituted).

3 Ibid s 57(1)(b). For the meaning of 'British Islands' see para 103 note 6 ante.

4 A court has jurisdiction to entertain an application under ibid s 57(1) (as amended) if, and only if, the applicant is domiciled in England and Wales on the date of the application (s 57(3)(a)) or has been habitually resident in England and Wales throughout the period of one year ending with that date (s 57(3)(b)). As to domicile see CONFLICT OF LAWS vol 8(3) (Reissue) para 35 et seq. As to habitual residence see para 806 post; and CONFLICT OF LAWS vol 8(3) (Reissue) para 57 et seq.

The court hearing an application may direct that the whole, or part, of the proceedings is to be heard in camera; and an application for a direction under s 60 (as amended) must be heard in camera unless the court otherwise directs: s 60(4). Any declaration or application for a declaration must be made in the prescribed form (s 60(1)); and rules of court may make provision as to the information required to be given by any applicant for a declaration under these provisions (s 60(2)(a)), as to the persons who are to be parties to proceedings on such an application (s 60(2)(b)), and requiring notice of an application to be served on the Attorney General and on persons who may be affected by any declaration applied for (s 60(2)(c) (amended by the Family Law Reform Act 1987 s 33(1), Sch 2 para 96). See the Family Proceedings Rules 1991, SI 1991/1247, rr 3.15, 3.16 (amended by SI 2001/821; SI 2005/2922).

On an application to a court for a declaration, the court may at any stage of the proceedings, of its own motion or on the application of any party to the proceedings, direct that all necessary papers in the matter be sent to the Attorney General (Family Law Act 1986 s 59(1) (ss 57(1), 58(1), (3), 59 amended by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 8 paras 3, 6-8)); whether or not he is sent papers in relation to an application to a court for a declaration the Attorney General may intervene in the proceedings in such manner as he thinks necessary and expedient (Family Law Act 1986 s 59(2)(a) (as so amended)) and argue before the court any question in relation to the application which the court considers it necessary to have fully argued (s 59(2)(b) (as so amended)). Where any costs are incurred by the Attorney General in connection with any application to a court for a declaration, the court may make such order as it considers just as to the payment of those costs by parties to the proceedings: s 59(3) (as so amended).

382. Citizenship of adopted children.

An adopted person becomes a British citizen<sup>1</sup> or, as the case may be, a British overseas territories citizen<sup>2</sup>, as from the day on which an adoption order is made or a Convention adoption<sup>3</sup> is effected in respect of him<sup>4</sup> provided that:

- 499 (1) on that date the adopter or, in the case of a joint adoption, one of the adopters has the citizenship in question<sup>5</sup>; and
- 500 (2) in the case of a Convention adoption effected under the law of a country or territory outside the United Kingdom (or, in connection with the acquisition of British overseas territories citizenship, a designated territory<sup>6</sup>), the adopter is (or, in the case of a joint adoption, both of the adopters are) habitually resident<sup>7</sup> in the designated territory or (for the acquisition of British citizenship) the United Kingdom<sup>8</sup>.

The effect of these provisions is to confer British citizenship where:

- 501 (a) any court in the United Kingdom or any court in a qualifying territory makes an order authorising the adoption of a minor<sup>9</sup> who is not a British citizen<sup>10</sup>; or
- 502 (b) a child who is not a British citizen is adopted under a Convention adoption effected under the law of a country or territory outside the United Kingdom<sup>11</sup>, and to confer British overseas territories citizenship where:

- 503 (i) an order authorising the adoption of a minor who is not a British overseas territories citizen is made by a court in any British overseas territory<sup>12</sup>; or
- 504 (ii) a minor who is not a British overseas territories citizen is adopted under a Convention adoption effected under the law of a country or territory outside the designated territory<sup>13</sup>.

Without prejudice to this, however, a child is treated as not having been adopted and still related to his natural family for the purposes of certain provisions relating to the determination of nationality or citizenship<sup>14</sup>.

1 As to British citizenship see BRITISH NATIONALITY, IMMIGRATION AND ASYLUM vol 4(2) (2002 Reissue) paras 23-43. As to the acquisition of British citizenship by birth or adoption see BRITISH NATIONALITY, IMMIGRATION AND ASYLUM vol 4(2) (2002 Reissue) paras 26-27. See also para 483 post.

3 A 'Convention adoption' is an adoption effected under the law of a country or territory in which the Convention on Protection of Children and Co-operation in Respect of Intercountry Adoptions (The Hague, 29 May, 1993; TS 40 (1994); Cm 2691) (the 'Convention') is in force, and certified in pursuance of art 23(1): British Nationality Act 1981 s 50(1) (definition added by the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 137(3), (6)(a)).

4 British Nationality Act 1981 ss 1(5), 15(5), (5A) (s 1(5) substituted, s 1(5A) added, and s 1(6) amended, by the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 7(1), (2); the British Nationality Act 1981 s 1(5)(b), (5A), 15(6) amended, and ss 15(5A), 50(14) added, by the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 137(3), (4), (5), (7); and the British Nationality Act 1981 s 15(5), (6) amended by the British Overseas Territories Act 2002 ss 1(1)(b), 2(2) (b)). Where an order or a Convention adoption in consequence of which any person became a British citizen by virtue of the British Nationality Act 1981 s 1(5) (as substituted and amended) or a British overseas territories citizen by virtue of s 15(5) (as amended) ceases to have effect, whether on annulment or otherwise, the cesser does not affect the status of that person as a British citizen: ss 1(6), 15(6) (as so amended). 5 British Nationality Act 1981 ss 1(5A)(a), 15(5), (5A)(b)(i) (as added and amended: see note 4 supra).

6 'Designated territory' means a qualifying territory, or the Sovereign Base Areas of Akrotiri and Dhekelia, which is designated by Her Majesty by Order in Council under ibid s 50(14) (as added: see note 4 supra) (which provides that for the purposes of the definition of 'designated territory', an Order in Council may designate any qualifying territory, or the Sovereign Base Areas of Akrotiri and Dhekelia, if the Convention is in force there, and may make different designations for the purposes of s 1 and s 15, any such Order in Council being subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament). At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made. 'Qualifying territory' means a British overseas territory (ie a territory mentioned in the British Nationality Act 1981 Sch 6: see BRITISH NATIONALITY, IMMIGRATION AND ASYLUM vol 4(2) (2002 Reissue) para 44) other than the Sovereign Base Areas of Akrotiri and Dhekelia: s 50(1) (ss 1(5)(a), 50(1) amended by the British Overseas Territories Act 2002 s 5, Sch 1 paras 1(1), (4), 5(1), (2), (4)).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/5. ADOPTION/(6) REGISTRATION/(i) The Adopted Children Register/383. The register.

(6) REGISTRATION

(i) The Adopted Children Register

383. The register.

The Registrar General must continue to maintain in the General Register Office<sup>1</sup> a register called the Adopted Children Register<sup>2</sup> and an index thereto<sup>3</sup>. The register is not open to public inspection or search<sup>4</sup> but any person may search the index<sup>5</sup> and have a certified copy of any entry in the register<sup>6</sup> (although access to copies of entries relating to persons aged under 18 is restricted<sup>7</sup>). A certified copy of an entry in the register, if purporting to be sealed or stamped with the seal of the General Register Office, must, without any further or other proof, be received as evidence of the adoption to which it relates<sup>8</sup>; and a certified copy of an entry containing a record of the date of birth of an adopted person<sup>9</sup> or of the country, or the district and sub-district, of the birth of an adopted person<sup>10</sup>, must also be received without any further or other proof as evidence of that date, country, district or sub-district (as the case may be) in all respects as if the copy were a certified copy of an entry in the registers of live births<sup>11</sup>.

1 As to the Registrar General and the General Register Office see the Registration Service Act 1953 s 1 et seq; and REGISTRATION CONCERNING THE INDIVIDUAL vol 39(2) (Reissue) para 605 et seq.

2 Adoption and Children Act 2002 ss 77(1), 147, Sch 6. Any register, record or index maintained under Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 77-82) may be maintained in any form the Registrar General considers appropriate; and references (however expressed) to entries in such a register, or to their amendment, marking or cancellation, are to be read accordingly: s 82(2).

4 Ibid s 77(2).

5 Ibid s 78(2)(a). The terms, conditions and regulations as to payment of fees, and otherwise, applicable under the Births and Deaths Registration Act 1953, and the Registration Service Act 1953 (see REGISTRATION CONCERNING THE INDIVIDUAL vol 39(2) (Reissue) para 501 et seq), in respect of searches in the index kept in the General Register Office of certified copies of entries in the registers of live births (Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 78(4)(a)) and the supply from that office of certified copies of entries in those certified copies (s 78(4)(b)) also apply in respect of searches, and supplies of certified copies under s 78(2) (s 78(4)).

It was decided under the legislation which formerly required the Registrar General to maintain an index of the register and to make available copies of entries in the register (ie the Adoption Act 1976 s 50(3) (repealed), which was drafted in a way corresponding to the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 78(1), (2)) that the court cannot interfere with the Registrar General's duty but can attach a provision to an adoption order preventing disclosure of a particular entry without leave of the court: Re X (a minor) (adoption details: disclosure) [1994] Fam 174, [1994] 3 All ER 372, CA (such an order must be made where the child's welfare depends on protection from the natural parent or parents who may try to breach the register's confidentiality). As to the court see para 511 post. See also Re W (minor) (adoption details: disclosure) [1999] 2 FCR 283, [1998] 2 FLR 625 (the court has an inherent jurisdiction to order that information on the register must not be disclosed to a third party without the leave of the court, where it is in the interests of the child so to order); and Presidents Direction (Adopted Children's Register: restriction on disclosure) [1999] 1 FCR 97, [1999] 1 FLR 315. Applications for orders to restrict disclosure of the details entered on the register must be made to, or transferred to, the High Court: Presidents Direction (Adopted Children's Register: restriction on disclosure) supra. No application for any exercise of the court's inherent jurisdiction with respect to children may be made by a local authority unless the authority has obtained the leave of the court: Children Act 1989 s 100(3).

6 Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 78(2)(b). See note 5 supra. Where an adoption order has been amended, any certified copy of the relevant entry in the register which may be issued pursuant to s 78(2)(b) must be a copy of the entry as amended, without the reproduction of any note or marking relating to the amendment (Sch 1 para 4(7)(a)) or any matter cancelled in pursuance of it (Sch 1 para 4(7)(b)). A copy or extract of an entry in any register or other record, being an entry the marking of which has been cancelled, is not to be treated as an accurate copy unless both the marking and the cancellation are omitted from it: Sch 1 para 4(8). For the meaning of 'adoption order', and as to the making of orders, see para 359 et seq ante.

7 A person is not entitled to have a certified copy of an entry in the register relating to an adopted person who has not attained the age of 18 years unless the applicant has provided the Registrar General with particulars prescribed by regulations made by the Registrar General with the approval of the Chancellor of the Exchequer: ibid s 78(3). The prescribed particulars are the full name of the adopted person, the date of birth of the adopted person and the full name of the adoptive parent or parents: see the Adopted Children and Adoption Contact Registers Regulations 2005, SI 2005/924, reg 10.

9 Ibid s 77(5)(a).

10 Ibid s 77(5)(b).

11 Ibid s 77(5). 'Registers of live births' means the registers of live births made under the Births and Deaths Registration Act 1953 (see REGISTRATION CONCERNING THE INDIVIDUAL vol 39(2) (Reissue) para 504 et seq): Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 82(1).

UPDATE

383 The register

NOTE 7--Reference to the Chancellor of the Exchequer is now to the Secretary of State: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 78(3) (amended by SI 2008/678).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/5. ADOPTION/(6) REGISTRATION/(i) The Adopted Children Register/384. Entries in the register.

384. Entries in the register.

No entries may be made in the Adopted Children Register<sup>1</sup> other than entries directed to be made in the register by adoption orders<sup>2</sup> and entries otherwise required to be made by statute<sup>3</sup>. Pursuant to these statutory requirements<sup>4</sup> it is provided that every adoption order must contain a direction to the Registrar General<sup>5</sup> to make in the register an entry in the prescribed form and that any adoption order made in pursuance of an application for an adoption order in respect of an identified child must contain a direction to the Registrar General to secure that the entry in the register or record in question is marked with the word 'Adopted'<sup>6</sup>. There are also requirements relating to:

- 505 (1) the registration of particulars of certain foreign adoptions<sup>7</sup>;
- 506 (2) the amendment of the register where an adoption order is amended<sup>8</sup>; and
- 507 (3) the amendment and marking of the register on the re-registration of the birth of a legitimated person or the revocation of an adoption order made in relation to a legitimated person<sup>9</sup>.

1 As to the requirement for such a register see para 383 ante.

385. Connection between register and live births.

In addition to maintaining the Adopted Children Register<sup>1</sup> and the index to it, the Registrar General<sup>2</sup> must make traceable the connection between any entry<sup>3</sup> in the registers of live births<sup>4</sup> or other records<sup>5</sup> which has been marked 'Adopted' and any corresponding entry in the Adopted Children Register<sup>6</sup>. Like the register itself<sup>7</sup>, the information<sup>8</sup> kept by the Registrar General for the purposes of tracing entries in the register is not open to public inspection or search<sup>9</sup>; it and any other information which would enable an adopted person to obtain a certified copy of the record of his birth may in general be disclosed by the Registrar General only:

- 508 (1) in relation to a person adopted after 30 December 2005<sup>10</sup>, to an appropriate adoption agency on an application by that agency<sup>11</sup>;
- 509 (2) in relation to a person adopted before 30 December 2005 who has attained the age of 18 years, to that person on an application by him<sup>12</sup>; or
- 510 (3) in exceptional circumstances, by order of the court<sup>13</sup>.

The Registrar General is also required, on an application<sup>14</sup> by an adopted person who is under the age of 18 years<sup>15</sup> and intends to be married or form a civil partnership<sup>16</sup>, to inform the applicant whether or not it appears from information contained in the registers of live births or other records that the applicant and the intended spouse or civil partner may be<sup>17</sup> within the prohibited degrees of relationship<sup>18</sup>.

Before the Registrar General gives any information by virtue of these provisions, any prescribed fee which he has demanded must be paid<sup>19</sup>.

1 As to the requirement for such a register see para 383 ante.

2 As to the Registrar General see the Registration Service Act 1953 s 1 et seq; and REGISTRATION CONCERNING THE INDIVIDUAL vol 39(2) (Reissue) para 605 et seq.

3 As to the meaning of 'entry' see para 383 note 2 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'registers of live births' see para 383 note 11 ante.

5 'Records' includes certified copies kept by the Registrar General of entries in any register of births: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 82(1).

6 Ibid s 79(1).

7 See ibid s 77(2); and para 383 ante.

8 'Information' means information recorded in any form: ibid ss 144(1), 147, Sch 6.

9 Ibid s 79(2).

10 Ie the day appointed for the coming into force of ibid ss 56-65 (see para 472 post): s 79(9); Adoption and Children Act 2002 (Commencement No 9) Order 2005, SI 2005/2213; Adoption and Children Act 2002 (Commencement No 11) (Wales) Order 2005, SI 2005/3112.

11 Ibid s 79(3), (5). 'Adoption agency' means a local authority or a registered adoption society: see paras 394-395 post. For the meaning of 'appropriate adoption agency' see s 65(1); and para 472 note 9 post (definition applied by s 79(5)). The application must be made in writing (Adopted Children and Adoption Contact Registers Regulations 2005, SI 2005/924, reg 11), and the Registrar General's duty to give information arises only if a record of the adopted person's birth is kept by the Registrar General (Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 79(5)).

12 Ibid s 79(6), Sch 2 para 1. The application must be made in writing and signed by the applicant (Adopted Children and Adoption Contact Registers Regulations 2005, SI 2005/924, reg 12) and the Registrar General's duty to give information arises only if a record of the adopted person's birth is kept by the Registrar General (Adoption and Children Act 2002 Sch 2 para 1).

Before giving any such information to an applicant the Registrar General must inform the applicant that counselling services are available to him:

- 238 (1) from a registered adoption society, an organisation within s 144(3)(b) (voluntary organisations providing registered adoption services in Scotland) or an adoption society which is registered under the Adoption (Northern Ireland) Order 1987, SI 1987/2203, art 4 (Adoption and Children Act 2002 Sch 2 para 2(1)(a));
- 239 (2) if the applicant is in England and Wales, at the General Register Office or from any local authority (see para 327 note 7 ante) or registered adoption support agency (ie an adoption support agency in respect of which a person is registered under the Care Standards Act 2000 Pt 2 (ss 11-42) (as amended) (see para 985 post; and SOCIAL SERVICES AND COMMUNITY CARE) (Adoption and Children Act 2002 Sch 2 para 2(1)(b), (2));
- 240 (3) if the applicant is in Scotland, from any council constituted under the Local Government etc (Scotland) Act 1994 s 2 (Adoption and Children Act 2002 Sch 2 para 2(1)(c)); and
- 241 (4) if the applicant is in Northern Ireland, from any Board (ie a Health and Social Services Board established under the Health and Personal Social Services (Northern Ireland) Order 1972, SI 1972/1265, art 16 or, where the functions of a Board are exercisable by a Health and Social Services Trust, the Health and Social Services Trust) (Adoption and Children Act 2002 Sch 2 para 2(1)(d), (3)).

If the applicant chooses to receive counselling from any such person or body the Registrar General must send to the person or body the information to which the applicant is entitled under Sch 2 para 1: Sch 2 para 2(4).

Where an adopted person who is in England and Wales applies for information under Sch 2 para 1 or under the Adoption (Northern Ireland) Order 1987, SI 1987/2203, art 54, or is supplied with information under the Adoption (Scotland) Act 1978 s 45, the Registrar General, any local authority, a registered adoption society, an organisation within the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 144(3)(b) or an adoption society which is registered under the Adoption (Northern Ireland) Order 1987, SI 1987/2203, art 4 must, if asked by the applicant to do so, provide counselling for the applicant: Adoption and Children Act 2002 Sch 2 para 3.

Where a person was adopted before 12 November 1975 and applies for information under Sch 2 para 1, the Registrar General must not give the information to the applicant unless the applicant has attended an interview with a counsellor arranged by a person or body from whom counselling services are available as mentioned in Sch 2 para 2: Sch 2 para 4(1). Where the Registrar General is prevented by this requirement from giving information to a person who is not living in the United Kingdom, the Registrar General may give the information to any body which he is satisfied is suitable to provide counselling to that person and has notified him that it is prepared to provide such counselling: Sch 2 para 4(2). As to the United Kingdom see paras 102 note 7, 341 note 8 ante.

For the purposes of the Adoption and Children Act 2002, an 'adoption support agency' is an undertaking the purpose of which, or one of the purposes of which, is the provision of adoption support services (s 8(1)), although an undertaking is not an adoption support agency merely because it provides information in connection with adoption other than for the purpose mentioned in s 98(1) (information concerning pre-commencement adoptions: see para 453 post) (s 8(1)(a)), or if it is an excepted undertaking (s 8(1)(b)). For the meaning of 'undertaking' see the Care Standards Act 2000 s 121(1); and para 167 note 8 ante (definition applied by the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 8(1)). The following are 'excepted undertakings' for these purposes: (a) a registered adoption society (see para 395 note 3 post), whether or not the society is registered in respect of the provision of adoption support services (s 8(2)(a)); (b) a local authority (s 8(2)(b)); (c) a local education authority (s 8(2)(c)); (d) a special health authority, primary care trust, or, in Wales, a health authority or local health board, NHS trust or NHS foundation trust (s 8(2)(d) (amended by the Health and Social Care (Community Health and Standards) Act 2003 s 34, Sch 4 paras 125, 126)); (e) the Registrar General (Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 8(2)(e)); and (f) any person, or description of persons, excepted by regulations (s 8(2)(f); Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, reg 4 (excepting, in England, certain legal practitioners and undertakings providing discussion services and respite care)). For the meaning of 'local education authority' see the Education Act 1996

s 12; and EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 20 (definition applied by the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 8(2)(c)). As to special health authorities see the National Health Service Act 2006 ss 28, 29; the National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006 ss 22-25; and HEALTH SERVICES vol 54 (2008) PARAS 74, 136 et seq. As to primary care trusts, which exist only in England, see the National Health Service Act 2006 ss 18-24; and HEALTH SERVICES vol 54 (2008) PARA 111 et seq. As to local health boards, which exist only in Wales (and which exercise the functions of, inter alia, the former health authorities in Wales), see the National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006 ss 11-17; and HEALTH SERVICES vol 54 (2008) PARA 74. ### (iii) The Adoption and Children Act Register

389. The register.

As from a day to be appointed<sup>1</sup>, provision may be made by Order in Council<sup>2</sup> for the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup> to establish and maintain a register, to be called the Adoption and Children Act Register, containing prescribed information<sup>4</sup> about:

- 516 (1) children<sup>5</sup> who are suitable for adoption<sup>6</sup>;
- 517 (2) prospective adopters who are suitable to adopt a child<sup>7</sup>; and
- 518 (3) persons included in the register by virtue of these provisions in respect of things occurring after their inclusion<sup>8</sup>.

For the purpose of giving assistance in finding persons with whom children may be placed for purposes other than adoption, an Order in Council may provide for the register to contain information about such persons and the children who may be placed with them<sup>9</sup>.

1 At the date at which this volume states the law no day had been appointed for the commencement of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 ss 125-131 (see the text and notes 2-9 infra; and paras 390-392 post).

2 In England, no recommendation to make such an order is to be made to Her Majesty in Council unless a draft has been laid before and approved by resolution of each House of Parliament: ibid s 131(4). No recommendation to make an order under s 125 containing any provision in respect of the Adoption and Children Act Register is to be made to Her Majesty in Council if the register applies to Wales or the order would provide for the register to apply to Wales, unless a draft has been laid before, and approved by resolution of, the National Assembly for Wales: s 131(6). Similar provision is made in relation to Scotland: see s 131(5). At the date at which this volume states the law no such Order in Council had been made.

3 As to the Secretary of State see para 155 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'information' see para 385 note 8 ante. Information kept in the register may be kept in any form the Secretary of State considers appropriate: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 125(5).

5 For the meaning of 'child' see para 327 note 2 ante.

6 Adoption and Children Act 2002 ss 125(1)(a), 147, Sch 6. A child is 'suitable for adoption' if an adoption agency is satisfied that the child ought to be placed for adoption: s 131(2)(a). 'Adoption agency' means a local authority in England (s 130(1)(a)) or a registered adoption society whose principal office is in England (s 130(1)(b)). For the meaning of 'registered adoption society' see para 395 note 3 post. For the meaning of 'local authority' see para 327 note 7 ante. An Order in Council under s 125 may provide for any requirements imposed on adoption agencies in respect of the register to apply to Scottish local authorities and to voluntary organisations providing a registered adoption service (s 130(2)(a)) and to local authorities in Wales and to registered adoption societies whose principal offices are in Wales (s 130(2)(b)); and, in relation to the register, references to adoption agencies in ss 125-131 include any such authorities or societies to which such an order applies those requirements (s 130(2)). At the date at which this volume states the law no such provision had been made. 'Scottish local authority' means a local authority within the meaning of the Regulation of Care (Scotland) Act 2001: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 131(1)(d). As to the meaning of 'voluntary organisation providing a registered adoption service' see, by virtue of s 131(1)(e), para 352 note 2 ante.

7 Ibid s 125(1)(a). Prospective adopters are 'suitable to adopt a child' if an adoption agency is satisfied that they are suitable to have a child placed with them for adoption: s 131(2)(b).

8 Ibid s 125(1)(b).

9 Ibid s 125(2)(a). An Order in Council making provision under s 125(2)(a) may apply any of the other provisions of ss 125-131 with or without modifications: s 125(2)(b). At the date at which this volume states the law no Order in Council had been made under s 125(2).

390. Supply of information.

391. Disclosure and retention of information.

As from a day to be appointed<sup>1</sup>, the Adoption and Children Act Register<sup>2</sup> is not to be open to public inspection or search<sup>3</sup>, and an Order in Council<sup>4</sup> may prescribe:

- 519 (1) such information entered in the register<sup>5</sup> as may, where an adoption agency<sup>6</sup> is acting on behalf of a child who is suitable for adoption<sup>7</sup>, be disclosed to the agency to assist in finding prospective adopters with whom it would be appropriate for the child to be placed<sup>9</sup>;
- 520 (2) such information entered in the register as may, where an adoption agency is acting on behalf of prospective adopters who are suitable to adopt a child<sup>10</sup>, be disclosed<sup>11</sup> to the agency to assist in finding a child appropriate for adoption by them<sup>12</sup>; and
- 521 (3) such information entered in the register, or compiled from information entered in the register, as may be disclosed<sup>13</sup> to any prescribed person for use for statistical or research purposes, or for other prescribed purposes<sup>14</sup>.

Subject to specific exemptions relating to authorised disclosures<sup>15</sup>, information entered in or compiled from information entered in the register may be disclosed only in accordance with these provisions<sup>16</sup>, and any disclosure in contravention of these provisions is an offence<sup>17</sup>.

An Order in Council<sup>18</sup> may make provision about the retention of information in the register<sup>19</sup>.

8 Ie by the Secretary of State (see para 389 ante) or, as the case may be, the registration organisation (see paras 390 note 4 ante, 392 post): Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 129(2), (3). As to the Secretary of State see para 155 ante. Information disclosed to any person under s 129(2) or (3) may be given on any prescribed terms or conditions (s 129(6)), and an Order in Council under s 125 (see para 389 ante) may prescribe the steps to be taken by adoption agencies in respect of information received by them by virtue of s 129(2) (s 129(4)). At the date at which this volume states the law no such terms, conditions or steps had been prescribed. An Order under in Council under s 125 may, in prescribed circumstances, require a prescribed fee to be paid to the Secretary of State or the registration organisation by a prescribed adoption agency in respect of information disclosed under s 129(2) (s 129(7)(a)) or by a person to whom information is disclosed under s 129(3) (s 129(7)(b)).

15 Ibid s 129(1) (see the text and note 16 infra) does not apply to a disclosure of information with the authority of the Secretary of State (s 129(5)(a)) or to a disclosure by the registration organisation of prescribed information to the Scottish Ministers (if the register applies to Scotland) or the Welsh Ministers (if the register applies to Wales) (s 129(5)(b)). References to the register applying to Scotland or Wales are to those requirements applying as mentioned in s 130(2) (see para 389 note 6 ante): s 130(3).

17 Ibid s 129(8). Proceedings for this offence may not be brought more than six years after the commission of the offence (s 138(a)) but, subject to that, may be brought within a period of six months from the date on which evidence sufficient in the opinion of the prosecutor to warrant the proceedings came to his knowledge (s 138(b)). A person guilty of this offence is liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale, or both: s 129(9). As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante. Apart from this offence nothing authorised or required to be done by virtue of ss 125-131 constitutes an offence under s 93 (see para 507 note 15 post), s 94 (see para 508 post) or s 95 (see para 509 post): s 131(3).

Where an offence under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 committed by a body corporate is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of, or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of, any director, manager, secretary or other similar officer of the body, or a person purporting to act in any such capacity, that person as well as the body is guilty of the offence and liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly (s 143(1)); where the affairs of a body corporate are managed by its members, this applies in relation to the acts and defaults of a member in connection with his functions of management as it applies to a director of a body corporate (s 143(2)). Proceedings for an offence alleged to have been committed under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 by an unincorporated body are to be brought in the name of that body (and not in that of any of its members) and, for the purposes of any such proceedings in England and Wales or Northern Ireland, any rules of court relating to the service of documents have effect as if that body were a corporation: s 143(3). A fine imposed on an unincorporated body on its conviction of an offence under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 is to be paid out of the funds of that body: s 143(4).

If an unincorporated body is charged with an offence under the Adoption and Children Act 2002, then the Criminal Justice Act 1925 s 33 and the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 Sch 3 (procedure on charge of an offence against a corporation: see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1161; MAGISTRATES vol 29(2) (Reissue) para 666), and corresponding Northern Irish provision, have effect in like manner as in the case of a corporation so charged: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 143(5).

Where an offence under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 committed by an unincorporated body (other than a partnership) is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of, or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of, any officer of the body or any member of its governing body, he as well as the body is guilty of the offence and liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly: s 143(6). Where an offence under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 committed by a partnership is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of, or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of, a partner, he as well as the partnership is guilty of the offence and liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly: s 143(7).

392. Contracting-out of establishment and maintenance of register.

As from a day to be appointed<sup>1</sup>, the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> may make an arrangement with an organisation<sup>3</sup> under which any function of his<sup>4</sup> of establishing and maintaining the Adoption and Children Act Register<sup>5</sup>, and disclosing information<sup>6</sup> entered in, or compiled from information entered in, the register to any person, is performed wholly or partly by the organisation on his behalf<sup>7</sup>. An exercise of the Secretary of State's powers under these provisions requires the agreement of the Scottish Ministers (if the register or, as the case may be, any payment agency provision, applies to Scotland) and of the Welsh Ministers (if the register or, as the case may be, any payment agency provision, applies to Wales): ibid ss 126(4), 127(3). As to the Welsh Ministers see para 155 ante. References to a payment agency provision applying to Scotland or Wales is to such provision made by virtue of s 127 which applies in Scotland or Wales by virtue of s 130(4) (see note 10 infra): s 130(5).

5 As to the requirement for such a register see para 389 ante.

6 For the meaning of 'information' see para 385 note 8 ante. As to the supply of information to, and disclosure of information in, the register see paras 390-391 ante.

As to the meanings of 'Scottish local authority' and 'voluntary organisation providing a registered adoption service' see para 389 note 6 ante. No recommendation to make an order under s 125 containing any provision by virtue of s 127 is to be made to Her Majesty in Council if any payment agency provision applies to Wales or the order would provide for any payment agency provision to apply to Wales, unless a draft has been laid before, and approved by resolution of, the National Assembly for Wales: s 131(7).

(7) THE ADOPTION SERVICE

(i) Provision of Services

A. DUTY TO PROVIDE

393. Duty to provide Adoption Service.

It is the duty of every local authority<sup>1</sup> to continue to maintain within its area a service designed to meet the needs, in relation to adoption<sup>2</sup>, of:

- 522 (1) children<sup>3</sup> who may be adopted, their parents<sup>4</sup> and guardians<sup>5</sup>;
- 523 (2) persons wishing to adopt a child<sup>6</sup>; and
- 524 (3) adopted persons, their parents, natural parents and former guardians<sup>7</sup>.

This service is known as 'the Adoption Service'<sup>8</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'local authority' see para 327 note 7 ante.

2 In the Adoption and Children Act 2002 Pt 1 Ch 2 (ss 2-16) (as amended) (see the text and notes 3-8 infra; and para 394 et seq post), 'adoption' means the adoption of persons, wherever they may be habitually resident, effected under the law of any country or territory, whether within or outside the British Islands: s 2(8). As to habitual residence see para 806 post; and CONFLICT OF LAWS vol 8(3) (Reissue) para 57 et seq.

3 For the meaning of 'child' see para 327 note 2 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'parent' see para 332 note 2 ante.

5 Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 3(1)(a). As to the meaning of 'guardian' see para 332 note 3 ante.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/5. ADOPTION/(7) THE ADOPTION SERVICE/(i) Provision of Services/A. DUTY TO PROVIDE/394. Duty to provide adoption support services.

394. Duty to provide adoption support services.

Local authorities<sup>1</sup> must provide the requisite facilities for the purposes of the Adoption Service<sup>2</sup>, which must include making and participating in, or securing the provision of<sup>3</sup>, arrangements for the adoption<sup>4</sup> of children<sup>5</sup> and for the provision of adoption support services<sup>6</sup>, that is:

- 525 (1) counselling, advice and information<sup>7</sup>;
- 526 (2) financial support<sup>8</sup>;
- 527 (3) services to enable groups of adoptive children<sup>9</sup>, adoptive parents<sup>10</sup> and natural parents of an adoptive child to discuss matters relating to adoption<sup>11</sup>;
- 528 (4) arrangements for contact<sup>12</sup>;
- 529 (5) services in relation to the therapeutic needs of an adoptive child<sup>13</sup>;
- 530 (6) assistance for the purpose of ensuring the continuance of the relationship between the child and his adoptive parent<sup>14</sup>; and
- 531 (7) assistance where an adoption placement is disrupted<sup>15</sup>.

Local authorities may also provide an intermediary service in respect of persons adopted before 30 December 2005<sup>16</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'local authority' see para 327 note 7 ante. A local authority may for these purposes be referred to as an 'adoption agency': Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 2(1). Regulations made by the Secretary of State after consultation with the Welsh Ministers may provide for a reference in any provision of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 to an adoption agency to include a person who appears to the Secretary of State to exercise functions under the law of the Isle of Man or any of the Channel Islands which correspond to those of an adoption agency and for any reference in any provision of the Act to a child placed for adoption by an adoption agency to be read accordingly (s 108(1)(b), (3)), and may modify any provision of the Act, as such provision applies to any order made, or other thing done, under the law of the Isle of Man or any of the Channel Islands (s 108(2)). As to the Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers see para 155 ante. At the date at which this volume states the law no such regulations had been made. As to the making of regulations generally see para 334 note 12 ante.

2 See ibid s 3(1); para 393 ante. The facilities of the service must be provided in conjunction with the local authority's other social services (ie the authority's functions which are social services functions within the meaning of the Local Authority Social Services Act 1970 s 1A, Sch 1 (as added and substituted) (which include, in particular, those functions in so far as they relate to children): see SOCIAL SERVICES AND COMMUNITY CARE) and with registered adoption societies in its area, so that help may be given in a co-ordinated manner without duplication, omission or avoidable delay: s 3(5), (6). As to registered adoption societies see para 395 note 3 post.

3 As to the contracting out of the provision of these services see para 395 post.

4 For the meaning of 'adoption' see para 393 note 2 ante.

5 Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 3(2)(a). For the meaning of 'child' see para 327 note 2 ante.

6 Ibid s 3(2)(b). In England, the adoption support services described in the text do not include any services that might be provided in the case of an adoption of a child by his natural parent or the partner of his natural parent (Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 3(2)); in Wales, arrangements in respect of adoption support services are required to be made whether or not the local authority has decided to provide a service to any person (Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 4(8)) and (with the exception of the provision of financial support: see the text and note 8 infra) may include making arrangements with other persons for the purpose of their provision (reg 4(9)). As to the meaning of 'child' see note 9 infra. Adoption support services may also be provided by adoption support agencies established under the Care Standards Act 2000 Pt 2 (ss 11-42) (as amended): see the Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, reg 3(1); the Adoption Support Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1514, reg 2(2); and para 985 post. For the meaning of 'adoption support agency' see para 385 note 12 ante. Specific services are also prescribed as 'adoption support services' for the purposes of the legislation regulating the operations of adoption support agencies (ie the Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, and the Adoption Support Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1514): see para 464 note 5 post.

7 Adoption and Children Act 2002 ss 2(6)(a), 147, Sch 6. As to the provision of counselling, advice and information see further para 398 post.

8 Ibid s 2(6)(b); Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 3(1)(a); Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 3(a). The financial support for which provision must be made is that payable under the Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, Pt 3 (regs 8-12) (see para 405 post) or, as the case may be, under the Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 11 (see para 405 post). Regulations under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 2(6) prescribing adoption support services are required to ensure that local authorities provide financial support: s 2(7).

9 In England, 'adoptive child' means either a child who has been adopted or in respect of whom a person has given notice of his intention to adopt under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 44 (see para 365 ante) or a child whom an adoption agency has matched with a prospective adopter or placed for adoption: Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 2(1). A child has been 'matched with a prospective adopter' if an adoption agency is considering placing the child for adoption with that person: reg 2(3).

In Wales, 'adoptive child' means a child who is an agency adoptive child or a non-agency adoptive child; 'agency adoptive child' means a child in respect of whom an adoption agency has decided in accordance with the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 34 (see para 444 post) that a person would be a suitable adoptive parent for the child, whom an adoption agency has placed for adoption or who has been adopted after having been placed for adoption by an adoption agency; 'non-agency adoptive child' means a child in respect of whom a person has given notice under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 44 (see para 365 ante) of intention to apply for an adoption order where that person is not the natural parent or step-parent of the child, or a child who has been adopted by a person who is not his natural parent and was not his step-parent before adopting him, but does not include an agency adoptive child: Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 2(1). References to a person's adoptive child are references to a child who is an adoptive child in relation to that person; and references to a child's adoptive parent are references to a person who is an adoptive parent in relation to that child: reg 2(2)(b), (c). References (other than in this definition) to a child being placed, or being placed for adoption, are to the child being placed for adoption with a prospective adopter by an adoption agency and include, where a looked after child is living with a person, leaving the child with that person as a prospective adopter: reg 2(2)(d). As to the meaning of 'adoptive parent' see note 10 infra.

In both England and Wales, 'child' means a person who has not attained the age of 18 (Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 2(1); Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 2(1)), although this is subject to the Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 2(2) or the Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 2(3) (as the case may be) which provide that in any case where a person has attained the age of 18 years and is in full time education or training and immediately before he attained the age of 18 years he was an adoptive child and financial support was payable in relation to him, the definition of 'child' (and, in Wales, 'adoptive child') has effect, for the purposes of the continued provision of financial support and any review of financial support, in relation to the child as if he had not attained the age of 18 years.

10 In England, 'adoptive parent' means a person who has adopted a child or has given notice under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 44 (see para 365 ante) of his intention to adopt a child or a person with whom an adoption agency has matched a child or has placed a child for adoption: Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 2(1). In Wales, 'adoptive parent' means a person whom an adoption agency has decided in accordance with the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 34 would be a suitable adoptive parent for a particular child, a person with whom an adoption agency has placed a child for adoption, a person who has given notice under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 44 of intention to apply for an adoption order for a child, or a person who has adopted a child, but does not include a person where the child referred to has ceased to be a child, or where the person is the step-parent or natural parent of the child, or was the step-parent of the child before adopting the child: Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 2(1).

11 Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 3(1)(b); Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 3(b). As to these services see further para 399 post.

12 Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 3(1)(c); Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 3(c). In England, these services are described as services for assistance, including mediation services, in relation to arrangements for contact between an adoptive child and a natural parent, natural sibling, former guardian or a related person of the adoptive child; and, in Wales, they are described as assistance to adoptive children, adoptive parents, natural parents of an adoptive child and related persons in relation to arrangements for contact between an adoptive child and a natural parent or a related person of the adoptive child. In both England and Wales, 'related person' in relation to an adoptive child means a relative within the meaning of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 144(1) (see para 329 note 11 ante) and any person with whom the adoptive child has a relationship which appears to the local authority to be beneficial to the welfare of the child having regard to the matters referred to in s 1(4)(f)(i)-(iii) (see para 329 note 12 ante); Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 2(1); Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 2(1). See further as to these services para 400 post.

13 Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 3(1)(d); Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 3(d). In Wales these services are specifically required to be services that may be provided to an adoptive family: reg 3(d). See further as to these services para 401 post.

14 Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 3(1)(e); Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 3(e). See further as to these services para 402 post.

In England, these services are described as assistance where disruption of an adoptive placement, or of an adoption arrangement following the making of an adoption order, has occurred or is in danger of occurring; and, in Wales, they are described as assistance where disruption of an adoption placement has occurred or is in danger of occurring. Local authorities in Wales are required to provide assistance where disruption of a placement has occurred or is in danger of occurring, including mediation and organising and holding meetings to discuss disruptions in adoption placements: Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1357, reg 8(d).

16 Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 3(1), (3); Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 3(1), (4). The date mentioned in the text (ie 30 December 2005) is the date at which date the Adoption and Children Act 2002 was brought fully into effect (having been commenced piecemeal over several dates since its enactment): see the Adoption and Children Act 2002 (Commencement No 10 Transitional and Savings Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/2897. In relation to Wales, such services may be provided only in respect of adopted persons who have attained the age of 18: Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 3(2). See further as to these services para 480 et seq post.

396. Adoption support services advisor.

A local authority<sup>1</sup> must appoint at least one person (an 'adoption support services adviser') to:

- 540 (1) give advice and information<sup>2</sup> to persons who may be affected by the adoption<sup>3</sup> or proposed adoption of a child<sup>4</sup>;

A local authority must not appoint a person as an adoption support services adviser unless satisfied that his knowledge and experience of the process of adoption and the effect of the adoption of a child on persons likely to be affected by the adoption is sufficient for the purposes of the work that he is to perform<sup>12</sup>.

C. FINANCIAL SUPPORT

405. Circumstances in which financial support is payable.

In England, financial support is payable<sup>1</sup> to an adoptive parent<sup>2</sup> for the purpose of supporting the placement of the adoptive child<sup>3</sup> or the continuation of adoption arrangements after an adoption order is made<sup>4</sup>. In Wales, financial support is payable to an adoptive parent<sup>5</sup>.

In England, support is payable only where:

- 577 (1) it is necessary to ensure that the adoptive parent can look after the child<sup>6</sup>;
- 578 (2) the child needs special care which requires greater expenditure of resources by reason of illness, disability, emotional or behavioural difficulties or the continuing consequences of past abuse or neglect<sup>7</sup>;
- 579 (3) it is necessary for the local authority<sup>8</sup> to make any special arrangements to facilitate the placement or the adoption by reason of the age or ethnic origin of the child<sup>9</sup> or the desirability of the child being placed with the same adoptive parent as his brother or sister (whether of full or half blood) or with a child with whom he previously shared a home<sup>10</sup>;
- 580 (4) such support is to meet recurring costs in respect of travel for the purpose of visits between the child and a related person<sup>11</sup>; or
- 581 (5) the local authority considers it appropriate to make a contribution to meet expenditure on legal costs<sup>12</sup>, expenditure for the purpose of introducing an adoptive child to his adoptive parent<sup>13</sup>, or expenditure necessary for the purpose of accommodating and maintaining the child<sup>14</sup>.

In Wales, support is payable<sup>15</sup> only where one or more of the following circumstances exists:

- 582 (a) the child has not been placed with the adoptive parent for adoption, and financial support is necessary to ensure that the adoptive parent can look after the child if so placed<sup>16</sup>;
- 583 (b) the child has been placed with the adoptive parent for adoption, and financial support is necessary to ensure that the adoptive parent can continue to look after the child<sup>17</sup>;
- 584 (c) the child has been adopted, and financial support is necessary to ensure that the adoptive parent can continue to look after the child<sup>18</sup>;
- 585 (d) the local authority is satisfied that the child has established a strong and important relationship with the adoptive parent before the adoption order is made<sup>19</sup>;
- 586 (e) it is desirable that the child be placed with the same adoptive parent as a brother or sister (whether of the full blood or half blood), or with a child with whom the child has previously shared a home<sup>20</sup>;
- 587 (f) the child needs special care which requires a greater expenditure of resources by reason of illness, disability, emotional or behavioural difficulties or the continuing consequences of past abuse or neglect<sup>21</sup>; and

588 (g) on account of the age, sex or ethnic origin of the child it is necessary for the local authority to make special arrangements to facilitate the placement of the child for adoption<sup>22</sup>.

406. Amount of financial support payable.

Where a local authority<sup>1</sup> in England carries out an assessment<sup>2</sup> of a person's needs for financial support it must, in determining the amount of financial support, take account of any other grant, benefit, allowance or resource which is available to the person in respect of his needs as a result of the adoption of the child<sup>3</sup>. It must also take account of:

- 589 (1) the person's financial resources, including any tax credit or benefit, which would be available to him if the child lived with him<sup>4</sup>;
- 590 (2) the amount required by the person in respect of his reasonable outgoings and commitments (excluding outgoings in respect of the child)<sup>5</sup>; and
- 591 (3) the financial needs and resources of the child<sup>6</sup>, although the local authority must disregard these considerations where it is considering providing financial support in respect of certain legal costs<sup>7</sup> or expenditure for the purpose of introducing an agency adoptive child to his adoptive parents<sup>8</sup>, and may disregard them where it is considering providing financial support in respect of specified costs of accommodation<sup>9</sup>, travel<sup>10</sup> and care<sup>11</sup> or where it is considering including an element of remuneration for former foster parents<sup>12</sup>.

Separate provision is made where a local authority in Wales carries out an assessment of a person's need for financial support<sup>13</sup>. If the authority is considering providing financial support in respect of expenditure for the purpose of introducing the child to the adoptive parent<sup>14</sup> or the legal costs of the adoptive parent where an adoption order is applied for in respect of a child who is looked after by the authority<sup>15</sup>, the authority supports the making of that order and the making of the order is opposed by another person<sup>16</sup>, then in determining the amount of financial support the authority may not take into account:

- 592 (a) any recommendations, in relation to the adoptive parent or the adoptive child, made by the adoption panel<sup>17</sup> to the authority as to whether a child should be placed for adoption<sup>18</sup> or whether a prospective adopter is suitable to adopt a child<sup>19</sup>;
- 593 (b) the financial resources available to the adoptive parents including child tax credit and any other financial benefit which would be available in respect of the child if the child lived with them<sup>20</sup>;
- 594 (c) the amount required by the adoptive parents in respect of their reasonable outgoings and commitments (excluding outgoings in respect of the child)<sup>21</sup>; and
- 595 (d) the financial needs and resources of the child<sup>22</sup>.

If, however, the authority is not considering providing financial support in respect of such expenditure, but is considering providing financial support in respect of expenditure for the purposes of supporting the placement of the child with the adoptive parents for adoption and the continuation of that placement following the making of an adoption order<sup>23</sup>, then in determining the amount of financial support the authority must take into account such of the considerations listed in heads (a) to (d) above as are relevant to the case in question<sup>24</sup>.

In Wales, financial support will not be paid to meet any needs in so far as any benefit or allowance applicable to the adoptive parents as a result of their adoption of the child is payable or available to them in respect of those needs<sup>25</sup>.

407. Mode of payment.

In England, financial support<sup>1</sup> may be paid either periodically, if it is provided to meet a need which is likely to give rise to recurring expenditure<sup>2</sup> or in any other case, by a single payment or, if the local authority<sup>3</sup> and adoptive parent<sup>4</sup> agree, by instalments<sup>5</sup>.

Where a local authority in Wales decides that financial support is to be paid<sup>6</sup>, it must be paid as a single payment except that if the authority and the person to whom financial support is to be paid agree<sup>7</sup>, or the authority decides that financial support is to be paid to meet any needs which are likely to give rise to expenditure which is likely to be recurring<sup>8</sup>, it can be paid in instalments on such dates as the local authority may specify<sup>9</sup> or periodically until such date (if any) as the local authority may specify<sup>10</sup>.

408. Limited element of remuneration for former foster parents.

In both England and Wales provision is made for financial support<sup>1</sup> to include a limited element of remuneration where the adoptive parent<sup>2</sup> is a former foster parent<sup>3</sup>.

In England, financial support may include such an element of remuneration only where the decision to include it is taken before the adoption order is made and the local authority<sup>3</sup> considers it to be necessary to facilitate the adoption in a case where the adoptive parent has been a local authority foster parent<sup>4</sup> in respect of the child<sup>5</sup> and an element of remuneration was included in the payments made by the local authority to the adoptive parent in relation to his fostering the child<sup>6</sup>; however, that element of remuneration ceases to be payable at the end of the period of two years from the adoption order unless the local authority considers its continuation to be necessary having regard to the exceptional needs of the child or any other exceptional circumstances<sup>7</sup>.

In Wales, the financial support payable by the local authority may include an element of remuneration for the care of the child by the adoptive parents only if:

- 596 (1) the adoptive parent is or has been a foster parent in respect of the child<sup>8</sup>;
- 597 (2) it appears to the local authority that any financial assistance or allowances given to the adoptive parents in respect of their fostering of the child has ceased, or will cease<sup>9</sup>;
- 598 (3) the local authority has decided<sup>10</sup> that the adoptive parent would be a suitable adoptive parent for the child<sup>11</sup>; and
- 599 (4) before the adoption order is made the local authority decides to pay financial support and determines that the financial support is to be paid periodically<sup>12</sup>.

Such payments may be made: (a) at any time until the day ('the second anniversary') occurring two years after the date of the adoption in respect of the child<sup>13</sup>; and (b) in limited circumstances<sup>14</sup>, at any time after the second anniversary<sup>15</sup>.

- 605 (6) the child attains the age of 18 unless he continues in full time education or training<sup>10</sup>; or
- 606 (7) there is a change in his financial circumstances or the financial needs or resources of the child which may affect the amount of financial support payable to him<sup>11</sup>, and that he will complete and supply the authority with an annual statement as to his financial circumstances<sup>12</sup>, the financial needs and resources of the child<sup>13</sup>, his address and whether the child still has a home with him<sup>14</sup>. Where any condition imposed in accordance with these provisions is not complied with<sup>16</sup>, the authority may suspend or terminate payment of financial support<sup>17</sup> and seek to recover all or part of the financial support it has paid<sup>18</sup>.

In Wales, before financial support is payable<sup>19</sup> the local authority must require the adoptive parents to have agreed to:

- 607 (a) inform the local authority immediately if they change their address<sup>20</sup>, the child's home is no longer with them (or either of them), or the child dies<sup>21</sup>, or there is any change in their financial circumstances or the financial needs or resources of the child<sup>22</sup>;
- 608 (b) confirm any such information given orally in writing within seven days<sup>23</sup>; and
- 609 (c) complete and supply the authority with an annual statement of their financial circumstances and the needs and financial circumstances of the child<sup>24</sup>, and may impose such conditions as it considers appropriate upon the payment of financial support, which may include conditions as to the timescale within which and the purposes for which the payment should be utilised<sup>25</sup> and the requirement to comply with the agreement referred to above<sup>26</sup>.

410. Review of financial support.

Where a local authority<sup>1</sup> in England provides financial support payable periodically<sup>2</sup>, and where a local authority in Wales provides financial support on any payment terms<sup>3</sup>, it must review the support annually<sup>4</sup>, if any relevant change of circumstances (or, in England any breach of a condition<sup>5</sup>) comes to its notice<sup>6</sup>, and (in England) at any stage in the implementation of the plan<sup>7</sup> that it considers appropriate<sup>8</sup>.

In the absence of particular provision being made with regard to reviews of financial support payable in instalments by local authorities in England<sup>9</sup>, the statutory procedure for the review of the provision of adoption support services generally is thought to be applicable<sup>10</sup>.

2 Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 20(1).

For the purposes of a local authority in England, it is provided that the annual review must be undertaken on receipt of the statement from the adoptive parent mentioned in the Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 12 (see para 409 ante) (reg 20(2)(a)); for the purposes of a local authority in Wales, it is provided that the annual review must be undertaken on receipt of the statement from the adoptive parents as to their financial circumstances, the financial needs and resources of the child, and their address and whether the child still has a home with them (or either of them) (Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 17(1)(a)(i)-(iii)). 6 Ibid reg 20(2)(b); Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 17(1)(b). #### 411. Procedure for reviewing financial support.

Where a local authority<sup>1</sup> carries out a review of financial support<sup>2</sup> it must, where it considers it appropriate to do so, interview the person and, where the person is an adoptive child<sup>3</sup>, his adoptive parents<sup>4</sup>, and must prepare a written report of the review<sup>5</sup>. Where it appears to the authority that the person may have a need for services from a primary care trust<sup>6</sup>, a local health board<sup>7</sup> or a local education authority<sup>8</sup>, it must consult that trust, board or education authority as part of the review<sup>9</sup>. In Wales, the review must be carried out by, or under the supervision of, a person who has suitable qualifications, experience and skills necessary for the purposes of the review<sup>10</sup>.

412. Considerations to which regard must be had in reviews.

Where a local authority<sup>1</sup> in England carries out a review of financial support<sup>2</sup> it must have regard to such of the following considerations as are relevant to the review:

- 610 (1) the needs of the person being reviewed and how these might be met<sup>3</sup>;
- 611 (2) the needs of the adoptive family<sup>4</sup> and how these might be met<sup>5</sup>;
- 612 (3) the needs, including developmental needs, of the adoptive child and how these might be met<sup>6</sup>;
- 613 (4) the parenting capacity of the adoptive parent<sup>7</sup>;
- 614 (5) wider family and environmental factors<sup>8</sup>;
- 615 (6) in the case of a child who is, or was, placed<sup>9</sup> or matched for adoption, the circumstances that led to the child being so placed or matched<sup>10</sup>; and
- 616 (7) any previous assessment of needs for adoption support services undertaken in relation to the person in question<sup>11</sup>.

Where a local authority in Wales carries out an assessment of a person's needs for financial support it must, in carrying out the review, have regard to the following considerations:

- 617 (a) the needs of the person being reviewed and how these might be met<sup>12</sup>;
- 618 (b) the needs of the adoptive child and the adoptive family<sup>13</sup> and how these might be met<sup>14</sup>;
- 619 (c) in the case of a child who was placed for adoption, the circumstances that led to the child being placed for adoption<sup>15</sup>;
- 620 (d) any special needs of the adoptive child arising from the fact that he has been looked after by a local authority<sup>16</sup>;
- 621 (e) any special needs of the adoptive child arising from the fact that he has been habitually resident<sup>17</sup> outside the British Islands<sup>18</sup>; and
- 622 (f) any special needs of the adoptive child arising from the fact that the adoptive parent is a relative of the child<sup>19</sup>.

Authorities conducting reviews must also have regard to the considerations enumerated for the purpose of calculating the amount of financial support payable<sup>20</sup>.

ADOPTION/(7) THE ADOPTION SERVICE/(i) Provision of Services/C. FINANCIAL SUPPORT/413. Variation, revision and termination of financial support following review.

413. Variation, revision and termination of financial support following review.

Where a local authority<sup>1</sup> in England has carried out a review of financial support<sup>2</sup>, it may propose to reduce or terminate the support or revise the plan<sup>3</sup>, but before making any such decision following a review it must give the person an opportunity to make representations<sup>4</sup>. This requirement does not prevent the authority from suspending financial support pending its decision<sup>5</sup>. The authority must give the person notice<sup>6</sup> of its proposed decision and of the time allowed for making representations, which must contain:

- 623 (1) a statement as to the person's needs for adoption support services<sup>7</sup>;
- 624 (2) where the review relates to his need for financial support, the basis upon which financial support is determined<sup>8</sup>;
- 625 (3) information as to whether the authority proposes to provide him with adoption support services<sup>9</sup>;
- 626 (4) information identifying the services (if any) that are proposed to be provided<sup>10</sup>;
- 627 (5) if financial support is to continue to be paid to him, the proposed amount that would be payable<sup>11</sup>;
- 628 (6) any conditions<sup>12</sup> proposed to be included<sup>13</sup>;
- 629 (7) if applicable, a draft of the revised plan<sup>14</sup>.

The authority must then, having regard to the review and after considering any representations received within the period specified in the notice, decide whether to vary or terminate payment of the financial support or whether to seek to recover all or part of any financial support that has been paid<sup>15</sup> and, where appropriate, revise the plan<sup>16</sup>, and give the person notice of its decision including the reasons for it and, if applicable, the revised plan<sup>17</sup>.

Where financial support is payable in Wales in instalments or periodically, the local authority may vary, suspend or terminate payment of the support if, as a result of a review<sup>18</sup>, it considers that the adoptive parents<sup>19</sup> need for it has changed or ceased since the amount of support was last determined<sup>20</sup>. The authority may also impose such conditions as it considers appropriate upon the payment of financial support, which may include conditions as to the timescale within which and the purposes for which the payment should be utilised<sup>21</sup> and the requirement to comply with the agreement into which the adoptive parents were required to have entered<sup>22</sup> before financial support was initially payable<sup>23</sup>. Where financial support is so payable the authority may also review, suspend or cease payment of the support<sup>24</sup>, and seek to recover all or part of the support it has paid<sup>25</sup>, if any condition imposed on the payment of the support<sup>26</sup> is not complied with<sup>27</sup>. If a local authority in Wales decides to vary, suspend or terminate payment of financial support, or revise the plan, it must give notice<sup>28</sup> of the proposal, which must include the reasons for the proposal<sup>29</sup> and:

- 630 (a) a statement of the needs for adoption support services of the person whose support was reviewed<sup>30</sup>;
- 631 (b) information as to the services, if any, which it is proposed to provide to the person<sup>31</sup>;
- 632 (c) information as to the basis on which the person's financial support is now determined<sup>32</sup> and the proposed amount payable<sup>33</sup>; and

633 (d) details of any conditions which the authority proposes to impose<sup>34</sup> on the provision of that financial support<sup>35</sup>.

Where a local authority in Wales decides that financial support is to be paid after a review, it must be paid as a single payment except that if the authority and the person to whom financial support is to be paid agree<sup>36</sup>, or the authority decides that financial support is to be paid to meet any needs which are likely to give rise to expenditure which is likely to be recurring<sup>37</sup>, it can be paid in instalments on such dates as the authority may specify<sup>38</sup> or periodically until such date (if any) as the authority may specify<sup>39</sup>.

Where, having taken these steps, the authority determines under reg 17(4) that payment of financial support should be suspended, it may lift that suspension on receipt of the annual statement referred to in reg 11(3)(c): reg 17(6).

D. ASSESSMENTS AND PLANS FOR ADOPTION SUPPORT SERVICES

415. Duties of local authorities.

Local authorities<sup>1</sup> may, at the request of any person<sup>2</sup>, carry out an assessment of that person's needs for adoption support services<sup>3</sup>. They also must carry out such an assessment at the request of:

- 638 (1) children<sup>4</sup> who may be adopted, their parents<sup>5</sup> and guardians<sup>6</sup>;
- 639 (2) persons wishing to adopt a child<sup>7</sup>;
- 640 (3) adopted persons, their parents, natural parents and former guardians<sup>8</sup>;
- 641 (4) a child of an adoptive parent (in England, whether or not adopted)<sup>9</sup>;
- 642 (5) a child who is the natural sibling (in England), or brother or sister (in Wales), whether of the full blood or half blood, of an adoptive child<sup>10</sup>;
- 643 (6) in England, a related person<sup>11</sup> in relation to an adoptive child<sup>12</sup>; and
- 644 (7) in Wales, a related person in relation to arrangements for contact between that person and an adoptive child where arrangements for such contact have been made before the request for an assessment<sup>13</sup>.

The statutory provisions relating to local authority assessments for adoption support services<sup>14</sup> apply to a local authority in respect of specified persons who are outside the authority's area<sup>15</sup>, namely:

- 645 (a) an agency adoptive child<sup>16</sup> whom the authority has placed for adoption or who has been adopted after being placed for adoption by the authority<sup>17</sup>;
- 646 (b) an adoptive parent of such a child<sup>18</sup>;
- 647 (c) a child of such an adoptive parent (in England, whether or not adopted)<sup>19</sup>.

However, those provisions cease to apply in those circumstances at the end of the period of three years from the date of the adoption order (in England) or the adoption (in Wales), except in relation to any financial support provided by the local authority where the decision to provide that support was made before the adoption<sup>20</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'local authority' see para 327 note 7 ante.

2 In England, in assessing a person's needs for adoption support services a local authority is not required to assess the person's need for a service if he is not within the description of persons to whom provision of the service must be extended by virtue of the Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 4 (see paras 398-404 ante); reg 13(3).

Regulations may make provision as to the circumstances in which a person having a right to request an assessment by virtue of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 4(1)(b) (ie such a person as is mentioned in heads (4)-(7) in the text) is to have a right to request an assessment of his needs in accordance with s 4(1); s 4(6), (7)(a). #### 416. Procedure for assessments.

Where a local authority<sup>1</sup> carries out an assessment of a person's needs for adoption support services<sup>2</sup> it must, where it considers it appropriate to do so, interview the person and, where the person is an adoptive child<sup>3</sup>, his adoptive parents<sup>4</sup>, and must prepare a written report of the assessment<sup>5</sup>. The authority may request the help of:

- 648 (1) a registered adoption society<sup>6</sup>;
- 649 (2) another local authority<sup>7</sup>;
- 650 (3) a registered adoption support agency<sup>8</sup>;
- 651 (4) a local health board<sup>9</sup>;
- 652 (5) a primary care trust<sup>10</sup>;
- 653 (6) a local education authority<sup>11</sup>;
- 654 (7) in England, a social worker<sup>12</sup>; and
- 655 (8) in Wales, an NHS trust<sup>13</sup>, and where it appears to the authority that the person may have a need for services from a primary care trust, a local health board or a local education authority, it must notify that trust, board or authority<sup>14</sup> and, as part of the assessment, consult it<sup>15</sup>.

Where the request of a person<sup>16</sup> for an assessment relates to a particular adoption support service, or it appears to the authority that the person's needs for adoption support services may be adequately assessed by reference to a particular adoption support service, the authority may carry out the assessment by reference only to that service<sup>17</sup>.

In Wales, the assessment of a person's needs for adoption support services must be carried out by, or under the supervision of, a person who has suitable qualifications, experience and skills necessary for the purposes of the assessment<sup>18</sup>.

In England, provision is also made for the procedure for assessments for financial support<sup>19</sup>.

Where it appears to a local authority that another local authority could, by taking any specified action, help in the exercise of any of its functions under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 4, it may request the help of that other authority, specifying the action in question (s 4(10)), and a local authority whose help is so requested must comply with the request if it is consistent with the exercise of its functions (s 4(11)). Where a local authority in England ('the recovering authority') provides adoption support services to any person following a request under s 4(10) from another local authority ('the paying authority'), the recovering authority may recover the expenses of providing those services from the paying authority (s 4(7)(i); Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 23(1)); and where a local authority in Wales ('the placing authority') has placed a child for adoption, fewer than three years have elapsed from the date of the adoption, the placing authority has requested the help of another local authority ('the recovering authority') pursuant to the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 4(10), and the recovering authority has complied with that request in accordance with s 4(11), the recovering authority may recover from the placing authority the expenses of providing such help (Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 5(3)). These provisions do not, however, apply where the service provided by the recovering authority is advice and information under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 2(6)(a) (see para 394 ante) (Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 23(2)(b); Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 15(4)); nor in respect of local authorities in England if the recovering authority is, by virtue of the Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 7 (see para 415 ante), a local authority to which the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 4 applies in respect of the person to whom adoption support services are provided following the applicable request (Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 23(2)(a)). Nothing in the Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 15 prevents a local authority from providing adoption services to person outside its area where it considers it appropriate to do so: reg 15(5).

ADOPTION/(7) THE ADOPTION SERVICE/(i) Provision of Services/D. ASSESSMENTS AND PLANS FOR ADOPTION SUPPORT SERVICES/417. Considerations to which regard must be had.

417. Considerations to which regard must be had.

In England, where a local authority<sup>1</sup> carries out an assessment of a person's needs for adoption support services<sup>2</sup>, it must have regard to such of the following considerations as are relevant to the assessment:

- 656 (1) the needs of the person being assessed and how these might be met<sup>3</sup>;
- 657 (2) the needs of the adoptive family<sup>4</sup> and how these might be met<sup>5</sup>;
- 658 (3) the needs, including developmental needs, of the adoptive child and how these might be met<sup>6</sup>;
- 659 (4) the parenting capacity of the adoptive parent<sup>7</sup>;
- 660 (5) wider family and environmental factors<sup>8</sup>;
- 661 (6) in the case of a child who is, or was, placed<sup>9</sup> or matched for adoption, the circumstances that led to the child being so placed or matched<sup>10</sup>; and
- 662 (7) any previous assessment of needs for adoption support services undertaken in relation to the person in question<sup>11</sup>.

In Wales, where an assessment of needs for adoption support services is requested by a person entitled to be assessed<sup>12</sup> and the local authority carries out an assessment of that person's needs for those services, it must, in carrying out the assessment, have regard to the following considerations:

- 663 (a) the needs of the person being assessed and how these might be met<sup>13</sup>;
- 664 (b) the needs of the adoptive child and the adoptive family<sup>14</sup> and how these might be met<sup>15</sup>;
- 665 (c) in the case of a child who was placed for adoption, the circumstances that led to the child being placed for adoption<sup>16</sup>;
- 666 (d) any special needs of the adoptive child arising from the fact that he has been looked after by a local authority<sup>17</sup>;
- 667 (e) any special needs of the adoptive child arising from the fact that he has been habitually resident<sup>18</sup> outside the British Islands<sup>19</sup>; and
- 668 (f) any special needs of the adoptive child arising from the fact that the adoptive parent is a relative of the child<sup>20</sup>, and where the assessment is being carried out at the request of a related person<sup>21</sup>, the local authority must have regard to the needs of that person only so far as they relate to his need for assistance so as to enable him to take part in arrangements for contact with the adoptive child that were made before the request for an assessment<sup>22</sup>.

Provision is also made as to the matters to which authorities must have regard when carrying out an assessment of a person's needs for financial support<sup>23</sup>.

This is subject to the requirement that where the assessment referred to in reg 8(1) is being carried out at the request of a related person, the local authority must have regard to the needs of that person only so far as they relate to his need for assistance so as to enable him to take part in arrangements for contact with the adoptive child that were made before the request for an assessment: reg 8(1)(a), (2).

14 In Wales, 'adoptive family' means an adoptive child, the adoptive parent of the adoptive child, and any child of the adoptive parent; and references to the adoptive family of or in relation to a person are to be construed as the adoptive family of which that person is a member: ibid reg 2(1). ADOPTION/(7) THE ADOPTION SERVICE/(i) Provision of Services/D. ASSESSMENTS AND PLANS FOR ADOPTION SUPPORT SERVICES/418. Notification of assessments and proposals.

418. Notification of assessments and proposals.

Local authorities<sup>1</sup> who have carried out assessments of a person's needs for adoption support services<sup>2</sup> must notify that person of the findings of the assessment<sup>3</sup>. In England, the notification process must take place before the authority makes any decision<sup>4</sup> as to whether to provide adoption support services<sup>5</sup>, and in Wales it must take place after the carrying out<sup>6</sup> of an assessment<sup>7</sup>.

Local authorities in England are required to give the person notice<sup>8</sup> of the proposed decision, which must contain:

- 669 (1) a statement as to the person's needs for adoption support services<sup>9</sup>;
- 670 (2) where the assessment relates to his need for financial support, the basis upon which financial support is determined<sup>10</sup>;
- 671 (3) information as to whether the local authority proposes to provide him with adoption support services<sup>11</sup>;
- 672 (4) information identifying the services (if any) that are proposed to be provided<sup>12</sup>;
- 673 (5) if financial support is to be paid to him, the proposed amount that would be payable<sup>13</sup>; and
- 674 (6) any conditions<sup>14</sup> proposed to be included<sup>15</sup>.

In a case where the authority proposes to provide adoption support services and is required<sup>16</sup> to prepare a plan, the notice must be accompanied by a draft of that plan<sup>17</sup>.

Local authorities in Wales are required to supply:

- 675 (a) a statement of the needs for adoption support services of the person whose needs were assessed<sup>18</sup>;
- 676 (b) information as to the services, if any, which it is proposed to provide to the person<sup>19</sup>;
- 677 (c) where the assessment relates to the person's need for financial support, information as to the basis on which that financial support is determined<sup>20</sup> and the proposed amount which would be payable<sup>21</sup>; and
- 678 (d) details of any conditions which the authority proposes to impose<sup>22</sup> on the provision of that financial support<sup>23</sup>.

419. Making of representations by persons assessed.

When local authorities<sup>1</sup> notify persons in respect of whom assessments of need for adoption support services have been carried out<sup>2</sup> of the findings of the assessment<sup>3</sup>, they must also inform those persons of their right to make representations<sup>4</sup>. Notices issued by local authorities in England<sup>5</sup> must give notice of the time allowed for making representations<sup>6</sup>, and notices issued by local authorities in Wales must inform the person of, and give details in relation to, his right to make representations and specify the period within which such representations may be made<sup>7</sup>. In both England and Wales, the authority must not make a decision as to the provision of support until the person has made representations to the authority or notified the authority that he is satisfied with the proposed decision<sup>8</sup> or the period of time for making representations has expired<sup>9</sup>.

420. Notification of decision as to provision of support services.

Where, as a result of an assessment of need for adoption support services<sup>1</sup>, a local authority<sup>2</sup> decides that a person has needs for such services<sup>3</sup>, it must then decide whether to provide any such services to that person<sup>4</sup> and, after making that decision, must give the person notice of it<sup>5</sup>. The notice must include the reasons for the decision<sup>6</sup> and, if the authority decides that financial support is to be provided<sup>7</sup>, must include the following information (or, in Wales, specify the following matters):

- 679 (1) the method of the determination of the amount of financial support<sup>8</sup>;
- 680 (2) details of how periodical payments of financial support, or payment in instalments, is to be structured<sup>9</sup>;
- 681 (3) where financial support is to be paid as a single payment, when the payment is to be made<sup>10</sup>;
- 682 (4) where financial support is to be paid subject to any conditions<sup>11</sup>, those conditions; the date (if any) by which the conditions are to be met; and the consequences of failing to meet the conditions<sup>12</sup>;
- 683 (5) the arrangements and procedure for review, variation and termination of financial support<sup>13</sup>;
- 684 (6) the responsibilities of the local authority regarding reviews of the provision of support services<sup>14</sup>;
- 685 (7) the responsibilities of the adoptive parent<sup>15</sup> pursuant to any agreement<sup>16</sup>.

In England, where the local authority is required<sup>17</sup> to prepare a plan, the notice must also include details of that plan and the person nominated<sup>18</sup> to monitor the provision of the services in accordance with the plan<sup>19</sup>; in Wales, the notice is merely required to include a copy of the plan<sup>20</sup>.

ADOPTION/(7) THE ADOPTION SERVICE/(i) Provision of Services/D. ASSESSMENTS AND PLANS FOR ADOPTION SUPPORT SERVICES/421. Plan for provision of support services.

421. Plan for provision of support services.

If a local authority<sup>1</sup> decides to provide any adoption support services<sup>2</sup> to a person<sup>3</sup> and proposes to provide those services to that person on more than one single occasion<sup>4</sup>, the authority must prepare a plan in accordance with which services are to be provided to the person and keep that plan under review<sup>5</sup>. In England, this requirement is subject to the further proviso that the services to be provided are not limited to the provision of advice or information<sup>6</sup>.

Where it appears to the authority that the person may have a need for services from a primary care trust<sup>7</sup>, a local health board<sup>8</sup>, a local education authority<sup>9</sup> or (in Wales) an NHS trust<sup>10</sup>, it must consult that trust, board or authority before preparing the plan<sup>11</sup>. In Wales, the local authority must also, for the purpose of preparing the plan, consult any person who is to be given statutory notice<sup>12</sup> in connection with the provision of adoption support services<sup>13</sup>; and, where the plan includes the provision of services by a local health board, NHS trust, primary care trust or a local education authority, must give notice of the plan to that body<sup>14</sup> and give a copy of that part of the plan that refers to such services to the appropriate board, trust, or authority<sup>15</sup>. In Wales, where the person to whom the plan relates lives in another local authority area, the local authority must also provide a copy of the plan to that local authority<sup>16</sup>.

E. MONITORING AND REVIEW OF ADOPTION SUPPORT SERVICES

422. Monitoring of provision of support services.

In England, the local authority<sup>1</sup> must nominate a person to monitor the provision of adoption support services<sup>2</sup> in accordance with the plan<sup>3</sup>. If a local authority in Wales decides<sup>4</sup> to provide any adoption support services to a person, and is required under that regulation to give notice of that decision<sup>5</sup>, it must nominate an individual who must monitor the provision of the services that are to be provided<sup>6</sup> and notify the person of the nomination when it notifies that person<sup>7</sup> of its decision<sup>8</sup>.

ADOPTION/(7) THE ADOPTION SERVICE/(i) Provision of Services/E. MONITORING AND REVIEW OF ADOPTION SUPPORT SERVICES/423. Review of adoption support services other than financial support.

423. Review of adoption support services other than financial support.

Where a local authority<sup>1</sup> in England provides adoption support services for a person<sup>2</sup> (other than financial support payable periodically)<sup>3</sup>, and where a local authority in Wales is providing, or has in the preceding 12 months provided, adoption support services for a person<sup>4</sup>, it must review the provision of such services if any change in the person's circumstances comes to its notice<sup>5</sup>. Local authorities in England must additionally review the provision of such services at such stage in the implementation of the plan<sup>6</sup> as they consider appropriate<sup>7</sup> and, in any event, at least annually<sup>8</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'local authority' see para 327 note 7 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'adoption support services' see para 394 ante. As to the provision of adoption support services by local authorities see para 394 ante.

3 Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 19(1). Specific provision is made for the review of financial support payable periodically in England: see paras 410-414 ante. It is presumed that the review provisions set out in this paragraph and paras 424-426 post are applicable, in the absence of particular provision being made, to reviews of financial support payable in instalments by local authorities in England.

4 Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 16(1). Regulation 16 does not, unlike its English counterpart (ie the Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 19), specifically exclude financial support services from the scope of the review provisions set out in this paragraph and paras 424-426 post, but the existence of specific provision dealing with the review of the payment of financial support by local authorities in Wales (ie the Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 17 (see paras 410-414 ante) suggests that such an exclusion should be applied.

In England, a review may be triggered only if such a change in the person's circumstances may affect the provision of adoption support services: Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 19(2)(a).

424. Procedure for reviews.

Where a local authority<sup>1</sup> in England carries out a review of adoption support services<sup>2</sup> it must, where it considers it appropriate to do so, interview the person and, where the person is an adoptive child<sup>3</sup>, his adoptive parents<sup>4</sup>, and must prepare a written report of the review<sup>5</sup>. Where it appears to a local authority carrying out a review of adoption support services in either England<sup>6</sup> or Wales<sup>7</sup> that the person may have a need for services from a primary care trust<sup>8</sup>, a local health board<sup>9</sup> or a local education authority<sup>10</sup>, it must consult that trust, board or education authority as part of the review<sup>11</sup>. In Wales, the review must be carried out by, or under the supervision of, a person who has suitable qualifications, experience and skills necessary for the purposes of the review<sup>12</sup>.

ADOPTION/(7) THE ADOPTION SERVICE/(i) Provision of Services/E. MONITORING AND REVIEW OF ADOPTION SUPPORT SERVICES/425. Considerations to which regard must be had in reviews.

425. Considerations to which regard must be had in reviews.

Where a local authority<sup>1</sup> in England carries out a review of adoption support services<sup>2</sup>, it must have regard to such of the following considerations as are relevant to the review:

- 686 (1) the needs of the person being reviewed and how these might be met<sup>3</sup>;
- 687 (2) the needs of the adoptive family<sup>4</sup> and how these might be met<sup>5</sup>;
- 688 (3) the needs, including developmental needs, of the adoptive child and how these might be met<sup>6</sup>;
- 689 (4) the parenting capacity of the adoptive parent<sup>7</sup>;
- 690 (5) wider family and environmental factors<sup>8</sup>;
- 691 (6) in the case of a child who is, or was, placed<sup>9</sup> or matched for adoption, the circumstances that led to the child being so placed or matched<sup>10</sup>; and
- 692 (7) any previous assessment of needs for adoption support services undertaken in relation to the person in question<sup>11</sup>.

Where a local authority in Wales carries out an assessment of a person's needs for adoption support services<sup>12</sup>, it must, in carrying out the review, have regard to the following considerations:

- 693 (a) the needs of the person being reviewed and how these might be met<sup>13</sup>;
- 694 (b) the needs of the adoptive child and the adoptive family<sup>14</sup> and how these might be met<sup>15</sup>;
- 695 (c) in the case of a child who was placed for adoption, the circumstances that led to the child being placed for adoption<sup>16</sup>;
- 696 (d) any special needs of the adoptive child arising from the fact that he has been looked after by a local authority<sup>17</sup>;
- 697 (e) any special needs of the adoptive child arising from the fact that he has been habitually resident<sup>18</sup> outside the British Islands<sup>19</sup>; and
- 698 (f) any special needs of the adoptive child arising from the fact that the adoptive parent is a relative of the child<sup>20</sup>.

An authority in England conducting a review of financial support payable in instalments<sup>21</sup> must also have regard to the considerations enumerated for the purpose of calculating the amount of financial support payable<sup>22</sup>.

426. Variation and termination of support services following review.

Where a local authority<sup>1</sup> in England has carried out a review of adoption support services<sup>2</sup>, it may propose to vary or terminate the provision of services and revise the plan<sup>3</sup>; but, before making any such decision following a review, it must give the person an opportunity to make representations<sup>4</sup>. The authority must therefore give the person notice<sup>5</sup> of its proposed decision and of the time allowed for making representations, which must contain:

- 699 (1) a statement as to the person's needs for adoption support services<sup>6</sup>;
- 700 (2) where the review relates to his need for financial support<sup>7</sup>, the basis upon which financial support is determined<sup>8</sup>;
- 701 (3) information as to whether the authority proposes to provide him with adoption support services<sup>9</sup>;
- 702 (4) information identifying the services (if any) that are proposed to be provided<sup>10</sup>;

- 704 (6) any conditions<sup>12</sup> proposed to be included<sup>13</sup>; and
- 705 (7) if applicable, a draft of the revised plan<sup>14</sup>.

The authority must then, having regard to the review and after considering any representations received within the period specified in the notice, decide whether to vary or terminate the provision of adoption support services for the person<sup>15</sup> and, where appropriate, revise the plan<sup>16</sup>, and give the person notice of its decision including the reasons for it and, if applicable, details of the revised plan<sup>17</sup>.

Where a local authority in Wales has carried out a review of adoption support services<sup>18</sup>, it must, having regard to the review, decide whether to vary the provision of adoption support services for the person<sup>19</sup> and review, and where appropriate, revise the plan<sup>20</sup>. If the authority decides to vary the provision of adoption support services for the person or revise the plan, it must give notice<sup>21</sup> of the decision, which must include:

- 706 (a) a statement of the needs for adoption support services of the person whose support was reviewed<sup>22</sup>; and
- 707 (b) information as to the services, if any, which it is proposed to provide to the person<sup>23</sup>.

The person so notified has the right to make representations to the authority concerning the decision within a period specified by the authority<sup>24</sup>, and the authority must not make that decision until that person has either made representations to it<sup>25</sup> or notified it that he is satisfied with the proposed decision<sup>26</sup>, or the period for making representations specified in the notice has expired<sup>27</sup>.

An adoption agency<sup>1</sup> must establish at least one adoption panel<sup>2</sup> and appoint to chair it a person who has the necessary skills and experience<sup>3</sup>. The panel must consist of not more than ten members, including the chair<sup>4</sup>, and must include:

- 708 (1) two social workers<sup>5</sup>;
- 709 (2) in the case of a registered adoption society<sup>6</sup>, one person who is a director, manager or other officer and is concerned in the management of that society<sup>7</sup>;

- 712 (5) at least three other persons ('independent members') including where reasonably practicable at least two persons with personal experience of adoption<sup>10</sup>.

Two or more (but, in Wales, not more than three) local authorities<sup>11</sup> may jointly establish an adoption panel, to which the maximum number of members that may be appointed is eleven<sup>12</sup>. Appointments mirror the arrangements for the sole authority panel<sup>13</sup>.

Provision is made for the tenure of office<sup>14</sup> and remuneration<sup>15</sup> of panel members; and for the establishment and operation of panels established by local authorities in Wales<sup>16</sup>.

Note that members of adoption panels established before 30 December 2005 (ie the date on which the Adoption and Children Act 2002 was brought fully into effect (having been commenced piecemeal over several dates since its enactment): see the Adoption and Children Act 2002 (Commencement No 10 Transitional and Savings Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/2897) ceased to hold office on that date and new panels were required to be established, subject to specific provisions as to tenure for persons who served on the old panels: see the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 10 (amended by SI 2005/3482); and the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 10. A panel member may resign his office at any time by giving one month's notice in writing to the agency: Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 4(3); Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations

2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 4(3). Where an agency is of the opinion that any panel member is unsuitable or unable to remain in office, it may terminate his office at any time by giving him notice in writing with reasons (Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 4(4); Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 4(4)); if the member whose appointment is to be so terminated is a member of a joint adoption panel, his appointment may be terminated only with the agreement of all the local authorities whose panel it is (Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 4(5); Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 4(5)).

15 A local authority in England may pay to any member of its adoption panel such fee as it may determine, being a fee of a reasonable amount; and a local authority in Wales may pay to a person appointed to chair, or to any independent person on, its adoption panel or joint adoption panel such fee as that local authority may determine, being a fee of a reasonable amount: see the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 6; the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 6; and para 397 ante.

No business may be conducted by an adoption panel<sup>1</sup> unless at least five of its members, including the person appointed to chair the panel or the vice chair and at least one of the social workers<sup>2</sup> and one of the independent members<sup>3</sup>, meet as the panel<sup>4</sup>; and no business may be conducted by a joint adoption panel<sup>5</sup> unless at least six of its members, including the person appointed to chair the panel or the vice chair and at least one of the social workers and one of the independent members, meet as the panel<sup>6</sup>.

A local authority is not bound to invite a children's guardian acting on behalf of a child being considered for adoption to a meeting of the adoption panel, although it must inform the children's guardian of the proposal for adoption and listen to his views<sup>7</sup>. It is good practice to allow a natural parent to make a short written submission to an adoption panel although a failure to do this will not vitiate a recommendation made by the panel, or amount to an unfair procedure<sup>8</sup>.

A panel must make a written record of its proceedings, its recommendations and the reasons for its recommendations<sup>9</sup>.

431. Adoption agency report.

Where an adoption agency<sup>1</sup> is considering adoption for a child<sup>2</sup>, it is obliged to obtain (so far as is reasonably practicable) prescribed information about the child<sup>3</sup>, and must arrange for the child to be examined by a registered medical practitioner<sup>4</sup> and obtain from him a written report on the child's health<sup>5</sup>, unless the agency has received advice from the medical adviser<sup>6</sup> that such an examination and report is unnecessary<sup>7</sup>. The agency must also make arrangements for such other medical and psychiatric examinations of, and other tests on, the child to be carried out as are recommended by the medical adviser<sup>8</sup> and for written reports of such examinations and tests to be obtained<sup>9</sup>. The child may refuse to submit to the examinations or tests<sup>10</sup>. The agency must also obtain (so far as is reasonably practicable) information about the child's family, including information as to the health of his natural parents and siblings<sup>11</sup>.

Where an adoption agency<sup>1</sup> is considering adoption for a child<sup>2</sup>, it is obliged (so far as is reasonably practicable) to provide a counselling service for the child<sup>3</sup>, and for the child's parent or guardian<sup>4</sup>. The child and his parent or guardian are also required to have explained to them by the agency the relevant legal procedures and implications<sup>5</sup>, and to have ascertained their wishes and feelings on matters involving the child's placement and adoption, his religious and cultural upbringing, and contact arrangements<sup>6</sup>. Special provision is made where the father of the child does not have parental responsibility for the child and the father's identity is known to the adoption agency<sup>7</sup>. ### 433. Permanence report.

Where an adoption agency<sup>1</sup> is considering adoption for a child<sup>2</sup> (and, in Wales, considers in light of all the information obtained<sup>3</sup> that adoption is the preferred option for permanence for the child), it must prepare a written report ('the child's permanence report') which must include:

- 717 (1) specified information<sup>4</sup> about the child and his family<sup>5</sup>;
- 718 (2) a summary, written by the agency's medical adviser, of the state of the child's health, his health history and any need for health care which might arise in the future<sup>6</sup>;
- 719 (3) the wishes and feelings of the child regarding his placement and adoption, his religious and cultural upbringing, and contact arrangements<sup>7</sup>;
- 720 (4) the wishes and feelings of the child's parent or guardian (and where applicable<sup>8</sup>, his father), and any other person the agency considers relevant, regarding those matters<sup>9</sup>;
- 721 (5) the views of the agency about the child's need for contact with his parent or guardian or other relative or with any other person the agency considers relevant<sup>10</sup> and the arrangements the agency proposes to make for allowing any person contact with the child<sup>11</sup>;
- 722 (6) an assessment of the child's emotional and behavioural development and any related needs<sup>12</sup>;
- 723 (7) an assessment of the parenting capacity of the child's parent or guardian (and where applicable<sup>13</sup>, his father)<sup>14</sup>;
- 724 (8) a chronology of the decisions and actions taken by the agency with respect to the child<sup>15</sup>;
- 725 (9) an analysis of the options for the future care of the child which have been considered by the agency and why placement for adoption is considered the preferred option<sup>16</sup>; and
- 726 (10) any other information which the agency considers relevant<sup>17</sup>.

This report, together with the child's health and other reports and the information relating to the health of the child's parents<sup>18</sup>, must be sent to the adoption panel<sup>19</sup>. The agency must also obtain, so far as is reasonably practicable, any other relevant information which may be requested by the adoption panel and send that information to the panel<sup>20</sup>.

ADOPTION/(7) THE ADOPTION SERVICE/(ii) Arrangements for Adoption Work/B. DUTIES WHERE ADOPTION UNDER CONSIDERATION/434. Decision as to whether a child should be placed for adoption.

434. Decision as to whether a child should be placed for adoption.

The adoption panel<sup>1</sup> must consider the case of every child referred to it by the adoption agency<sup>2</sup> and make a recommendation to the agency as to whether the child should be placed for adoption<sup>3</sup>. In considering what recommendation to make, the panel must:

- 727 (1) have regard to the statutory duties imposed on the agency<sup>4</sup>;
- 728 (2) consider and take into account the reports and any other information passed<sup>5</sup> to it<sup>6</sup>; and
- 729 (3) obtain legal advice in relation to the case<sup>7</sup>, and may request the agency to obtain any other relevant information which the panel considers necessary<sup>8</sup>.

Where the panel makes a recommendation to the agency that the child should be placed for adoption, it must consider and may at the same time give advice to the agency about the arrangements which the agency proposes to make for allowing any person contact with the child<sup>9</sup> and (where the agency is a local authority) whether an application should be made by the authority for a placement order<sup>10</sup> in respect of the child<sup>11</sup>.

The agency must take into account the panel's recommendation in coming to a decision about whether the child should be placed for adoption<sup>12</sup>; agencies in Wales must also take into account any advice given<sup>13</sup> by the panel<sup>14</sup> and have regard to the statutory considerations<sup>15</sup>. The agency must then give notification of its decision<sup>16</sup>. Agencies in Wales must also ascertain whether the child's parent or guardian consents to his placement for adoption<sup>17</sup>. Additional requirements are imposed in connection with a proposed Convention adoption where the United Kingdom is the state of origin<sup>18</sup>.

In Wales, the agency must, if their whereabouts are known to it, notify its decision about whether the child should be placed for adoption and any decision in relation to contact arrangements in writing to the parent or guardian of the child (Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 19(3)(a)), any relative or other significant person whom the agency consulted under reg 14(1) (see para 432 ante) including any person in whose favour a contact order under the Children Act 1989 s 8 (see para 251 ante) or an order under s 34 (see para 278 ante) (parental contact with children in care) may be in force immediately before the agency is authorised to place the child for adoption (Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 19(3)(b)), and the father (where reg 14(2) (see para 432 ante) applies (reg 19(3)(c)); and the agency must in an appropriate manner and in the light of the child's age and understanding explain its decision to the child (reg 19(3)(d)).

17 Unless either an application has been made on which a care order might be made in respect of the child which has not been disposed of, or the child is less than six weeks old, the agency must ascertain whether the parent or guardian of the child is prepared to consent under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 19 (placing children with parental consent: see para 332 ante) to the child being placed for adoption with prospective adopters identified in the consent or being placed for adoption with any prospective adopters who may be chosen by the agency (Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 19(4)(a)) and at the same time to consent to the making of a future adoption order under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 20 (advance consent to adoption: see para 333 ante) (Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 19(4)(b)). Where the parent or guardian of the child is prepared to consent to the making of a future adoption order under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 20, the agency must explain and confirm in writing to the parent or guardian of the child that any consent given under s 20 may be withdrawn but that the withdrawal of consent is ineffective if it is given after an application for an adoption order is made (Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 19(5)(a)), that notice given to the agency may at the same or any subsequent time state the wish of the parent or guardian not to be informed of any application for an adoption order (reg 19(5)(b)), and that such a statement may be withdrawn (reg 19(5)(c)). ### C. DUTIES IN RESPECT OF PROSPECTIVE ADOPTER

435. Duties of adoption agency in respect of a prospective adopter.

An adoption agency<sup>1</sup> has a number of defined responsibilities towards a prospective adopter, including counselling<sup>2</sup> and the provision of information<sup>3</sup>. Once the agency has received an application<sup>4</sup> for an assessment as to suitability from a prospective adopter, it must set up a case record for that person<sup>5</sup> and consider his suitability to adopt<sup>6</sup>, taking steps to obtain police checks on him<sup>7</sup>. The agency must ensure that the prospective adopter receives proper preparation for adoption<sup>8</sup> and, where it considers that a prospective adopter may be suitable to adopt, must prepare a report on him<sup>9</sup>. The adoption panel<sup>10</sup> is then obliged to consider<sup>11</sup>, and make a decision as to, the suitability of the prospective adopter to adopt a child<sup>12</sup>. Approvals for adoption are subject to review<sup>13</sup>.

Additional requirements are imposed in connection with a proposed Convention adoption where the United Kingdom is the receiving state<sup>14</sup>.

UPDATE

435 Duties of adoption agency in respect of a prospective adopter

NOTE 7--In respect of the prospective adopter and any other member of the prospective adopter's household who is aged 18 or over, an adoption agency must obtain an enhanced criminal record certificate issued under the Police Act 1997 s 113B (SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 713 et seq) which includes suitability information relating to children (within the meaning of the Police Act 1997 s 113BA(2)): SI 2005/389 reg 23(1) (substituted by SI 2009/1895). An adoption agency in Wales must now obtain an enhanced criminal record certificate issued under Police Act 1997 s 113B (SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 713 et seq) which includes suitability information relating to children (within the meaning of the 1997 Act s 113BA(2)): SI 2005/1313 reg 23(1) (substituted by SI 2009/2541).

ADOPTION/(7) THE ADOPTION SERVICE/(ii) Arrangements for Adoption Work/C. DUTIES IN RESPECT OF PROSPECTIVE ADOPTER/436. Unsuitability to adopt due to criminal record.

436. Unsuitability to adopt due to criminal record.

An adoption agency<sup>1</sup> must not consider a person suitable to adopt a child (or, in Wales, must consider a person no longer suitable to adopt a child) if the person or any member of the person's household aged 18 or over has been convicted of any of the following offences aged 18 or over<sup>2</sup> or has been cautioned by a constable in respect of any such offence which, at the time the caution was given, the person admitted<sup>3</sup>:

- 730 (1) an offence against a child<sup>4</sup>;
- 731 (2) rape<sup>5</sup>;
- 732 (3) assault by penetration<sup>6</sup>;
- 733 (4) causing a person to engage in sexual activity without consent<sup>7</sup>;
- 734 (5) an offence of sexual activity with a person with a mental disorder impeding choice<sup>8</sup>;
- 735 (6) an offence of causing or inciting a person with mental disorder impeding choice to engage in sexual activity<sup>9</sup>;
- 736 (7) an offence of inducement, threat or deception to procure sexual activity with a person with a mental disorder<sup>10</sup>;
- 737 (8) an offence of causing a person with a mental disorder to engage in or agree to engage in sexual activity by inducement, threat or deception<sup>11</sup>;
- 738 (9) a specified sexual offence under the law of Scotland or Northern Ireland<sup>12</sup>;
- 739 (10) certain customs offences relating to the prohibited importation of indecent or obscene articles<sup>13</sup>;
- 740 (11) any other offence involving bodily injury to a child, other than an offence of common assault or battery<sup>14</sup>;
- 741 (12) any of a number of statutory sexual offences which have been repealed<sup>15</sup>.

The fact that an adoption agency cannot support an application because the prospective adopter has a specified conviction does not act as a statutory bar preventing the court from making an adoption order, although the court must take it into consideration<sup>16</sup>.

A prospective adopter must be notified where his ineligibility to adopt a child arises through the carrying out of police checks<sup>17</sup>.

Additional requirements are imposed in connection with a proposed Convention adoption where the United Kingdom is the receiving state<sup>18</sup>.

439. Reference to adoption panel.

An adoption agency<sup>1</sup> must notify the prospective adopter that his application is to be referred to the adoption panel<sup>2</sup>, give him a copy of the prospective adopter's report<sup>3</sup> and invite him to make observations<sup>4</sup>, and then send the report and observations to the panel<sup>5</sup>, who must consider the case of the prospective adopter so referred and make a recommendation to the agency as to whether the prospective adopter is suitable to adopt a child<sup>6</sup>. Before making any recommendation, the panel must invite the prospective adopters to attend a meeting of the panel<sup>7</sup>. In considering what recommendation to make, the panel:

- 759 (1) must consider and take into account all the information and reports passed<sup>8</sup> to it<sup>9</sup>;
- 760 (2) may request the agency to obtain any other relevant information which the panel considers necessary<sup>10</sup>; and
- 761 (3) may (in England) or must (in Wales) obtain legal advice as it considers necessary in relation to the case<sup>11</sup>.

Additional requirements are imposed in connection with a proposed Convention adoption where the United Kingdom is the receiving state<sup>12</sup>.

1 le a local authority or a registered adoption society: see paras 394-395 ante. In Wales, an adoption agency is required to take the steps described in this paragraph only after having followed the procedures referred to in the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, regs 23, 25 (see paras 436-437 ante): reg 26(1).

440. Decision and notification.

The adoption agency<sup>1</sup> must make a decision about whether the prospective adopter is suitable to adopt a child<sup>2</sup>, and must notify the prospective adopter of that decision<sup>3</sup> and, where the decision is that he is not suitable, inform him of his right to submit representations or apply for a review of the decision<sup>4</sup>. If the prospective adopter does not make<sup>5</sup> such representations or apply for a review, the agency must proceed to make its decision and must notify the prospective adopter in writing of it together with the reasons for it<sup>6</sup>; if, however, the prospective adopter makes representations<sup>7</sup>, the agency must not make its decision until it has taken into account any fresh recommendations (in addition to the original recommendations) of the adoption panel<sup>8</sup>, and if he applies for a review the agency must not make its decision until it has taken into account the review panel's recommendations (in England, along with the original recommendations of the adoption panel)<sup>9</sup>.

As soon as possible after making a decision following a review or a reference back to the panel, the agency must notify the prospective adopter in writing of the decision (stating its reasons for the decision if it does not consider the prospective adopter to be suitable to adopt a child) and of the adoption panel's recommendation<sup>10</sup> if this is different from the agency's decision<sup>11</sup>.

Where an agency approves a prospective adopter in a section 83 case<sup>12</sup>, it is required to send specified information to the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers, as applicable<sup>13</sup>.

A prospective adopter must also be notified where his ineligibility to adopt a child arises through the carrying out of police checks<sup>14</sup>.

Additional requirements are imposed in connection with a proposed Convention adoption where the United Kingdom is the receiving state<sup>15</sup>.

2    Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 27(1), (8); Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 28(1), (8). For the matters to be taken into account in England see the Suitability of Adopters Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1712, reg 4. No member of the adoption panel may take part in any such decision (Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 27(2); Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 28(2)), but in Wales the agency is required to take into account the panel's recommendation (see para 439 ante) in coming to the decision (reg 28(1)). As to the establishment of adoption panels see para 428 ante.

3    Where the agency decides to approve the prospective adopter as suitable to adopt a child, it must notify him in writing of its decision (Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 27(3); Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 28(3)); where the agency considers that the prospective adopter is not suitable to adopt a child, it must notify him in writing that it proposes not to approve the prospective adopter as suitable to adopt a child ('qualifying determination') (Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 27(4)(a); Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 28(4)(a)) and send with that notification its reasons together with a copy of the panel's recommendation, if different (Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 27(4)(b); Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 28(4)(b)).

Provision is made for the review, on application, of any determination made by an adoption agency in accordance with the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 27(4) or the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 28(4) that the agency does not propose to approve a prospective adopter as suitable to adopt a child or (in the context of the Welsh regulations) to be an adoptive parent (ie a 'qualifying determination': Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 12(2)): see the Independent Review of Determinations (Adoption) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3332, reg 3; and the Independent Review of Determinations (Adoption) (Wales) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/3100, reg 3(a). These regulations have been made under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 12, under which it is provided that regulations under s 9 (see para 397 ante) may establish a procedure under which any person in respect of whom a qualifying determination has been made by an adoption agency may apply to a panel constituted by the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers for a review of that determination: s 12(1). The regulations may include provision as to: (1) the duties and powers of a panel, including the power to recover the costs of a review from the adoption agency by which the determination reviewed was made (s 12(3)(a)); (2) the administration and procedures of a panel (s 12(3)(b)); (3) the appointment of members of a panel, including the number, or any limit on the number, of members who may be appointed and any conditions for appointment (s 12(3)(c)); (4) the payment of fees to members of a panel (s 12(3)(d) (amended by the Children Act 2004 s 57)); (5) the duties of adoption agencies in connection with reviews conducted under the regulations (Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 12(3)(e)); and (6) the monitoring of any such reviews (s 12(3)(f)). The Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers may make an arrangement with an organisation (which in this context includes a public body and a private or voluntary organisation and, where the functions of the appropriate minister are carried out by the Welsh Ministers, the Secretary of State) under which functions in relation to the panel are performed by the organisation on his or their behalf: s 12(4), (7), (8). If the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers make such an arrangement with an organisation, the organisation is to perform its functions under the arrangement in accordance with any general or special directions given by him or them (s 12(5)), which may include provision for payments to be made to the organisation by the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers (s 12(6)). For the meaning of 'voluntary organisation' see para 395 note 3 ante. As to the making of regulations generally see para 334 note 12 ante. The Independent Review of Determinations (Adoption) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3332, and the Independent Review of Determinations (Adoption) (Wales) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/3100, make provision accordingly. See also the Disclosure of Adoption Information (Post-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/888 (as amended); the Access to Information (Post-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2689; and para 473 et seq post.

4 Where the agency notifies the prospective adopter that its decision is that he is not suitable to adopt a child (see the text and note 3 supra), it must also advise him that within 40 (in England) or 20 (in Wales) working days beginning with the date on which the notification was sent he may submit any representations to the agency (Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 27(4)(c)(i); Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 28(4)(c)(i)) or apply to the independent review panel (via the Secretary of State in England, or directly in Wales) for a review of the qualifying determination (Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 27(4)(c)(ii); Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 28(4)(c)(ii)).

If the agency receives notification from the Secretary of State (in England) or an independent review panel (in Wales) that a prospective adopter has applied for a review by an independent review panel of the qualifying determination, the agency must, within 10 working days of receipt of that notification, send to the Secretary of State or, as the case may be, the panel:

- 242 (1) all of the documents and information which were passed to the panel in accordance with the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 25 or the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 26 (see paras 438-439 ante) (Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 28(1), (2)(a); Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 29(1), (2)(a));
- 243 (2) in England, any relevant information in relation to the prospective adopter which was obtained by the agency after the date on which such documents and information were passed to the panel (Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 28(2)(b));

- 245 (4) in Wales, any written representations made by the prospective adopter in accordance with the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 26(6) (see para 438 ante) (reg 29(2)(b));
- 246 (5) in Wales, any other reports or information sent by the agency to the panel (reg 29(2)(c));
- 247 (6) in Wales, the record of the proceedings of the panel, its recommendations and the reasons for its recommendations (reg 29(2)(d)); and
- 248 (7) in Wales, the notification, together with reasons sent by the agency to the prospective adopter in accordance with 28(4)(a), (b) (see note 3 supra) (reg 29(2)(e)).

441. Reviews and terminations of approvals.

An adoption agency<sup>1</sup> must review<sup>2</sup> the approval of each prospective adopter unless:

- 762 (1) a child is placed for adoption with the prospective adopter<sup>3</sup>;
- 763 (2) in England, the agency is considering placing a child with the prospective adopter<sup>4</sup>; or
- 764 (3) in a section 83 case<sup>5</sup>, the prospective adopter has visited the child in the country in which the child is habitually resident<sup>6</sup> and has confirmed in writing that he wishes to proceed with the adoption<sup>7</sup>.

A review must take place whenever the agency considers it necessary but otherwise not more than one year (in England) or two years (in Wales) after approval and thereafter at intervals of not more than one (in England) or two (in Wales) years<sup>8</sup>; and when undertaking such a review the agency must make such enquiries and obtain such information as it considers necessary in order to review whether the prospective adopter continues to be suitable to adopt a child<sup>9</sup> and seek and take into account the views of the prospective adopter<sup>10</sup>. Additional provision is made for the conduct of reviews in Wales<sup>11</sup>.

If at the conclusion of the review the agency considers that the prospective adopter may no longer be suitable to adopt a child (in England) or to be an adoptive parent (in Wales), it must prepare a written report<sup>12</sup>, notify the prospective adopter that his case<sup>13</sup> is to be referred to the adoption panel<sup>14</sup>, and invite him to send the agency his observations<sup>15</sup>. The agency must then<sup>16</sup> send to the panel a copy of the review report together with the prospective adopter's observations, any other relevant information<sup>17</sup> and, in Wales, the report prepared for the panel<sup>18</sup>; and the panel must consider the review report, the prospective adopter's observations (in England) and any other information passed to it by the agency, and make a recommendation to the agency as to whether the prospective adopter continues to be suitable to adopt a child<sup>19</sup>.

442. Duties in relation to the proposed placement of a child with a prospective adopter.

- 765 (1) provide the prospective adopter with the appropriate report<sup>3</sup> and any other information it considers relevant<sup>4</sup>;
- 766 (2) meet with the prospective adopter and discuss the proposed placement<sup>5</sup>;
- 767 (3) ascertain the views of the prospective adopter about the proposed placement<sup>6</sup> and the arrangements the agency proposes to make for allowing any person contact with the child<sup>7</sup>;

- 769 (5) provide a counselling service for, and any further information to, the prospective adopter as may be required<sup>11</sup>.

In Wales, the child must also be counselled and informed<sup>12</sup>.

Where the agency considers that the proposed placement should proceed it must carry out or provide for an assessment of the need for adoption support services<sup>13</sup>, consider the arrangements for allowing any person contact with the child<sup>14</sup> (and, in Wales, whether the parental responsibility of any parent or guardian, or of prospective adopters, is to be restricted to any extent<sup>15</sup>), and prepare a written report<sup>16</sup>. The prospective adopter must then be notified that the proposed placement is to be referred to the adoption panel<sup>17</sup>; and he must be given a copy of the placement report and invited to make observations<sup>18</sup>.

Provision is made for the reference of proposed placements where more than one agency is involved<sup>19</sup>. Additional requirements are imposed in connection with a proposed Convention adoption where the United Kingdom is the state of origin<sup>20</sup>.

In Wales, an agency may only refer to the adoption panel its proposal to place a child for adoption with a particular prospective adopter if any other adoption agency which has made a decision in accordance with the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, that the child should be placed for adoption, or that the prospective adopter is suitable to adopt a child, has been consulted about the proposed placement (reg 32(6)); and where the agency proposes to place a child for adoption with a particular prospective adopter, it must set up case records in any case where it has not already set up such records and place on the appropriate record any information, report, recommendation or decision referred to it by another adoption agency together with any other information to be sent to the adoption panel by virtue of reg 32 (reg 32(7)).

444. Adoption agency decision.

In coming to a decision about whether a child should be placed for adoption with a particular prospective adopter<sup>1</sup>, an adoption agency<sup>2</sup> must take into account the recommendation<sup>3</sup> of the adoption panel<sup>4</sup>; in Wales, an agency must also take into account any advice given<sup>5</sup> by the panel<sup>6</sup> and have regard to the child's continuing welfare<sup>7</sup>. As soon as possible after making its decision, the agency must give written notification of its decision about the proposed placement to the prospective adopter<sup>8</sup>, the parent or guardian (if their whereabouts are known to the agency<sup>9</sup>) and, in specified circumstances, the father of the child<sup>10</sup>; in Wales, the agency is also required, as soon as possible after making its decision, to notify the prospective adopter in writing of contact arrangements and the restriction of any person's parental responsibility<sup>11</sup>. Where the agency decides the proposed placement should proceed, it must also, in an appropriate manner and in the light of the child's age and understanding, explain its decision to the child<sup>12</sup>.

Where an agency receives from a relevant foreign authority<sup>13</sup> information about a child to be adopted by a prospective adopter in a section 83 case<sup>14</sup>, it is required to give specified additional information to the prospective adopter<sup>15</sup>. Further requirements are imposed in connection with a proposed Convention adoption where the United Kingdom is the state of origin<sup>16</sup>.

1 As to placements see para 331 et seq ante. No member of the adoption panel may take part in any decision made about whether a child should be placed for adoption with a particular prospective adopter under the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 32(1) or the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 33(1); Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 33(2); Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 34(2). the child of the fact that the child is to be placed for adoption (reg 33(3)(b)); in Wales, where the corresponding provision of the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389 (ie reg 14(2): see para 432 ante) applies, the agency must give written notification to the father of the child of its decision (reg 34(4)(b)).

445. Pre-placement requirements.

Where an adoption agency<sup>1</sup> has decided<sup>2</sup> to place a child for adoption with a particular prospective adopter<sup>3</sup> and has met with the prospective adopter to consider the arrangements it proposes to make for the placement of the child with him<sup>4</sup>, it must send the prospective adopter a placement plan in respect of the child<sup>5</sup> and, before the child is placed for adoption with the prospective adopter:

- 778 (1) notify the prospective adopter's general practitioner in writing of the proposed placement and send with that notification a written report of the child's health history and current state of health<sup>6</sup>;
- 779 (2) notify the local authority (if that authority is not the adoption agency) and, as applicable, the primary care trust<sup>7</sup> or the local health board<sup>8</sup> in whose area the prospective adopter resides in writing of the proposed placement<sup>9</sup>;
- 780 (3) notify the local education authority<sup>10</sup> in whose area the prospective adopter resides in writing of the proposed placement and send information about the child's educational history and whether the child has been or is likely to be assessed<sup>11</sup> for special educational needs<sup>12</sup>.

In Wales, the agency must, before the child is placed for adoption with the prospective adopter, arrange for the prospective adopter to meet the child and following that meeting counsel the prospective adopter and, so far as is reasonably practicable in the light of the child's age and understanding, the child about the prospective placement<sup>13</sup>.

ADOPTION/(7) THE ADOPTION SERVICE/(ii) Arrangements for Adoption Work/C. DUTIES IN RESPECT OF PROSPECTIVE ADOPTER/446. Reviews of placements and pending placements.

446. Reviews of placements and pending placements.

An adoption agency<sup>1</sup> is required to conduct regular reviews of children's cases, both before and after their placement for adoption<sup>2</sup>. Where an agency is authorised to place a child for adoption but the child is not for the time being placed for adoption, it must carry out a review of the child's case not more than three months after the date on which the agency first has authority to place<sup>3</sup> and thereafter not more than six months after the date of the previous review ('six months review')<sup>4</sup>, until the child is placed for adoption; and where a child is placed for adoption the agency must (in addition to specific requirements) carry out a review of his case not more than four weeks after the date on which the child is placed ('the first review')<sup>5</sup>, not more than three months after the first review<sup>6</sup> and thereafter not more than six months after the date of the previous review<sup>7</sup>, unless the child is returned to the agency by the prospective adopter or an adoption order is made<sup>8</sup>.

When carrying out a review the agency must consider:

- 781 (1) whether the agency remains satisfied that the child should be placed (or continue to be placed) for adoption<sup>9</sup>;
- 782 (2) the child's needs, welfare and development (and, in Wales, progress), and whether any changes need to be made to meet his needs or assist his development<sup>10</sup>;
- 783 (3) the existing arrangements for contact, and whether they should continue or be altered<sup>11</sup>;
- 784 (4) the arrangements in relation to the exercise of parental responsibility for the child, and whether they should continue or be altered<sup>12</sup>;
- 785 (5) the arrangements for the provision of adoption support services (in England, for the adoptive family) and whether there should be any re-assessment of the need for those services<sup>13</sup>;
- 786 (6) in consultation with the appropriate agencies, the arrangements for assessing and meeting the child's health care and educational needs<sup>14</sup>; and
- 787 (7) subject to the statutory timetable for reviews<sup>15</sup>, the frequency of the reviews<sup>16</sup>.

An agency must also visit the child<sup>17</sup> and must, so far as is reasonably practicable, ascertain the views of the child (having regard to his age and understanding)<sup>18</sup>, the prospective adopter (if the child is placed for adoption)<sup>19</sup> and any other person the agency considers relevant<sup>20</sup>, in relation to such of the matters set out in heads (1) to (7) above (in England) or heads (1) to (6) above (in Wales) as the agency considers appropriate<sup>21</sup>.

Particular provision is also made as to the carrying out of the first six months review where the child in question is subject to a placement order and has not been placed for adoption at the time of that review<sup>22</sup>.

A child's case must also be reviewed if he is returned to an adoption agency<sup>23</sup>, and an agency must also review a decision to place a child for adoption where consent to the adoption is withdrawn<sup>24</sup>.

448. The prospective adopter's case record.

Where an adoption agency<sup>1</sup>, following the procedures in connection with the provision of counselling and information<sup>2</sup>, receives an application from a prospective adopter for an assessment of suitability to adopt a child, it must set up a case record in respect of that prospective adopter<sup>3</sup>.

In England, the agency must place on the prospective adopter's case record:

- 812 (1) the application by the prospective adopter for an assessment of his suitability to adopt a child<sup>4</sup>;
- 813 (2) the information and reports obtained<sup>5</sup> by the agency<sup>6</sup>;
- 814 (3) the prospective adopter's report and his observations on that report<sup>7</sup>;
- 815 (4) the written record of the proceedings of the adoption panel<sup>8</sup>, its recommendation and the reasons for its recommendation and any advice given by the panel to the agency<sup>9</sup>;
- 816 (5) the record of the agency's decision<sup>10</sup> as to approval<sup>11</sup>;
- 817 (6) where the prospective adopter applied to the Secretary of State for a review by an independent review panel<sup>12</sup>, the recommendation of that review panel<sup>13</sup>;
- 818 (7) where applicable, the prospective adopter's review report<sup>14</sup> and his observations on that report<sup>15</sup>; and
- 819 (8) any other documents or information obtained by the agency which it considers should be included in that case record<sup>16</sup>.

449. Administration of case records.

Adoption agencies<sup>1</sup> must ensure that a child's case record<sup>2</sup> and a prospective adopter's case record<sup>3</sup>, and the contents thereof, are at all times kept in secure conditions and in particular that all appropriate measures are taken to prevent the theft, unauthorised disclosure, loss or destruction of, or damage to, the case record or its contents<sup>4</sup>.

Unless specifically excluded by regulations authorising disclosure<sup>5</sup>, an agency must keep case records for such period as it considers appropriate<sup>6</sup> (and in Wales, where an adoption order is made in relation to a child, the agency must keep all relevant case records for at least 100 years<sup>7</sup>); and, subject to the provisions as to access and disclosure set out below, an agency must treat the contents of case records (in England) and any information obtained or reports, recommendations or decisions made by virtue of the applicable regulations (in Wales) as confidential<sup>8</sup>. The provisions as to access and disclosure are that, unless specifically excluded<sup>9</sup>, an agency must provide such access to its case records and disclose such information in its possession as may be required:

- 820 (1) to persons holding an inquiry<sup>10</sup>, for the purposes of such an inquiry<sup>11</sup>;
- 821 (2) to the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers<sup>12</sup>;
- 822 (3) to Her Majesty's Chief Inspector of Education, Children's Services and Skills<sup>13</sup> ('the registration authority') or, for the purposes of conducting an examination<sup>14</sup>, the Children's Commissioner for Wales<sup>15</sup>;
- 823 (4) for the purposes of an investigation into maladministration<sup>16</sup>, to the Commission for Local Administration in England<sup>17</sup> or the Public Services Ombudsman for Wales<sup>18</sup>;
- 824 (5) to any person appointed by the agency for the purposes of the consideration by the agency of any representations (including complaints)<sup>19</sup>;
- 825 (6) by and to the extent specified in the regulations governing adoption agencies<sup>20</sup>;
- 826 (7) to an officer of the Children and Family Court Advisory and Support Service ('CAFCASS')<sup>21</sup> or a Welsh family proceedings officer for the purposes of the discharge of his duties under the Adoption and Children Act 2002<sup>22</sup>; and
- 827 (8) to a court having power to make an order under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 or the Children Act 1989<sup>23</sup>, and that the agency may provide such access to its case records and disclose such information in its possession as it thinks fit for the purposes of carrying out its functions as an adoption agency<sup>24</sup>. A written record must be kept by the agency of any access provided or disclosure made by virtue of these provisions<sup>25</sup>. Provision is also made for the continuing application of former legislation governing the retention, storage, transfer and disclosure of information relating to a person adopted before 30 December 2005<sup>26</sup>.

450. Transfer of case records.

An adoption agency<sup>1</sup> may transfer a copy of a child's case record<sup>2</sup> or prospective adopter's case record<sup>3</sup> (or part of that record) to another adoption agency when it considers this to be in the interests of the child or prospective adopter to whom the record relates; a written record must be kept of any such transfer<sup>4</sup>. A registered adoption society which intends to cease to act or exist as such must forthwith either transfer its case records to another adoption agency having first obtained the registration authority's approval for such transfer, or transfer its case records to the local authority in whose area the society's principal office is situated<sup>5</sup> or in the case of a society which amalgamates with another registered adoption society to form a new registered adoption society, to the new body<sup>6</sup>; an agency to which case records are so transferred must notify the registration authority in writing of such transfer<sup>7</sup>. In Wales, where a registered adoption society intends to cease to provide for the adoption of children but is registered to provide adoption support services, it may retain all its case records having first obtained the registration authority's approval in writing for such retention<sup>8</sup>. Provision is also made for the continuing application of former legislation governing the retention, storage, transfer and disclosure of information relating to a person adopted before 30 December 2005<sup>9</sup>.

In addition, the designated officer for each magistrates' court<sup>7</sup>, the relevant officer<sup>8</sup> of each county court<sup>9</sup>, and the relevant officer of the High Court<sup>10</sup>, must give to the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers any statistical or other general information he or they require about adoption proceedings in the court in question<sup>11</sup>. The Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers may publish from time to time abstracts of the information given to them under these provisions<sup>12</sup>.

452. Registration of adoption societies.

A registered adoption society<sup>1</sup> is to be treated as registered in respect of any facility of the Adoption Service<sup>2</sup> unless it is a condition of its registration that it does not provide that facility<sup>3</sup>. No application for registration<sup>4</sup> may be made in respect of an adoption society which is an unincorporated body<sup>5</sup>. Where, by virtue of the cancellation of its registration<sup>6</sup>, a body has ceased to be a registered adoption society, the Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers<sup>7</sup> may direct the body to make such arrangements as to the transfer of its functions relating to children and other transitional matters as seem to him or them expedient<sup>8</sup>.

Where it appears to the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers that a body which is or has been a registered adoption society is inactive or defunct<sup>9</sup>, or that a body which has ceased to be a registered adoption society by virtue of the cancellation of its registration<sup>10</sup> has not made such arrangements for the transfer of its functions relating to children as are specified in a direction<sup>11</sup>, the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers may, in relation to such functions of the society as relate to children, direct what appears to him or them to be the appropriate local authority<sup>12</sup> to take any such action as might have been taken by the society or by the society jointly with the authority<sup>13</sup>. A local authority is entitled to take any action which it would not be entitled to take, or would not be entitled to take without joining the society in the action<sup>14</sup>, but which it is directed to take under these provisions<sup>15</sup>.

- 833 (6) the keeping of information<sup>11</sup>.

In relation to voluntary adoption agencies and adoption support agencies, regulations<sup>12</sup> may:

- 847 (ix) requiring arrangements to be made for dealing with complaints made by or on behalf of those seeking, or receiving, any of the services provided by an agency and requiring the agency or manager to take steps for publicising the arrangements<sup>29</sup>.

Regulations<sup>30</sup> may also require adoption agencies in prescribed circumstances to disclose in accordance with the regulations prescribed information to prospective adopters<sup>31</sup> and may make provision for the purpose of assisting persons adopted before 30 December 2005<sup>32</sup> who have attained the age of 18 to obtain information in relation to their adoption and facilitating contact between such persons and their relatives<sup>33</sup>.

ADOPTION/(7) THE ADOPTION SERVICE/(iv) Regulation of Adoption Agencies and Adoption Support Agencies/B. LOCAL AUTHORITY ADOPTION SERVICE/456. Statement of purpose and children's guide.

B. LOCAL AUTHORITY ADOPTION SERVICE

456. Statement of purpose and children's guide.

Each local authority<sup>1</sup> must compile in relation to the adoption service<sup>2</sup> a written statement of purpose<sup>3</sup>, must provide a copy of that statement to the Commission<sup>4</sup> (in England) and the Welsh Ministers (in Wales)<sup>5</sup>, and must make a copy of it available, upon request, for inspection by:

- 848 (1) any person working for the purposes of the adoption service<sup>6</sup>;
- 849 (2) children who may be adopted, their parents and guardians<sup>7</sup>;
- 850 (3) persons wishing to adopt a child<sup>8</sup>;
- 851 (4) adopted persons, their parents, natural parents and former guardians<sup>9</sup>;
- 852 (5) in England, any person receiving adoption support services<sup>10</sup> from the authority or acting on behalf of a child receiving such services from the authority<sup>11</sup>;
- 853 (6) in England, any person making enquiries about receiving adoption support services from the authority on his own or a child's behalf<sup>12</sup>; and
- 854 (7) in Wales, persons who are seeking an assessment of their needs for the provision of adoption support services by the authority<sup>13</sup>.

The authority must ensure that its adoption service is at all times conducted in a manner which is consistent with its statement of purpose<sup>14</sup>.

Each local authority must produce a written children's guide to the adoption service<sup>15</sup> and provide a copy of the guide to the Commission<sup>16</sup> (in England) and the Welsh Ministers (in Wales)<sup>17</sup>, to every prospective adopter with whom the authority has placed a child for adoption<sup>18</sup>, to every child (subject to his age and understanding) who may be, or has been placed for adoption by the authority (or, in England, is receiving adoption support services from the authority)<sup>19</sup>, and, in England, to every adult acting on behalf of a child to whom the authority provides adoption support services<sup>20</sup>.

Each local authority must keep under review and, where appropriate, revise the statement of purpose and children's guide<sup>21</sup> and notify the Commission<sup>22</sup> (in England) and the Welsh Ministers (in Wales) of any such revision within 28 days<sup>23</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'local authority' see para 327 note 7 ante. A local authority may be referred to as an 'adoption agency' for the purposes of the Adoption and Children Act 2002: see para 394 ante.

2 'Adoption service' means the discharge by a local authority of relevant adoption functions within the meaning of the Care Standards Act 2000 s 43(3)(a) (see para 993 note 3 post) and, in relation to a local authority in England, means the discharge by that authority of those functions: Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370, reg 1(3); Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2007/1357, reg 2(1).

3 Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370, reg 2(1); Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1357, reg 3(1). The statement of purpose must consist of a statement as to the matters listed in the Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370, Sch 1 (amended by SI 2005/3339) or the Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1357, Sch 1 (as the case may be): Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370, reg 2(1); Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2007/1357, reg 3(1).

4 'The Commission' is not defined for the purposes of the Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370, but it is thought to be a reference to the National Care Standards Commission formerly established under the Care Standards Act 2000 s 6 (repealed), whose functions have been transferred to the Commission for Social Care Inspection established under the Health and Social Care (Community Health and Standards) Act 2003 s 42 (see SOCIAL SERVICES AND COMMUNITY CARE).

6 Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370, reg 2(2)(b)(i); Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1357, reg 3(2)(e).

7 Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370, reg 2(2)(b)(ii); Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1357, reg 3(2)(a). For the meaning of 'guardian' see the Children Act 1989 s 5 (as amended); and para 145 ante (definition applied by the Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370, reg 1(3); and the Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2007/1357, reg 2(1)).

8 Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370, reg 2(2)(b)(iii) (amended by SI 2005/3339); Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1357, reg 3(2)(b).

9 Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370, reg 2(2)(b)(iv); Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1357, reg 3(2)(c).

10 'Adoption support services' means, in addition to the services set out in the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 2(6)(a), the services prescribed for the purposes of s 2(6)(b) by the Secretary of State (see para 394 ante): Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370, reg 1(3) (added by SI 2005/3339).

This requirement is subject to the proviso that it does not require or authorise the authority to contravene, or not to comply with any other provision of the Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370 (as amended) or the Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2007/1357: Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370, reg 2(4); Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1357, reg 3(4).

460. Policies and plans.

Each local authority<sup>1</sup> must prepare and implement a written policy which is intended to safeguard from abuse or neglect every child placed for adoption by the authority or who may receive or is receiving adoption support services<sup>2</sup> from the authority<sup>3</sup>, and which sets out the procedure to be followed in the event of any allegation of abuse or neglect<sup>4</sup>. In Wales, this policy must also ensure that separate records are kept in respect of: all staff, and any other persons employed or who are contracted for services; complaints; and any allegations made against any person<sup>5</sup>.

A local authority in Wales must:

- 858 (1) have written plans on its strategy to recruit sufficient numbers of adopters<sup>6</sup>; and
- 859 (2) have comprehensive plans for preparation and approval processes for adopters contained within its policies and procedures<sup>7</sup>.

In England, this procedure must provide in particular for: (1) where the child is placed with prospective adopters in the area of another local authority, the prompt referral to that authority of any allegation of abuse or neglect (Local Authority Adoption Service (England) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/370, reg 9(2)(a)); (2) written records to be kept of any allegation of abuse or neglect and the action taken in response (reg 9(2)(b)); (3) consideration to be given to the measures that may be necessary to protect children placed with prospective adopters following an allegation of abuse or neglect (reg 9(2)(c)); and (4) arrangements to be made for persons working for the adoption service, prospective adopters, children who have been placed for adoption by the authority and any person to whom the authority provides adoption support services, to have access to information that would enable them to contact the Commission for Social Care Inspection (see para 456 note 4 ante) regarding any concern about child welfare and safety (reg 9(2)(d) (amended by SI 2005/3339)). In Wales, the written policy must ensure that the procedure to be followed in the event of any allegation of abuse or neglect is consistent with the local safeguarding children board procedures (Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1357, reg 14(c)) and that all allegations and incidents of abuse in relation to the agency's staff or volunteers are investigated promptly and details of the investigation and action taken are recorded on a file set up and kept specially for that purpose, and that details are also placed on the service user's record (reg 14(d)). #### 461. Assessment and review of services.

A local authority<sup>1</sup> in England must ensure that adoption support services<sup>2</sup> provided to any person are appropriate having regard to the needs for such services identified by an assessment carried out by the authority<sup>3</sup>; and a local authority in Wales must make suitable arrangements to establish and maintain a system for monitoring, reviewing and improving the quality of adoption services<sup>4</sup> provided by the local authority<sup>5</sup>. The Welsh Ministers may at any time request a local authority in Wales to undertake an assessment of the service provided to service users using its adoption services<sup>6</sup>, and may at any time notify a local authority of the action that in the Welsh Ministers' view the authority must take to ensure compliance with the applicable legislation<sup>7</sup>.

5 Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1357, reg 22(1). This system must make provision by the authority for the quality of service to be reviewed at least annually; and for the authority to obtain the views of adoptive and natural parents and children being adopted, any person receiving services from the local authority or their representatives in relation to adoption, staff employed by the authority, and any local authority, on the quality of care provided, as part of any review undertaken: reg 22(2). Following a review of the quality of care, the authority must within 28 working days prepare a report of that review and make a copy of the available report in an appropriate format when requested by the Welsh Ministers, service users, representatives of service users and staff employed by the authority: reg 22(3). As to the Welsh Ministers see para 155 ante.

6 Ibid reg 23(1). Within 28 days of receiving such a request the local authority must supply to the Welsh Ministers the assessment in the form required by them (reg 23(2)), taking reasonable steps to ensure that the assessment is neither misleading nor inaccurate (reg 23(3)).

7 Ibid reg 24(1). The 'applicable legislation' for these purposes is the Care Standards Act 2000 and regulations made under it: Local Authority Adoption Service (Wales) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1357, reg 24(1).

The Welsh Ministers may specify the timescale within which the authority must take the action required under this provision (reg 24(2)); and the local authority must advise the Welsh Ministers of the completion of any action so required (reg 24(3)).

465. Management.

A person is fit to carry on an adoption support agency<sup>1</sup> only if he is of integrity (or, in Wales, suitable integrity) and good character<sup>2</sup>, he is physically and mentally fit to carry on the agency<sup>3</sup>, and full and satisfactory information (or, in Wales, documentation) is available in relation to him in respect of specified matters relating to his identity and his fitness to carry on the agency<sup>4</sup>. In England, an agency may be carried on by an individual, whether or not in partnership with others<sup>5</sup>, by a partnership<sup>6</sup>, or by an organisation<sup>7</sup>; in Wales, an agency may be carried on only by an organisation<sup>8</sup>.

In Wales, the registered provider<sup>9</sup> is required to appoint an individual ('the registered manager') to manage the agency<sup>10</sup>; in England, this obligation arises only if the registered provider is an organisation or a partnership<sup>11</sup>, is not a fit person to manage an agency<sup>12</sup> or is not, or does not intend to be, in full time day-to-day charge of the agency<sup>13</sup>. In all cases a person may not manage an agency unless he is fit to do so<sup>14</sup>. The appointment of a manager must be notified to the registration authority<sup>15</sup>. The registered person<sup>16</sup> and, where applicable, the responsible individual and the registered manager<sup>17</sup> must<sup>18</sup> carry on or (as the case may be) manage the agency with sufficient care, competence and skill<sup>19</sup>; and the registration authority must be notified of changes to the management structure<sup>20</sup>, of matters relating to the insolvency of the registered provider<sup>21</sup>, or if any person involved in the management of the agency is convicted of a criminal offence<sup>22</sup>. Arrangements must also be made for the management of the agency in the manager's or provider's absence<sup>23</sup>.

Failure to comply with any of these requirements<sup>24</sup> is an offence<sup>25</sup>.

An 'organisation' is a body corporate (in England and Wales) or (in England) any unincorporated association other than a partnership: reg 2(1); Adoption Support Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1514, reg 1(4). Adoption support agencies<sup>1</sup> are required to establish and implement written procedures for considering complaints made by or on behalf of persons in receipt of adoption support services<sup>2</sup> (and, in England, persons to whom the agency has refused to provide such services)<sup>3</sup>. The procedure must in particular provide for both formal and informal (in England) or local (in Wales) resolution of a complaint<sup>4</sup>, for dealing with complaints made about the registered person (or, in England, the responsible individual)<sup>5</sup> and for complaints to be made by a person acting on behalf of a child<sup>6</sup>; in England, the procedure must also provide that no person who is the subject of a complaint takes part in its consideration other than, if the registered person considers it appropriate, at the informal resolution stage<sup>7</sup>. The procedure is required to be brought to the notice of agency staff<sup>8</sup> and, where applicable, persons in receipt of adoption support services<sup>9</sup>.

In England, the registered person must ensure that any complaint made under the complaints procedure is fully investigated<sup>10</sup> and keep the complainant informed of the outcome of the investigation<sup>11</sup>; in Wales, provision is made for the referral of complaints to the Welsh Ministers or local authorities<sup>12</sup> and for the provision of advocacy, conciliation and mediation services<sup>13</sup>. In both England and Wales, written records of complaints must be made and reported<sup>14</sup>. Provision is also made in Wales where complaints are subject to concurrent consideration by a court or tribunal<sup>15</sup>.

In England, the registered person must take all reasonable steps to ensure that children are enabled to make a complaint and no person is subject to any reprisal by the agency for making a complaint: Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, reg 17(4). In Wales, the complaints procedure must be appropriate to the needs of person receiving adoption support services from the agency (Adoption Support Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1514, reg 19(2) (as so substituted)); and it must be operated in accordance with the principle that the welfare of the persons receiving adoption support services from the agency is safeguarded and promoted and account must be taken of the ascertainable wishes and feelings of such persons (reg 20(1) (as so substituted)).

4 Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, reg 16(2)(a); Adoption Support Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1514, reg 19(7) (as substituted: see note 3 supra). In Wales, where the complaints procedure includes provision for a formal consideration, this provision must be approved by the Welsh Ministers (reg 19(8) (as so substituted)), and such approval will only be given where the procedure includes provision for the formal consideration to be undertaken by a person who is independent of the management of the agency (reg 19(9) (as so substituted)). Detailed provision is made in connection with the local resolution (see reg 20A (as so added)) and the formal consideration (see reg 20B (as so added)) of complaints in Wales.

5 Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, reg 16(2)(c); Adoption Support Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1514, reg 19(3) (as substituted: see note 3 supra). As to the 'responsible individual' see the Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, reg 7(2)(c); and para 465 note 7 ante.

7 Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, reg 16(2)(b).

8 In England, the registered person must provide a copy of the complaints procedure to every person working for the purposes of the agency; and, in Wales, the registered person must ensure that the staff employed by the agency are informed about, given a copy of and appropriately trained in the operation of the procedure: Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, reg 16(3); Adoption Support Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1514, reg 19(5) (as substituted: see note 3 supra). As to references to 'employing' a person see para 466 note 3 ante. In England, the copy of the complaints procedure supplied under these requirements must include the name, address and telephone number of the registration authority and details of the procedure (if any) which has been notified to the registered person by the registration authority for the making of complaints to the registration authority that relate to the agency: Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, reg 16(4). Similar requirements apply in Wales: see the Adoption Support Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1514, reg 19(6) (as so substituted). As to the registration authority see para 464 note 3 ante.

9 In England, the registered person must provide, upon request, a copy of the procedure to any person to whom the agency has provided adoption support services or to whom the agency has refused to provide adoption support services or any person acting on behalf of a child; and, in Wales, the registered person must ensure that persons receiving adoption support services from the agency, representatives of such persons and any authority which has arranged for the provision of an adoption support service by the agency are aware of the existence of the complaints procedure, and the registered person must take all reasonable steps to give a copy of the complaints procedure in an appropriate format or such format as may be requested to such persons: Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, reg 16(3); Adoption Support Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1514, reg 19(4) (as substituted: see note 3 supra).

10 Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, reg 17(1).

11 Ibid reg 17(2) (providing that the registered person must, so far as is reasonably practicable, within a period of 28 days beginning on the date on which the complaint is received by the agency, inform the complainant of the outcome of the investigation and the action (if any) that is to be taken in consequence).

12 When a complaint is made, the registered person must advise the complainant of his right to at any time complain to the Welsh Ministers or, where relevant, to the local authority which has arranged for the provision of adoption support services by the agency: Adoption Support Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1514, reg 20(2) (as substituted: see note 3 supra). As to the Welsh Ministers see para 155 ante.

13 The registered person must inform the complainant of the availability of any advocacy services which the registered person believes may be of assistance to the complainant: ibid reg 20(3) (as substituted: see note 3 supra). Where relevant and the complainant is a child, the registered person must advise the complainant that a local authority receiving a complaint must provide information and assistance for complainants, and must in particular offer help in obtaining an advocate: reg 20(3) (as so added). The registered person may in any case where it is appropriate to do so, and with the agreement of the complainant, make arrangements for conciliation, mediation or other assistance for the purposes of resolving the complaint: reg 20(4) (as so substituted).

14 In England, the registered person must ensure that a written record is made of any complaint (including details of the investigation made, the outcome and any action taken in consequence) which must be retained for at least three years from the date that it is made (Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, reg 17(3)); and the registered person must supply to the registration authority at its request a statement containing a summary of any complaints made during the preceding 12 months and the action that was taken in consequence (reg 17(5)). In Wales, the registered person must keep a written record of any complaint, the outcome of the investigation and any action taken in response (Adoption Support Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1514, reg 20(5) (as substituted: see note 3 supra)); and the registered person must supply to the Welsh Ministers at their request a statement containing a summary of the complaints made during the preceding 12 months and the action taken in response to each complaint (reg 20(6) (as so substituted)).

15 See ibid reg 20D (as added: see note 3 supra).

16 See the requirements of the Adoption Support Agencies (England) and Adoption Agencies (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2720, regs 16, 17 or the Adoption Support Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1514, regs 19, 20, 20A-20D (see the text and notes 1-15 supra).

Regulations<sup>1</sup> may prescribe, in relation to a person adopted on or after 30 December 2005<sup>2</sup>, the information<sup>3</sup> which an adoption agency<sup>4</sup> must keep in relation to a person's adoption<sup>5</sup> (known as 'section 56 information'<sup>6</sup>) and the form and manner in which it must keep that information<sup>7</sup>, and may provide for the transfer in prescribed circumstances of information held, or previously held, by an adoption agency to another adoption agency<sup>8</sup>. Such regulations may be made for a variety of purposes connected with the provisions on disclosure of information relating to adoption, including the disclosure of information by the Registrar General and the payment of fees<sup>9</sup>.

Provision is also made for the transfer of section 56 information where a registered adoption society intends to cease to act or exist as such<sup>23</sup>.

474. Restrictions on disclosure of protected information.

The disclosure of specified information<sup>1</sup> kept by an adoption agency<sup>2</sup> is restricted and may be disclosed only in accordance with the statutory provisions<sup>3</sup>. The information in question is:

- 893 (1) any section 56 information<sup>4</sup> kept by an adoption agency which is about an adopted person or any other person, and is or includes identifying information<sup>5</sup> about the person in question<sup>6</sup>; and
- 894 (2) any information kept by an adoption agency which the agency has obtained from the Registrar General<sup>7</sup> and any other information which would enable the adopted person to obtain a certified copy of the record of his birth, or which is information about an entry relating to the adopted person in the Adoption Contact Register<sup>8</sup>.

Information the disclosure of which is so restricted is referred to (in relation to the person in question) as 'protected information'<sup>9</sup>, and disclosure in contravention of these provisions<sup>10</sup> is an offence<sup>11</sup>. However, notwithstanding these provisions, regulations may authorise or require an adoption agency to disclose protected information to a person who is not an adopted person<sup>12</sup>, and disclosure has accordingly been authorised where it is required for the purposes of statutory inquiries and inspections<sup>13</sup>. An adoption agency may also disclose section 56 information (including protected information) to a registered adoption support agency<sup>14</sup> (or, in England, another adoption agency) which provides services to the adoption agency in connection with any of its functions<sup>15</sup> relating to the disclosure of protected information about adults or about children<sup>16</sup> and to a person who is authorised in writing by the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers to obtain information for the purposes of research<sup>17</sup>, and may disclose section 56 information that is not protected information as it thinks fit for the purposes of carrying out its functions as an adoption agency<sup>18</sup>. A written record must be made of any such disclosures<sup>19</sup>.

Protected information may also be disclosed by agreement<sup>20</sup>.

<sup>6</sup> Ibid s 57(1). Any information kept by an adoption agency which the agency has obtained from the Registrar General on an application under s 79(5) (see para 385 ante) and any other information which would enable the adopted person to obtain a certified copy of the record of his birth or which is information about an

As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante. Proceedings for an offence by virtue of s 59 may not, without the written consent of the Attorney General, be taken by any person other than Her Majesty's Chief Inspector of Education, Children's Services and Skills or the Welsh Ministers: s 99 (amended by the Education and Inspections Act 2006 s 157, Sch 14 para 76). ## (B) ADOPTIONS BEFORE 30 DECEMBER 2005

480. Provision of intermediary services.

A registered adoption support agency<sup>1</sup> or an adoption agency<sup>2</sup> may provide a service for the purpose of assisting persons aged 18 or over<sup>3</sup> who were adopted before 30 December 2005<sup>4</sup> to obtain information in relation to their adoption and facilitating contact between such persons and their relatives<sup>5</sup> (an 'intermediary service')<sup>6</sup>. An intermediary agency<sup>7</sup> may accept an application<sup>8</sup> from such a person for assistance in contacting a relative of his<sup>9</sup> or from a relative of such a person for assistance in contacting that person<sup>10</sup> and must give priority to applications in respect of adoptions before 12 November 1975<sup>11</sup>; an agency is not, however, required to proceed with any application if it would be inappropriate so to do<sup>12</sup>. Both the applicant and the person with whom the applicant seeks contact (or, in Wales, about whom he seeks information) must be aged 18 or over<sup>13</sup>.

1 'Registered adoption support agency' means an adoption support agency in respect of which a person is registered under the Care Standards Act 2000 Pt 2 (ss 11-42) (as amended) (see para 985 post; and SOCIAL SERVICES AND COMMUNITY CARE): Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 2; Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 2.

2 I.e. a local authority or a registered adoption society: see paras 394-395 ante.

3 If at any time an intermediary agency ascertains that the subject of an application for intermediary services is under the age of 18 it must not proceed further with the application in relation to that subject: Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 6(4); Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 6(4).

4 I.e. the date on which the Adoption and Children Act 2002 was brought fully into effect: see para 325 note 1 ante.

5 For the meaning of 'relative' see para 453 note 33 ante (definition applied by the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 2; and the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 2).

6 Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, regs 3(1), 4(1); Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, regs 3(1), (2), 4(1). An intermediary service is an 'adoption support service' for the purposes of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 2(6) (see para 394 ante) and must be provided in accordance with the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, or the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701 (see para 481 et seq post): Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 3(2), (3); Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 3(3), (4). An adoption agency does not provide an intermediary service for these purposes if it is the appropriate adoption agency in relation to an adopted person and only provides information in relation to that person's adoption: Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 4(2); Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 4(3).

7 A registered adoption support agency or an adoption agency that provides an intermediary service is referred to as an 'intermediary agency': Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 4(3); Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 4(2).

8 Provision is made for the handling and processing of applications, including the charging of fees: see the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, regs 11-15, 18(1), (3)-(5); and the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, regs 11-15, 18(1), (3)-(5) (making provision in connection with procedures on receipt, confirming the identities of applicants, liaising with adoption agencies and the Registrar General and accessing court records). Provision is also made for controlling disclosures of information pursuant to the administration of applications: see the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 16; and the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 16.

9 And, in Wales, for assistance in obtaining information about his adoption: ibid reg 5(1)(a).

10 Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 5(1); Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 5(1).

11 In England it is provided that where the intermediary agency has limited capacity to deal with applications, it must give priority to applications in respect of adoptions before 12 November 1975 (Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 5(2)), and in Wales it is provided that an intermediary agency may accept an application in relation to an adoption on or after 12 November 1975 but must give priority to applications in respect of adoptions before that date (Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 5(2)).

12 An intermediary agency that accepts an application under these provisions is not required to proceed with it, or having begun to proceed with it is not required to continue, if the agency considers that it would not be appropriate to do so: Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 6(1); Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 6(1). In deciding whether it is appropriate to proceed (or continue proceeding) with an application the intermediary agency must have regard to all the circumstances of the case including the welfare of the applicant, the subject and any other persons who may be identified or otherwise affected by the application (having particular regard to the welfare of any such person who is under the age of 18), any views of the appropriate adoption agency (obtained under the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 12 or the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 12), and any information (obtained under the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 13 or the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 13) obtained from the Adoption Contact Register; in Wales, the agency must also have regard to any veto recorded under reg 8: Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 6(2), (3); Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 6(2), (3). ADOPTION/(7) THE ADOPTION SERVICE/(iv) Regulation of Adoption Agencies and Adoption Support Agencies/D. DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION IN RELATION TO A PERSON'S ADOPTION/(B) Adoptions Before 30 December 2005/481. Requirement for consent and subject's power of veto.

481. Requirement for consent and subject's power of veto.

An intermediary agency<sup>1</sup> must not in general disclose to an applicant<sup>2</sup> for intermediary services<sup>3</sup> any identifying information<sup>4</sup> about the subject without the subject's consent<sup>5</sup>. Further, an adopted person may put on record<sup>6</sup> either that he does not wish to be contacted by an intermediary agency in relation to an application under these provisions or that he wishes to be contacted only in specified circumstances<sup>7</sup>, and this must be made known to any intermediary agency that contacts the appropriate adoption agency in relation to an application under these provisions which relates to that person<sup>8</sup>. An intermediary agency must not proceed with an application if it is aware that such a veto applies (unless, in England, the adopted person's veto is limited to his having stated that he only wishes to be contacted in specified circumstances)<sup>9</sup>.

In a case where the consent of the subject is refused or cannot be obtained<sup>10</sup> or a veto applies<sup>11</sup>, the intermediary agency is not prevented from disclosing to the applicant any information about the subject that is not identifying information and that the agency considers it appropriate to disclose<sup>12</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'intermediary agency' see para 480 note 7 ante.

2 'Applicant' means an adopted person or a relative of an adopted person who makes an application under the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 5 or the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 5: Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 2; Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 2. As to the meaning of 'relative' see para 480 note 5 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'intermediary services' see para 480 ante.

4 For these purposes 'identifying information' means information which, whether taken on its own or together with other information possessed by the applicant, enables the subject to be identified or traced: Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 7(4); Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 7(4). 'Subject', in relation to an application under these provisions, is a person with whom the applicant seeks contact: Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 2; Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 2.

5 Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 7(1); Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 7(1). An intermediary agency that discloses information in contravention of these provisions without reasonable excuse is guilty of an offence and is liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale: Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 17; Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 17. As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante. If the subject has died or the agency determines that he is incapable of giving informed consent, the agency may disclose such identifying information about him to the applicant as it considers appropriate, having regard to all the circumstances of the case including the welfare of the applicant, the subject and any other persons who may be identified or otherwise affected by the application (having particular regard to the welfare of any such person who is under the age of 18), any views of the appropriate adoption agency (obtained under the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 12 or the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 12), and any information (obtained under the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 13 or the Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 13) obtained from the Adoption Contact Register; in Wales, the agency must also have regard to any veto recorded under reg 8: Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, regs 6(2), (3), 7(2); Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, regs 6(2), (3), 7(3). An intermediary agency<sup>1</sup> must provide written information<sup>2</sup> about the availability of counselling to any person who makes an application to it for assistance in connection with an adoption<sup>3</sup> or who is the subject<sup>4</sup> of such an application and is considering whether to consent to disclosure of information about himself to the applicant<sup>5</sup>; and if such a person requests that counselling be provided for him, the intermediary agency must secure the provision of counselling for him<sup>6</sup>. The agency may provide the counselling itself or make arrangements with other bodies<sup>7</sup> to secure counselling for the person in question<sup>8</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'intermediary agency' see para 480 note 7 ante.

2 The information must include details of persons offering counselling and fees that may be charged by such persons: Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/890, reg 10(2); Adoption Information and Intermediary Services (Pre-Commencement Adoptions) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2701, reg 10(2).

(8) ADOPTIONS WITH A FOREIGN ELEMENT

(i) Introduction

483. Implementation of the Hague Convention.

The Convention on Protection of Children and Co-operation in respect of Intercountry Adoption (1993)<sup>1</sup> (the 'Hague Convention') has been implemented in the United Kingdom through the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 and regulations made thereunder<sup>2</sup> (read with the relevant provisions of the Adoption and Children Act 2002<sup>3</sup>, the Children and Adoption Act 2006<sup>4</sup>, and procedural rules created specifically for adoptions with a foreign element<sup>5</sup>). Her Majesty may by Order in Council provide for giving effect to the Hague Convention in any British overseas territory<sup>6</sup>.

1    I.e. the Convention on Protection of Children and Co-operation in Respect of Intercountry Adoptions (The Hague, 29 May 1993; TS 40 (1994); Cm 2691). The Convention entered into force for the United Kingdom on 1 June 2003, and is set out in the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 1(2), Sch 1. The Convention sets out minimum standards for the movement of children for adoption as between contracting parties and seeks: (1) to establish safeguards to ensure that intercountry adoptions take place in the best interests of the child and with respect for the child's fundamental rights as recognised in international law; (2) to establish a system of co-operation amongst contracting states to ensure that those safeguards are respected and so prevent the abduction, the sale of, or traffic in children; and (3) to secure the recognition in contracting states of adoptions made in accordance with the Convention: art 1.

2    See the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392 (which came into force on 30 December 2005 (reg 1(1))); and para 491 et seq post. The regulations were made under the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 1 (amended by the Adoption and Children (Scotland) Act 2007 s 121(2)), under which it is provided that, subject to the provisions of the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999, regulations made by the Secretary of State (after consultation with the Welsh Ministers: s 16(1)) may: make provision for giving effect to the Hague Convention (Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 1(1)); apply, with or without modifications, any provision of the enactments (including Acts of the Scottish Parliament) relating to adoption; provide that any person who contravenes or fails to comply with any provision of the regulations is to be guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale, or both; make different provision for different purposes or areas; and make such incidental, supplementary, consequential or transitional provision as appears to the Secretary of State to be expedient (s 1(3), (7) (s 1(7) as so added)). Such regulations are made by statutory instrument and are subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: s 1(4). Any power to make subordinate legislation under or for the purposes of the enactments relating to adoption includes power to do so with a view to giving effect to the provisions of the Hague Convention (Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 1(5)), although this does not apply in relation to any power which is exercisable by the Welsh Ministers (s 1(6)). As to the Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers see para 155 ante.

An Order in Council under s 137(1) in respect of any British overseas territory may, in particular, make any provision corresponding to provision which in relation to any part of Great Britain is made by the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 or may be made by regulations under s 1 (see note 1 supra); Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 137(2). At the date at which this volume states the law no Order in Council had been made under s 137. See 484. Recognition of foreign adoption orders, and conferment of legal status.

Foreign adoptions are recognised in different ways, depending on where the adoption took place, and how it can be proved<sup>1</sup>. An adoption order made in Scotland, Northern Ireland, the Isle of Man or the Channel Islands is automatically recognised in England and Wales as an adoption without the need for court proceedings<sup>2</sup>; such an adoption order will confer citizenship<sup>3</sup>. Provision is also made for the court to make a declaration as to the status of a child adopted by way of a Convention adoption or other overseas adoption<sup>4</sup>.

2 See the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 66(1)(a), (b); and para 375 ante. As to the court see para 511 post.

3 See ibid s 74(2); and para 377 ante.

4 See para 381 ante. For the meaning of 'Convention adoption' see para 375 note 7 ante. For the meaning of 'overseas adoption' for the purposes of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 see para 485 post.

485. Overseas adoptions and overseas adoption orders.

For the purposes of the Adoption and Children Act 2002, an 'overseas adoption' is an adoption<sup>1</sup> of a description specified in an order made by the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup>, being a description of adoptions effected under the law of any country or territory outside the British Islands<sup>3</sup>, but does not include a Convention adoption<sup>4</sup>.

As with an adoption order made in Scotland, Northern Ireland, the Isle of Man or the Channel Islands<sup>5</sup>, an overseas adoption order ranks automatically as an adoption order in England and Wales without the need to institute court proceedings<sup>6</sup>. However, an overseas adoption order will not confer United Kingdom citizenship<sup>7</sup>. Overseas adoption orders may be registered in the Adopted Children Register provided that the applicant was (or, in the case of a couple, the applicants were both) habitually resident in England and Wales at the time of the adoption<sup>8</sup>.

1 For this purpose 'adoption' means an adoption of a child or of a person who was a child at the time the adoption was applied for: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 87(6). For the meaning of 'adoption' generally see para 393 note 2 ante; and for the meaning of 'child' see para 327 note 2 ante.

2 As to the Secretary of State see para 155 ante.

3 Adoption and Children Act 2002 ss 87(1)(a), 147, Sch 6. An order under s 87(1)(a) may contain provision as to the manner in which evidence of any overseas adoption may be given (s 87(5)), and regulations made by the Secretary of State after consultation with the Welsh Ministers may prescribe the requirements that ought to be met by an adoption of any description effected after the commencement of the regulations for it to be an overseas adoption for these purposes (s 87(2)). At the date at which this volume states the law neither orders nor regulations had been made under s 87(1), (2), but by virtue of s 139(2), Sch 4 para 1, the Adoption (Designation of Overseas Adoptions) Order 1973, SI 1973/19 (as amended), has effect as if made thereunder. That order specifies the places in which a lawfully effected adoption may qualify as an overseas adoption for these purposes (art 3, Schedule (art 3 amended by SI 1993/690)), and regulates the arrangements for the adoption and how the adoption may be proved (Adoption (Designation of Overseas Adoptions) Order 1973, SI 1973/19, art 4). It is also provided that at any time when regulations under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 87(2) have effect, the Secretary of State must exercise his powers under s 87 so as to secure that subsequently effected adoptions of any description are not overseas adoptions for the purposes of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 if he considers that they are not likely within a reasonable time to meet the prescribed requirements: s 87(3). #### 486. Central authority and accredited bodies.

- 901 (1) collecting, preserving and exchanging information about the situation of the child and the prospective adoptive parents, so far as is necessary to complete the adoption<sup>6</sup>;
- 902 (2) facilitating, following and expediting proceedings with a view to obtaining the adoption<sup>7</sup>; and
- 903 (3) promoting the development of adoption counselling and post-adoption services<sup>8</sup>.

4 A registered adoption society is an 'accredited body' for these purposes if, in accordance with the conditions of the registration, the society may provide facilities in respect of Convention adoptions and adoptions effected by Convention adoption orders: Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 2(2A) (added by the Care Standards Act 2000 s 116, Sch 4 para 27(a); and amended by the Adoption and Children Act 2002 Sch 3 para 97). #### 487. Validity and annulment of overseas and Convention adoptions.

The validity of a Convention adoption<sup>1</sup>, Convention adoption order<sup>2</sup>, overseas adoption<sup>3</sup> or overseas determination<sup>4</sup> cannot in general be called in question in proceedings in any court in England and Wales<sup>5</sup>. However, the High Court may, on an application:

- 904 (1) by order annul a Convention adoption or Convention adoption order on the ground that the adoption is contrary to public policy<sup>6</sup>;
- 905 (2) by order provide for an overseas adoption or an overseas determination to cease to be valid on the ground that the adoption or determination is contrary to public policy or that the authority which purported to authorise the adoption or make the determination was not competent to entertain the case<sup>7</sup>; or
- 906 (3) decide the extent, if any, to which an overseas determination has been affected by a subsequent determination<sup>8</sup>.

Any application for an order or a decision under these provisions must be made in the manner and within any period prescribed by rules<sup>9</sup>. No such application may be made in respect of an adoption unless immediately before the application is made the person adopted, or the adopters or adopter, habitually reside<sup>10</sup> in England and Wales<sup>11</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'Convention adoption' see para 375 note 7 ante.

2 As to Convention adoption orders see para 490 et seq ante.

3 For the meaning of 'overseas adoption' see para 485 ante.

4 I.e a determination under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 91. Section 91 provides that where any authority of a Convention country (other than the United Kingdom) or of the Channel Islands, the Isle of Man or any British overseas territory has power under the law of that country or territory to authorise, or review the authorisation of, an adoption order made in that country or territory (s 91(1)(a)) or to give or review a decision revoking or annulling such an order or a Convention adoption (s 91(1)(b)), any such determination made by the authority in the exercise of that power is to have effect for the purpose of effecting, confirming or terminating the adoption in question or, as the case may be, confirming its termination (s 91(2)). Section 91(2) is subject to s 89 and to any subsequent determination having effect under s 91(2): s 91(3). In deciding in proceedings under s 89 whether such an authority was competent to entertain a particular case, a court is bound by any finding of fact made by the authority and stated by the authority to be so made for the purpose of determining whether the authority was competent to entertain the case: s 90(3). As to the United Kingdom see paras 102 note 7, 341 note 8 ante.

5 Ibid s 89(4).

6 Ibid s 89(1). Persons who may apply for such an order, and respondents, are listed in the Family Procedure (Adoption) Rules 2005, SI 2005/2795, r 23.

7 Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 89(2)(a). The High Court may, in any proceedings in that court, decide that an overseas adoption or an overseas determination is to be treated, for the purposes of those proceedings, as invalid on either of the grounds mentioned in s 89(2)(a): s 89(3).

8 Ibid s 89(2)(b).

9 Ibid s 90(1). As to the prescribed manner and the prescribed period see the Family Procedure (Adoption) Rules 2005, SI 2005/2795, Pt 5 (rr 22-33) (amended by SI 2007/2189). The court may not extend the period within which an order under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 89 must be made: Family Procedure (Adoption) Rules 2005, SI 2005/2795, r 12(3).

488. Registration of foreign adoptions.

If the Registrar General is satisfied, on an application<sup>1</sup>, that he has sufficient particulars relating to a child<sup>2</sup> adopted under a registrable foreign adoption<sup>3</sup> to enable an entry to be made in the Adopted Children Register<sup>4</sup> for the child he must make the entry accordingly<sup>5</sup>. If the Registrar General is also satisfied that an entry in the registers of live births<sup>6</sup> or other records relates to the child, he must secure that the entry is marked 'Adopted', followed by the name, in brackets, of the country in which the adoption was effected<sup>7</sup>, or where appropriate, secure that the overseas registers of births<sup>8</sup> are so marked<sup>9</sup>.

If the Registrar General is satisfied that a registrable foreign adoption has ceased to have effect, whether on annulment or otherwise<sup>10</sup>, or that any entry or mark was erroneously made<sup>11</sup> in the Adopted Children Register, the registers of live births, the overseas registers of births or other records<sup>12</sup>, he may secure that such alterations are made in those registers or other records as he considers are required in consequence of the adoption ceasing to have effect or to correct the error<sup>13</sup>.

489. Procedural matters in foreign adoptions.

If adopters have obtained an adoption order in another country, this has to be clearly and distinctly proved, with the courts of England and Wales looking for compatible rules and procedures; if there is no foreign adoption order, then the prospective adopters will have to apply for an adoption order in England and Wales, and the ordinary rules will apply as if the case had no international features<sup>1</sup>. The law of the child's domicile of origin may be relevant when the court is assessing his welfare, as it will be important to know whether the adoption order would be recognised in the child's country of origin<sup>2</sup>. The court will need to be satisfied as to proof of parental agreement<sup>3</sup>.

490. Making of Convention adoption orders.

A Convention adoption order<sup>1</sup> may be made for the purpose of adopting in the United Kingdom a child habitually resident<sup>2</sup> in a Convention country<sup>3</sup> outside the British Islands<sup>4</sup> or for the purpose of adopting in a Convention country outside the British Islands a child habitually resident in any part of the United Kingdom<sup>5</sup>.

In the former case an adoption order may not be made as a Convention adoption order unless:

- 907 (1) the applicant or applicants has or have been habitually resident in any part of the British Islands for a period of not less than one year ending with the date of the application<sup>6</sup>;
- 908 (2) the child to be adopted was, on the date on which the agreement that the adoption may proceed was made<sup>7</sup>, habitually resident in a Convention country outside the British Islands<sup>8</sup>; and
- 909 (3) in a case where the applicant<sup>9</sup> is not a British citizen<sup>10</sup>, the Home Office has confirmed that the child is authorised to enter and reside permanently in the United Kingdom<sup>11</sup>.

In the latter case an adoption order may not be made as a Convention adoption order unless:

- 910 (a) the applicant or applicants has or have been habitually resident in a Convention country outside the British Islands for a period of not less than one year ending with the date of the application<sup>12</sup>;
- 911 (b) the child to be adopted was, on the date on which the agreement that the adoption may proceed was made<sup>13</sup>, habitually resident in any part of the British Islands<sup>14</sup>; and
- 912 (c) the competent authority has confirmed that the child is authorised to enter and remain permanently in the Convention country in which the applicant is habitually resident<sup>15</sup>.

An application for a Convention adoption order should be made to the High Court or to a county court which is an intercountry adoption centre<sup>16</sup>. Provision is made for the certification of Convention adoption orders after they are made<sup>17</sup> and for the refusal, withdrawal and annulment of Convention adoption orders relating to the adoption in the United Kingdom of a child from outside the British Islands<sup>18</sup>.

The provisions of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 apply, in specified cases with modifications, to adoptions within the scope of the Convention so far as the nature of the provision permits and unless the contrary intention is shown<sup>19</sup>.

490 Making of Convention adoption orders

NOTE 16--SI 1991/1677 replaced by Allocation and Transfer of Proceedings Order 2008, SI 2008/2836: see PARA 211A. Proceedings for a Convention adoption order must now be started in a county court which is an intercountry adoption centre, and may be started in the High Court only if they are exceptionally complex, the outcome is important to the public in general, or there is another substantial reason for them to be started in the High Court: arts 6(c), 7, 11(2).

491. Applications and assessments.

A person who wishes to adopt a child from a Convention country<sup>1</sup> must apply in writing to an adoption agency for a determination of eligibility and an assessment of his suitability to adopt<sup>2</sup>. On receipt of such an application the agency must provide a counselling service for the applicant, and provide written explanatory information<sup>3</sup>. The agency is then required to undertake an assessment of the applicant: this takes a form corresponding to that required in respect of prospective adopters generally<sup>4</sup>, and where the agency is satisfied that the requirements relating to the provision of counselling and information<sup>5</sup>, the carrying out of police checks<sup>6</sup> and the giving of preparatory assistance to prospective adopters<sup>7</sup> have been met<sup>8</sup>, it must prepare a prospective adopter's report<sup>9</sup> and notify the prospective adopter that his application is to be referred to the adoption panel<sup>10</sup>. The agency must then make a decision<sup>11</sup> about whether the prospective adopter is suitable to adopt a child<sup>12</sup>.

<sup>2</sup> Ibid reg 13(1)(a). At least one of the applicants must have been habitually resident in England and Wales for not less than one year and at least one of them must have attained the age of 21 years (reg 13(2)). Applicants must also give the agency any information it may require for the purposes of the assessment: reg 13(1)(b).

<sup>4</sup> I.e. the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 22 and the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 22 (requirement to consider application for an assessment of suitability: see para 435 ante) apply as if the reference to an application in those provisions was to an application made in accordance with the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 13 (see the text and notes 1-2 supra): reg 15(1).

<sup>9</sup> I.e. the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 25 and the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 26 (see paras 438-439 ante) apply. For the meaning of 'prospective adopter's report' see the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 25(5); the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 26(4); and para 438 ante (definition applied by the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 2). The agency must include in the prospective adopter's report the state of origin from which the prospective adopter wishes to adopt a child, confirmation that the prospective adopter is eligible to adopt a child under the law of that state, any additional information obtained as a consequence of the requirements of that state, and the agency's assessment of the prospective adopter's suitability to adopt a child who is habitually resident in that state: reg 15(4). The agency must place on the prospective adopter's case record any information obtained as a consequence of these provisions: reg 15(3). For the meaning of 'prospective adopter's case record' see the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 22(1); the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 22(1); and para 448 ante (definition applied by the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 2).

492. Procedure following decision as to suitability to adopt.

Where an adoption agency has made a decision that a prospective adopter is suitable to adopt a child<sup>1</sup> it must notify the relevant central authority<sup>2</sup> and if that central authority is satisfied that the agency has complied with the relevant duties and procedures<sup>3</sup>, and that all the relevant information has been supplied by that agency, the central authority must inform the central authority of the child's state of origin about the proceedings<sup>4</sup>. The central authority of the child's state of origin should then consider whether the child is adoptable and send to the relevant central authority in the United Kingdom 'the Article 16 Information'<sup>5</sup>, which the relevant central authority must<sup>6</sup> send on to the adoption agency which must use it, in consultation with the prospective adopter (who must also visit the child in its state of origin), in order to decide whether the adoption should proceed, and must notify the central authority accordingly<sup>7</sup>. The central authority must then notify the central authority of the child's state of origin of the prospective adopter's wishes and that the child is eligible to enter the United Kingdom<sup>8</sup>.

<sup>4</sup> I.e. the central authority must send to the central authority of the child's state of origin the prospective adopter's report prepared in accordance with the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 25 or the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 26 (see paras 438-439, 491 ante), a copy of the adoption agency's decision and the adoption panel's recommendation, any other information that the central authority of the child's state of origin may require, a certificate (in the form set out in the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, Sch 1) confirming that the prospective adopter is eligible to adopt, the prospective adopter has been assessed (see para 491 ante), the prospective adopter has been approved as suitable to adopt a child and the child will be authorised to enter and reside permanently in the United Kingdom if entry clearance, and leave to enter or remain, as may be necessary, is granted and not revoked or curtailed and a Convention adoption order or Convention adoption is made, and (if the prospective adopter applied to the appropriate minister for a review under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 12 (see para 440 note 3 ante), the record of the proceedings of the panel, its recommendation and the reasons for its recommendation: Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 18(2) (amended by SI 2005/3482). For the meaning of 'Convention adoption' see the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 66(1)(c); and para 375 note 7 ante (definition applied by the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 2). The relevant central authority must notify the adoption agency and the prospective adopter in writing that the certificate and the documents referred to above have been sent to the central authority of the child's state of origin: reg 18(3).

5 For the purposes of ibid regs 19, 20, 'the Article 16 Information' means the report referred to in the Convention on Protection of Children and Co-operation in Respect of Intercountry Adoptions (The Hague, 29 May 1993; TS 40 (1994); Cm 2691) (the 'Hague Convention') art 16(1), including information about the child's identity, adoptability, background, social environment, family history, medical history including that of the child's family and any special needs of the child, proof of confirmation that the consents of the persons, institutions and authorities whose consents are necessary for adoption have been obtained in accordance with art 4, and the reasons for the central authority of the child's state of origin's determination on the placement: Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 19(6). As to the Hague Convention see para 483 ante.

6 In providing that the central authority of the child's state of origin considers that the child in question should be placed for adoption with the prospective adopter: Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 19(1).

7 Ibid reg 19(2), (3). The adoption agency must consider the Article 16 Information, send it to the prospective adopter, meet with him to discuss the information, the proposed placement and the availability of adoption support services and, if appropriate, offer a counselling service and further information as required: reg 19(2). Where this procedure has been followed, the prospective adopter (and where the prospective adopters are a couple, each of them) has visited the child in the state of origin, and after that visit to the child, the prospective adopter has confirmed in writing to the adoption agency that he has visited the child, he has provided the agency with additional reports and information received on or after that visit, and he wishes to proceed to adopt that child, the agency must notify the relevant central authority in writing that these requirements have been satisfied and at the same time it must confirm that it is content for the adoption to proceed: reg 19(3). For the meaning of 'adoption support services' see the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 2(6)(a), (b); the Adoption Support Services Regulations 2005, SI 2005/691, reg 3(1); the Adoption Support Services (Local Authorities) (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1512, reg 3; and para 394 ante (definition applied by the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 2).

8 Ibid reg 19(4). Where the relevant central authority has received notification from the adoption agency under reg 19(3) (see the text and note 7 supra), the relevant central authority must notify the central authority of the child's state of origin that the prospective adopter wishes to proceed to adopt the child and that it is prepared to agree with the central authority of the child's state of origin that the adoption may proceed, and must confirm to the central authority of the child's state of origin either that the child will be authorised to enter and reside permanently in the United Kingdom (in a case where the requirements specified in the British Nationality Act 1981 s 1(5A) (as added) (see BRITISH NATIONALITY, IMMIGRATION AND ASYLUM vol 4(2) (2002 Reissue) para 26) are met) or if entry clearance and leave to enter and remain, as may be necessary, is granted and not revoked or curtailed and a Convention adoption order or a Convention adoption is made, the child will be authorised to enter and reside permanently in the United Kingdom (in any other case). For the meaning of 'Convention adoption' see para 375 note 7 ante; definition applied by the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 2. As to Convention adoption orders see para 491 ante.

494. Entry of child into United Kingdom.

Following agreement that adoption is to proceed<sup>1</sup>, the prospective adopter must notify the adoption agency of his expected date of entry into the United Kingdom with the child<sup>2</sup>, confirm to the adoption agency when the child is placed with him by the competent authority in the state of origin<sup>3</sup>, and accompany the child on entering the United Kingdom unless, in the case of a couple, the adoption agency and the central authority of the state of origin have agreed that it is necessary for only one of them to do so<sup>4</sup>. Procedural requirements must be complied with before the child may enter the United Kingdom<sup>5</sup>. Provision is also made for the imposition of a probationary period on Convention adoptions by the child's state of origin<sup>6</sup>.

Different considerations apply whether the adopter brings the child into the United Kingdom in circumstances where there is no adoption order in the state of origin<sup>7</sup>. A prospective adopter must give notice<sup>8</sup> to the relevant local authority of the child's arrival<sup>9</sup> and of his intention either to apply<sup>10</sup> for an adoption order<sup>11</sup> or not to give the child a home<sup>12</sup>, and the local authority functions with respect to the child<sup>13</sup> are modified accordingly<sup>14</sup>. A child may also be withdrawn from a prospective adopter where the relevant local authority is of the opinion that the continued placement of the child is not in his best interests<sup>15</sup>. Contravention of these requirements is an offence<sup>16</sup>.

- 913 (1) if at any stage before the Central Authorities<sup>2</sup> of both states have agreed that an adoption may proceed<sup>3</sup> the central authority of the state of origin notifies the relevant central authority that it has decided the proposed placement should not proceed, the relevant central authority must inform the adoption agency of the decision<sup>4</sup>, the agency must inform the prospective adopter and return the Article 16 Information<sup>5</sup> to the relevant central authority<sup>6</sup>, which must then return those documents to the central authority of the state of origin<sup>7</sup>;
- 914 (2) where at any stage before the adoption agency receives notification of the agreement that an adoption may proceed<sup>8</sup> the approval of the prospective adopter is reviewed<sup>9</sup> and as a consequence the agency determines that the prospective adopter is no longer suitable to adopt a child, the agency must inform the relevant central authority and return the relevant documents<sup>10</sup>, and the relevant central authority must notify the central authority of the state of origin and return those documents<sup>11</sup>; and
- 915 (3) if at any stage before the child is placed with him the prospective adopter notifies the adoption agency that he does not wish to proceed with the adoption, that agency must inform the relevant central authority and return the documents to that central authority<sup>12</sup> and the relevant central authority must notify the central authority of the state of origin of the prospective adopter's decision and return the documents to that central authority<sup>13</sup>.

Where a couple or a person habitually resident<sup>1</sup> in a Convention country<sup>2</sup> outside the British Islands wishes to adopt a child who is habitually resident in the British Islands in accordance with the Hague Convention<sup>3</sup>, the child's permanence report<sup>4</sup> must include a summary of the possibilities for placement of the child within the United Kingdom<sup>5</sup> and an assessment of whether an adoption by a person in a particular receiving state is in the child's best interests<sup>6</sup>. The adoption agency must send to the adoption panel<sup>7</sup>, together with the standard reports and information required to accompany the permanence report<sup>8</sup>, the Article 15 Report<sup>9</sup> (if received) and its observations thereon<sup>10</sup>; and the panel's recommendation as to whether a child should be placed for adoption<sup>11</sup> must consider and take into account the Article 15 Report, if available, and the observations thereon together with the information passed to it as a consequence thereof<sup>12</sup>; and where the adoption agency decides<sup>13</sup> that the child should be placed for an adoption in accordance with the Convention it must notify the relevant central authority accordingly<sup>14</sup>. Provision is also made for the child and his parent or guardian to be given counselling and information in connection with the proposed adoption<sup>15</sup>.

- 916 (1) intends to bring, or to cause another to bring, a child<sup>4</sup> who is habitually resident outside the British Islands into the United Kingdom for the purpose of adoption<sup>5</sup> by the British resident<sup>6</sup>; or

These provisions do not apply if the child is intended to be adopted under a Convention adoption order: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 83(2). Regulations made by the Secretary of State after consultation with the Welsh Ministers may provide for s 83 not to apply if the adopters or (as the case may be) prospective adopters are natural parents, natural relatives or guardians of the child in question (or one of them is), or the British resident in question is a partner of a parent of the child, and any prescribed conditions are met: s 86(1), (4). At the date at which this volume states the law no such regulations had been made. As to the making of regulations generally see para 334 note 12 ante. On the occasion of the first exercise of the power to make regulations under s 86 the statutory instrument containing the regulations is not to be made unless a draft of the instrument has been laid before, and approved by a resolution of, each House of Parliament, and accordingly s 140(2) does not apply to the instrument: s 86(3). As to the Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers see para 155 ante.

In relation to a child brought into the United Kingdom for adoption in circumstances where these provisions apply, regulations may provide for any of the provisions relating to placement for adoption and adoption orders (ie the Adoption and Children Act 2002 Pt 1 Ch 3 (ss 18-65): see para 331 et seq ante) to apply with modifications or not to apply; and, if notice of intention to adopt has been given, impose functions in respect of the child on the local authority to which the notice was given: s 83(6). See the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, regs 6-9. For the meaning of 'notice of intention to adopt' see the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 44(2); and para 365 ante. As to the giving of notices under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 see para 333 note 11 ante.

As from a day to be appointed the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers may charge a fee to adopters for services provided or to be provided by him or them in relation to adoptions to which the provisions of s 83, or the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, apply: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 91A(1), (2) (added by the Children and Adoption Act 2006 s 13). At the date at which this volume states the law these provisions were in force only so far as relating to adoptions and prospective adoptions in respect of which the Welsh Ministers may charge a fee (see the Children and Adoption Act 2006 (Commencement No 1) (Wales) Order 2007, SI 2007/733, appointing 2 April 2007 for this purpose). The Welsh Ministers may charge a fee to adopters for services provided or to be provided by them as the central authority in relation to adoptions to which the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, apply: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 91A(3) (as so added). The Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers may determine the level of fee as he or they see fit, and may in particular charge a flat fee or charge different fees in different cases or descriptions of case and, in any case or description of case, waive a fee (s 91A(4) (as so added)); however, the Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers must secure that, taking one financial year with another, the income from fees under s 91A (as added) does not exceed the total cost to him or, as the case may be, to them of providing the services in relation to which the fees are imposed (s 91A(5) (as so added)). For the purposes of s 91A (as added), references to 'adoptions' and 'adopters' include prospective adoptions and prospective adopters; 'central authority' is to be construed in accordance with the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 2 (see para 486 ante); and 'financial year' means a period of twelve months ending with 31 March: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 91A(6) (as so added). As to the Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers see para 155 ante.

3 As to habitual residence see para 806 post; and CONFLICT OF LAWS vol 8(3) (Reissue) para 57 et seq.

4 For the meaning of 'child' see para 327 note 2 ante.

5 For these purposes the references to 'adoption', or to a child 'adopted', by the British resident include a reference to adoption, or to a child adopted, by the British resident and another person: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 83(1). As to the United Kingdom see paras 102 note 7, 341 note 8 ante.

6 Ibid s 83(1)(a).

7 An 'external adoption' means an adoption, other than a Convention adoption (see note 2 supra), of a child effected under the law of any country or territory outside the British Islands, whether or not the adoption is an adoption within the meaning of ibid Pt 1 Ch 4 (ss 66-76) (see para 375 et seq ante), or a full adoption: s 83(3). A 'full adoption' is an adoption by virtue of which the child is to be treated in law as not being the child of any person other than the adopters or adopter: s 88(3).

8 The specified period is 12 months (ibid s 83(1)(b) (amended by the Children and Adoption Act 2006 s 14(1))), except in relation to a child adopted under an external adoption effected before 1 October 2007, in which case it is six months (Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 83(1)(b) (as originally enacted); Children and Adoption Act 2006 s 14(2); Children and Adoption Act 2006 (Commencement No 1) Order 2007, SI 2007/2287).

9 Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 83(1)(b) (as amended: see note 8 supra).

10 Ie a local authority or a registered adoption society: see paras 394-395 ante. For this purpose 'adoption agency' includes a Scottish or Northern Irish adoption agency: ibid s 83(4)(a). As to Scottish and Northern Irish adoption agencies see para 352 note 2 ante.

11 Ibid s 83(4)(a); Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 3(a). The regulations are made by the Secretary of State after consultation with the Welsh Ministers: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 83(9).

12 Ibid s 83(4)(b); Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 3(b).

13 If a person brings, or causes another to bring, a child into the United Kingdom at any time in circumstances where these provisions apply, he is guilty of an offence if he has not complied with any requirement imposed by virtue of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 83(4): s 83(7)(a). A person guilty of an such offence is liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum, or both; or on conviction on indictment, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months, or a fine, or both: s 83(8). As to the statutory maximum see para 109 note 23 ante.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/5. ADOPTION/(8) ADOPTIONS WITH A FOREIGN ELEMENT/(iii) Restrictions on Removing Children to and from the United Kingdom/500. Conditions of entry in non-Convention cases.

500. Conditions of entry in non-Convention cases.

Provision is made for regulating the entry into the United Kingdom of adoptive children from overseas in circumstances where the Hague Convention<sup>1</sup> does not apply<sup>2</sup>. The prospective adopter must accompany the child on entering the United Kingdom<sup>3</sup> and prior to the child's entry must:

- 918 (1) receive written notification from the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers that he has or they have issued to the relevant foreign authority a certificate confirming the prospective adopter's eligibility to be an adoptive parent<sup>4</sup> and that the child will be authorised<sup>5</sup> to enter and reside permanently in the United Kingdom<sup>6</sup>; and
- 919 (2) visit the child in the state of origin<sup>7</sup> and comply with specified requirements relating to that visit<sup>8</sup>.

Except where an overseas adoption<sup>9</sup> is or is to be effected, the prospective adopter must<sup>10</sup> give notice to the relevant local authority<sup>11</sup> of the child's arrival in the United Kingdom<sup>12</sup> and of his intention either to apply for an adoption order<sup>13</sup> or not to give the child a home<sup>14</sup>. Provision is made for the operation of these provisions where the prospective adopter moves his home<sup>15</sup>. Failure to comply with these requirements is an offence<sup>16</sup>.

1 *I*e the Convention on Protection of Children and Co-operation in Respect of Intercountry Adoptions (The Hague, 29 May 1993; TS 40 (1994); Cm 2691). As to the Hague Convention see para 483 ante.

2 See para 499 note 2 ante. The Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 83(5) provides that regulations may require prescribed conditions to be met in respect of a child brought into the United Kingdom in circumstances where these provisions apply. These conditions are prescribed by the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 4 (see the text and notes 3-15 infra): reg 4(1). For a saving in connection with prospective adoptions notified prior to 30 December 2005 see the Adoption and Children Act 2002 (Commencement No 10 Transitional and Savings Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/2897, arts 7, 8. As to the United Kingdom see paras 102 note 7, 341 note 8 ante.

3 Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 4(3). This requirement will not apply in the case of a couple if the adoption agency (ie a local authority or a registered adoption society: see paras 394-395 ante) and the relevant foreign authority have agreed that it is necessary for only one of them to do so: reg 4(3). 'Relevant foreign authority' means a person outside the British Islands performing functions in the country in which the child is, or in which the prospective adopter is, habitually resident which correspond to the functions of an adoption agency or to the functions of the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers in respect of adoptions with a foreign element: reg 2. As to the Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers see para 155 ante.

4 *I*e that the prospective adopter has been assessed and approved as eligible and suitable to be an adoptive parent in accordance with the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, Pt 4 (regs 21-30) and the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, Pt 4 (regs 21-31) (see paras 435 et seq ante): Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 4(2)(a)(i).

5 *I*e provided that entry clearance and leave to enter and remain, as may be necessary, is granted and not revoked or curtailed, and an adoption order is made or an overseas adoption is effected: ibid reg 4(2)(a)(i).

6 Ibid reg 4(2)(a).

7 Ibid reg 4(2)(c). Where the prospective adopters are a couple each of them must visit the child in the state of origin: reg 4(2)(c).

8 Before visiting the child in the state of origin the prospective adopter must notify the adoption agency of the details of the child to be adopted, provide the agency with any information and reports received from the relevant foreign authority, and meet with the agency to discuss the proposed adoption and information received from the relevant foreign authority (ibid reg 4(2)(b)); and after that visit he must confirm in writing to the agency that he has done so and wishes to proceed with the adoption, provide the agency with any additional reports and information received on or after that visit, and notify the agency of his expected date of entry into the United Kingdom with the child (reg 4(2)(d)).

9 For the meaning of 'overseas adoption' for the purposes of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 see para 485 ante.

10 Ie within the period of 14 days beginning with the date on which the child is brought into the United Kingdom: Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 4(4).

11 In relation to a prospective adopter 'relevant local authority' means either the local authority within whose area he has his home or, in the case where he no longer has a home in England or Wales, the local authority for the area in which he last had his home: ibid reg 2.

12 Ibid reg 4(4)(a).

13 Ie in accordance with the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 44(2) (see para 365 ante). A number of duties are imposed on a local authority where a person has given notice of intention to adopt (see para 365 ante) under these provisions: see the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, regs 5, 25.

14 Ibid reg 4(4)(b).

15 If a prospective adopter has given notice in accordance with ibid reg 4(4) and subsequently moves his home into the area of another local authority, he must within 14 days of that move confirm in writing to that authority the child's entry into the United Kingdom and that notice of his intention to apply for an adoption order in accordance with the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 44(2) (see para 365 ante) or not to give the child a home, has been given: Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 4(5).

16 If a person brings, or causes another to bring, a child into the United Kingdom at any time in circumstances where these provisions apply, he is guilty of an offence if any condition required to be met by virtue of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 83(5) (see the text and notes 1-14 supra) is not met: s 83(7)(b). A person guilty of an such offence is liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum, or both; or on conviction on indictment, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months, or a fine, or both: s 83(8). As to the statutory maximum see para 109 note 23 ante.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/5. ADOPTION/(8) ADOPTIONS WITH A FOREIGN ELEMENT/(iii) Restrictions on Removing Children to and from the United Kingdom/501. Declaration of special restrictions.

501. Declaration of special restrictions.

As from a day to be appointed<sup>1</sup>, the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> may by order declare<sup>3</sup> that special restrictions on the bringing of children into the United Kingdom are to apply in relation to specified countries<sup>4</sup> because of practices taking place there in connection with the adoption of children<sup>5</sup>. The special restrictions, which may be applied where a British resident<sup>6</sup>:

- 920 (1) wishes to bring, or cause another to bring, a child who is not a British resident into the United Kingdom for the purpose of adoption by the British resident<sup>7</sup>, and, in connection with the proposed adoption, there have been, or would have to be, proceedings in the other country or dealings with authorities or agencies there<sup>8</sup>; or
- 921 (2) wishes to bring, or cause another to bring, into the United Kingdom a child adopted by the British resident under an adoption effected, within the period of 12 months ending with the date of the bringing in, under the law of the other country<sup>9</sup>, are that the appropriate authority<sup>10</sup> is not to take any step<sup>11</sup> which might otherwise have been taken in connection with furthering the bringing of a child into the United Kingdom in the cases mentioned above<sup>12</sup> (unless the prospective adopters can satisfy the authority that it should take those steps despite the special restrictions<sup>13</sup>). Additional conditions may be imposed in respect of restricted countries by regulations<sup>14</sup>.

1 The Children and Adoption Act 2006 ss 9-12, 16 (see the text and notes 2-14 infra) are to be brought into force as from a day to be appointed; ss 11, 12(1), (7) were brought into force on 2 August 2007 for the purpose of making regulations by the Children and Adoption Act 2006 (Commencement No 1) Order 2007, SI 2007/2287, but at the date at which this volume states the law no further commencement day had been appointed.

2 As to the Secretary of State see para 155 ante.

3 Before making an order containing such a declaration the Secretary of State must consult the Welsh Ministers and the Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety in Northern Ireland: Children and Adoption Act 2006 s 9(5). The power to make and revoke an order under these provisions is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: s 16(2), (3).

4 In any country or territory outside the British Islands from which the Secretary of State has reason to believe it would be contrary to public policy to further the bringing of children into the United Kingdom because of practices taking place there in connection with the adoption of children: ibid ss 9(1), 10(4), 12(7). It is immaterial whether the other country is a Convention country or not (ie a Country or territory in which the Convention on Protection of Children and Co-operation in Respect of Intercountry Adoptions (The Hague, 29 May 1993; TS 40 (1994); Cm 2691) (the 'Hague Convention') (see para 483 ante) is in force): Children and Adoption Act 2006 s 9(3), (10)(c). The Secretary of State must publish reasons for making the declaration in relation to each country or territory in relation to which such a declaration has effect for the time being (s 9(6), (7)) and must publish and keep up to date a list of those countries (s 9(8)). The restricted list and the reasons are to be published in whatever way the Secretary of State thinks appropriate for bringing them to the attention of adoption agencies and members of the public: s 9(9).

The Secretary of State must keep under review, in relation to each restricted country, whether it should continue to be a restricted country (s 10(1)) and if he determines, in relation to a restricted country, that there is no longer reason to believe what is mentioned in s 9(1) he must by order revoke the order containing the declaration made in relation to it under s 9(4) (see the text and note 5 infra) (s 10(2)). Before making a determination under s 10(2) the Secretary of State must consult the Welsh Ministers and the Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety in Northern Ireland: s 10(3)).

5 Ibid s 9(1), (4).

6 'British resident' means a person habitually resident in the British Islands: ibid s 9(10)(a).

7 The reference to 'adoption by a British resident' includes adoption by a British resident and another person: ibid s 9(10)(a).

8 Ibid s 9(2)(a).

9 Ibid s 9(2)(b).

10 'The appropriate authority' means, in a Convention case, the central authority in relation to England, Wales or Northern Ireland (as the case may be), and in any other case means the Secretary of State (in relation to England and Wales) or the Secretary of State (for the purposes of steps which he takes) or the Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety in Northern Ireland (for the purposes of steps which it takes) (in relation to Northern Ireland): ibid regs 11(4), 12(7). 'Convention case' means a case where the child is intended to be adopted under an adoption order which, by virtue of the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392 (made under the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 1) (see paras 483, 490 et seq ante), is made as a Convention adoption order or the child is intended to be adopted under an adoption effected under the law of a Convention country outside the British Islands and certified in pursuance of the Hague Convention art 23(1): Children and Adoption Act 2006 s 11(4). 'Central authority' is to be construed in accordance with the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 2 (see para 486 ante) or, in relation to Northern Ireland, the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act (Northern Ireland) 2001 s 2: Children and Adoption Act 2006 s 11(4).

11 Ie whether or not that step is provided for by or by virtue of any enactment: ibid s 11(1).

13 Ibid s 11(2). The Secretary of State may make regulations providing for the procedure to be followed by the appropriate authority (or, where applicable, the Secretary of State) in determining whether or not he or it is so satisfied and for the matters which the appropriate authority (or the Secretary of State) is to take into account when making such a determination (whether or not he or it also takes other matters into account): s 11(3). At the date at which this volume states the law no such regulations had been made.

Any power to make regulations conferred by the Children and Adoption Act 2006 on the Secretary of State is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: s 16(1), (3). Regulations may make different provision for different purposes: s 16(4). A power to make regulations (as well as being exercisable in relation to all cases to which it extends) may be exercised in relation to those cases subject to specified exceptions or a particular case or class of case: s 16(5).

14 The Secretary of State may make regulations providing for him to specify in the restricted list, in relation to any restricted country, a step which is not otherwise provided for by or by virtue of any enactment but which, by virtue of the arrangements between the United Kingdom and that country, the appropriate authority normally takes in connection with the bringing in of a child where that country is concerned, and that, if such a step has been so specified in relation to a restricted country, one or more conditions specified in the regulations are to be met in respect of a child brought into the United Kingdom in either of the cases mentioned in ibid s 9(2) (see the text and notes 7-9 supra) (reading the reference there to the 'other country' as being to the restricted country in question): s 12(1). Those conditions are in addition to any provided for by virtue of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 83 (restriction on bringing children in: see paras 499-500 ante) or the Adoption (Northern Ireland) Order 1987, SI 1987/2203, art 58ZA (restriction on bringing children in), or under or by virtue of any other enactment: Children and Adoption Act 2006 s 12(2). A person who brings, or causes another to bring, a child into the United Kingdom is guilty of an offence if any condition so required to be met is not met (s 12(3)), although this does not apply if the step specified in the restricted list in relation to any country had already been taken before the publication of the restricted list (s 12(4)). A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months (in England and Wales, in relation to an offence committed after the commencement of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 154(1) (general limit on magistrates' court's power to impose imprisonment)) or six months (in Northern Ireland, and in England and Wales in relation to an offence committed before the commencement of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 154(1)), or a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum, or both; or on conviction on indictment, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months, or a fine, or both: Children and Adoption Act 2006 s 12(5), (6). As to the statutory maximum see para 109 note 23 ante.

ADOPTION/(8) ADOPTIONS WITH A FOREIGN ELEMENT/(iii) Restrictions on Removing Children to and from the United Kingdom/502. Giving parental responsibility prior to adoption abroad.

502. Giving parental responsibility prior to adoption abroad.

The High Court may, on an application by persons who the court is satisfied intend to adopt a child<sup>1</sup> under the law of a country or territory outside the British Islands, make an order giving parental responsibility for the child to them<sup>2</sup>. The effect of such an order in the context of parental responsibility corresponds to that of an adoption order<sup>3</sup>, although an order under these provisions may not give parental responsibility to persons who the court is satisfied meet those requirements as to domicile, or habitual residence, in England and Wales which have to be met if an adoption order is to be made in favour of those persons<sup>4</sup>.

An application for an order under these provisions may not be made unless at all times during the preceding ten weeks the child's home was with the applicant or, in the case of an application by two people, both of them<sup>5</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 327 note 2 ante.

2 Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 84(1). For the meaning of 'parental responsibility' see the Children Act 1989 s 3; and para 134 ante (definition applied by the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 147, Sch 6). As to the court see para 511 post. Such an order may not be made in the case of a child placed by an adoption agency unless that agency has confirmed to the court that it has complied with the requirements imposed in accordance with the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, Pt 3 (regs 11-20A) (as amended) (see para 447 ante) or the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, Pt 3 (regs 11-20) (see para 447 ante) (Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 84(3); Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 10(a)(i)) and has submitted to the court:

- 261 (1) the reports and information referred to in the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 17(2), (3) or the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 17(2), (3) (see para 433 ante) (Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 10(a)(ii)(aa));
- 262 (2) the recommendations made by the adoption panel in accordance with the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 18 or the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 18 (placing child for adoption: see para 434 ante) and the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 33 or the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 34 (proposed placement: see para 444 ante) (Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 10(a)(ii)(bb));
- 263 (3) the adoption placement report prepared in accordance with the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 31(2)(d) or the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 32(3)(d) (see para 442 ante) (Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 10(a)(ii)(cc));
- 264 (4) the reports of and information obtained in respect of the visits and reviews referred to in the Adoption Agencies Regulations 2005, SI 2005/389, reg 36 or the Adoption Agencies (Wales) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1313, reg 37 (see para 446 ante) (Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 10(a)(ii)(dd)); and
- 265 (5) the report referred to in the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 43 as modified by the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 11 (see para 366 ante) (Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 10(a)(ii)(ee)).

Such an order may not be made in the case of a child placed by an adoption agency unless the relevant foreign authority has:

- 266 (a) confirmed in writing to that agency that the prospective adopter has been counselled and the legal implications of adoption have been explained to him (reg 10(b)(i));
- 267 (b) prepared a report on the suitability of the prospective adopter to be an adoptive parent (reg 10(b)(ii));
- 268 (c) determined and confirmed in writing to that agency that he is eligible and suitable to adopt in the country or territory in which the adoption is to be effected (reg 10(b)(iii)); and
- 269 (d) confirmed in writing to that agency that the child is or will be authorised to enter and reside permanently in that foreign country or territory (reg 10(b)(iv)).

In the case of a child placed by an adoption agency such an order may not be made unless the prospective adopter has confirmed in writing to the adoption agency that he will accompany the child on taking him out of the United Kingdom and entering the country or territory where the adoption is to be effected, or in the case of a couple, the agency and relevant foreign authority have confirmed that it is necessary for only one of them to do so (reg 10(c)).

For the applicable requirements in relation to Convention adoptions where the United Kingdom is the state of origin of the child see reg 48.

3 See the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 84(5), which provides that the provisions of s 46(2)-(4) (adoption orders: see para 359 ante) have effect in relation to an order under s 84 as they have effect in relation to adoption orders. Specified provisions of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 which refer to adoption orders apply with modifications to orders under s 84: see the Adoptions with a Foreign Element Regulations 2005, SI 2005/392, reg 11 (made by the Secretary of State after consultation with the Welsh Ministers under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 84(6), (7)).

ADOPTION/(8) ADOPTIONS WITH A FOREIGN ELEMENT/(iii) Restrictions on Removing Children to and from the United Kingdom/503. Restriction on taking children out of the United Kingdom.

503. Restriction on taking children out of the United Kingdom.

A child<sup>1</sup> who is a Commonwealth citizen<sup>2</sup>, or is habitually resident in the United Kingdom<sup>3</sup>, must not be removed from the United Kingdom to a place outside the British Islands for the purpose of adoption unless:

- 922 (1) the prospective adopters have parental responsibility for the child<sup>4</sup>; or
- 923 (2) the child is removed with the appropriate authority<sup>5</sup>.

Removing a child from the United Kingdom includes arranging to do so; and the circumstances in which a person arranges to remove a child from the United Kingdom include those where he:

- 924 (a) enters into an arrangement<sup>6</sup> for the purpose of facilitating such a removal of the child<sup>7</sup>; or
- 925 (b) initiates or takes part in any negotiations of which the purpose is the conclusion of such an arrangement<sup>8</sup>.

A person who removes a child from the United Kingdom in contravention of these provisions is guilty of an offence<sup>9</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 327 note 2 ante.

2 As to Commonwealth citizenship see BRITISH NATIONALITY, IMMIGRATION AND ASYLUM vol 4(2) (2002 Reissue) para 11.

3 As to habitual residence see para 806 post; and CONFLICT OF LAWS vol 8(3) (Reissue) para 57 et seq. As to the United Kingdom see paras 102 note 7, 341 note 8 ante.

4 Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 85(1), (2)(a). For the meaning of 'parental responsibility' see the Children Act 1989 s 3; and para 134 ante (definition applied by the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 147, Sch 6). Regulations may provide for s 85(1) to apply with modifications, or not to apply, if the prospective adopters are parents, relatives or guardians of the child in question (or one of them is), or the prospective adopter is a partner of a parent of the child, and any prescribed conditions are met: s 86(2). At the date at which this volume states the law no such regulations had been made. As to the making of regulations generally see paras 334 note 12 ante, 499 note 2 ante.

5 Ibid s 85(2)(b). The 'appropriate authority' is an order under s 84 (see para 502 ante), the Adoption (Scotland) Act 1978 s 49 or the Adoption (Northern Ireland) Order 1987, SI 1987/2203, art 57: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 85(2)(b).

6 An arrangement includes an agreement (whether or not enforceable): ibid s 85(3).

8 Ibid s 85(3)(b).

9 Ibid s 85(4). A person is not guilty of an offence under s 85(4) of causing a person to take any step mentioned in s 85(3)(a), (b) (see the text and notes 6-8 supra) unless it is proved that he knew or had reason to suspect that the step taken would amount to an offence (although this only applies if sufficient evidence is adduced to raise an issue as to whether the person had the knowledge or reason mentioned): s 85(5). A person guilty of an offence under s 85 is liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum, or both; or on conviction on indictment, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months, or a fine, or both: s 85(6). As to the statutory maximum see para 109 note 23 ante.

In any proceedings under s 85 a report by a British consular officer or a deposition made before a British consular officer and authenticated under the signature of that officer is admissible, upon proof that the officer or the deponent cannot be found in the United Kingdom, as evidence of the matters stated in it (s 85(7)(a)), and it is not necessary to prove the signature or official character of the person who appears to have signed any such report or deposition (s 85(7)(b)).

Any person who contravenes the prohibition on removal of a child where adoption is agreed<sup>8</sup> or who contravenes the prohibition on removal where the applicant provided the child's home<sup>9</sup>, is guilty of an offence<sup>10</sup>. ## (9) ANCILLARY RESTRICTIONS

507. Restriction on arranging adoptions.

Subject to certain exceptions concerning prospective adopters who are related to the child<sup>1</sup> in question<sup>2</sup>, a person who is neither an adoption agency<sup>3</sup> nor acting in pursuance of an order of the High Court<sup>4</sup> may not:

- 926 (1) ask a person other than an adoption agency<sup>5</sup> to provide a child for adoption<sup>6</sup>;
- 927 (2) ask a person other than an adoption agency to provide prospective adopters for a child<sup>7</sup>;
- 928 (3) offer to find a child for adoption<sup>8</sup>;
- 929 (4) offer a child for adoption to a person other than an adoption agency<sup>9</sup>;
- 930 (5) hand over a child to any person other than an adoption agency with a view to the child's adoption by that or another person<sup>10</sup>;
- 931 (6) receive a child handed over to him in contravention of the above provision<sup>11</sup>;
- 932 (7) enter into an agreement with any person for the adoption of a child, or for the purpose of facilitating the adoption of a child, where no adoption agency is acting on behalf of the child in the adoption<sup>12</sup>;
- 933 (8) initiate or take part in negotiations of which the purpose is the conclusion of such an agreement<sup>13</sup>; or
- 934 (9) cause another person to take any of the steps mentioned above<sup>14</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 327 note 2 ante.

2 The Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 92(1) (see the text and note 6 infra) does not apply to a person taking any of the steps mentioned in s 92(2)(d), (e), (g), (h), (i) (ie heads (4), (5), (7)-(9) in the text) if the prospective adopters are parents, relatives or guardians of the child (or one of them is) (s 92(3), (4)(a)) or the prospective adopter is the partner of a parent of the child (s 92(4)(b)). As to the meaning of 'guardian' see para 332 note 3 ante. For the meaning of 'relative' see para 329 note 11 ante.

The Secretary of State may, after consultation with the Welsh Ministers, by order make any amendments of s 92(1)-(4) (see the text and notes 3-14 infra), and any consequential amendments of the Adoption and Children Act 2002, which he considers necessary or expedient: s 92(6). At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made. As to the Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers see para 155 ante.

3 Ie a local authority or a registered adoption society: see paras 394-395 ante. In ibid ss 92-96 (see the text and notes 2 supra, 4-14 infra; and paras 508-509 post), 'adoption agency' includes a Scottish or Northern Irish adoption agency: s 97(a). As to Scottish and Northern Irish adoption agencies see para 352 note 2 ante.

4 As to the court see para 511 post. It was held under the corresponding provisions of the legislation formerly making provision in this regard (ie the Adoption Act 1976 s 11(1) (repealed), which prohibited a person other than an adoption agency from making arrangements for the adoption of a child, or from placing a child for adoption, unless, inter alia, that person was acting in pursuance of an order of the High Court), that an order may be made in respect of a placement which has already taken place: Re A (adoption placement) [1988] 1 WLR 229, [1988] 2 FLR 133; Re adoption application (adoption of non-patrial) [1992] 1 WLR 596, sub nom Re an adoption application [1992] 1 FLR 341; Re ZHH (adoption application) [1992] 1 FCR 197, [1993] 1 FLR 83; but cf Re C (a minor) (adoption application) [1992] 1 FCR 337, [1993] 1 FLR 87; Re adoption application (non-patrial: breach of procedures) [1993] Fam 125, [1993] 1 FLR 947. No court had the power retrospectively to authorise a placement in breach of the provisions of the Adoption Act 1976 s 11 (repealed): Re G (a minor) (adoption: illegal placement) [1995] 3 FCR 26, [1995] 1 FLR 403, CA. However, the fact that an offence had been committed under the Adoption Act 1976 s 11(1) (repealed) did not prevent an adoption order being made, as long as the application for an adoption order was made to the High Court: see Re S (arrangements for adoption) [1985] FLR 579, [1985] Fam Law 132, CA. Placement for adoption through a local authority was not the only means by which adoption could be effected, as the Adoption Act 1976 s 11(1) (repealed) did not prohibit an individual from making arrangements to place a child with an approved adoption agency: Re W (a minor) (adoption: mother under disability) [1995] Fam 120, sub nom Re W (adoption: placement) [1995] 1 FCR 714.

5 References to an 'adoption agency' in the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 92(2) (see the text and notes 6-14 infra) include a prescribed person outside the United Kingdom exercising functions corresponding to those of an adoption agency, if the functions are being exercised in circumstances prescribed (ie by regulations made by the Secretary of State after consultation with the Welsh Ministers) in respect of the child in question: s 92(5), (7)(b). As to the United Kingdom see paras 102 note 7, 341 note 8 ante. At the date at which this volume states the law no such circumstances had been prescribed. See also note 2 supra. See further the following decisions under the Adoption Act 1976 on unlawful placements: Re A (adoption: placement) [1988] 1 WLR 229, [1988] 2 FLR 133; Re adoption application (adoption of non-patril) [1992] 1 WLR 596, sub nom Re an adoption application [1992] 1 FLR 341; Re AW (adoption application) [1992] 2 FCR 641, [1993] 1 FLR 62; Re adoption application (non-patril: breach of procedures) [1993] Fam 125, [1993] 1 FLR 947.

References to 'adoption' in ss 92-96 are to the adoption of persons, wherever they may be habitually resident, effected under the law of any country or territory, whether within or outside the British Islands: s 97(c). As to habitual residence see para 806 post; and CONFLICT OF LAWS vol 8(3) (Reissue) para 57 et seq.

14 Ibid s 92(2)(i).

15 If a person contravenes ibid s 92(1), he is guilty of an offence; and, if that person is an adoption society, the person who manages the society is also guilty of the offence: s 93(1). A person is not, however, guilty of the offence of taking the step mentioned in s 92(2)(f) (see head (6) in the text) unless it is proved that he knew or had reason to suspect that the child was handed over to him in contravention of s 92(2)(e) (see head (5) in the text) (s 93(2)), and a person is not guilty of an offence of causing a person to take any of the steps mentioned in s 92(2)(a)-(h) (see heads (1)-(8) in the text) unless it is proved that he knew or had reason to suspect that the step taken would contravene the provision in question (s 93(3)). However, these exclusions only apply if sufficient evidence is adduced to raise an issue as to whether the person had the knowledge or reason mentioned: s 93(4). A person guilty of an offence under s 93 is liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or a fine not exceeding £10,000, or both: s 93(5). Proceedings for this offence may not be brought more than six years after the commission of the offence (s 138(a)) but, subject to that, may be brought within a period of six months from the date on which evidence sufficient in the opinion of the prosecutor to warrant the proceedings came to his knowledge (s 138(b)).

Note that, for the purposes of ss 92, 93, a person who carries on an activity which consists of the provision of an information society service from an establishment in the United Kingdom to a person or persons in one or more EEA states and who would not otherwise be regarded as carrying on that activity in the United Kingdom is regarded as carrying it on in the United Kingdom: see the Electronic Commerce Directive (Adoption and Children Act 2002) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3222.

508. Restriction on reports.

A person who is not a social worker<sup>1</sup> may not:

- 935 (1) prepare a report<sup>2</sup> about whether a child should be placed for adoption<sup>3</sup>;
- 936 (2) prepare a report<sup>4</sup> about the suitability of a prospective adopter to adopt a child<sup>5</sup>;
- 937 (3) prepare a report<sup>6</sup> about whether a child should be placed for adoption with a particular prospective adopter<sup>7</sup>;
- 938 (4) prepare a report<sup>8</sup> of a visit where a child is placed for adoption<sup>9</sup>;
- 939 (5) prepare a report<sup>10</sup> of a visit or review pursuant to local authority functions in an adoption with a foreign element<sup>11</sup>;
- 940 (6) prepare a report of a review of a child's case<sup>12</sup> in an adoption with a foreign element<sup>13</sup>;
- 941 (7) prepare a pre-adoption report<sup>14</sup>;
- 942 (8) prepare a post-adoption report<sup>15</sup>;
- 943 (9) prepare a report in relation to an application for an adoption order relating to a child placed for adoption by an adoption agency<sup>16</sup> or where notice of an intention to adopt has been given<sup>17</sup> in respect of a child not placed with the prospective adopters by an adoption agency<sup>18</sup>; or
- 944 (10) prepare a report in the case of an application for parental responsibility<sup>19</sup> prior to an adoption abroad<sup>20</sup>.

Any person who contravenes any of these provisions<sup>21</sup> or causes a person to prepare a report, or submits to any person a report which has been prepared, in contravention thereof<sup>22</sup> is guilty of an offence<sup>23</sup>; and if that person works for an adoption society the person who manages the society is also so guilty<sup>24</sup>.

1    le a person who is not within a description prescribed by regulations made by the Secretary of State after consultation with the Welsh Ministers: Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 94(1). The Restriction on the Preparation of Adoption Reports Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1711, reg 3 provides that a person is within a 'prescribed description' for these purposes if:

- 271 (2) he is a person who is participating in a course approved by a Council under the Care Standards Act 2000 s 63 (see SOCIAL SERVICES AND COMMUNITY CARE) for persons wishing to become social workers, is employed by, or placed with, a local authority or registered adoption society as part of that course, and satisfies the second condition set out below (reg 3(1)(b)); or
- 272 (3) he is acting on behalf of a local authority or a registered adoption society and is a social worker who satisfies both the conditions set out below (reg 3(1)(c)).

The 'relevant conditions' are:

- 273 (a) that the person has at least three years' post-qualifying experience in child care social work, including direct experience of adoption work (reg 3(2)(a)); and
- 274 (b) that the person is supervised by a social worker who is employed by the local authority or registered adoption society in question and has at least three years' post-qualifying experience in child care social work, including direct experience of adoption work (reg 3(2)(b)).

'Social worker' means a person who is registered in the register for social workers maintained in accordance with the Care Standards Act 2000 s 56 (see SOCIAL SERVICES AND COMMUNITY CARE) or in a corresponding register maintained under the law of Scotland or Northern Ireland: Restriction on the Preparation of Adoption Reports Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1711, reg 2. 'Council' means either the English Council or the Welsh Council; and 'the English Council' and 'the Welsh Council' have the same meaning as in the Care Standards Act 2000 s 54 (see SOCIAL SERVICES AND COMMUNITY CARE): Restriction on the Preparation of Adoption Reports Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1711, reg 2.

In s 123 (see the text and notes 2-14 infra), 'adoption agency' includes a Scottish or Northern Irish adoption agency (s 123(9)(a)); and references to an 'adoption agency' include a person prescribed by regulations made by the Secretary of State outside the United Kingdom exercising functions corresponding to those of an adoption agency, if the functions are being exercised in prescribed circumstances: s 123(7). At the date at which this volume states the law no such regulations had been made. ## (10) PROCEDURAL PROVISIONS

511. Adoption procedures.

The allocation of the court in adoption proceedings is determined by the Adoption and Children Act 2002 and the Children (Allocation of Proceedings) Order 1991<sup>1</sup>, which together provide that adoption applications<sup>2</sup> may be issued in the High Court, the county court (an adoption centre<sup>3</sup>) or the magistrates court<sup>4</sup>, and that an application for a Convention adoption order<sup>5</sup>, or an adoption order relating to a child habitually resident outside the United Kingdom<sup>6</sup> must be made to the High Court or county court<sup>7</sup>.

The Family Procedure (Adoption) Rules 2005 contain a comprehensive set of procedural rules for adoption proceedings<sup>8</sup>. At their centre is the overriding objective of enabling the court to deal with cases justly having regard to the welfare issues involved<sup>9</sup>. This includes, so far as is practicable, ensuring that a case is dealt with expeditiously and fairly<sup>10</sup>, dealing with it in ways which are proportionate to the nature and importance and complexity of the issues<sup>11</sup>, ensuring that the parties are on an equal footing<sup>12</sup>, saving expense<sup>13</sup> and allotting to the case an appropriate share of the court's resources<sup>14</sup>.

The child is automatically a party to an application for a placement order<sup>15</sup>, but not necessarily an adoption order<sup>16</sup>. The court will appoint a children's guardian where the child is a party to the proceedings unless it is satisfied that it is not necessary to do so to safeguard the interests of the child<sup>17</sup>.

An appeal lies to the High Court against the making by a magistrates' court of any order under the Children Act 1989 or the Adoption and Children Act 2002, or any refusal by a magistrates' court to make such an order<sup>18</sup>. Where a magistrates' court has power, in relation to any proceedings under the Children Act 1989 or the Adoption and Children Act 2002, to decline jurisdiction because it considers that the case can more conveniently be dealt with by another court, no appeal lies against any exercise by that magistrates' court of that power<sup>19</sup>.

5 'Convention adoption order' means an adoption order which, by virtue of regulations under the Adoption (Intercountry Aspects) Act 1999 s 1 (regulations giving effect to the Convention: see para 483 ante), is made as a Convention adoption order: Children (Allocation of Proceedings) Order 1991, SI 1991/1677, art 1 (amended by SI 2005/2797).

Regulations made by the Secretary of State after consultation with the Welsh Ministers may provide for a reference in any provision of the Adoption and Children Act 2002 to an order of a court to include an order of a court in the Isle of Man or any of the Channel Islands which appears to the Secretary of State to correspond in its effect to the order in question (s 108(1)(a), (3)), and may modify any provision of the Act, as such provision applies to any order made, or other thing done, under the law of the Isle of Man or any of the Channel Islands (s 108(2)). ## UPDATE

511 Adoption procedures

NOTES--Certain functions under provisions mentioned in this paragraph are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3, see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

TEXT AND NOTES 1-7--SI 1991/1677 replaced by Allocation and Transfer of Proceedings Order 2008, SI 2008/2836: see PARA 211A. Proceedings for a variation of a placement order under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 23 and an adoption order under s 50 or 51 unless a local authority will be a party to the proceedings must, with specified exceptions, be started in a magistrates' court: SI 2008/2836 art 5(1)(d), (e). Where specified proceedings under the 2002 Act are pending, certain related proceedings must be started in the same court as the pending proceedings: SI 2008/2836 art 8. Proceedings for a Convention adoption order or an adoption order where the 2002 Act s 83 applies must now be started in a county court which is an intercountry adoption centre, and may be started in the High Court only if they are exceptionally complex, the outcome is important to the public in general, or there is another substantial reason for them to be started in the High Court: SI 2008/2836 arts 6(c), 7, 11(2). Any other proceedings under the 2002 Act which are to be started in a county court must be started in a county court which is an adoption centre: SI 2008/2836 art 11(1).

512. Proceedings in private.

Proceedings under the Adoption and Children Act 2002 in the High Court or a county court may be heard and determined in private<sup>1</sup>. The statutory provisions relating to the publication of information relating to proceedings before any court sitting in private also apply to these proceedings<sup>2</sup>, as do the provisions safeguarding the privacy of children involved in proceedings<sup>3</sup>.

2 See the Administration of Justice Act 1960 s 12 (as amended); and CONTEMPT OF COURT vol 9(1) (Reissue) para 431. As to the court see para 511 ante.

3 See the Children Act 1989 s 97 (as amended); and para 227 ante. All documents relating to adoption proceedings must, while they are in the custody of the court, be kept in a place of special security: Adoption Rules 1984, SI 1984/265, r 53(1). Save as required or authorised by a provision of any enactment or of the rules or with the leave of the court, no document or order held by or lodged with the court in adoption proceedings are open to inspection by any person, and no copy of any such document or order, or of an extract from any such document or order, may be taken by or issued to any person: see r 53(4) (amended by SI 1991/1880).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/5. ADOPTION/(10) PROCEDURAL PROVISIONS/513. Role of CAFCASS.

513. Role of CAFCASS.

Provision is made<sup>1</sup> for the appointment of an officer of the Children and Family Court Advisory and Support Service ('CAFCASS')<sup>2</sup> or a Welsh family proceedings officer<sup>3</sup> in connection with:

- 957 (1) an application for the making, varying or revocation of a placement order<sup>4</sup>;
- 958 (2) an application for the making of a contact order<sup>5</sup> or the varying or revocation of such an order<sup>6</sup>;
- 959 (3) an application for the making of an adoption order<sup>7</sup>;
- 960 (4) an application for the making of an order giving parental responsibility<sup>8</sup> to persons who intend to adopt a child from abroad<sup>9</sup>; or
- 961 (5) the signification by any person of any consent to placement or adoption<sup>10</sup>.

Rules must provide for the appointment of such an officer in prescribed cases and may provide for the appointment of such an officer in other circumstances in which it appears to the Lord Chancellor to be necessary or expedient to do so<sup>11</sup>. Certain persons are ineligible for appointment<sup>12</sup>. Where an officer has been appointed he has the right at all reasonable times to examine and take copies of any records of, or held by, an adoption agency<sup>13</sup> which were compiled in connection with the making, or proposed making, by any person of any application<sup>14</sup> in respect of the child concerned<sup>15</sup>.

Where a parent or guardian of a child resides in England and Wales and is prepared to consent to the placement of the child for adoption<sup>16</sup> and, as the case may be, to consent to the making of a future adoption order<sup>17</sup>, the adoption agency must request CAFCASS to appoint an officer of the Service or the Welsh Ministers to appoint a Welsh family proceedings officer for the purposes of the signification by that officer of the consent to placement or to adoption by that parent or guardian<sup>18</sup>.

6    Ibid s 102(6)(b).

7    Ibid s 102(6)(c). As to applications for the making of adoption orders see para 361 ante.

10   Ibid s 102(2)(b).

11 Ibid s 102(1), (2) (s 102(1) amended by the Children Act 2004 Sch 3 para 16(2)). The rules may provide for the officer: (1) to act on behalf of the child upon the hearing of any relevant application (ie any of the applications listed in heads (1)-(4) in the text), with the duty of safeguarding the interests of the child in the prescribed manner (Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 102(3)(a)); (2) where the court so requests, to prepare a report on matters relating to the welfare of the child in question (s 102(3)(b)); (3) to witness documents which signify consent to placement or adoption (s 102(3)(c)); and (4) to perform prescribed functions (s 102(3)(d)). A report prepared in pursuance of the rules on matters relating to the welfare of a child must deal with prescribed matters (unless the court orders otherwise) (s 102(4)(a)) and be made in the manner required by the court (s 102(4)(b)). ## 6. SURROGACY ARRANGEMENTS

514. Meaning of 'surrogacy'.

Surrogacy is the practice whereby one woman carries a child for another with the intention that the child should be handed over at birth<sup>1</sup> to the commissioning couple and raised as their child. Surrogacy may be employed when the commissioning mother is either infertile or unable to carry a child.

Surrogacy can take various forms. 'Total' or 'gestational' surrogacy may occur when the commissioning mother donates an egg which is fertilised by sperm from the commissioning father before being implanted in the carrying mother. The commissioning couple are therefore the genetic parents of the child. 'Partial' surrogacy is achieved by artificial insemination of the carrying mother using the sperm of the commissioning father. In partial surrogacy the carrying mother is the genetic mother of the child. However, in both total and partial surrogacy the carrying mother is the legal mother of the child<sup>2</sup>.

The Surrogacy Arrangements Act 1985<sup>3</sup> regulates certain activities in connection with arrangements made with a view to women carrying children as surrogate mothers<sup>4</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/6. SURROGACY ARRANGEMENTS/515. Meaning of 'surrogate mother'.

515. Meaning of 'surrogate mother'.

A surrogate mother is a woman who carries a child in pursuance of an arrangement made before she began to carry the child<sup>1</sup>, and made with a view to any child carried in pursuance of it being handed over to, and the parental responsibility<sup>2</sup> being met, so far as practicable, by another person or other persons<sup>3</sup>.

The surrogate mother is treated as the legal parent of the child regardless of any surrogacy arrangement<sup>4</sup>, although the test to be applied by the court in determining any issue concerning the child's upbringing is that the welfare and best interests of the child are the first and paramount considerations<sup>5</sup>.

1 Surrogacy Arrangements Act 1985 s 1(2)(a). A woman who carries a child is to be treated for this purpose as beginning to carry the child at the time of the insemination, or of the placing in her of an embryo, of an egg in the process of fertilisation or of sperm and eggs, as the case may be, which results in her carrying the child: s 1(6) (amended by the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 s 36(2)). It is the gestational mother not the genetic mother who is treated as the mother of the child. Where an infertile woman receives a donated egg or embryo, which she carries to full term, she will be treated in law as the mother: see para 102 ante.

2 As to parental responsibility see paras 133-143 ante.

3 Surrogacy Arrangements Act 1985 s 1(2)(b) (amended by the Children Act 1989 s 108(5), Sch 13 para 56). An arrangement may be regarded as being made with such a view though subject to conditions relating to the handing over of a child: Surrogacy Arrangements Act 1985 s 1(5). For the meaning of 'surrogacy arrangement' see para 517 post.

4 See the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 s 27(1); and para 102 ante.

516. Effect of being treated as the 'mother' or 'father'.

A person who, pursuant to the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 is to be treated as the mother<sup>1</sup> or father<sup>2</sup> of a child is to be treated in law as the mother or, as the case may be, the father, for all purposes<sup>3</sup>. References to any relationship between two people in any enactment, deed, instrument or other document are to be construed accordingly<sup>4</sup>.

This does not apply to a deceased father who is to be treated as the father pursuant to the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 for the purposes of artificial insemination and birth registration<sup>5</sup>.

A man who is to be treated as the father of a child may apply under the Children Act 1989 for parental responsibility for the child<sup>6</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'mother' see para 102 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'father' see para 103 ante.

3 See the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 s 29(1); paras 102-103 ante. This means that a person who has no biological links with a child, but is treated as a father pursuant to that Act, may apply for orders in relation to the child under the Children Act 1989 s 8 9 (see para 247 et seq ante): Re R (contact: Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990) [2001] 1 FLR 247. See also para 106 ante.

4 See the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 s 29(3); and paras 102-103 ante.

5 See ibid s 29(2); and paras 102-103 ante.

517. Meaning of 'surrogacy arrangement'.

An arrangement is a surrogacy arrangement if, were a woman to whom the arrangement relates to carry a child in pursuance of it, she would be a surrogate mother<sup>1</sup>. In determining whether an arrangement is made with a view to the child's being handed over to, or parental responsibility being met by, any other person<sup>2</sup>, regard may be had to the circumstances as a whole, and in particular, where there is a promise or understanding that any payment<sup>3</sup> will or may be made to the woman or for her benefit in respect of the carrying of any child in pursuance of the arrangement, to that promise or understanding<sup>4</sup>.

No surrogacy arrangement is enforceable by or against any of the persons making it<sup>5</sup>. The Surrogacy Arrangements Act 1985 expressly applies to arrangements whether or not they are lawful<sup>6</sup>.

1 Surrogacy Arrangements Act 1985 s 1(3). For the meaning of 'surrogate mother' see para 515 ante.

2 See para 515 ante. As to parental responsibility see paras 133-143 ante.

4 Ibid s 1(4).

5 Ibid s 1A (added by the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 s 36(1)). However, the commissioning couple may apply for a parental order under the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 s 30 (see para 106 ante) once the child has been handed over by the surrogate mother in pursuance of a surrogacy arrangement. The commissioning couple may also apply for an adoption order: see paras 361-362 ante. See, however, the Scottish case of C and C (Petitioners and Respondents to Adopt X) [1997] Fam Law 9, Ct of Sess, in which it was held that there is nothing in the Adoption (Scotland) Act 1978 to suggest that a person who had breached the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 s 30(7)(c) (see para 106 ante) by paying money other than reasonable expenses was barred from obtaining an adoption order in relation to that child. Alternatively the commissioning couple may seek a residence order but this may be problematic if the issue became the removal of the child from the surrogate mother: Re W (a minor) (residence order: baby) [1992] 2 FCR 603, [1992] 2 FLR 332, CA. As to residence orders see para 262 ante. Before the implementation of the Children Act 1989 another mechanism by which the commissioning couple could try and obtain parental rights in relation to the child was by issuing a wardship summons to seek care and control of the child through the inherent jurisdiction of the High Court. However, it is unclear whether such an application would now succeed in wardship. As to wardship see paras 218-222 ante. As to the inherent jurisdiction of the High Court see para 200 ante.

Where a newspaper or periodical publishes an advertisement in the United Kingdom<sup>1</sup> containing an indication, however expressed:

 963 (2) that any person is looking for a woman willing to become a surrogate mother<sup>4</sup> or for persons wanting a woman to carry a child as a surrogate mother, any proprietor, editor or publisher of the newspaper or periodical is guilty of an offence<sup>5</sup>.

Where an advertisement containing such an indication is conveyed by means of an electronic communications network<sup>6</sup> so as to be seen or heard (or both) in the United Kingdom, any person who in the United Kingdom causes it to be so conveyed knowing it to contain such an indication is guilty of an offence<sup>7</sup>. A person who publishes or causes to be published in the United Kingdom an advertisement to which these provisions apply (not being an advertisement contained in a newspaper or periodical or conveyed by means of an electronic communications network) is guilty of an offence<sup>8</sup>.

A person who distributes or causes to be distributed in the United Kingdom an advertisement containing such an indication, not being an advertisement contained in a newspaper or periodical published outside the United Kingdom or an advertisement conveyed by means of an electronic communications network, knowing it to contain such an indication is guilty of an offence<sup>9</sup>.

A person guilty of any of the above offences is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>10</sup>.

'Non-profit making body' means a body of persons whose activities are not carried on for profit: Surrogacy Arrangements Act 1985 s 1(7A) (added by Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 2008 s 59(2)).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/6. SURROGACY ARRANGEMENTS/520. Acts done on a commercial basis.

520. Acts done on a commercial basis.

The making of surrogacy arrangements<sup>1</sup> on a commercial basis is specifically prohibited<sup>2</sup>. A person does an act on a commercial basis if:

- 971 (1) any payment<sup>3</sup> is at any time received by himself or another in respect of it<sup>4</sup>; or
- 972 (2) he does it with a view to any payment being received by himself or another in respect of making, or negotiating or facilitating the making of, any surrogacy arrangement<sup>5</sup>.

However, a person is not to be treated as doing an act on a commercial basis by reason of a payment received by another in respect of the act, if it is proved that:

- 973 (a) in a case where the payment was received before he did the act, he did not do the act knowing or having reasonable cause to suspect that any payment had been received in respect of it<sup>6</sup>; and
- 974 (b) in any case, he did not do the act with a view to any payment being received in respect of it<sup>7</sup>.

The court must be satisfied that no money or other benefit, other than for expenses reasonably incurred, has been given to or received by the husband or the wife in pursuance of the surrogacy arrangement unless authorised by the court<sup>8</sup>.

Surrogacy arrangements are unenforceable<sup>9</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'surrogacy arrangement' see para 517 ante.

2 See the Surrogacy Arrangements Act 1985 ss 2, 4 (as amended); and paras 519 ante, 527 post. As to the penalties applicable to offences under s 2 see para 519 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'payment' see para 517 note 3 ante. For the purposes of ibid s 2(3), payment does not include payment to or for the benefit of a surrogate mother or prospective surrogate mother: s 2(3). For the meaning of 'surrogate mother' see para 515 ante.

4 Ibid s 2(3)(a).

5 Ibid s 2(3)(b).

6 Ibid s 2(4)(a).

7 Ibid s 2(4)(b).

8 See the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 s 30(7); and para 106 note 14 ante. 'Expenses reasonably incurred' is not defined by the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990. The court has a discretion whether or not to authorise any payment which has already been made: see further para 106 note 14 ante.

9 See the Surrogacy Arrangements Act 1985 s 1A (as added); and para 517 ante. It follows that, although the payment of reasonable expenses in connection with bearing a child is permitted, a surrogate mother may not enforce an agreement for payment to her of expenses.

521. Licensing and regulation of surrogacy clinics and disclosure of information.

A body corporate, the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Authority, was set up under the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 for the purpose of licensing and regulating the keeping and use of embryos and gametes and the activities of surrogacy clinics<sup>1</sup>.

The authority may grant licences authorising:

- 975 (1) activities in the course of providing treatment service<sup>2</sup>;
- 976 (2) the storage of gametes and embryos<sup>3</sup>; and
- 977 (3) activities for the purposes of a project or research<sup>4</sup>.

The authority is required to keep a register containing information relating to the provision of services or the keeping or use of gametes or taking of embryos, in relation to identifiable individuals<sup>5</sup>. Information<sup>6</sup> may be made available from the authority to a person who is 18 in relation to whether a person other than a parent of the applicant might have been his parent but for the provisions of the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 and as to whether a person the applicant intends to marry might be related to him<sup>7</sup>. A court may also require the authority to disclose information where, in proceedings before the court, the question arises as to whether or not a person is the parent of a child by reason of the Human Embryology and Fertilisation Act 1990<sup>8</sup>.

The authority must communicate to the competent authorities of EEA states other than the United Kingdom or of Gibraltar, and to the European Commission, such information in relation to serious adverse events and serious adverse reactions as is necessary for the purpose of enabling appropriate action to be taken, including where necessary the withdrawal from use of gametes and embryos that are intended for human application but are known or suspected to be unsuitable for such application<sup>9</sup>.

522. Registration of birth and legal parenthood in relation to a baby born to a surrogate mother.

A birth must be registered within six weeks<sup>1</sup>. If the surrogate mother is married but her husband is prepared to state in writing that he did not give permission for the arrangement, the intended father may be named as the father<sup>2</sup>. If the surrogate is unmarried and the intended father is present when the birth is registered, he may be named as the father<sup>3</sup>. An intended father who is present at the registration of the birth and named on the birth certificate acquires parental responsibility for the child<sup>4</sup>.

523. Parental orders.

In certain circumstances<sup>1</sup> the court may make a parental order<sup>2</sup> so that a child carried by a woman other than the wife is to be treated in law as the child of the parties to a marriage<sup>3</sup>. The application must be made not less than six weeks or more than six months after the birth of the child<sup>4</sup>.

524. Surrogacy and adoption.

Where it is not possible to apply for a parental order<sup>1</sup>, such as where the birth mother withholds her agreement<sup>2</sup>, the time limit has passed<sup>3</sup> or neither of the commissioning adults is genetically related to the child<sup>4</sup>, intended parents may apply to adopt the child<sup>5</sup>.

A person who is neither an adoption agency<sup>6</sup> nor acting in pursuance of an order of the High Court must not take any of a number of steps in relation to adopting a child<sup>7</sup>, including receiving a child handed over to him by any person other than an adoption agency<sup>8</sup>. There is, however, an exception in a case where one of the prospective adopters is a parent of the child or where the prospective adopter is a partner of a parent of the child<sup>9</sup>.

Where adoption is not possible, it may be possible to apply for a residence order<sup>10</sup>. A residence order will not, however, extinguish the parental responsibility of the birth mother<sup>11</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'parental order' see para 106 note 17 ante.

2 As to the requirement to obtain the agreement of the woman who carried the child see the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 s 30(5); and para 106 ante.

525. Surrogacy and civil partnership.

The Civil Partnership Act 2004 set up a framework whereby same sex couples might register their partnership and achieve legal recognition of their relationship<sup>1</sup>. The Act does not amend the definition of 'parties to a marriage' in the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 to include parties to a registered civil partnership<sup>2</sup>. Civil partners may apply to adopt the child<sup>3</sup>. Failing adoption, civil partners may apply for a residence order<sup>4</sup>.

526. Foreign surrogacy.

Provided the other conditions are satisfied<sup>1</sup>, the court may make a parental order<sup>2</sup> if a child has been carried by a woman other than the wife as a result of the placing in her of an embryo or sperm and eggs or her artificial insemination otherwise than in the United Kingdom<sup>3</sup>.

If the woman who carried the child withholds her consent to the making of a parental order<sup>4</sup>, the intended parents will be in the position of seeking an adoption order<sup>5</sup>. If the child has been born abroad, the intended parents will then be subject to the restrictions relating to bringing a child into the jurisdiction for the purpose of adoption<sup>6</sup>.

527. General provisions as to offences.

No proceedings for any offence under the Surrogacy Arrangements Act 1985 may be instituted in England and Wales except by or with the consent of the Director of Public Prosecutions<sup>1</sup>.

The information must be laid within two years of commission of the offence<sup>2</sup>. Where an offence committed by a body corporate under the Surrogacy Arrangements Act 1985 is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of, or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of, any director, manager, secretary or other similar officer of the body corporate or any person who was purporting to act in any such capacity, he as well as the body corporate is guilty of the offence and liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly<sup>3</sup>.

No person may bring about the creation of an embryo or keep or use an embryo except pursuant to a licence<sup>4</sup>.

7. FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR CHILDREN

(1) IN GENERAL

528. Introduction.

At common law there is no enforceable<sup>1</sup> legal obligation on a father or mother to maintain a child unless the failure to do so would bring the case within the criminal law<sup>2</sup>. By statute, however, any person who has attained the age of 16 years and has responsibility for any child<sup>3</sup> or young person<sup>4</sup> under that age, and who wilfully assaults, ill-treats, neglects, abandons or exposes him, or causes or procures him to be assaulted, ill-treated, neglected, abandoned or exposed in a manner likely to cause him unnecessary suffering or injury to health<sup>5</sup>, commits an offence<sup>6</sup>. Any person who has parental responsibility for a child within the meaning of the Children Act 1989<sup>7</sup>, or is otherwise legally liable to maintain him, and any person who has care of him, is presumed for this purpose to have responsibility for the child or young person<sup>8</sup> and is deemed to have neglected a child or young person in manner likely to cause injury to his health if he has failed to provide adequate food, clothing, medical aid or lodging for him<sup>9</sup>. Apart from any legal obligation, the moral duty of a parent to maintain children has been recognised in cases involving entitlement to property<sup>10</sup>.

1 Although there is probably a common law duty on a parent to maintain a legitimate child there is no effective common law remedy to enforce that duty: see C v Surrey County Council [1994] 2 FCR 165, sub nom Re C (a minor) (contribution notice) [1994] 1 FLR 111.

2 Cooper v Martin (1803) 4 East 76 at 84; Bazeley v Forder (1868) LR 3 QB 559 at 565 per Cockburn CJ; Coldingham Parish Council v Smith [1918] 2 KB 90. For the relevant criminal offences see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) paras 143-145.

3 For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'young person' see para 3 ante.

5 This includes injury to or loss of sight, hearing, or limb, or organ of the body, and any mental derangement: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 1(1).

6 Ibid s 1(1) (amended by the Children Act 1989 s 108(4), (5), Sch 12 para 2, Sch 13 para 2). See further para 611 post. The word 'wilfully' qualifies all five verbs, and makes it clear that any offence under this provision requires mens rea, while the word 'neglect' refers to failure to act, in contrast to the other four verbs ('assaults', 'ill-treats', 'abandons' or 'exposes'), and, accordingly, the judicial explanations of the state of mind denoted by the statutory expression 'wilfully' in relation to the doing of a positive act are not necessarily wholly apt in relation to a failure to act at all: see R v Sheppard [1981] AC 394 at 403, [1980] 3 All ER 899 at 903, HL, per Lord Diplock. The proper direction to be given to a jury on a charge of wilful neglect by failing to provide medical aid is that the jury must be satisfied: (1) that the child did in fact need medical aid at the time at which the parent is charged with failing to provide it; and (2) either that the parent was aware at the time that the child's health might be at risk if it were not provided with medical aid, or that the parent's unawareness of this fact was due to his not caring whether his child's health was at risk or not: R v Sheppard supra at 408 and 906-907 per Lord Diplock.

7 For the meaning of 'parental responsibility' see para 134 ante.

8 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 17(1) (s 17 substituted by the Children Act 1989 Sch 13 para 5). Such a person is not to be taken to have ceased to be responsible for the child by reason only that he does not have care of him: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 17(2) (as so substituted).

The position will now usually be covered by statute: see the Trustee Act 1925 ss 31, 32 (both as amended); and paras 54, 63-66, 76-78 ante. ### 528 Introduction

NOTES--Certain functions under provisions mentioned in this paragraph are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3, see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

529. Relevance of parental responsibility.

Parental responsibility, as defined in the Children Act 1989<sup>1</sup>, includes the rights, duties, powers, responsibilities and authority which by law a parent of a child<sup>2</sup> has in relation to the child and his property<sup>3</sup>; but the fact that a person has, or does not have, parental responsibility is not conclusive of whether or not that person is under an enforceable obligation to provide support for the child, since the fact that a person has, or does not have, parental responsibility for a child does not affect any obligation which he may have in relation to the child (such as a statutory duty to maintain the child)<sup>4</sup>. Hence, the father of an illegitimate<sup>5</sup> child is under a statutory obligation to maintain the child, whether or not he has parental responsibility for the child<sup>6</sup>; and step-parents and others may be ordered to make payments in proceedings under the Children Act 1989<sup>7</sup> or otherwise<sup>8</sup>. Moreover, legislation making specific provision for the payment of child support<sup>9</sup> provides that each parent of a qualifying child is responsible for maintaining him, and creates machinery whereby maintenance obligations are to be assessed and enforced<sup>10</sup>.

The fact that a person has parental responsibility does not necessarily involve that person in any personal obligation to provide support for the child. Thus, although a child's guardian<sup>11</sup> has parental responsibility for the child, the legislation contains no provision whereby a guardian can, as such, be made liable to provide support for the child out of the guardian's own resources<sup>12</sup>. Similar provision is made as regards a special guardian of a child<sup>13</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'parental responsibility' see para 134 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

3 See the Children Act 1989 s 3(1); and para 134 ante. The court has power to grant injunctive relief to exclude a third party from property in which he has a proprietary interest where his behaviour interferes with the rights of a person with parental responsibility to exercise that responsibility appropriately: C v K (ouster order: non-parent) [1996] 3 FCR 488, sub nom C v K (inherent powers: exclusion order) [1996] 2 FLR 506.

Note that the step-parent must be married or be in a civil partnership (or have been married or in a civil partnership) with the other parent and must have treated the child as a child of the family in order to bring them within the scope of this provision: see Sch 1 para 16(2); and para 539 post. 530. Liability to provide support for a child.

There are a number of provisions under which a person may be required to make financial payments in respect of a child. First, there may be liability under social security legislation in cases in which certain welfare benefits have been paid<sup>1</sup>. Secondly, there may be a liability to make contributions in respect of children who are being looked after by a local authority<sup>2</sup>. Thirdly, orders for financial relief may be made in proceedings under the Children Act 1989<sup>3</sup>. Fourthly, financial provision and property adjustment orders may be made in divorce and certain other matrimonial and civil partnership proceedings<sup>4</sup>. Finally, liability may arise under the legislation relating to the payment of child support<sup>5</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/7. FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR CHILDREN/(2) LIABILITY UNDER SOCIAL SECURITY LEGISLATION/531. Liable relatives.

(2) LIABILITY UNDER SOCIAL SECURITY LEGISLATION

531. Liable relatives.

For the purposes of the statutory provisions of the Social Security Administration Act 1992 dealing with income-based benefits and the duty to maintain<sup>1</sup>, a man is liable to maintain his wife or civil partner and any children<sup>2</sup> of whom he is the father and a woman is liable to maintain her husband or civil partner and any children of whom she is the mother<sup>3</sup>. An adopted child is for these purposes treated as the child of the adoptive parents<sup>4</sup>. The liability which arises under these provisions is in terms confined to liability for the purpose of the specified statutory provisions, which are concerned largely with the recovery of social fund payments<sup>5</sup>, income support and income-based jobseeker's allowance (and, as from a day to be appointed, income-related employment and support allowance<sup>6</sup>) paid by reference to the circumstances of the children concerned<sup>7</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>8</sup> may recover a social fund award in these circumstances from any person who is liable to maintain the person by or on behalf of whom the application for the award was made or any person in relation to whose needs the award was made<sup>9</sup>. If income support is claimed by or in respect of a person whom another person is liable to maintain by reason of these provisions, the Secretary of State may make a complaint against the liable person to a magistrates' court for an order<sup>10</sup>. On the hearing of the complaint, the court must have regard to all the circumstances, particularly the income of the liable person, and may order him to pay such sum, weekly or otherwise, as it may consider appropriate<sup>11</sup>. Payments so ordered are payable to:

- 978 (1) the Secretary of State, in so far as they are attributable to any income support<sup>12</sup>;
- 979 (2) the person claiming income support or, if different, the dependant<sup>13</sup>; or
- 980 (3) such other person as appears to the court expedient in the interests of the dependant<sup>14</sup>.

The court may regard the terms of a divorce court order, or other court order, as being one of the circumstances which it may take into account in deciding whether to make an order, and in settling the terms of such an order; and it appears that the court may take into consideration the whole of the terms of a consent order<sup>15</sup>. The fact that a consent order has been made on terms which may benefit the children (perhaps the transfer of the family home) would accordingly seem to be one of the circumstances which the court may take into account, but the existence of an agreement or consent order under which the wife's right to periodical payments is extinguished, and only a nominal order is made for the children, is not a bar to the exercise by the court of its statutory power to order reimbursement of sums paid by way of income support<sup>16</sup>.

2 'Child' includes a person who has attained the age of 16 but not the age of 19 and in respect of whom either parent, or some person acting in the place of either parent, is receiving income support or an income-based jobseeker's allowance: ibid s 78(6)(d) (amended by the Jobseekers Act 1995 s 41(4), Sch 2 para 51);

Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 105(3) (amended by the Jobseekers Act 1995 Sch 2 para 53(1), (3)). As to income support see SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS vol 44(2) (Reissue) para 176 et seq. As to income-based jobseeker's allowance see SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS vol 44(2) (Reissue) para 258 et seq. References to children of whom the man or woman is the father or mother are to be construed in accordance with the Family Law Reform Act 1987 s 1 (see para 125 ante): Social Security Administration Act 1992 ss 78(7), 105(3) (as so amended).

3 Ibid ss 78(6)(a), (b) (s 78(6)(a), (b) amended by the Civil Partnership Act 2004 s 254(1), Sch 24 para 61(1), (4); Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 105(3) (amended by the Jobseekers Act 1995 Sch 2 para 53(2), (3)); Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 105(4) (added by the Jobseekers Act 1995 Sch 2 para 53(4); amended by the Civil Partnership Act 2004 Sch 24 para 62; and prospectively amended by the Welfare Reform Act 2007 s 28(1), Sch 3 para 10(1), (10)(b)). At the date at which this volume states the law no day had been appointed for the coming into force of the amendment made by the Welfare Reform Act 2007. These provisions have the result that the word 'child' includes legitimate, illegitimate and legitimated children as well as children entitled to be treated as legitimate. As to the status of children see para 125 et seq ante.

It is also provided that a person is liable to maintain another person throughout any period in respect of which he has given an undertaking in accordance with specified provisions of the Immigration Rules within the meaning of the Immigration Act 1971: Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 78(6)(c). As to such undertakings see BRITISH NATIONALITY, IMMIGRATION AND ASYLUM vol 4(2) (2002 Reissue) para 99; and as to the Immigration Rules see BRITISH NATIONALITY, IMMIGRATION AND ASYLUM vol 4(2) (2002 Reissue) para 86.

5 As to the recovery of social fund payments see the Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 78 (as amended); and SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS vol 44(2) (Reissue) para 236.

6 Employment and support allowance is introduced by the Welfare Reform Act 2007 Pt 1 (ss 1-29) (not yet in force).

11 See ibid s 106(2); and SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS vol 44(2) (Reissue) para 398. Such an order is enforceable as a magistrates' court maintenance order (within the meaning of the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 150(1) (as amended): see MAGISTRATES vol 29(2) (Reissue) para 823): Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 106(5). However, where the case falls within s 78(6)(c) (see note 3 supra), that sum may not include amounts which are not attributable to income support, whether paid before or after the order is made: s 106(2). In determining whether or not to order payments in respect of income support for any period before the making of the complaint, or the amount of any such payments, the court must disregard any amount by which the liable person's income exceeds his income during that period: s 106(3).

532. Additional amounts.

In any case where a claim for income support<sup>1</sup> is or was made by a parent of one or more children<sup>2</sup> in respect of both himself and those children<sup>3</sup>, and the other parent is liable to maintain those children but, by virtue of not being the claimant's spouse or civil partner is not liable to maintain the claimant<sup>4</sup>, the sum which the court<sup>5</sup> may order the other parent to pay may include an amount determined in accordance with regulations in respect of any income support paid to or for the claimant by virtue of prescribed provisions<sup>6</sup>. That amount has been prescribed<sup>7</sup> as the whole of the following amounts which are payable to or for the claimant:

- 981 (1) any personal allowance<sup>8</sup> for each of the children whom the other parent is liable to maintain<sup>9</sup>;
- 982 (2) any family premium<sup>10</sup>;
- 983 (3) any lone parent premium<sup>11</sup>;
- 984 (4) any disabled child premium<sup>12</sup> in respect of a child whom the other parent is liable to maintain<sup>13</sup>; and
- 985 (5) any carer premium<sup>14</sup>.

Moreover, if the court is satisfied that in addition to the amounts thus specified the liable parent has the means to pay, the court may order him to pay all or some of the amount of any personal allowance payable to or for the claimant<sup>15</sup>. In effect, therefore, the court may include an element calculated by reference to the personal allowance paid to the claimant; but if this power is exercised, the order must separately identify the amount of the personal allowance element<sup>16</sup>.

533. Transfer of orders.

In any case where:

- 986 (1) there is an order<sup>1</sup> in force against a person ('the liable parent') who is the parent of one or more children<sup>2</sup>, in respect of the other parent or the children<sup>3</sup>;
- 987 (2) the payments under the order fall<sup>4</sup> to be made to the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup>; and
- 988 (3) the other parent ('the dependent parent') ceases to claim income support<sup>6</sup>, then the Secretary of State may, by giving notice in writing to the court<sup>7</sup> which made the order and to the liable parent and the dependent parent, transfer to the dependent parent the right to receive the payments under the order, exclusive of any personal allowance element, and to exercise the relevant rights<sup>8</sup> in relation to the order, except so far as relating to that element<sup>9</sup>. Moreover, no such notice may be given<sup>10</sup> at a time when there is in force a maintenance order<sup>11</sup> made against the liable parent in favour of the dependent parent or one or more of the children, or in favour of some other person for the benefit of the dependent parent or one or more of the children<sup>12</sup>. There are provisions for retransfer of the right to enforce the order if the dependent parent makes a subsequent claim for income support<sup>13</sup>.

The Secretary of State is empowered to enforce an existing maintenance order made in favour of a lone parent claimant of income support<sup>14</sup>.

Introduction.

(3) LIABILITY FOR CHILDREN LOOKED AFTER BY LOCAL AUTHORITY

535. Introduction.

The Children Act 1989 requires local authorities<sup>1</sup> to provide accommodation for children<sup>2</sup> in need<sup>3</sup>, and also empowers the court<sup>4</sup> to make a care order in respect of a child in favour of a local authority<sup>5</sup>, to make a residence order in respect of a child<sup>6</sup> pursuant to which a local authority may<sup>7</sup> be required to make contributions towards the cost of the child's accommodation and maintenance<sup>8</sup>, and to make a special guardianship order in respect of a child<sup>9</sup> pursuant to which a local authority is required (in the form of special guardianship support services) to provide financial support for the person or persons in whose favour the order has been made<sup>10</sup>: the Act accordingly contains provisions dealing with contributions to the maintenance of any child who is looked after by a local authority<sup>11</sup>. Where a local authority is looking after a child other than in certain limited circumstances<sup>12</sup> it must consider whether it should recover contributions towards the child's maintenance<sup>13</sup> from any person liable to contribute ('a contributor')<sup>14</sup>. However, an authority may recover contributions from a contributor only if it considers it reasonable to do so<sup>15</sup>. The persons liable to contribute are, where the child is under 16, each of his parents, and, where he has reached the age of 16, the child himself<sup>16</sup>. A parent is not liable to contribute during any period when he is in receipt of income support<sup>17</sup>, of any element of child tax credit (other than the family element), of working tax credit, of an income-based jobseeker's allowance<sup>18</sup> or, as from a day to be appointed, income-related employment and support allowance<sup>19</sup>; nor is a person liable to contribute towards the maintenance of a child in the care of a local authority in respect of any period during which the child is allowed by the authority<sup>20</sup> to live with a parent of his<sup>21</sup>. A contributor is not obliged to make any contribution towards the child's maintenance except as agreed or determined in accordance with the relevant provisions<sup>22</sup> of the Children Act 1989<sup>23</sup>.

The Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers<sup>24</sup> may make regulations as to the considerations which a local authority must take into account in deciding whether it is reasonable to recover contributions and what the arrangements for payment should be<sup>25</sup> and as to the procedures a local authority must follow in reaching agreements with contributors<sup>26</sup> and any other local authority<sup>27</sup>.

14 Ibid Sch 2 para 21(1). The local authority must also consider whether to recover the cost to it of providing services to a child in need (other than services by way of advice, guidance or counselling) from the child's parents, the child himself (if over the age of 16) or, in certain circumstances, from a member of the child's family: see s 29(1), (4); and para 934 post.

Contribution notices and agreements.

536. Contribution notices and agreements.

If a local authority<sup>1</sup> decides to recover contributions towards a child's<sup>2</sup> maintenance<sup>3</sup> it must serve a contribution notice on the contributor<sup>4</sup> specifying the weekly sum which it considers that he should contribute, and the arrangements for payment<sup>5</sup>. The notice must be in writing and dated<sup>6</sup>. Arrangements for payment must, in particular, include:

- 989 (1) the date on which liability to contribute begins<sup>7</sup>;
- 990 (2) the date on which liability under the notice will end (if the child has not before that date ceased to be looked after by the authority)<sup>8</sup>; and
- 991 (3) the date on which the first payment is to be made<sup>9</sup>.

The authority may specify in the contribution notice a weekly sum which is a standard contribution determined by it for all children looked after by it<sup>10</sup>. However, the authority may not specify in a contribution notice a weekly sum greater than that which it considers it would normally be prepared to pay if it had placed a similar child with local authority foster parents<sup>11</sup> and it is reasonably practicable for the contributor to pay having regard to his means<sup>12</sup>. An authority may at any time withdraw a contribution notice without prejudice to its power to serve another<sup>13</sup>, although an authority may not seek a contribution order in respect of a contribution notice that it has withdrawn<sup>14</sup>.

Where the authority and the contributor agree the sum which the contributor is to contribute and arrangements for payment (whether as specified in the contribution notice or otherwise), and the contributor notifies the authority in writing that he so agrees, the authority may recover summarily as a civil debt any contribution which is overdue and unpaid<sup>15</sup>. By serving a notice in writing on the authority, a contributor may withdraw his agreement in relation to any period of liability falling after the date of service of the notice<sup>16</sup>.

537. Contribution orders.

Where a contributor<sup>1</sup> has been served with a contribution notice<sup>2</sup> and has failed to reach an agreement with the local authority<sup>3</sup> within the period of one month beginning with the day on which the contribution notice was served, or the contributor has served a notice<sup>4</sup> withdrawing his agreement, the authority may apply to the court<sup>5</sup> for an order<sup>6</sup>. On such an application the court may make a contribution order requiring the contributor to contribute a weekly sum towards the child's<sup>7</sup> maintenance in accordance with arrangements for payments specified by the court<sup>8</sup>. A contribution order must not specify a weekly sum greater than that specified in the contribution notice, and must be made with due regard to the contributor's means<sup>9</sup>. The order must not take effect before the date specified in the contribution notice, nor must it have effect while the contributor is not liable to contribute<sup>10</sup>, nor must it remain in force after the child has ceased to be looked after by the local authority<sup>11</sup> which obtained the order<sup>12</sup>.

A local authority may not apply to the court for a contribution order in relation to a contribution notice which it has withdrawn<sup>13</sup>. Where a contribution order is in force, the authority serves another contribution notice, and the contributor and the authority reach an agreement<sup>14</sup> in respect of that other contribution notice, the effect of the agreement is to discharge the order from the date on which the agreement is to take effect<sup>15</sup>. Where such an agreement is reached, the authority must notify the court of the agreement and the date on which it is to take effect<sup>16</sup>.

A contribution order may be varied or revoked on the application of the contributor or the local authority<sup>17</sup>. In proceedings for the variation of a contribution order the local authority must specify the weekly sum which it proposes the contributor should contribute under the order as varied and the proposed arrangements for payment<sup>18</sup>. A contribution order as varied may not specify a weekly sum greater than that specified in the contribution notice and must be made with due regard to the contributor's means<sup>19</sup>.

538. Enforcement.

A contribution order<sup>1</sup> made by a magistrates' court<sup>2</sup> is enforceable as a magistrates' court maintenance order<sup>3</sup>. Where a contributor<sup>4</sup> has agreed, or has been ordered, to make contributions to a local authority<sup>5</sup>, any other local authority<sup>6</sup> within whose area the contributor is for the time being living may:

- 992 (1) at the request of the local authority who served the contribution notice<sup>7</sup>; and collect from the contributor any contributions due on behalf of the local authority who served the notice<sup>9</sup>.
- 993 (2) subject to agreement as to any sum to be deducted in respect of services rendered<sup>8</sup>,

The power to collect sums due under a contribution order or contribution agreement includes the power to receive and give a discharge for any contributions due and, if necessary, enforce payment of any contributions even though those contributions may have fallen due at a time when the contributor was living elsewhere<sup>10</sup>. Any contribution collected must be paid, subject to any agreed deduction, to the local authority who served the contribution notice<sup>11</sup>. In any proceedings for enforcement<sup>12</sup> a document which purports to be a copy of a contribution order made by a court<sup>13</sup> and is certified as a true copy by the designated officer for the court is evidence of the order<sup>14</sup>, and a certificate which purports to be signed<sup>15</sup> by the clerk or some other duly authorised officer of the local authority who obtained the contribution order, and states that any sum due to the authority under the order is overdue and unpaid, is evidence that the sum is overdue and unpaid<sup>16</sup>.

(4) OTHER FINANCIAL PROVISIONS UNDER THE

539. Orders for financial relief.

The Children Act 1989 contains extensive powers under which the court<sup>1</sup> may make orders for financial relief for the benefit of a child<sup>2</sup>. The court may make an order<sup>3</sup> on an application made by:

- 994 (1) a parent<sup>4</sup> (including a step-parent<sup>5</sup>) of the child<sup>6</sup>;
- 995 (2) a guardian of the child<sup>7</sup>;
- 996 (3) a special guardian of a child<sup>8</sup>; or
- 997 (4) any person in whose favour a residence order<sup>9</sup> is in force with respect to a child<sup>10</sup>.

In addition, the court may exercise any of its powers to make financial orders even though no application has been made to it where the child is a ward of court<sup>11</sup>, or where the court makes, varies or discharges either a residence order or a special guardianship order<sup>12</sup>.

In the case of an application to the High Court or a county court, the court may make one or more of the following orders<sup>13</sup>:

- 998 (a) an order requiring either or both parents of a child to make to the applicant for the benefit of the child, or to make to the child himself, such periodical payments<sup>14</sup>, for such term, as may be specified in the order<sup>15</sup>;
- 999 (b) an order requiring either or both parents of a child to secure to the applicant for the benefit of the child, or to secure to the child himself, such periodical payments, for such term, as may be so specified<sup>16</sup>;
- 1000 (c) an order requiring either, or both parents of a child to pay to the applicant for the benefit of the child, or to pay to the child himself such lump sum as may be so specified<sup>17</sup>;
- 1001 (d) an order requiring a settlement to be made for the benefit of the child, and to the satisfaction of the court, of property to which either parent is entitled (either in possession or in reversion) and which is specified in the order<sup>18</sup>;
- 1002 (e) an order requiring either or both parents of a child to transfer to the applicant for the benefit of the child or to transfer to the child himself such property to which the parent is, or the parents are, entitled (either in possession or in reversion) as may be specified in the order<sup>19</sup>.

In the case of an application to a magistrates' court, the court's powers are limited to those mentioned in head (a) and head (c) above<sup>20</sup>.

The powers conferred by these provisions may be exercised at any time<sup>21</sup>.

The procedure governing such applications is prescribed<sup>22</sup> but parties are encouraged in appropriate cases to seek alternative directions that financial information be exchanged by the use of the appropriate forms<sup>23</sup>, that any questionnaires be limited to those directed by the court<sup>24</sup> and that the parties agree to attend a hearing akin to a Financial Dispute Resolution Appointment<sup>25</sup>.

1 As to the meaning of 'the court' for the purposes of the Children Act 1989 see para 208 ante.

2 See ibid Sch 1 (as amended); the text and notes 3-25 infra; and paras 540-551 post. For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante. An order under the Children Act 1989 Sch 1 (as amended) has effect as specified in Sch 1 (as amended): s 91(9). 'For the benefit of' means no more than 'for the good of' (Re B (child: property transfer) [1999] 3 FCR 266, [1999] 2 FLR 418, CA (concerning the comparable provisions of the Guardianship of Minors Act 1971 s 11B (now repealed))) and those words are to be given a 'wide construction' and can include travel costs to visit a child resident abroad or the costs of legal proceedings abroad concerning the child (see Re S (child: financial provision) [2004] EWCA Civ 1685 at [19], [2005] Fam 316 at [19], [2005] 2 FLR 94 at [19] per Thorpe LJ). For an example of where ongoing legal costs were held not to be 'for the benefit of the child' see W v J (child: variation of financial provision) [2003] EWHC 2657 (Fam), [2004] 2 FLR 300 (but see the observations thereon in Re S (child: financial provision) supra).

3 The orders which the court may make are those under the Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 1(2) (see heads (a)-(e) in the text; and notes 15-19 infra). For the circumstances in which a person who has reached the age of 18 may apply for an order for periodical payments against a parent see para 544 post.

4 For these purposes, 'parent' must be construed without regard to the child's legitimacy or illegitimacy: see ibid s 2(3); the Family Law Reform Act 1987 s 1; and para 125 note 3 ante.

5 For the purposes of the Children Act 1989 Sch 1 (other than Sch 1 paras 2, 15), 'parent' includes any party to a marriage (whether or not subsisting), and any civil partner in a civil partnership (whether or not subsisting), in relation to whom the child concerned is a child of the family; and any reference to either parent or both parents is to be construed as a reference to any parent of the child and to all of his parents: s 15(1), Sch 1 para 16(2) (s 15(1) amended by the Courts and Legal Services Act 1990 s 116, Sch 16 para 10(1); and the Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 16(2) substituted by the Civil Partnership Act 2004 s 78(1), (4)). For the meaning of 'child of the family' see para 248 note 10 ante. However, there is no power to make orders against a person who has lived with the parent of a child outside of a marriage or civil partnership, whatever the length of his relationship with the child: J v J (property transfer application) [1993] 1 FCR 471, sub nom J v J (a minor: property transfer) [1993] 2 FLR 56. As to the circumstances in which a father who donates sperm to be artificially inseminated can be said to be receiving treatment services together with the mother (within the meaning of the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 s 28: see paras 103-104 ante) such that he may be deemed to be a parent for the purposes of the Children Act 1989 Sch 1 (as amended) see Re B (minors) (parentage) [1996] 3 FCR 697, [1996] 2 FLR 15. 8 Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 1(1) (as amended: see note 7 supra). For the meaning of 'special guardian', and as to the effect of a 'special guardianship order', see ss 14A-14F (as added); and paras 151-154 ante.

12 Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 1(6) (as amended: see note 7 supra).

13 Ibid Sch 1 para 1(1)(a). Any reference in the Children Act 1989 to the powers of the court under Sch 1 para 1(2) (see the text and notes 14-25 infra) or to an order made under Sch 1 para 1(2) includes a reference to the powers which the court has by virtue of Sch 1 para 14(1) (financial provision where a child is resident in a country outside England and Wales: see para 540 post) or, as the case may be, to an order made by virtue of Sch 1 para 14(1): Sch 1 para 14(2).

14 Where the High Court or a county court decides to make an order under the Children Act 1989 for the securing of periodical payments or for the transfer or settlement of property, it may direct that the matter be referred to one of the conveyancing counsel of the court to settle a proper instrument to be executed by all necessary parties: ibid Sch 1 para 13. As to the conveyancing counsel of the court see SALE OF LAND vol 42 (Reissue) para 136. The exercise of the court's powers in relation to periodical payment orders is restricted by the Child Support Act 1991 s 8 (as amended) (see paras 556, 560 post).

16 Ibid Sch 1 para 1(2)(b).

17 Ibid Sch 1 para 1(2)(c). The order may provide for the payment of the lump sum by instalments: Sch 1 para 5(5). Without prejudice to the generality of Sch 1 para 1 (as amended), an order for the payment of a lump sum may be made for the purpose of enabling any liabilities or expenses incurred in connection with the birth of the child or in maintaining the child, and reasonably incurred before the making of the order, to be met: Sch 1 para 5(1). See E v G (lump sum order: bankruptcy) [1997] 1 FCR 261, sub nom Re G (Children Act 1989, Schedule 1) [1996] 2 FLR 171 (the court has jurisdiction to make a lump sum order against a parent who has been made the subject of a bankruptcy order). See also J v C (child: financial provision) [1998] 3 FCR 79, [1999] 1 FLR 152 (a child is entitled to be brought up in circumstances which bear some sort of relationship with the father's current resources and his present standard of living); Re P (child: financial provision) [2003] EWCA Civ 837, [2003] 2 FCR 481, [2003] 2 FLR 865 (the scale of the father's wealth and his lifestyle were important considerations in determining appropriate accommodation for the applicant mother, and the meaning of 'liabilities' and 'expenses' falling within the Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 5(1) is to be 'broadly construed'). As to the importance of the parties' standard of living see also F v G (child: financial provision) [2004] EWHC 1848 (Fam), [2005] 1 FLR 261. The power to make a lump sum order is not to be exercised in such a way as to cure any defects in the assessment of a father to pay child maintenance to a mother made pursuant to the Child Support Act 1991: see Phillips v Peace [1996] 2 FCR 237, [1996] 2 FLR 230.

18 Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 1(2)(d). See note 14 supra.

19 Ibid Sch 1 para 1(2)(e). See note 14 supra. Where an order would not interfere with a right of occupation, the question as to where a child should live is usually suitable for determination on an application for a specific issue order (see para 263 ante): Re F (minors) (1994) 26 HLR 354, CA.

20 Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 1(1)(b). The exercise of the court's powers in relation to periodical payment orders is restricted by the Child Support Act 1991 s 8 (as amended): see paras 556, 560 post. Where a magistrates' court is minded to make an order which has not been applied for, it must give the parties an opportunity to make representations before the order is actually made: Re C (a minor) (financial provision: lump sum order) [1994] 2 FCR 1122, [1995] 1 FLR 925. The amount of any lump sum required to be paid by an order made by a magistrates' court may not exceed £1,000 or such larger amount as may from time to time be fixed by order: Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 5(2) (amended by the Constitutional Reform Act 2005 s 15(1), Sch 4 paras 203, 209(1), (2); and the Transfer of Functions (Magistrates' Courts and Family Law) Order 1992, SI 1992/709, art 3, Sch 2). The order may provide for the payment of the lump sum by instalments: Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 5(5). At the date at which this volume states the law no order had been made under these provisions.

21 Ibid Sch 1 para 1(3). As to the position regarding applications for further orders for periodical payments, lump sums and settlement or transfer of property orders see para 543 post.

542. Variation and discharge of orders.

Orders for periodical payments<sup>1</sup> (whether secured or unsecured) by a parent<sup>2</sup> may be varied or discharged by a subsequent order made on the application of any person by or to whom payments were required to be made under the previous order<sup>3</sup>, and the power to vary or discharge an order for the making or securing of periodical payments by a parent includes power to make an order for the payment of a lump sum by that parent<sup>4</sup>. Where the court<sup>5</sup> provides for payment of a lump sum by instalments it may, on an application made either by the person liable to pay or the person entitled to receive that sum, vary the order by varying the number of instalments payable, the amount of any instalment payable and the date on which any instalment becomes payable<sup>6</sup>. In certain prescribed circumstances the child may also apply to revive an order that has expired by effluxion of time and upon its revival any such order may be varied as to its terms<sup>7</sup>; there is, however, no general power to review or vary a property adjustment order<sup>8</sup> or a lump sum order other than a lump sum payable by instalments<sup>9</sup>.

After the death of either parent, a guardian<sup>10</sup> or special guardian<sup>11</sup> of the child<sup>12</sup> concerned may apply for the variation or discharge of the order<sup>13</sup>. Where the parent liable to make payments under a secured periodical payments order<sup>14</sup> has died, the persons who may apply for the variation or discharge of the order include the personal representatives of the deceased parent<sup>15</sup>, but no application for the variation of the order, except with the permission of the court, may be made after the end of the period of six months from the date on which representation in regard to the estate of that parent is first taken out<sup>16</sup>.

In exercising its powers to vary or discharge an order for the making or securing of periodical payments, the court must have regard to all the circumstances in the case, including any change in any of the matters to which the court was required to have regard when making the order<sup>17</sup> and including changed circumstances resulting from the death of a parent<sup>18</sup>. The power of the court to vary an order for the making of periodical payments whether secured or unsecured includes power to suspend any provision of the order temporarily and to revive any provision so suspended<sup>19</sup>. Where the court, on an application for the variation or discharge of an order, varies the payment required to be made, it may provide that the payments as so varied are to be made from such date as it may specify, not being earlier than the date of the making of the application<sup>20</sup>.

Where an order<sup>21</sup> for the making or securing of periodical payments in favour of more than one child is in force requiring payments specified in it to be made to or for the benefit of more than one child without apportioning those payments between them, a maintenance calculation is made<sup>22</sup> with respect to one or more, but not all, of the children with respect to whom those payments are to be made, and an application is made, before the end of the period of six months beginning with the date on which the maintenance calculation was made, for the variation or discharge of the order, the court may<sup>23</sup> direct that the variation or discharge is to take effect from the date on which the maintenance calculation took effect or any later date<sup>24</sup>.

The power of a magistrates' court to vary an order for the making of periodical payments<sup>25</sup> or to vary an order for the payment of a lump sum by instalments<sup>26</sup> includes power, if the court is satisfied that payment has not been made in accordance with the order, to exercise one of its statutory powers<sup>27</sup> to specify the means of payment<sup>28</sup>. In any case where a magistrates' court has made an order for the making of periodical payments or for the payment of a lump sum by instalments<sup>29</sup>, and payments under the order are required to be made by specified methods of payment<sup>30</sup>, any person entitled to make an application for the variation of the order ('the applicant') may apply to a magistrates court acting in the same local justice area as the court which made the order for the order to be varied<sup>31</sup>. Where such an application is made, a justices' clerk, after giving written notice (by post or otherwise) of the application to any interested party<sup>32</sup> and allowing that party, within the period of 14 days beginning with the date of the giving of that notice, an opportunity to make written representations, may vary the order to provide that payments under the order are to be made to the designated officer for the court<sup>33</sup>. The clerk may proceed with the application notwithstanding that any such interested party has not received written notice of the application<sup>34</sup>. If the clerk considers it inappropriate to exercise his power to vary the order, he may refer the matter to the court, which may vary the order<sup>35</sup>, having regard to any representations made by the parties to the application<sup>36</sup>. None of the powers of the court referred to above, or of a justices' clerk, is exercisable in relation to an order for the making of periodical payments, or for the payment of a lump sum by instalments, which is not a qualifying maintenance order<sup>37</sup>.

16   Ibid Sch 1 para 7(2). The personal representatives of a deceased person against whom a secured periodical payments order was made are not liable for having distributed any part of the estate of the deceased after the end of the period of six months referred to in the text on the ground that they ought to have taken into account the possibility that the court might permit an application for variation to be made after that period by the person entitled to payments under the order (Sch 1 para 7(3)); this does not prejudice any power to recover any part of the estate so distributed arising by virtue of the variation of an order in accordance with Sch 1 para 7 (Sch 1 para 7(4)). In considering the question of when representation was first taken out, a grant limited to settled land or to trust property must be left out of account and a grant limited to real estate or to personal estate must be left out of account unless a grant limited to the remainder of the estate has previously been made or is made at the same time: Sch 1 para 7(6).

543. Further orders.

Where a court<sup>1</sup> makes a financial relief order under the Children Act 1989<sup>2</sup> it may at any time make a further order for periodical payments (whether secured or unsecured) or for a lump sum<sup>3</sup>, provided the child<sup>4</sup> concerned has not reached the age of 18 years<sup>5</sup>; but it may not make more than one order for a settlement or transfer of property<sup>6</sup> against the same person in respect of the same child<sup>7</sup>. An application for a lump sum<sup>8</sup> for the purpose of housing a child during his minority will not be permitted where there has previously been an order for the settlement<sup>9</sup> or transfer<sup>10</sup> of property in respect of that child<sup>11</sup>.

544. Orders for financial relief for persons over 18.

If, on an application by a person who has reached the age of 18 years, it appears to the court<sup>1</sup> that the applicant is, will be or (if an order were made) would be receiving instruction at an educational establishment or undergoing training for a trade, profession or vocation whether or not while in gainful employment<sup>2</sup>, or that there are special circumstances which justify the making of an order<sup>3</sup>, the court may make one or both of the following orders:

- 1003 (1) an order requiring either or both of the applicant's parents<sup>4</sup> to pay to the applicant such periodical payments, for such term, as may be specified in the order<sup>5</sup>; and
- 1004 (2) an order requiring either or both of the applicant's parents to pay to the applicant such lump sum as may be so specified<sup>6</sup>.

However, an application may not be made by any person if immediately before he reached the age of 16 years a periodical payments order<sup>7</sup> was in force with respect to him<sup>8</sup>; and no order may be made at a time when the parents of the applicant are living with each other in the same household<sup>9</sup>.

An order for periodical payments made under head (1) above may be varied or discharged by a subsequent order made on the application of any person by or to whom payments were required to be made under the previous order<sup>10</sup>.

The power to make an order is exercisable at any time<sup>11</sup>; and where the court makes an order for financial relief for persons over 18 years of age<sup>12</sup>, it may from time to time while that order remains in force make a further such order<sup>13</sup>.

No liability under these provisions may be imposed on anyone other than a parent of the child, and the extended definition of 'parent' (which includes any party to a marriage in relation to whom the child concerned is a child of the family<sup>14</sup>) is disappplied for the purpose of applications by a child over the age of 18 years<sup>15</sup>.

- 6 Ibid Sch 1 para 2(2)(b).
- 7 'Periodical payments order' means an order for the making or securing of periodical payments under ibid Sch 1 (as amended), the Matrimonial Causes Act 1973 s 23 (as amended) (see MATRIMONIAL AND CIVIL PARTNERSHIP LAW vol 72 (2009) PARA 458 et seq), or s 27 (as amended) (see MATRIMONIAL AND CIVIL PARTNERSHIP LAW vol 73 (2009) PARA 542 et seq), the Domestic Proceedings and Magistrates' Courts Act 1978 Pt I (ss 1-35) (as amended) (see MATRIMONIAL AND CIVIL PARTNERSHIP LAW vol 73 (2009) PARA 553 et seq), or the Civil Partnership Act 2004 Sch 5 Pt 1, Sch 5 Pt 9 or Sch 6 (see MATRIMONIAL AND CIVIL PARTNERSHIP LAW): Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 2(6) (amended by the Child Support Act 1991 s 58(14); and the Civil Partnership Act 2004 s 78(1), (2)). However, an application for the variation of an order made under the Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 1 (as amended) for the making or securing of periodical payments to or for the benefit of a child may, if the child has reached the age of 16 years, be made by the child himself: Sch 1 para 6(4). For the purpose of an application made under Sch 1 para 2 (as amended) or Sch 1 para 6 (as amended), 'child' includes, in any such case in relation to a person who has reached the age of 18 years, that person: Sch 1 para 16(1).

Where an order for the making or securing of periodical payments made under Sch 1 para 1 (as amended) ceases to have effect on the date on which the child reaches the age of 16 years, or at any time after that date but before or on the date on which he reaches the age of 18 years, the child may apply to the court which made the order for its revival: Sch 1 para 6(5). If on such an application it appears to the court that the child is, will be or (if an order were made) would be receiving instruction at an educational establishment or undergoing training for a trade, profession or vocation, whether or not while in gainful employment, or there are special circumstances which justify the making of an order, the court has the power by order to revive the order from such date as the court may specify, not being earlier than the date of the making of the application: Sch 1 para 6(6). An order which is so revived may be varied or discharged on the application of any person by whom payments are to be made under the revived order: Sch 1 para 6(7).

8 Ibid Sch 1 para 2(3). The provisions of Sch 1 para 6(5), (6) (see note 7 supra) specify circumstances in which a child over the age of 16 may be entitled to apply to extend, vary or revive an order for periodical payments made for his benefit. For the matrimonial jurisdiction for making or extending orders beyond the eighteenth birthday of the child see Downing v Downing (Downing Intervening) [1976] Fam 288, [1976] 3 All ER 474; and MATRIMONIAL AND CIVIL PARTNERSHIP LAW vol 72 (2009) para 495.

545. Duration of orders.

The term to be specified in an order for periodical payments<sup>1</sup> in favour of a child<sup>2</sup> may begin with the date of the making of an application for the order in question or any later date, or in relation to a case where there is a maintenance calculation, the earliest permitted date<sup>3</sup>, but must not in the first instance extend beyond the child's seventeenth birthday unless the court<sup>4</sup> thinks it right in the circumstances of the case to specify a later date<sup>5</sup>, and must not in any event extend beyond the child's eighteenth birthday<sup>6</sup>, unless it appears to the court that the child is or will be or (if an order extending beyond the child's eighteenth birthday were made) would be receiving instruction at an educational establishment or undergoing training for a trade, profession or vocation, whether or not while in gainful employment<sup>7</sup>, or that there are special circumstances which justify the making of an order not limited to the child's eighteenth birthday<sup>8</sup>.

An order for unsecured periodical payments<sup>9</sup>, notwithstanding anything in the order, ceases to have effect on the death of a person liable to make payments under the order<sup>10</sup>. Moreover, periodical payments orders (whether secured or unsecured)<sup>11</sup> cease to have effect if any parent<sup>12</sup> making or securing the payments and any parent to whom the payments are made or secured live together for a period of more than six months<sup>13</sup>.

Where a maintenance calculation ceases to have effect or is cancelled by or under any provision of the Child Support Act 1991<sup>14</sup> and an application is made, before the end of the period of six months beginning with the relevant date<sup>15</sup>, for an order for periodical payments<sup>16</sup> in favour of a child with respect to whom that maintenance calculation was in force immediately before it ceased to have effect or was cancelled<sup>17</sup>, the term to be specified in any such order, or in any interim order<sup>18</sup>, made on that application may begin with the date on which that maintenance calculation ceased to have effect or, as the case may be, the date with effect from which it was cancelled, or any later date<sup>19</sup>.

546. Matters to which the court must have regard.

In deciding whether to exercise its powers to make financial relief orders under the Children Act 1989<sup>1</sup>, and, if so, in what manner, the court<sup>2</sup> must have regard to all the circumstances, including<sup>3</sup>:

- 1005 (1) the income, earning capacity, property and other financial resources which each of certain specified persons<sup>4</sup> has or is likely to have in the foreseeable future<sup>5</sup>;
- 1006 (2) the financial needs, obligations and responsibilities which each of those persons has or is likely to have in the foreseeable future<sup>6</sup>;
- 1007 (3) the financial needs of the child<sup>7</sup>;
- 1008 (4) the income, earning capacity (if any), property and other financial resources of the child<sup>8</sup>;
- 1009 (5) any physical or mental disability of the child<sup>9</sup>; and
- 1010 (6) the manner in which the child was being, or was expected to be, educated or trained<sup>10</sup>.

The child's welfare is more than just one of the relevant circumstances of the case and in the generality of cases the child's welfare should be a constant influence on the discretionary outcome<sup>11</sup>. Likewise, although not one of the specific considerations listed in the statutory criteria<sup>12</sup>, the standard of living of the parents and the extent to which the applicant had become accustomed to a particular lifestyle might be an important consideration<sup>13</sup>.

In deciding whether to exercise its powers<sup>14</sup> against a person who is not the mother or father of the child<sup>15</sup>, and, if so, in what manner, the court must have regard, in addition to the other relevant circumstances<sup>16</sup>, to:

- 1011 (a) whether that person has assumed responsibility for the maintenance of the child and, if so, the extent to which and the basis on which he assumed that responsibility, and the length of the period during which he met that responsibility<sup>17</sup>;
- 1012 (b) whether he did so knowing that the child was not his child<sup>18</sup>; and
- 1013 (c) the liability of any other person to maintain the child<sup>19</sup>.

If the court makes an order against a person who is not the father of the child, it must record in the order that the order is made on the basis that the person against whom the order is made is not the child's father<sup>20</sup>.

548. Interim orders.

The court<sup>1</sup> has power, at any time before it disposes of an application for a financial relief order under the Children Act 1989<sup>2</sup>, to make an interim order requiring either or both parents<sup>3</sup> to make such periodical payments, at such times and for such term as the court thinks fit, and giving any direction which the court thinks fit<sup>4</sup>. The order may provide for payments to be made from such date as the court may specify, not being earlier (save in certain circumstances<sup>5</sup>) than the date of the making of the application<sup>6</sup>. It ceases to have effect when the application is disposed of or, if earlier, on the date specified in the interim order<sup>7</sup>.

549. Alteration of maintenance agreements.

Where a maintenance agreement<sup>1</sup> is for the time being subsisting and each of the parties to the agreement is for the time being either domiciled or resident<sup>2</sup> in England and Wales, either party may apply to the court<sup>3</sup> for an order altering the agreement by varying or revoking any financial arrangements contained in it as may appear to the court to be just having regard to all the circumstances<sup>4</sup>. The court must be satisfied either:

- 1014 (1) that by reason of a change in circumstances in the light of which any financial arrangements contained in the agreement were made, including a change foreseen by the parties when making the agreement, the agreement should be altered so as to make different financial arrangements<sup>5</sup>; or
- 1015 (2) that the agreement does not contain proper financial arrangements with respect to the child<sup>6</sup>.

If the maintenance agreement is altered by such an order, it has effect thereafter as if the alteration had been made by agreement between the parties and for valuable consideration<sup>7</sup>.

Where a maintenance agreement provides for the continuation of maintenance payments for a child after the death of one of the parties, and that party dies domiciled in England and Wales, the surviving party or the deceased party's personal representatives may apply to the High Court or county court for an order<sup>8</sup> altering the agreement<sup>9</sup>.

1 'Maintenance agreement' means any agreement in writing made with respect to a child, whenever made, which is or was made between the father and mother of the child, and which contains provisions (referred to as 'financial arrangements') with respect to the making or securing of payments, or the disposition or use of any property, for the maintenance or education of the child: Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 10(1). For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

2 As to domicile and residence see CONFLICT OF LAWS vol 8(3) (Reissue) para 35 et seq.

3 As to the meaning of 'the court' for the purposes of the Children Act 1989 see para 208 ante. A magistrates' court has no power to entertain such an application unless both parties to the agreement are resident in England and Wales and the court acts in, or is authorised to act for, a local justice area in which at least one of the parties is resident: Sch 1 para 10(6) (amended by the Access to Justice Act 1999 s 106, Sch 15 Pt V Table (1); and the Courts Act 2003 s 109, Sch 8 para 339). The magistrates' court does not have power to make any order on such an application except: (1) in a case where the agreement contains no provision for periodical payments by either party, by an order inserting such provision (Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 10(6) (a)); or (2) in a case where the agreement includes such provision, an order increasing or reducing the rate of, or terminating, any of the periodical payments (Sch 1 para 10(6)(b)).

4 Ibid Sch 1 para 10(2), (3). This does not affect any power of a court, before which any proceedings between the parties to a maintenance agreement are brought under any other enactment, to make an order containing financial arrangements or any right of either party to apply for such an order in such proceedings: Sch 1 para 10(7). The pre-existing agreement may itself be one of the circumstances to which the court must have regard, and all the circumstances of that agreement should be given appropriate weight: see Morgan v Hill [2006] EWCA Civ 1602, [2006] 3 FCR 620, [2007] 1 FLR 1480.

6 Ibid Sch 1 para 10(3)(b).

7 Ibid Sch 1 para 10(4). Where the court decides to make an order to alter the maintenance agreement, either by: (1) inserting provision for the making or securing by one of the parties to the agreement of periodical payments for the maintenance of the child; or (2) increasing the rate of periodical payments required to be made or secured by one of the parties for the maintenance of the child, then, in deciding the term for which under the agreement as altered by the order the payments or (as the case may be) the additional payments attributable to the increase are to be made or secured, the court must apply the normal provisions governing the termination of the order as if the order had originally been made under the provisions of Sch 1 para 1(2)(a) or Sch 1 para 1(2)(b) (see para 539 ante): Sch 1 para 10(5). As to the duration and termination of orders generally see para 545 ante.

8 le an order under ibid Sch 1 para 10 (as amended) (see the text and notes 1-7 supra).

9 Ibid Sch 1 para 11(1). If a maintenance agreement is altered under these provisions, the agreement has effect thereafter as if the alteration had been made, immediately before the death, by agreement between the parties and for valuable consideration: Sch 1 para 11(2).

An application, except with leave of the court, may not be made after the end of the period of six months beginning with the day on which representation in regard to the estate of the deceased is first taken out: Sch 1 para 11(3). In considering the question of when representation was first taken out, a grant limited to settled land or to trust property is left out of account and a grant limited to real estate or to personal estate is left out of account unless a grant limited to the remainder of the estate has previously been made or is made at the same time: Sch 1 para 11(4). A county court may not entertain such an application, or an application for leave to make an application, unless it would have jurisdiction to hear and determine proceedings for an order under the Inheritance (Provision for Family and Dependants) Act 1975 s 2 (see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS vol 17(2) (Reissue) para 691 et seq) in relation to the deceased's estate by virtue of the County Courts Act 1984 s 25 (as amended) (see COURTS vol 10 (Reissue) para 717): Children Act 1989 Sch 1 para 11(5). These provisions do not render the personal representatives of the deceased liable for having distributed any part of the estate of the deceased after the expiry of the period of six months referred to in Sch 1 para 11(3) on the ground that they ought to have taken into account the possibility that a court might grant leave for an application by virtue of Sch 1 para 11 to be made by the surviving party after that period: Sch 1 para 11(6). However, this does not prejudice any power to recover any part of the estate so distributed arising by virtue of the making of an order altering the agreement: Sch 1 para 11(7).

An order for the payment of money made by a magistrates' court under the Children Act 1989 is enforceable as a magistrates' court maintenance order<sup>1</sup>.

Any person for the time being under an obligation to make payments in pursuance of an order for the payment of money made by a magistrates' court under the Children Act 1989 must give notice of any change of address to such person, if any, as may be specified in the order<sup>2</sup>. Failure to do so is an offence<sup>3</sup>.

The court has power to make financial orders relating to children under the Matrimonial Causes Act 1973 on granting a decree of divorce, a decree of nullity of marriage, or a decree of judicial separation, or at any time thereafter<sup>1</sup>, or on an application for an order on the ground that a party to the marriage has failed to provide or to make proper contribution towards reasonable maintenance for any child of the family<sup>2</sup>. The court also has power to make financial orders relating to children under the Civil Partnership Act 2004 on making a dissolution order, a nullity order or a separation order, or at any time thereafter, or on an application for an order on the ground that a civil partner has failed to provide or to make proper contribution towards reasonable maintenance for any child of the family<sup>3</sup>. There is also power: (1) to make financial orders under the Matrimonial and Family Proceedings Act 1984<sup>4</sup> in cases where a marriage has been dissolved or annulled, or the parties to a marriage have been legally separated, by means of judicial or other proceedings in an overseas country and that divorce, annulment or legal separation is entitled to be recognised as valid in England and Wales<sup>5</sup>; and (2) to make financial orders after a civil partnership has been dissolved or annulled, or civil partners have been legally separated, in a country outside the British Islands<sup>6</sup>. The court may also make financial orders under the Domestic Proceedings and Magistrates' Courts Act 1978<sup>7</sup>, and a magistrates' court may also make corresponding provision in respect of civil partners<sup>8</sup>.

(6) CHILD SUPPORT

553. The original scheme.

The Child Support Act 1991, as originally enacted<sup>1</sup>, made provision for the Secretary of State, acting through the Child Support Agency<sup>2</sup>, to undertake the assessment, collection and enforcement of periodical maintenance payable by certain parents (known as 'absent parents'<sup>3</sup>) with respect to children of theirs who were not in their care<sup>4</sup>. The scheme provided for the Child Support Agency to exercise almost exclusive jurisdiction in respect of child maintenance issues and curtailed the jurisdiction of the courts in respect of such issues<sup>5</sup>. At the heart of the scheme was the 'maintenance assessment', that is, the sum payable by an absent parent to the parent with care of the child in question<sup>6</sup>. The calculation of the maintenance assessment was the responsibility of the Child Support Agency and was arrived at by means of a detailed and complex prescribed formula, which has come to be regarded as unduly complex and cumbersome and is considered to be one of the principal reasons for the need to reform the system<sup>7</sup>.

In addition, the original scheme introduced a system under which parents with the care of children who were in receipt of certain state benefits were automatically treated as having applied for a maintenance assessment, regardless of whether or not they actually chose to pursue such an application and, moreover, under which any payments made to such a parent were generally received by the parent with care only if the amount of those payments exceeded the level of qualifying state benefits received by that parent<sup>8</sup>.

1 The Child Support Act 1991 received Royal Assent on 25 July 1991 and was brought into force in two principal stages: first, certain provisions were brought into force on 17 June 1992 for the purpose of making regulations and other procedural matters (see the Child Support Act 1991 (Commencement No 1) Order 1992, SI 1992/1431); and then the more substantive provisions were brought into force on 5 April 1993 (see the Child Support Act 1991 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 1992, SI 1992/2644).

2 The Child Support Agency is not established by statute. As to the Secretary of State see para 155 ante. Note that any function of the Secretary of State relating to child support under or by virtue of the provisions of the Child Support Act 1991 may be exercised by, or by employees of, such person (if any) as may be authorised by the Secretary of State, with the exception of functions under s 15, s 35, s 39A (as added) or s 40B (as added), or any other functions excluded from the Deregulation and Contracting Out Act 1994 s 69 by s 71 (see LOCAL GOVERNMENT VOL 69 (2009) PARA 407): Contracting Out (Functions Relating to Child Support) Order 2006, SI 2006/1692, art 2.

3 In the Child Support Act 1991 (as originally enacted), the parent of any child was an 'absent parent' in relation to that child if he was not living in the same household with the child and the child had his home with a person who was, in relation to him, a person with care: see s 3(2) (as originally enacted). As to shared care for a child see C v Secretary of State for Work and Pensions [2002] EWCA Civ 1854, [2003] 2 FCR 325, [2003] 1 FLR 829. For these purposes, 'parent', in relation to any child, means any person who is in law the mother or father of the child: Child Support Act 1991 s 54.

Provision is made to facilitate the operation of the child support scheme where parentage is disputed (see s 26 (amended by the Social Security Act 1998 s 86(1), Sch 7 para 31; the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 ss 1(2)(a), 15, 26, 83(5), 85, Sch 3 para 11(1), (8), Sch 8 paras 11, 12, Sch 9 Pt IX; the Adoption and Children Act 2002 s 139(1), Sch 3 para 81; and the Children (Northern Ireland) Consequential Amendments) Order 1995, SI 1995/756, art 13); and R v Secretary of State for Social Security, ex p West [1999] 3 FCR 574, [1999] 1 FLR 1233, CA; R v Secretary of State for Social Security, ex p W [1999] 3 FCR 693, [1999] 2 FLR 604, for declarations of parentage (see the Child Support Act 1991 s 27 (substituted by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 8 para 13)) and for the funding of scientific tests aimed at establishing parentage (see the Child Support Act 1991 s 27A (added by the Child Support Act 1995 s 21; and amended by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 1(2), Sch 3 para 11(9), Sch 8 para 14)).

Refusal to take a test may lead to a person's benefit being reduced (see the Child Support Act 1991 s 46 (substituted by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 19; and prospectively amended by the Welfare Reform Act 2007 Sch 3 para 7(4), (5))). At the date at which this volume states the law no day had been appointed for the coming into force of the amendment made by the Welfare Reform Act 2007. As to the reduction of a person's benefit under the Child Support Act 1991 s 46 (as substituted; prospectively amended) see Roach v Secretary of State for Work and Pensions [2006] EWCA Civ 1746, [2007] 1 FCR 238, [2007] 1 FLR 2167.

Child Support Act 1991 s 26 further amended: Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 2008 Sch 6 para 36. #### 554. Amendments to the original scheme.

Since the enactment of the Child Support Act 1991<sup>1</sup> substantial amendments have been made by, inter alia, the Child Support Act 1995, the Social Security Act 1998, and the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000<sup>2</sup>.

The Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 made provision for a new scheme, to be applied to all applications for maintenance calculations<sup>3</sup> made on or after 3 March 2003<sup>4</sup>, under which the formula to be applied was much simplified and the jurisdiction of the Child Support Agency was strengthened still further<sup>5</sup>. The Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 also altered the language of the Child Support Act 1991 by substituting 'non-resident parents' for the previous reference to 'absent parents'<sup>6</sup> and by describing the payable sum under the new formula as a 'maintenance calculation' rather than a 'maintenance assessment'<sup>7</sup>.

At the date at which this volume states the law the statutory child support scheme is once again in flux and the future of the Child Support Agency is uncertain, precluding a comprehensive statement of the law in this work<sup>8</sup>.

<sup>6</sup> See the Child Support Act 1991 s 3(2) (amended by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 26, Sch 3 para 11(1), (2)), providing that the parent of any child is a 'non-resident parent' in relation to that child if he is not living in the same household with the child and the child has his home with a person who is, in relation to him, a person with care. This definition corresponds exactly to the former definition of 'absent parent' (see para 553 note 3 ante) but for the change in terminology. For the meaning of 'parent' see para 553 note 3 ante.

<sup>7</sup> 'Maintenance calculation' means a calculation of maintenance made under the Child Support Act 1991 and, except in prescribed circumstances, includes a default maintenance decision and an interim maintenance decision: s 54 (amended by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 3 para 11(20)(d)). 'Maintenance assessment' meant an assessment of maintenance made under the Child Support Act 1991 and, except in prescribed circumstances, included an interim maintenance assessment: s 54 (as originally enacted).

As to the mechanism by which maintenance calculations are applied for see ss 4, 5 (amended by the Children (Scotland) Act 1995 s 104(4), (5), Sch 4 para 52(3), Sch 5; the Social Security Act 1998 s 86(1), (2), Sch 7 para 19, Sch 8; and the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 ss 1(2), 2, Sch 3 para 11(2), (3)); the Child Support (Maintenance Calculation Procedure) Regulations 2000, SI 2001/157 (amended by SI 2002/1204; SI 2003/347; SI 2003/828; SI 2003/2779; SI 2004/2415; SI 2005/785; SI 2006/1520); the Child Support (Information, Evidence and Disclosure) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1812 (amended by SI 1995/123; SI 1995/1045; SI 1995/3261; SI 1996/1945; SI 1996/2907; SI 1998/58; SI 1999/977; SI 1999/1510; SI 2001/161; SI 2002/1204; SI 2003/347; SI 2003/3206; SI 2004/1823; SI 2004/2415; SI 2005/617; SI 2005/2877; SI 2006/362; SI 2006/1520; SI 2007/1979); and (in connection with the former system of maintenance assessments) the Child Support (Maintenance Assessment Procedure) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1813 (amended by SI 1993/913; SI 1994/227; SI 1995/123; SI 1995/1045; SI 1995/3261; SI 1995/3265; SI 1996/1345; SI 1996/1945; SI 1996/2538;

555. Basic principles of the current scheme.

2 For the meaning of 'parent' see para 553 note 3 ante.

3 For the purposes of the Child Support Act 1991, a person is a 'child' if:

284 (1) he is under the age of 16 (s 55(1)(a));

285 (2) he is under the age of 19 and receiving full time education (which is not advanced education) either by attendance at a recognised educational establishment or elsewhere, if the education is recognised by the Secretary of State (s 55(1)(b)); and, in determining whether a person falls within this provision, no account may be taken of such interruptions in his education as may be prescribed (s 55(6)); or

286 (3) he does not fall within head (1) or head (2) above but he is under the age of 18 and prescribed conditions are satisfied with respect to him (s 55(1)(c)).

'Advanced education' means education of a prescribed description, and 'recognised educational establishment' means an establishment recognised by the Secretary of State for these purposes as being, or as comparable to, a university, college or school: s 55(3). Where a person has reached the age of 16, the Secretary of State may recognise education provided for him otherwise than at a recognised educational establishment only if he is satisfied that education was being so provided for him immediately before he reached the age of 16: s 55(4). The Secretary of State may also provide that, in prescribed circumstances, education is or is not to be treated for these purposes as being full time (s 55(5)); and he may by regulations provide that a person who ceases to fall within s 55(1) be treated as continuing to fall within that provision for a prescribed period (s 55(7)), although no person may be treated as continuing to fall within s 55(1) by virtue of regulations made under s 55(7) after the end of the week in which he reaches the age of 19 (s 55(8)). For the descriptions of education and periods so prescribed, for the establishments so recognised, for the circumstances in which education is or is not to be treated as being full time and in which interruptions to a person's education may and may not be considered, and for the conditions referred to in head (3) supra, for the purposes of the scheme as it has effect after 3 March 2003 see the Child Support (Maintenance Calculation Procedure) Regulations 2000, SI 2001/157, reg 1(3), Sch 1; and in connection with the scheme having effect before 3 March 2003 see the Child Support (Maintenance Assessment Procedure) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1813, reg 1(4), Sch 1 (amended by SI 1993/913; SI 1996/1345; SI 1999/977; SI 1999/1047; revoked with savings by SI 2001/157). See para 554 ante.

A person is not a child for these purposes if he is or has been married or a civil partner; has celebrated a marriage, or been a party to a civil partnership, which is void; or has celebrated a marriage in respect of which a decree of nullity has been granted or has been a party to a civil partnership in respect of which a nullity order has been made: Child Support Act 1991 s 55(2) (amended by the Civil Partnership Act 2004 s 254(1), Sch 24 para 3).

A child is a 'qualifying child' if one of his parents is, in relation to him, a non-resident parent (formerly an 'absent parent': see paras 553 note 3, 554 note 6 ante) or both of his parents are, in relation to him, non-resident parents: Child Support Act 1991 s 3(1) (amended by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 26, Sch 3 para 11(1), (2)).

4 Child Support Act 1991 s 1(1). As a corollary of this, nothing in the Child Support Act 1991 prevents any person from entering into an agreement for the making of periodical payments for the benefit of a child (see s 9 (amended by the Child Support Act 1995 s 18(4); and the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 1(2)(a), Sch 3 para 11(2), (6))), although such an agreement may be affected by the operation of the legislation (see the Child Support Act 1991 s 10 (amended by the Social Security Act 1998 s 86(1), Sch 7 para 23; and the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 1(2)(a), Sch 3 para 11(2), (6)); the Child Support (Maintenance Arrangements and Jurisdiction) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/2645 (amended by SI 1993/913; SI 1995/123; SI 1995/1045; SI 1995/3261; SI 1999/1510; SI 2001/161; SI 2002/2469; SI 2003/192; SI 2003/247; SI 2004/696; SI 2005/617; SI 2005/785; SI 2005/2877); and AMS v Child Support Officer [1998] 2 FCR 622, [1998] 1 FLR 955, CA). Provision is made for voluntary payments to be set-off against calculations and assessments made pursuant to the legislation: see the Child Support Act 1991 s 28j (added by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 20(1)); and the Child Support (Voluntary Payments) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/3177.

6 Child Support Act 1991 s 1(2) (amended by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 3 para 11(2)). Provision is made for the Child Support Act 1991 to operate in a modified form in relation to cases involving more than one child or carer or where both parents of a child are absent: see s 42 (amended by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 3 para 11(1), (2)); the Child Support (Maintenance Assessment Procedure) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1813 (amended by SI 1993/913; SI 1994/227; SI 1995/123; SI 1995/1045; SI 1995/3261; SI 1995/3265; SI 1996/1345; SI 1996/1945; SI 1996/2538; SI 1996/2907; SI 1996/3196; SI 1998/58; SI 1998/2799; SI 1999/977; SI 1999/1047; SI 1999/2566; SI 2000/897; SI 2000/1596; SI 2002/1703; SI 2003/328; SI 2003/1050; SI 2003/2779; SI 2004/2415; SI 2005/785; revoked with savings by SI 2001/157); the Child Support (Maintenance Assessments and Special Cases) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1815 (amended by SI 1993/913; SI 1993/925; SI 1994/227; SI 1995/1045; SI 1995/3261; SI 1995/3265; SI 1996/481; SI 1996/1345; SI 1996/1803; SI 1996/1945; SI 1996/2907; SI 1996/3196; SI 1998/58; SI 1999/977; SI 1999/1510; SI 2002/1204; SI 2002/2469; SI 2003/328; SI 2003/762; SI 2003/2779; SI 2004/1748; SI 2004/2415; SI 2004/3168; SI 2005/785; SI 2005/2060; SI 2005/2078; SI 2005/2877; SI 2005/2929; SI 2006/217; SI 2007/1979; SI 2007/2538; revoked with savings by SI 2001/155); the Child Support Departure Direction and Consequential Amendments Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2907 (amended by SI 1998/58; SI 1999/1047; SI 2000/897; SI 2000/1596; SI 2002/1204; SI 2002/1703; SI 2003/328; SI 2003/347; SI 2003/2779; SI 2005/2877; revoked with savings by SI 2001/156); and the Child Support (Maintenance Calculations and Special Cases) Regulations 2000, SI 2001/155 (amended by SI 2002/1204; SI 2002/2497; SI 2002/3019; SI 2003/328; SI 2003/347; SI 2003/1195; SI 2003/2779; SI 2004/2415; SI 2004/3168; SI 2005/785; SI 2005/2060; SI 2005/2078; SI 2005/2877; SI 2005/2929; SI 2007/1979). ### 555 Basic principles of the current scheme

TEXT AND NOTES--The Secretary of State may by regulations (1) make provision enabling the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission in prescribed circumstances to set off liabilities to pay child support maintenance to which this provision applies; (2) make provision enabling the Commission in prescribed circumstances to set off against a person's liability to pay child support maintenance to which this provision applies a payment made by the person which is of a prescribed description: Child Support Act 1991 s 41C(1) (s 41C added by the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 31). See the Child Support (Management of Payments and Arrears) Regulations 2009, SI 2009/3151. In s 41C(1), the references to child support maintenance to which this provision applies are to child support maintenance for the collection of which the Commission is authorised to make arrangements: s 41C(3).

556. General jurisdiction.

The Child Support Act 1991 provides that where, in general, the Secretary of State has jurisdiction to make a maintenance calculation<sup>1</sup> with respect to a qualifying child<sup>2</sup>, no court may exercise any power which it would otherwise have to make, vary or revive any maintenance order<sup>3</sup> in relation to such a child<sup>4</sup>. The effect of this is that there is only a very limited jurisdiction in the courts to make orders for child maintenance and that the general jurisdiction over the operation of the Child Support Act 1991 lies with the Child Support Agency<sup>5</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'maintenance calculation' see para 554 note 7 ante.

2 For the meanings of 'child' and 'qualifying child' see para 555 note 3 ante.

3 In the Child Support Act 1991, 'maintenance order', in relation to any child, means an order which requires the making or securing of periodical payments to or for the benefit of the child and which is made under the Matrimonial Causes Act 1973 Pt II (ss 21-40A) (as amended) (see MATRIMONIAL AND CIVIL PARTNERSHIP LAW vol 72 (2009) PARA 450 et seq), the Domestic Proceedings and Magistrates' Courts Act 1978 (see MATRIMONIAL AND CIVIL PARTNERSHIP LAW), the Matrimonial and Family Proceedings Act 1984 Pt III (ss 12-27) (as amended) (see MATRIMONIAL AND CIVIL PARTNERSHIP LAW vol 72 (2009) PARA 530 et seq), the Family Law (Scotland) Act 1985, the Children Act 1989 Sch 1 (as amended) (see para 539 et seq ante), the Civil Partnership Act 2004 Sch 5, 6 or 7 (see MATRIMONIAL AND CIVIL PARTNERSHIP LAW), or any other prescribed enactment; and includes any order varying or reviving such an order: Child Support Act 1991 s 8(11) (amended by the Civil Partnership Act 2004 ss 254(1), 261(4), Sch 24 para 1, Sch 30). ### 557. Jurisdiction of the Child Support Agency.

The Secretary of State, operating through the Child Support Agency, has jurisdiction in respect of all applications made to him for a maintenance calculation<sup>1</sup> in respect of a qualifying child<sup>2</sup>. In respect of a parent with care<sup>3</sup> of a qualifying child who is also in receipt of certain prescribed state benefits, the Secretary of State has the power to make an application on that parent's behalf without the need for that parent to make an application<sup>4</sup>. In cases where the parent with care is not in receipt of a prescribed state benefit, the Secretary of State has a general duty to deal with any application in accordance with the Child Support Act 1991<sup>5</sup>. The Secretary of State does not have jurisdiction to make a maintenance calculation in respect of a person with care, a non-resident parent<sup>6</sup> or a qualifying child if that person is not habitually resident<sup>7</sup> in the United Kingdom unless in the case of a non-resident parent that person meets certain specific qualifying criteria<sup>8</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'maintenance calculation' see para 554 note 7 ante.

The Secretary of State may not for this purpose prescribe as a category parents, guardians or persons in whose favour residence orders under the Children Act 1989 s 8 (see para 262 ante) are in force: Child Support Act 1991 s 3(4)(a)-(c). For the prescribed categories of person who cannot be a person with care for these purposes see the Child Support (Maintenance Calculation Procedure) Regulations 2000, SI 2001/157, reg 21; and in connection with the scheme having effect before 3 March 2003 see the Child Support (Maintenance Assessment Procedure) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1813, reg 51 (amended by SI 1993/913; revoked with savings by SI 2001/157). ### 558. Making a maintenance calculation.

Prior to the changes introduced by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000, a complex formula for making maintenance assessments<sup>1</sup> was established by the Child Support Act 1991 and the detailed subordinate legislation made thereunder<sup>2</sup>. An absent parent's<sup>3</sup> maintenance obligation was calculated in accordance with that formula, which took into account many factors including the income of both the parent with care<sup>4</sup> and the absent parent<sup>5</sup>. The formula was much simplified by the amendments made by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 (which have effect in relation to applications for child maintenance made to the Secretary of State, operating through the Child Support Agency, after 3 March 2003<sup>6</sup>), under which the income of the person with care is no longer taken into account<sup>7</sup>. The current formula has at its core a requirement that the non-resident parent<sup>8</sup> pays a fixed percentage of his net weekly income<sup>9</sup> as child maintenance to the person with care<sup>10</sup>, namely 15 per cent where that non-resident parent is the parent of one qualifying child<sup>11</sup>, 20 per cent where there are two qualifying children, and 25 per cent where there are three or more qualifying children<sup>12</sup>. The scheme provides for adjustments to that formula in accordance with certain factors and in particular in accordance with the number of nights that the child in question spends with the non-resident parent<sup>13</sup> and the presence of any other relevant children<sup>14</sup> that the non-resident parent is permitted to have taken into account<sup>15</sup>. The sums payable under the new formula may be varied if the circumstances of a particular case meet certain detailed conditions<sup>16</sup>.

1 These are now known as 'maintenance calculations': see para 554 note 7 ante.

559. Enforcement of a maintenance calculation.

The Secretary of State has the power to enforce a maintenance calculation<sup>1</sup> and it is not open to the person with care<sup>2</sup> to enforce a maintenance calculation in his own right<sup>3</sup>. This restriction against the person with care does not infringe that person's right of access to a court under the Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms<sup>4</sup>. The enforcement regime available to the Secretary of State includes the power to impose a deduction from earnings order<sup>5</sup>, to make deductions from state benefits<sup>6</sup> and to seek liability orders in respect of unpaid maintenance<sup>7</sup>. If a liability order remains unsatisfied the Secretary of State may also pursue orders for distress<sup>8</sup> or<sup>9</sup> by way of third party debt orders<sup>10</sup> and charging orders<sup>11</sup>. Where the Secretary of State has sought to enforce an amount of outstanding maintenance by means of distress, third party debt or charging order<sup>12</sup> and the amount in question or any part thereof remains unpaid the Secretary of State can apply for an order committing the liable person to prison for a period not exceeding six weeks<sup>13</sup> or for an order disqualifying the liable person from holding a driving licence<sup>14</sup>. Provision is also made for the cross-border enforcement of liability orders within the United Kingdom<sup>15</sup>. In addition to his powers to recover arrears in payments, the Secretary of State may also require a non-resident parent<sup>16</sup> in arrears of child maintenance to pay penalty payments of up to 25 per cent of the child maintenance payable for that week<sup>17</sup>.

559 Enforcement of a maintenance calculation

TEXT AND NOTES--The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission may make a regular deduction order against a non-resident parent who has failed to pay child maintenance in order to secure the payment in question from an account held with a deposit-taker: see the Child Support Act 1991 s 32A (ss 32A-32D added by the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 22). Before a regular deduction order is applied to a joint account, the Commission must offer each of the account-holders an opportunity to make representations with regards to the making of the order and the amounts to be deducted: see Child Support Act 1991 s 32B. As to the regulation-making powers of the Secretary of State with regard to the practicalities and procedure relating to regular deduction orders see s 32C. As to offences see s 32D. 'Deposit-taker' means a person who, in the course of a business, may lawfully accept deposits in the United Kingdom: s 54(1) (definition added by the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 Sch 7 para 1(25)).

The Commission may also make lump sum deduction orders in order to collect arrears (not ongoing maintenance) from a non-resident parent's account held with a deposit-taker, or from money due or accruing to them from a third party: see ss 32E-32K (added by the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 23). The Commission may also apply to a court (1) to prevent a non-resident parent who has failed to pay maintenance from disposing of or transferring property, if it is being done to avoid paying child support maintenance; and (2) where a non-resident parent has failed to pay maintenance, for an order to set aside a disposition, if that disposition was undertaken with the intention of avoiding child support maintenance payments: see s 32L (added by the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 24).

The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision for the recovery from the estate of a deceased person of arrears of child support maintenance for which the deceased person was liable immediately before death: Child Support Act 1991 s 43A(1) (s 43A added by the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 38). Regulations under the Child Support Act 1991 s 43A(1) may, in particular (1) make provision for arrears of child support maintenance for which a deceased person was so liable to be a debt payable by the deceased's executor or administrator out of the deceased's estate to the Commission; (2) make provision for establishing the amount of any such arrears; (3) make provision about procedure in relation to claims under the regulations: s 43A(2). Regulations under s 43A(1) may include provision for proceedings (whether by appeal or otherwise) to be instituted, continued or withdrawn by the deceased's executor or administrator: s 43A(3).

560. Role of the courts.

As a consequence of the Secretary of State retaining principal jurisdiction in respect of child maintenance<sup>1</sup>, the courts have limited jurisdiction to make orders for child maintenance<sup>1</sup>. The court's power to make orders in respect of child maintenance in those cases where the Secretary of State also has jurisdiction is limited to the following circumstances:

- 1016 (1) revoking a maintenance order<sup>3</sup>;
- 1017 (2) where a written agreement has been made between the parties providing for the making of periodical payments by the non-resident parent to or for the benefit of the child and the maintenance order made by the court is in all material respects in the same terms as that agreement<sup>4</sup>;
- 1018 (3) where a maintenance calculation<sup>5</sup> is in force with respect to a child and the non-resident parent's net weekly income<sup>6</sup> exceeds £2,000 per week and the court is satisfied that it is appropriate for the non-resident parent to pay more than he currently pays under the maintenance calculation<sup>7</sup>;
- 1019 (4) where the child is, will be or would be receiving instruction at an educational establishment or undergoing training for a trade, profession or vocation and the order is made solely for the purposes of requiring the payer under the order to meet some or all of the expenses incurred in connection with the provision of the instruction or training<sup>8</sup>;
- 1020 (5) where a disability living allowance<sup>9</sup> is paid to or in respect of the child<sup>10</sup> or no such allowance is paid but the child is disabled<sup>11</sup>; and
- 1021 (6) where the order is made against the parent with care<sup>12</sup> of the child in question<sup>13</sup>.

Where the Secretary of State does not have jurisdiction to make and enforce a maintenance calculation the court retains sole jurisdiction<sup>14</sup>. In addition the court has sole jurisdiction in the following limited circumstances:

- 1022 (a) where an agreement for maintenance in respect of a child was made before 5 April 1993<sup>15</sup> and remains in force<sup>16</sup>;
- 1023 (b) where a maintenance order was made before 3 March 2003<sup>17</sup> and that order remains in force<sup>18</sup>; and
- 1024 (c) where a maintenance order was made on or after 3 March 2003 and that order remains in force and has been in force for less than one year<sup>19</sup>.

The courts may also have jurisdiction in respect of certain appeals under the Child Support Act 1991<sup>20</sup>.

1 See paras 556-557 ante.

2 The court has exclusive jurisdiction where the child is not a 'qualifying child' for the purposes of the Child Support Act 1991 (see para 555 note 3 ante) or the person with care, the non-resident parent or the qualifying child is not habitually resident in the United Kingdom (see s 44; and para 557 ante). For the meaning of 'person with care' see para 557 note 3 ante; and for the meanings of 'parent' and 'non-resident parent' see paras 553 note 3, 554 note 6 ante. As to habitual residence see para 806 post; and CONFLICT OF LAWS vol 8(3) (Reissue) para 57 et seq. Provision is made for rights of audience before the court in child support cases (see the Child Support Act 1991 s 48 (amended by the Child Support Act 1995 s 30(5), Sch 3 para 14)) and for procedure generally (see the Family Proceedings Courts (Child Support Act 1991) Rules 1993, SI 1993/627 (amended by SI 2001/615; SI 2001/778; SI 2005/617; SI 2005/1977; SI 2007/2188), having effect under the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 144).

562. The future of the Child Support Agency.

The Department of Work and Pensions has published a consultation White Paper<sup>1</sup> setting out proposals for further change in the area of child support. Those proposals include the establishment of a new body to replace the Child Support Agency, to be known as the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission ('C-MEC'), which will be non-departmental and will be run by an independent board<sup>2</sup>. Under the proposals the jurisdiction of the courts to make maintenance calculations will remain limited, and the present requirement that all parents with care of a qualifying child and who are in receipt of certain prescribed state benefits are to be treated as having applied for a maintenance calculation will be abolished<sup>3</sup>. Parents with the care of relevant children and in receipt of what were previously qualifying state benefits will be able to make their own arrangements with the other parent<sup>4</sup>.

The new scheme also envisages the parent with care being entitled to a 'maintenance disregard' under which state benefits will not be affected by the receipt of maintenance<sup>5</sup>.

The scheme set out in the White Paper is intended to simplify the assessment process by the use of more up to date financial information and the use of gross rather than net incomes from which calculations will be made<sup>6</sup>. The scheme also envisages stronger enforcement measures including measures to require defaulting parents to surrender their passports, and raises the possibility of taking monies direct from sources such as bank accounts; the scheme aims to simplify the enforcement process by restricting the involvement of the courts in the enforcement regime<sup>7</sup>.

2 See ibid paras 3.8, 3.13. C-MEC's responsibilities will include the management of existing cases and outstanding debt, the detailed development and implementation of the new scheme, managing the transition of cases into private arrangements or between schemes, and the decommissioning of the existing child maintenance schemes and the Child Support Agency itself: see para 3.9. C-MEC will also provide direct policy advice to ministers on all aspects of the system that it is charged with delivering: see para 3.10.

553-563 Child Support

The Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 establishes the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission and amends the law relating to child support. As to the establishment and constitution of the Commission see PARA 563A; and as to the transfer of the Secretary of State's functions to the Commission, see s 13, Schs 2, 3; and PARA 563A.8.

563. The introduction of the new scheme.

At the date at which this volume states the law a government Bill to establish the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission ('C-MEC')<sup>1</sup> and to amend the law relating to child support, known as the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Bill, was before Parliament, having been introduced in the House of Commons on 5 June 2007<sup>2</sup>. The Bill introduces the new scheme for the calculation and payment of child support envisaged in the consultation White Paper published by the Department of Work and Pensions in 2006<sup>3</sup>. Specifically, it would establish and make provision for the constitution and operation of C-MEC<sup>4</sup> and make new provision for the calculation of maintenance and for the collection and enforcement of payments (including removing the requirement that parents who claim benefits are to be automatically treated as applying for maintenance, and applying the new enforcement measures to cases proceeding under the current scheme)<sup>5</sup>. It is envisaged that the legislation will be passed, and C-MEC established, by 2008; that C-MEC will take responsibility for existing child support operations, that new systems for enforcement and collection will be put in place, and that the requirement that parents who claim benefits are to be automatically treated as applying for maintenance will be removed, during 2008-2009; that the system enabling parents to make their own maintenance arrangements will come into operation during 2009-2010; that applications will begin to be accepted under the new system, the improved maintenance disregard<sup>6</sup> will be introduced, and existing cases will begin to be transferred to C-MEC, during 2010-2011; and that by 2012-2013 all clients will be on a single set of rules managed solely by C-MEC<sup>7</sup>.

UPDATE

553-563 Child Support

The Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 establishes the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission and amends the law relating to child support. As to the establishment and constitution of the Commission see PARA 563A; and as to the transfer of the Secretary of State's functions to the Commission, see s 13, Schs 2, 3; and PARA 563A.8.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/7. FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR CHILDREN/(6) CHILD SUPPORT/563A. The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission.

563A. The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission.

1. Establishment of the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission

A body corporate to be known as the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission ('the Commission') is established: Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 1(1). Provision is made as to the constitution and procedures of the Commission: see s 1(2), Sch 1.

The Commission's main objective is to maximise the number of those children who live apart from one or both of their parents for whom effective maintenance arrangements are in place: s 2(1). The Commission's main objective is supported by the following subsidiary objectives: (1) to encourage and support the making and keeping by parents of appropriate voluntary maintenance arrangements for their children; and (2) to support the making of applications for child support maintenance under the Child Support Act 1991 and to secure compliance when appropriate with parental obligations under that Act: Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 2(2). The Commission must aim to pursue, and to have regard to, its objectives when exercising a function that is relevant to them: s 2(3). For the purposes of Pt 1 (ss 1-12) 'child' has the same meaning as in the Child Support Act 1991 (see PARA 555 NOTE 3): Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 12(1). The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision about when a child is, or is not, to be regarded for the purposes of Pt 1 as living apart from a parent: s 12(2).

The Commission's records are public records: Public Records Act 1958 Sch 1 para 3 table Pt 2 (amended for these purposes by the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 Sch 1 para 24). Its members are disqualified from membership of the House of Commons: House of Commons Disqualification Act 1975 Sch 1 Pt II (amended for these purposes by the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 Sch 1 para 27).

2. Functions of the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission

The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission ('the Commission') has the functions relating to child support transferred to it from the Secretary of State by virtue of the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008, and such other functions as are conferred by, or by virtue of, this or any other enactment: s 3(1). The Secretary of State may by regulations provide for the Commission to have an additional function if it appears to the Secretary of State that it is necessary or expedient for the Commission to have the function in relation to any of its objectives: s 3(2). The Commission must exercise its functions effectively and efficiently: s 3(3).

The Commission must take such steps as it thinks appropriate for the purpose of raising awareness among parents of the importance of taking responsibility for the maintenance of their children, and making appropriate arrangements for the maintenance of children of theirs who live apart from them: s 4. For the purposes of Pt 1 (ss 1-12) 'child' has the same meaning as in the Child Support Act 1991 (see PARA 555 NOTE 3): Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 12(1). The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision about when a child is, or is not, to be regarded for the purposes of Pt 1 as living apart from a parent: s 12(2).

The Commission must provide to parents such information and guidance as it thinks appropriate for the purpose of helping to secure the existence of effective maintenance arrangements for children who live apart from one or both of their parents, and may provide information for other purposes in the course of exercising that function: s 5.

As to information sharing between the Commission and the Department for Work and Pensions and Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs for the purpose of functions relating to child support, see s 44, Sch 6.

3. Fees

The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision about the charging of fees by the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission ('the Commission') in connection with the exercise of its functions: Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 6(1). As to the Commission's functions, see PARA 563A.2. Such regulations may, in particular, make provision: (1) about when a fee may be charged; (2) about the amount which may be charged; (3) for the supply of information needed for the purpose of determining the amount which may be charged; (4) about who is liable to pay any fee charged; (5) about when any fee charged is payable; (6) about the recovery of fees charged; and (7) about waiver, reduction or repayment of fees: s 6(2). The power conferred by s 6(1) includes power to make provision for the charging of fees which are not related to costs: s 6(3). The Secretary of State may by regulations provide that the provisions of the Child Support Act 1991 with respect to (a) the collection of child support maintenance; (b) the enforcement of any obligation to pay child support maintenance, apply equally (with any necessary modifications) to fees payable by virtue of regulations under the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 6(1): s 6(4). The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision for a person affected by a decision of the Commission under regulations under s 6(1) to have a right of appeal against the decision to the First-tier Tribunal: s 6(5) (amended by SI 2008/2833). The Child Support Act 1991 s 20(3)-(5), (7) and (8) (see PARA 557) applies to appeals under regulations under the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 6(5) as it applies to appeals under the Child Support Act 1991 s 20: Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 6(6) (amended by SI 2008/2833). The Commission must pay into the Consolidated Fund any amount which it receives in respect of fees charged by it under regulations under this provision: Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 6(7).

4. Agency arrangements and contracting out

Arrangements may be made between the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission ('the Commission') and any relevant authority for (1) any functions (see PARA 563A.2) of one of them to be exercised on their behalf by, or by members of staff of, the other; (2) the provision of administrative, professional or technical services by one of them for the other: Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 7(1). The reference in head (1) to functions does not include functions of making, confirming or approving subordinate legislation: s 7(2). The Commission may make arrangements under this provision on such terms and conditions as it thinks fit: s 7(3). For these purposes 'relevant authority' means (a) any minister of the Crown or department of the Government of the United Kingdom; (b) a public body specified in regulations made by the Secretary of State for these purposes: s 7(4).

Any function of the Commission may be exercised by, or by employees of, such person, if any, as the Commission may authorise for the purpose: s 8(1). An authorisation given by virtue of s 8(1) may authorise the exercise of the function concerned (i) either wholly or to such extent as may be specified in the authorisation; (ii) either generally or in such cases or areas as may be so specified; and (iii) either unconditionally or subject to the fulfilment of such conditions as may be so specified: s 8(2). An authorisation given by virtue of s 8(1) may specify its duration, may be revoked at any time by the Commission, and does not prevent the Commission or any other person from exercising the function to which the authorisation relates: s 8(3). Where a person is authorised to exercise any function by virtue of s 8(1), anything done or omitted to be done by or in relation to that person (or an employee of that person) in, or in connection with, the exercise or purported exercise of the function is to be treated for all purposes as done or omitted to be done by or in relation to the Commission: s 8(4). However, this does not apply for the purposes of so much of any contract made between the authorised person and the Commission as relates to the exercise of the function, or for the purposes of any criminal proceedings brought in respect of anything done or omitted to be done by the authorised person (or an employee of that person): s 8(5). Where a person is authorised to exercise any function by virtue of s 8(1), and the authorisation is revoked at a time when a relevant contract is subsisting, the authorised person is entitled to treat the relevant contract as repudiated by the Commission (and not as frustrated by reason of the revocation): s 8(6). For these purposes the reference to a relevant contract is to so much of any contract made between the authorised person and the Commission as relates to the exercise of the function: s 8(7).

5. Annual report to the Secretary of State

The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission must prepare a report for each financial year: Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 9(1). Each such report must (1) deal with the activities of the Commission in the financial year for which it is prepared, including the matters mentioned in s 9(3) below; (2) include the report prepared under Sch 1 para 20(5) by the committee established under Sch 1 para 20 (non-executive functions committee): s 9(2). The matters referred to in head (1) are (a) the strategic direction of the Commission and the manner in which it has been kept under review; (b) the Commission's objectives and targets, the steps taken to meet them and the extent to which they have been met; (c) the steps taken to monitor the performance of the Commission in ensuring that its functions are exercised effectively and efficiently; (d) the extent to which the Commission has relied on ss 7(1) and 8(1) (see PARA 563A.4): s 9(3). The Commission must send each report to the Secretary of State as soon as practicable after the end of the financial year for which it is prepared, and publish the report in such manner as the Commission considers appropriate: s 9(4). The Secretary of State must lay before Parliament a copy of every report received: s 9(5). For these purposes 'financial year' means the period beginning with the date on which the Commission is established and ending with the next following 31 March, and each successive period of 12 months: s 9(6). The Commission was established on 24 July 2008: see SI 2008/2033.

6. Directions and guidance

The Secretary of State may give the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission (1) guidance as to the exercise of its functions (see PARA 563A.2); (2) general or specific directions as to the exercise of its functions: Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 10(1). In exercising its functions, the Commission must have regard to any guidance under head (1) and comply with any directions under head (2): s 10(2). The guidance or directions must be in writing, and the power to give guidance or directions includes power to vary or revoke guidance or directions given in previous exercise of the power: s 10(3), (4). The Secretary of State must lay before Parliament a copy of any direction given under head (2). He may exclude from what is laid before Parliament any information which he considers to be against the commercial interests of any person, and any information which relates to an individual who can be identified from that information: s 10(5).

7. Review of the status of the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission

The Secretary of State must review the status of the Commission as a Crown body as soon as reasonably practicable after the end of the initial period: Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 11(1), (2). For these purposes 'Crown body' means a body whose functions are to be exercised on behalf of the Crown; and 'initial period' means the period of 3 years beginning with the day on which s 13 comes into force (ie 1 November 2008: see SI 2008/2675): Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 11(8). The Secretary of State may review the status of the Commission as a Crown body at any other time after the end of the initial period, if the Secretary of State considers it appropriate to do so: s 11(3). The Secretary of State must prepare a report of any review under s 11(1) or (3) and must lay a copy of the report before Parliament: s 11(4), (5). If, on a review under this provision, it appears to the Secretary of State appropriate to do so, the Secretary of State may by order made by statutory instrument provide that the Commission is to cease to be a Crown body: s 11(6). Such an order may (a) make any amendment to Sch 1 that appears to the Secretary of State to be necessary or expedient in consequence of the Commission ceasing to be a Crown body; (b) provide for the Transfer of Undertakings (Protection of Employment) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/246, to apply, subject to such modifications and exceptions as may be prescribed, as if, on the Commission ceasing to be a Crown body, there were a transfer of an undertaking or business which is a relevant transfer: Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 11(7).

8. Transfer of child support functions

Any function under the Child Support Act 1991 which is a function of the Secretary of State, and is not an excepted function, is by virtue of this provision transferred to the Commission: Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 13(1). The following functions of the Secretary of State under the Child Support Act 1991 are excepted functions for these purposes: (1) functions under ss 23A, 24 or 25 (appeals); (2) functions under s 46 (reduced benefit decisions) or any other provision of the 1991 Act, so far as relating to such decisions; (3) the function under s 50(7)(c) (authorisation of a person as a 'responsible person' for the purposes of s 50); (4) functions under s 58 (commencement power and power to make consequential amendments); (5) the function under Sch 4 para 2A (payment of expenses); and (6) power to make regulations under any other provision of the Act: Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 13(2). Provision is also made for the transfer to the Commission of functions of the Secretary of State under specified subordinate legislation: see the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 s 13(3), Sch 2.

9. Transfer of property, rights and liabilities

The Secretary of State may make one or more schemes for the transfer to the Commission of any of the following: (1) property, rights and liabilities which the Secretary of State is entitled or subject to in connection with the transferred functions (see PARA 563A.8); (2) property, rights and liabilities which the Secretary of State is entitled or subject to and which the Secretary of State considers it appropriate to transfer to the Commission in consequence of any function conferred on it by or under the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 Pt 1 (ss 1-12): s 14(1). A scheme under s 14(1) ('a transfer scheme') (a) may provide for the transfer of property, rights and liabilities whether or not they would otherwise be capable of being transferred or assigned; (b) may create for the Secretary of State interests in or rights over property transferred by virtue of the scheme; (c) may create for the Commission interests in or rights over property retained by the Secretary of State; (d) may create rights or liabilities between the Secretary of State and the Commission; (e) may make such supplementary, incidental, consequential or transitional provision or savings as the Secretary of State considers appropriate: s 14(2). A transfer scheme comes into force in accordance with its terms: s 14(3). A certificate given by the Secretary of State that any property, rights or liabilities have been transferred by virtue of a transfer scheme is conclusive evidence of the transfer: s 14(4). For these purposes 'transferred functions' means functions transferred to the Commission by virtue of s 13 (see PARA 563A.8): s 14(5).

UPDATE

564 Eligibility

TEXT AND NOTES 9, 10--A child is not eligible if he is not entitled to enter or remain in the United Kingdom by virtue of an enforceable Community right or any provision made under of the European Communities Act 1972 s 2(2): Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 2(5) (b) (substituted by SI 2009/1117).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/7. FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR CHILDREN/(7) CHILD TRUST FUNDS/565. Structure of child trust funds.

565. Structure of child trust funds.

The terms of a child trust fund<sup>1</sup> must:

- 1030 (1) secure that it is held in the name of a child<sup>2</sup>;
- 1031 (2) secure that the child is beneficially entitled to the investments under it<sup>3</sup>;
- 1032 (3) secure that all income and gains arising on investments under it constitute investments under it<sup>4</sup>;
- 1033 (4) prevent withdrawals from it except as permitted by regulations<sup>5</sup>; and
- 1034 (5) provide that instructions may be given to the account provider<sup>6</sup> with respect to its management only by the person who has the authority to manage it<sup>7</sup>.

The other requirements which must be satisfied in relation to child trust funds are imposed by regulations<sup>8</sup>.

An account is not a child trust fund unless it is either a 'stakeholder account' (that is, an account which meets specified characteristics and conditions) or a 'non-stakeholder account' (that is, an account where any of those characteristics and conditions is not met)<sup>9</sup>.

A penalty may be imposed on an account provider in respect of the provision by him, as a child trust fund, of an account in relation to which any of the above provisions are not complied with or satisfied<sup>10</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child trust fund' see para 564 note 2 ante.

2 Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 3(4)(a). For the meaning of 'child' see para 564 note 1 ante.

3 Ibid s 3(4)(b).

4 Ibid s 3(4)(c).

5 Ibid s 3(4)(d). As to permitted withdrawals see the Child Trust Funds Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1450, regs 18, 18A (reg 18 amended, and reg 18A added, by SI 2004/2676). As to the making of regulations generally see para 564 note 3 ante.

A penalty of £300 may be imposed on any person who fraudulently makes a withdrawal from a child trust fund otherwise than as permitted by regulations under the Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 3(4)(d): s 20(1)(b). As to the imposition and administration of penalties see para 575 post.

6 As to the account provider see ibid s 3(1); and para 566 post.

7 Ibid s 3(4)(e).

8 Ibid s 3(5). See generally the Child Trust Funds Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1450 (amended by SI 2004/2676; SI 2004/3382; SI 2005/383; SI 2005/909; SI 2005/2919; SI 2005/3349; SI 2006/199; SI 2006/2684; SI 2006/3195).

10 Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 20(7)(a). Thus a penalty may be imposed on an account provider in respect of the provision by him, as a child trust fund, of an account which is not one of the descriptions prescribed by regulations under the Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 3(2) (see the text and note 9 supra) (s 20(8)(a)), an account in relation to which s 3(4) (see the text and notes 1-7 supra) is not complied with (s 20(8)(b)), or an account in relation to which the requirements imposed by regulations under s 3(5) (see the text and note 8 supra) are not satisfied (s 20(8)(c)). The penalty which may be so imposed is a penalty not exceeding £300, or £1 in respect of each account affected by the matter, or any of the matters, in respect of which the penalty is imposed, whichever is greater: s 20(9).

566. Provision and management of funds.

A child trust fund<sup>1</sup> may be held only with a person (an 'account provider') who has been approved by the Commissioners of Revenue and Customs<sup>2</sup> in accordance with regulations<sup>3</sup>. A child who is aged 16 or over has the authority to manage the child trust fund held by him<sup>4</sup>; where a child is under 16, the person who is a responsible person in relation to him has the authority to manage the fund<sup>5</sup>. Regulations may provide that, in circumstances prescribed by the regulations, the person who has the authority to manage a child trust fund held by a child under 16 is to be the Official Solicitor<sup>6</sup>. Where a contract is entered into by or on behalf of a child who is 16 or over in connection with a child trust fund held by the child, or held by another child in relation to whom the child has parental responsibility, the contract has effect as if the child had been 18 or over when it was entered into<sup>7</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child trust fund' see para 564 note 2 ante.

2 As to the Commissioners of Revenue and Customs see CUSTOMS AND EXCISE vol 12(3) (2007 Reissue) paras 900-933.

3 Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 3(1). The provision which may be made by regulations under s 3(1) includes making approval of an account provider dependent on the person undertaking to provide accounts of such of the descriptions for which provision is made by regulations under s 3(2) (see para 565 ante) as is prescribed by the regulations: s 3(3). As to the approval and withdrawal of approval of account providers, and for qualifications for approval, see the Child Trust Funds Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1450, regs 14-17, 20 (reg 14 amended by SI 2004/2676; SI 2005/909; SI 2005/3349). As to the making of regulations generally see para 564 note 3 ante. A person may appeal against a decision by the Commissioners not to approve, or to withdraw the approval of, a person as an account provider: Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 22(1)(a), (b). As to the exercise of rights of appeal see para 576 post.

4 Ibid s 3(6)(a).

5 Ibid s 3(6)(b), (7). A person is a 'responsible person' in relation to a child under 16 if he has parental responsibility in relation to the child and is not a local authority or a person under 16: s 3(8). 'Parental responsibility' means parental responsibility within the meaning of the Children Act 1989 (see para 134 ante): Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 3(9). If there is more than one person who is a responsible person in relation to a child, which of them has that authority is to be determined in accordance with regulations: s 3(7).

6 Ibid s 3(10). See the Child Trust Funds Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1450, reg 33A (added by SI 2004/3382; and amended by SI 2006/2684). A person who has the authority to manage a child trust fund by virtue of the Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 3(10) is entitled to give any instructions to the account provider with respect to its management which appear to the person who has that authority to be for the benefit of the child: s 3(11).

567. Limits on subscriptions.

No subscription may be made to a child trust fund<sup>1</sup> otherwise than by way of a monetary payment<sup>2</sup>, and the maximum amount that may be subscribed to a child trust fund in each year<sup>3</sup> (otherwise than by way of credits made under or by virtue of the Child Trust Funds Act 2004 or income or gains arising on investments under the fund) is limited by regulations<sup>4</sup>. A penalty may be imposed on an account provider<sup>5</sup> in respect of a breach of these requirements<sup>6</sup> in relation to a child trust fund held with that provider<sup>7</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child trust fund' see para 564 note 2 ante.

2 Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 12(1).

3 'Year', in relation to a child trust fund held by a child, means the period beginning with the day on which the child trust fund is opened (see para 569 post) and ending immediately before the child's next birthday, and each succeeding period of 12 months: s 12(3).

4 Ibid s 12(2). The maximum amount that may be subscribed during any subscription year is £1,200: see the Child Trust Funds Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1450, reg 9.

The penalty which may be so imposed is a penalty not exceeding £300, or £1 in respect of each account affected by the matter, or any of the matters, in respect of which the penalty is imposed, whichever is greater: s 20(9). As to the imposition and administration of penalties see para 575 post.

568. Inalienability of investments.

Any assignment<sup>1</sup> of, or agreement to assign, investments under a child trust fund<sup>2</sup>, and any charge on or agreement to charge<sup>3</sup> any such investments, is void<sup>4</sup>. On the bankruptcy<sup>5</sup> of a child by whom a child trust fund is held, the entitlement to investments under it does not pass to any trustee or other person acting on behalf of the child's creditors<sup>6</sup>.

1 'Assignment' includes assignation; and 'assign' is to be construed accordingly: Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 4(3).

2 For the meaning of 'child trust fund' see para 564 note 2 ante.

569. Opening a child trust fund.

The Commissioners of Revenue and Customs<sup>1</sup> must issue a voucher<sup>2</sup> in the case of each child<sup>3</sup> who is first an eligible child<sup>4</sup> to the person who is entitled to child benefit in respect of that child<sup>5</sup>. A child who is aged 16 or over may make an application to an account provider<sup>6</sup> to open a child trust fund of any description<sup>7</sup> provided by that provider<sup>8</sup>; in any other case, application must be made by the responsible person<sup>9</sup>. When the application has been made, the account provider must open a child trust fund of that description for the child and inform the Commissioners<sup>10</sup>.

Where a voucher is issued<sup>11</sup> in respect of a child who is first an eligible child<sup>12</sup> but either the period within which a child trust fund may be opened for him<sup>13</sup> expires or the child is under 16 and it appears to the Commissioners that there is no-one who is a responsible person in relation to him<sup>14</sup>, the Commissioners must apply<sup>15</sup> to open a child trust fund for the child with an account provider<sup>16</sup> and the account provider must open a fund for the child and inform the Commissioners<sup>17</sup>.

Regulations may make provision requiring that, in prescribed circumstances, a person of a prescribed description is to account to the Commissioners for amounts credited to a child trust fund in respect of Commissioners' contributions (ie payments made by the Commissioners which were required to be made under or by virtue of ss 8-10 (see the text and note 3-17 infra) or which the Commissioners considered were required to be so made, together with any income and gains arising in consequence of the crediting of those amounts: s 11. See the Child Trust Funds Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1450, reg 22 (amended by SI 2005/383). Any person who is required by the Commissioners to account for an amount under regulations under the Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 11 may appeal against the decision to impose the requirement: s 22(4). As to the exercise of rights of appeal see para 576 post.

3 For the meaning of 'child trust fund' see para 564 note 2 ante; and as to the descriptions of child trust funds see para 565 ante.

4 Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 8(1)(a). As to the opening of funds see para 569 ante.

5 Ibid s 8(1)(b). Claims must be made in accordance with regulations: s 8(1)(b). A penalty not exceeding £3,000 may be imposed on an account provider who fraudulently or negligently makes an incorrect statement or declaration in connection with a claim under s 8, s 9 or regulations under s 10: s 20(2)(a). Penalties may also be imposed on an account provider who fails to make a claim under s 8, s 9 or regulations under s 10 within the required time limits (s 20(3)(a)), although for this purpose a person is to be taken not to have failed to make a claim within the required time if he made it within such further time (if any) as the Commissioners may have allowed (s 20(6)(a)), if he had a reasonable excuse for not making it by that time (s 20(6)(b)) or if, after having had such an excuse, he made it without unreasonable delay (s 20(6)(c)). Such penalties may not exceed £300 (s 20(4)(a)), although, if the failure continues after such a penalty is imposed, a further penalty or penalties not exceeding £60 for each day on which the failure continues after the day on which the penalty under s 20(3)(a) was imposed (but excluding any day for which such a further penalty has already been imposed) may be imposed (s 20(4)(b)). No penalty under s 20(3) may be imposed on a person in respect of a failure after the failure has been remedied: s 20(5). As to the imposition and administration of penalties see para 575 post.

6 Ibid s 8(1). As to the amounts to be paid see the Child Trust Funds Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1450, reg 7(1)-(4) (reg 7(4) amended by SI 2004/2676). Any person who is entitled to child benefit in respect of a child, has applied to open a child trust fund for a child or has at any time given instructions with respect to the management of the child trust fund held by a child may appeal against a decision by the Commissioners not to make a payment under s 8, s 9 or regulations under s 10 (see the text and notes 14-17 infra) in respect of the child: s 22(2)(c), (d), (3).

7 As to the amounts to be paid see the Child Trust Funds Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1450, reg 7(5)-(9) (reg 7(9) added by SI 2004/2676). There is a right of appeal against failure to make payment: see note 6 supra.

8 Ie if it has been determined in accordance with the provision made by and by virtue of the Tax Credits Act 2002 ss 18-21 (see SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS) that a person was, or persons were, entitled to child tax credit in respect of the child for the child benefit commencement date and either the relevant income of the person or persons for the tax year in which that date fell does not exceed the income threshold or the person, or either of the persons, was entitled to a relevant social security benefit for that date, and that determination has not been overturned: Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 9(4)(c), (5).

'Child benefit commencement date', in relation to a child, means: (1) the first day for which child benefit was paid in respect of the child, otherwise than because of a directly applicable Community provision or an international agreement; or (2) in the case of a child to whom s 2(3) applies or s 2(5) has applied (see para 564 ante), such day as is prescribed by regulations: s 9(10). At the date at which this volume states the law no such regulations had been made. If the child benefit commencement date is earlier than 6 April 2005, the condition which must be satisfied is specified in s 9(8), and if the child benefit commencement date is earlier than 6 April 2003, the condition in s 9(5) is modified: see s 9(7)-(9).

'The relevant income', in relation to a person or persons and a tax year, has the meaning given by the Tax Credits Act 2002 Act s 7(3) (see SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS) in relation to a claim by the person or persons for a tax credit for the tax year; 'tax year' means a period beginning with 6 April in one year and ending with 5 April in the next; 'the income threshold' has the meaning given by s 7(1)(a) (see SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS); and 'relevant social security benefit' means any social security benefit prescribed for the purposes of s 7(2) (see SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS): Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 9(6).

9 Ie a child who was first an eligible child by virtue of ibid s 2(1)(a) (see para 564 ante): s 9(4)(b). For the meaning of 'child' see para 564 note 1 ante.

10 Ibid s 9(4)(a).

11 Ie in accordance with regulations: ibid s 9(2). Fraudulent, negligent or late claims may attract penalties: see note 5 supra.

12 Ibid s 9(2). The Commissioners must inform the account provider with whom the fund is held that these provisions (ie the provisions of s 9: see the text and notes 1-11 supra) apply to the child: s 9(1).

13 Ibid ss 8(2), 9(3). A penalty may be imposed on an account provider in respect of a failure by him to comply with s 8(2) or s 9(3) or with a requirement imposed on him by any regulations under s 10(3) (see note 16 infra): s 20(7)(b). The penalty which may be so imposed is a penalty not exceeding £300, or £1 in respect of each account affected by the matter, or any of the matters, in respect of which the penalty is imposed, whichever is greater: s 20(9).

15 Ibid s 10(1)(b).

16 The regulations must include provision for making account providers aware that such amounts are payable, about the claiming of such payments by account providers, and about the crediting of child trust funds by account providers with the amount of such payments: ibid s 10(3). Fraudulent, negligent or late claims or any failure to comply with a requirement imposed by regulations may attract penalties: see notes 5, 13 supra.

17 Ibid s 10(2). The amounts of the payments are the amounts prescribed by, or determined in accordance with, regulations: s 10(1). Provision has been made for the payment of such a further contribution by the Child Trust Funds Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1450, reg 7(10), (11) (added by SI 2005/383). There is a right of appeal against failure to make payment: see note 6 supra.

572. Taxation.

Investments under child trust funds<sup>1</sup> attract relief from income tax and capital gains tax, and provision is accordingly made<sup>2</sup> for exempting account income and gains from tax<sup>3</sup>, requiring account providers<sup>4</sup> to administer tax liabilities and reliefs on behalf of fund-holders<sup>5</sup>, for the timing of tax repayments to the account provider<sup>6</sup>, for the making and administration of claims<sup>7</sup>, for assessments<sup>8</sup>, for the sending of returns<sup>9</sup>, and for ensuring that child trust funds do not form part of a child's estate for capital gains tax purposes<sup>10</sup>. Provision is also made for protecting the child trust fund business<sup>11</sup> of insurance companies and friendly societies from tax liability<sup>12</sup>.

2 Ie by regulations under the Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 13: s 13(1). Provision made by virtue of s 13 may disapply, or modify the effect of, any enactment relating to income tax or capital gains tax: s 13(5). In particular, regulations may include provision for securing that losses are disregarded for the purposes of capital gains tax where they accrue on the disposal of investments under child trust funds (s 13(2)(a)) and provision dealing with anything which, apart from the regulations, would have been regarded for those purposes as an indistinguishable part of the same asset (s 13(2)(b)). The regulations may specify how tax relief is to be claimed by persons entitled to it or by account providers on their behalf: s 13(3). Further, the regulations may include provision requiring that, in circumstances prescribed by the regulations, the person prescribed by the regulations is to account to the Commissioners of Revenue and Customs for tax from which relief has been given under the regulations (s 13(4)(a)) and income or gains arising in consequence of the giving of relief under the regulations (s 13(4)(b)) or for an amount determined in accordance with the regulations in respect of such tax (s 13(4)). As to the Commissioners of Revenue and Customs see CUSTOMS AND EXCISE vol 12(3) (2007 Reissue) paras 900-933. A penalty not exceeding £3,000 may be imposed on an account provider who fraudulently or negligently makes an incorrect statement or declaration in connection with a claim under regulations under s 13: s 20(2)(a). As to the imposition and administration of penalties see para 575 post. ## 575. Imposition and administration of penalties.

Penalties<sup>1</sup> are imposed by the Commissioners of Revenue and Customs<sup>2</sup>, and if the Commissioners decide to impose a penalty the decision must (subject to the permitted maximum) set it at such amount as, in their opinion, is appropriate<sup>3</sup>. The Commissioners may also, in their discretion, mitigate any such penalty<sup>4</sup>. The Commissioners must give notice of a decision to impose a penalty to the person on whom the penalty is imposed<sup>5</sup>, and after the notice has been given, the decision must not be altered except on appeal<sup>6</sup>. A penalty is treated for the purposes of the collection and recovery of taxes<sup>7</sup> as if it were tax charged in an assessment and due and payable<sup>8</sup>.

A penalty under these provisions becomes payable at the end of the period of 30 days beginning with the date on which notice of the decision is given<sup>9</sup>. A decision to impose a penalty may not be made after the end of the period of six years beginning with the date on which the penalty was incurred or began to be incurred<sup>10</sup>.

- 302 (5) any person who fraudulently or negligently provides incorrect information in response to a requirement imposed by or under regulations under s 15 (see s 20(2)(b); and para 573 note 5 ante);
- 303 (6) an account provider who fails to make a claim under s 8 or s 9 or regulations under s 10 by the required time (see s 20(3)(a), (4)-(6); and para 571 note 5 ante);
- 304 (7) any person who fails to make a document available, or provide information, in accordance with regulations under s 15 (see s 20(3)(b), (4)-(6); and para 573 note 5 ante);
- 305 (8) an account provider in respect of the provision by him, as a child trust fund, of an account which is not of one of the descriptions prescribed by regulations under s 3(2) or in relation to which s 3(4) is not complied with or the requirements imposed by regulations under s 3(5) are not satisfied (see s 20(7)(a), (8), (9); and para 565 ante);

576. Appeals.

Notice of an appeal against a decision of the Commissioners of Revenue and Customs relating to child trust funds<sup>1</sup> must be given to the Commissioners in the manner prescribed by regulations within the period of 30 days after the date on which notice of the decision was given<sup>2</sup>, and notice of such an appeal must specify the grounds of appeal<sup>3</sup>.

Until a day to be appointed<sup>4</sup>, an appeal<sup>5</sup> is made to an appeal tribunal<sup>6</sup>; as from the appointed day, an appeal is to be made to the General Commissioners<sup>7</sup> but the appellant may elect<sup>8</sup> to bring the appeal before the Special Commissioners<sup>9</sup> instead<sup>10</sup>. On the hearing of an appeal the tribunal or the Commissioners may allow the appellant to put forward grounds not specified in the notice, and take them into consideration if satisfied that the omission was not wilful or unreasonable<sup>11</sup>.

Special provision is made in connection with appeals against a decision to impose a penalty<sup>12</sup>; and detailed provision is made as to the procedure for appeals generally<sup>13</sup>.

Until a day to be appointed (see note 4 supra), the provisions of s 23(3), (4), (6), (7) (see the text and notes 8-13 infra) do not apply: s 24(3)(a).

Regulations may apply any provision contained in the Social Security Act 1998 (social security appeals) and the Taxes Management Act 1970 s 54 (settling of appeals by agreement: see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) para 1767) in relation to appeals which by virtue of the Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 24 are to an appeal tribunal, or lie to a Social Security Commissioner, but subject to such modifications as are prescribed by the regulations: see s 24(5); and the Child Trust Funds (Non-tax Appeals) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/191, regs 4-15. The provisions of the Taxes Management Act 1970 s 31D(2)-(7) (as added) (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) paras 1751, 1760) have effect in relation to an election under the Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 23(3) as in relation to an election under the Taxes Management Act 1970 s 31D(1) (as added): Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 23(4). Note that the provisions of the Child Trust Funds Act 2004 s 23(3), (4) do not apply where appeal lies to an appeal tribunal and not to the General (or Special) Commissioners: see s 24(3)(a); and note 6 supra.

313   (1)   if it appears that no penalty has been incurred, set the decision aside (ss 21(9)(a), 24(1)(a), (2)(a));

314   (2)   if the amount set appears to be appropriate, confirm the decision (s 21(9)(b));

315   (3)   if the amount set appears to be excessive, reduce it to such other amount (including nil) as it considers or they consider appropriate (s 21(9)(c)); or

316   (4)   if the amount set appears to be insufficient, increase it to such amount not exceeding the permitted maximum as it considers or they consider appropriate (s 21(9)(d)).

Where such an appeal is to the appeal tribunal, an appeal from a decision of the tribunal under s 21(9) lies, at the instance of the person on whom the penalty was imposed, to a Social Security Commissioner, and on such an appeal that Commissioner has a similar jurisdiction to that conferred on the General or Special Commissioners by s 21(9); and where such an appeal is to the General or Special Commissioners, an appeal from the Commissioners' decision under s 21(9) lies, at the instance of the person on whom the penalty was imposed, to the High Court, and on such an appeal the court has a similar jurisdiction to that conferred on the Commissioners by s 21(9): ss 21(10), 24(2)(b).

(1) PROTECTION UNDER THE

(i) In general

577. Introduction.

Part V of the Children Act 1989<sup>1</sup> makes provision for the protection of children at risk. It imposes specific duties on local authorities to investigate where they have reasonable cause to suspect that a child is suffering or is likely to suffer significant harm<sup>2</sup>, and in certain other circumstances<sup>3</sup>. If attempts to have a child examined or assessed voluntarily have failed, application may be made to the court for a child assessment order which will require the child to be produced and made available for assessment in accordance with directions given by the court<sup>4</sup>. The court may, in certain circumstances, make an emergency protection order authorising the removal of the child, or the prevention of the child's removal, along with the power to include an exclusion requirement and certain other ancillary powers, for a limited period<sup>5</sup>. The police are given power to take a child into protection<sup>6</sup>, and the Children Act 1989 confers powers of entry and search<sup>7</sup> and provides that the court may, in certain circumstances, make a recovery order in respect of a child<sup>8</sup>. In support of these provisions the Children Act 1989 creates criminal offences relating to the wrongful removal of children<sup>9</sup>.

Proceedings under Part V of the Children Act 1989 are not 'family proceedings' for the purposes of that Act, with the result that the court has no power to make residence, contact, specific issue or prohibited steps orders of its own motion in such proceedings<sup>10</sup>, except in the family proceedings court where all proceedings under the Children Act 1989 are treated as 'family proceedings'<sup>11</sup>. Rules of court may be made with respect to the procedure to be followed in connection with proceedings under Part V of the Children Act 1989<sup>12</sup>.

In determining any application under Part V of the Children Act 1989 the court must have regard to the welfare principle<sup>13</sup>, to the presumption against making an order<sup>14</sup> and to the general principle that delay is likely to prejudice the welfare of the child<sup>15</sup>.

(ii) Child Assessment Orders

578. Child assessment orders.

A child assessment order is an order for the assessment of the state of a child's<sup>1</sup> health or development, or of the way in which he has been treated<sup>2</sup>. It deals with the single issue of enabling an assessment of the child to be made where significant harm<sup>3</sup> is suspected but the child is not thought to be at immediate risk such as would require his removal, or keeping him in hospital. The purpose of the order is to allow the local authority or authorised person to ascertain enough about the state of the child's health or development or the way in which he has been treated to decide what further action, if any, is required<sup>4</sup>. A child assessment order is not for use in cases of emergency, for which an emergency protection order would be more appropriate<sup>5</sup>.

On the application of a local authority<sup>6</sup> or authorised person<sup>7</sup> for a child assessment order to be made with respect to a child, the court may make the order, but only if it is satisfied that:

- 1042 (1) the applicant has reasonable cause to suspect that the child is suffering, or is likely to suffer, significant harm<sup>8</sup>;
- 1043 (2) an assessment of the state of the child's health or development, or of the way in which he has been treated, is required to enable the applicant to determine whether or not the child is suffering, or is likely to suffer, significant harm<sup>9</sup>; and
- 1044 (3) it is unlikely that such an assessment will be made, or be satisfactory, in the absence of a child assessment order<sup>10</sup>.

No court may make a child assessment order if it is satisfied that there are grounds for making an emergency protection order with respect to the child, and that it ought to make such an order rather than a child assessment order<sup>11</sup>. The court may treat an application for a child assessment order as an application for an emergency protection order<sup>12</sup>.

An application by a local authority for a child assessment order should always be preceded by some kind of local authority investigation<sup>13</sup>. Action under the statutory provision imposing a duty on the local authority to investigate<sup>14</sup> should be seen as the usual first step when a question of child protection arises<sup>15</sup>.

2 See the Children Act 1989 ss 43(1)(b), (2), 105(1). Comparable provisions as to service family child assessment orders are made by the Armed Forces Act 1991: see ss 17, 18 (both as amended); and ARMED FORCES vol 2(2) (Reissue) paras 68-69.

5 See the Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.4. The child assessment order is envisaged as a 'heavily court-controlled order dealing with the narrow issue of examination or assessment of the child in specific circumstances of non co-operation by the parents and lack of evidence of the need for a different type of order or other action': Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.4. As to emergency protection orders see para 583 et seq post.

10 Ibid s 43(1)(c). The Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989 Guidance and Regulations Vol 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.8 states that these conditions are very specific: the order is for cases where there are suspicions, but no firm evidence, of actual or likely significant harm in circumstances which do not constitute an emergency; and the applicant considers that a decisive step to obtain an assessment is needed to show whether the concern is well founded or further action is not required, and that informal arrangements to have such an assessment carried out have failed. Examples are given of situations in which an application may be appropriate: eg the parents or other persons looking after the child have resisted attempts to arrange an examination or assessment by agreement or failed to bring the child to see a doctor when arrangements have been made, and have not made suitable alternative arrangements: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989 Guidance and Regulations Vol 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.8. A child assessment order will usually be most appropriate where the harm to the child is long-term and cumulative rather than sudden and severe: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989 Guidance and Regulations Vol 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.9. The circumstances may be nagging concern about a child who appears to be failing to thrive; or the parents are ignorant of or unwilling to face up to possible harm to their child because of the state of his health or development; or it appears that the child may be subject to wilful neglect or abuse but not to such an extent as to place him at serious immediate risk: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989 Guidance and Regulations Vol 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.9. Sexual abuse, which covers a wide range of behaviour, can fall in this category: the harm to the child can be long-term rather than immediate and it does not necessarily require emergency action: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.9.

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(1) PROTECTION UNDER THE CHILDREN ACT 1989/(ii) Child Assessment Orders/579. Commencement, duration and effect of child assessment order.

579. Commencement, duration and effect of child assessment order.

A child assessment order must specify the date by which the assessment is to begin<sup>1</sup>, and has effect for such period, not exceeding seven days, beginning with that date, as may be specified in the order<sup>2</sup>.

Where a child assessment order is in force with respect to a child<sup>3</sup>, it is the duty of any person who is in a position to produce the child to produce him to such person as may be named in the order and to comply with such directions<sup>4</sup> relating to the assessment of the child as the court thinks fit to specify in the order<sup>5</sup>. Failure to comply with a child assessment order may be dealt with under the provisions of the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980<sup>6</sup>. In practice, deliberate refusal to comply would probably be sufficient to satisfy the conditions for an emergency protection order<sup>7</sup>.

1 Children Act 1989 s 43(5)(a).

2 Ibid s 43(5)(b). The applicant should make the necessary arrangements in advance of the application, so that it would usually be possible to complete within such period an initial multi-disciplinary assessment of the child's medical, intellectual, emotional, social and behavioural needs; this should be sufficient to establish whether the child is suffering, or likely to suffer, significant harm and, if so, what further action is required: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989 Guidance and Regulations Vol 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.12. The applicant should be able to give details of the proposed arrangements to the court so that it may consider these when giving directions: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.12. As to the guidance and regulations generally see para 163 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

4 The Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.14 states that the court should take advice from those presenting the case, and if necessary other professionals involved in the case (including the children's guardian) about what the assessment should cover, and may make directions accordingly. This may include eg whether the assessment should be limited to a medical examination or cover other aspects of a child's health and development, and by whom and where it should be conducted: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989 Guidance and Regulations Vol 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.14. It may require that the child's usual doctor or another medical professional may participate and eg for the child's parents' medical representative to be present: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989 Guidance and Regulations Vol 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.14. As to children's guardians (formerly known as guardians ad litem: see para 230 ante) see paras 319-321 ante.

6 Ie the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 63(3) (as amended): see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 6.

7 If the developing circumstances make the case so urgent that there is no time to apply for an emergency protection order, the police should be asked to use their powers under the Children Act 1989 s 46 (see paras 594-598 post) to take the child into police protection; there are no powers of search attached to s 46, but, in emergencies and for the purposes of saving life and limb, the police have reserve powers under the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 to enter and search premises without a warrant (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) paras 924-925): see the Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.19.

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(1) PROTECTION UNDER THE CHILDREN ACT 1989/(ii) Child Assessment Orders/580. Particular matters which may be contained in a child assessment order.

580. Particular matters which may be contained in a child assessment order.

The court may direct a medical or psychiatric examination as part of the terms of a child assessment order, but it is specifically provided that if a child<sup>1</sup> is of sufficient understanding<sup>2</sup> to make an informed decision he may refuse to submit to a medical or psychiatric examination or other assessment<sup>3</sup>, regardless of the fact that the effect of a child assessment order is to confer authority for the carrying out of the assessment or any part of the assessment<sup>4</sup>.

A child may only be kept away from home, in accordance with directions specified in the order, if it is necessary for the purposes of the assessment and for such period or periods as may be specified in the order<sup>5</sup>. Where the child is to be kept away from home, the order must contain such directions as the court thinks fit with regard to the contact that he must be allowed to have with other persons while away from home<sup>6</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

2 The Children Act 1989 makes no provision as to the level of understanding which is required. The Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.13 states that the children's guardian may well be able to advise the court as to whether the child is of sufficient understanding to make such a decision. In performing this duty the children's guardian may need to seek the assistance of professionals in other disciplines, and particularly where a child suffers from a handicap which impairs his ability to communicate: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.13. The children's guardian will wish to explore with the child his reluctance to undertake an assessment, and advise the court accordingly: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.13. Providing the child with further advice may result in the child withdrawing his opposition, but all professionals should take particular care to avoid coercing the child into agreement even where there is a belief that the refusal to comply is itself the product of coercion by a parent, relative or friend: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.13. As to the guidance and regulations generally see para 163 ante. As to children's guardians (formerly known as guardians ad litem: see para 230 ante) see paras 319-321 ante.

5 Ibid s 43(9). This power is intended to be a reserve provision, and if used the number of overnight stays should be kept as low as possible; the assessment should be conducted with as little trauma for the child and parents as possible: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.15, which also gives examples of when the need for an overnight stay might arise.

6 Children Act 1989 s 43(10). A temporary overnight stay cannot be equated with being placed in care, but the court may well be guided on contact by the presumption of reasonable contact between the child in care and his parents: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.16. For further matters which the court should consider see the Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.16.

581. Procedure for making application.

An application for a child assessment order must be made on notice<sup>1</sup>. Any person making an application for an order must take such steps as are reasonably practicable to ensure that notice of the application is given, before the hearing of the application, to: (1) the child's parents<sup>2</sup>; (2) any person who is not a parent but who has parental responsibility<sup>3</sup>; (3) any other person caring for the child<sup>4</sup>; (4) any person in whose favour a contact order is in force with respect to the child<sup>5</sup> or who is allowed to have contact with the child by virtue of a care contact order<sup>6</sup>; and (5) the child<sup>7</sup>. The application must be made on the prescribed form<sup>8</sup> and, save in exceptional cases, must be made in the magistrates' court<sup>9</sup>. A copy of the application must be served on the respondents to the application at least seven days prior to the hearing<sup>10</sup>. ### 582 Discharge or variation of child assessment order

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/8. PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(1) PROTECTION UNDER THE CHILDREN ACT 1989/ (iii) Emergency Protection Orders/583. Grounds for an emergency protection order.

(iii) Emergency Protection Orders

583. Grounds for an emergency protection order.

Where any person ('the applicant') applies to the court for an emergency protection order<sup>1</sup> to be made with respect to a child<sup>2</sup> the court may make an order if, but only if, it is satisfied that there is reasonable cause to believe that the child is likely to suffer significant harm<sup>3</sup> if he is not removed to accommodation provided by or on behalf of the applicant, or if he does not remain in the place in which he is then being accommodated<sup>4</sup>.

Where the application is made by a local authority<sup>5</sup>, the court may make an order if, but only if, it is satisfied that there is reasonable cause to believe that: (1) inquiries are being made with respect to the child<sup>6</sup>; and (2) those inquiries are being frustrated by access to the child being unreasonably refused to a person authorised to seek access<sup>7</sup> and the applicant has reasonable cause to believe that access to the child is required as a matter of urgency<sup>8</sup>.

Where the application is made by an authorised person<sup>9</sup>, the court may also make an emergency protection order if, but only if, it is satisfied that: (a) the applicant has reasonable cause to suspect that a child is suffering, or is likely to suffer, significant harm<sup>10</sup>; (b) the applicant is making inquiries with respect to the child's welfare<sup>11</sup>; and (c) those inquiries are being frustrated by access to the child being unreasonably refused to a person authorised to seek access<sup>12</sup> and the applicant has reasonable cause to believe that access to the child is required as a matter of urgency<sup>13</sup>.

In exercising its discretion as to whether or not to make an emergency protection order, and what the terms of that order should be<sup>14</sup>, the court must apply the welfare principle<sup>15</sup> and the presumption against making an order<sup>16</sup>. The applicants and the court should approach any such application with anxious awareness of the extreme nature of the order sought, and with a scrupulous regard for the human rights of both the child and the parents<sup>16</sup>.

An application by a local authority for an emergency protection order should always be preceded by some kind of local authority investigation<sup>17</sup>. Action under the statutory provision imposing a duty on the local authority to investigate<sup>18</sup> should be seen as the usual first step when a question of child protection arises<sup>19</sup>.

1 'Emergency protection order' means an order under the Children Act 1989 s 44: s 105(1). The purpose of an emergency protection order is to 'enable the child in a genuine emergency to be removed from where he is, or be kept where he is, if and only if this is what is necessary to provide immediate short-term protection': Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.28. Although the provisions governing emergency protection orders have been limited to what is necessary to protect the child, an application for such an order remains an extremely serious step, which must not be seen as a routine response to allegations of child abuse or as a routine first step to initiating care proceedings: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.30. As to the guidance and regulations generally see para 163 ante. Comparable provisions for orders for the emergency protection of children of service families are made by the Armed Forces Act 1991 ss 19, 20, 20A, 21, 22 (s 20A as added; all as amended); and ARMED FORCES vol 2(2) (Reissue) paras 70 et seq.

2 For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante. An emergency protection order must, wherever it is reasonably practicable to do so, name the child, and where it does not do so it must describe him as clearly as possible: see the Children Act 1989 s 44(14).

3 As to the meaning of 'significant harm' see para 274 ante.

4 Children Act 1989 s 44(1)(a). A local authority or authorised person may make an application in the same way as any other person under this 'general purpose provision for emergencies': Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.41. As to the court's power on disposing of an application for an order under the Children Act 1989 to order that no application of a specified kind may be made by any person named in the order without the leave of the court see para 223 note 13 ante.

Rules of court may be made with respect to the procedure to be followed in connection with proceedings under Pt V (ss 43-52) (as amended), and such rules may in particular make provision prescribing the persons who are to be notified of the making, or extension of, an emergency protection order: s 52(1), (2)(b)(i). As to the rules of court in family proceedings see paras 206-207 ante.

5 For the meaning of 'local authority' see para 138 note 13 ante. In certain circumstances a local authority is required to apply for an emergency protection order or an alternative order: see ibid s 47(6); and para 602 post.

6 Ibid s 44(1)(b)(i). The reference in the text to inquiries being made in respect of the child is to those made by the local authority under s 47(1)(b): see para 601 post.

7 A 'person authorised to seek access' means, in the case of an application by a local authority, an officer of the local authority or a person authorised by the authority to act on its behalf in connection with the inquiries: ibid s 44(2)(b)(i).

8 Ibid s 44(1)(b)(ii). See further the Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.39.

9 For the meaning of 'authorised person' see para 271 ante; definition applied by the Children Act 1989 s 44(2)(a).

10 Ibid s 44(1)(c)(i).

11 Ibid s 44(1)(c)(ii).

12 A 'person authorised to seek access' means, in the case of an application by an authorised person, that person: ibid s 44(2)(b)(ii). Any person seeking access to a child in connection with inquiries of a kind mentioned in s 44(1) and purporting to be authorised to do so must, on being asked to do so, produce some duly authenticated document as evidence that he is such a person: s 44(3).

13 Ibid s 44(1)(c)(iii). See further the Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.39.

14 The Children Act 1989 s 44(1) (see the text and notes 1-13 supra) empowers, but does not oblige, the court to make an emergency order if the grounds are made out. The court will wish to know what it is that necessitates urgent action, whether, if removal of the child is necessary, it can be achieved with the co-operation of the parents and the provision of accommodation and whether a decision can wait until the parents have had an opportunity properly to prepare their case at an interim hearing; and the applicant will be expected to give as much of this information as possible either orally or in the application form for this order: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.43. In many cases the initial application will be made in the absence of the parents, and in those circumstances the court will want to examine very carefully the information it is given, especially where the basis of the application is the likelihood of future harm or inability to see the child; even if the court does decide that an emergency protection order would be appropriate, these considerations may point to an initial order being made for a very short time, so that notice may be given to parents and others concerned: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.44.

15 As to the welfare principle see the Children Act 1989 s 1(1); and para 300 ante.

16 Ibid s 1(5); and para 302 ante. The court must bear in mind that such an order is 'draconian' requiring 'exceptional justification' and 'extraordinarily compelling reasons': X Council v B (emergency protection orders) [2004] EWHC 2015 (Fam) at [34], [2007] 1 FCR 512 at [34], [2005] 1 FLR 341 at [34] per Munby J. As to the making of emergency protection orders see further Re C and B (care order: future harm) [2000] 2 FCR 614, [2001] 1 FLR 611, CA; Haringey London Borough Council v C (E intervening) [2004] EWHC 2580 (Fam), [2005] 2 FLR 47, [2005] Fam Law 351.

17 The applicant is not likely to be able to satisfy the court of either set of grounds without being able to point to findings of an investigation, however limited this might be in some circumstances and especially in sudden emergencies: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.78. See X Council v B (emergency protection orders) [2004] EWHC 2015 (Fam), [2007] 1 FCR 512, [2005] 1 FLR 341.

584. Effect of an emergency protection order.

While an emergency protection order<sup>1</sup> is in force it operates as a direction to any person who is in a position to do so to comply with any request to produce the child to the applicant<sup>2</sup>, and it authorises: (1) the removal of the child at any time to accommodation provided by or on behalf of the applicant and his being kept there; or (2) the prevention of the child's removal from any hospital or other place in which he was being accommodated immediately before the making of the order<sup>3</sup>. The order also gives the applicant parental responsibility<sup>4</sup> for the child<sup>5</sup>.

Subject to any directions made by the court<sup>6</sup>, the applicant must allow the child reasonable contact with: (a) his parents<sup>7</sup>; (b) any person who is not a parent of his, but who has parental responsibility for him<sup>8</sup>; (c) any person with whom he was living immediately before the making of the order<sup>9</sup>; (d) any person in whose favour a contact order is in force with respect to him<sup>10</sup>; (e) any person who is allowed to have contact with a child<sup>11</sup> who is the subject of a care order<sup>12</sup>; and (f) any person acting on behalf of any of those persons<sup>13</sup>.

When a local authority obtains, or is informed of, an emergency protection order, it must make inquiries as to any action it should take to safeguard or promote the child's welfare<sup>14</sup>.

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(1) PROTECTION UNDER THE CHILDREN ACT 1989/ (iii) Emergency Protection Orders/585. Restrictions on exercise of powers under an emergency protection order.

585. Restrictions on exercise of powers under an emergency protection order.

Where an emergency protection order<sup>1</sup> is in force the applicant may only exercise the power to remove the child<sup>2</sup> or prevent his removal<sup>3</sup> in order to safeguard the welfare of the child<sup>4</sup>. Moreover, the applicant must take, and may only take, such action in meeting his parental responsibility<sup>5</sup> for the child as is reasonably required to safeguard or promote the welfare of the child, having regard in particular to the duration of the order<sup>6</sup>. The applicant must also comply with the requirements of any regulations which may be made for the purpose by the Secretary of State<sup>7</sup>.

7 See ibid s 44(5)(c). At the date at which this volume states the law no such regulations had been made. As to the Secretary of State, and the transfer of certain functions, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers, see para 155 ante.

586. Power of court to give directions.

Where the court makes an emergency protection order<sup>1</sup> it may give such directions (if any) as it considers appropriate with respect to the contact which is or is not to be allowed between the child<sup>2</sup> and any named person<sup>3</sup>, and with respect to the medical or psychiatric examination or other assessment of the child<sup>4</sup>. However, where any direction for medical or psychiatric examination is given, the child may, if he is of sufficient understanding to make an informed decision, refuse to submit to the examination or other assessment<sup>5</sup>. A direction relating to medical or psychiatric examination may be to the effect that there is to be no such examination or assessment, or no such examination or assessment unless the court directs otherwise<sup>6</sup>.

An emergency protection order may also authorise the applicant to enter premises specified by the order and search for the child with respect to whom the order is made<sup>7</sup> and the court may, subject to certain conditions, make an order authorising the applicant to search for another child who is reasonably believed to be on the premises<sup>8</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'emergency protection order' see para 583 note 1 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

3 Children Act 1989 s 44(6)(a). Such a direction may impose conditions: s 44(8). Subject to any such direction the child must be allowed reasonable contact with specified persons: see s 44(13); and para 584 ante. Directions may be given when the emergency protection order is made or at any time while it is in force, and may be varied at any time on the application of any person falling within any class of person prescribed by rules of court for these purposes: s 44(9). The following persons are prescribed by rules of court: (1) the parties to the application for the order in respect of which it is sought to vary the directions; (2) the children's guardian; (3) the local authority in whose area the child concerned is ordinarily resident; and (4) any person named in the directions: Family Proceedings Courts (Children Act 1989) Rules 1991, SI 1991/1395, r 2(4) (amended by SI 2001/818); Family Proceedings Rules 1991, SI 1991/1247, r. 4.2(4) (amended by SI 2001/821). 8 See ibid s 48(4). The court must be satisfied that there is reasonable cause to believe that there may be on the premises in question another child with respect to whom an emergency protection order ought to be made: see s 48(4). Wherever it is reasonably practicable to do so, this order must name the child, and where it does not do so it must describe him as clearly as possible: s 48(13). Where an order has been made under s 48(4), the child concerned has been found on the premises and the applicant is satisfied that the grounds for making an emergency protection order exist with respect to him, the order has effect as if it were an emergency protection order: s 48(5). Where such an order has been made, the applicant must notify the court of its effect: s 48(6). A person is guilty of an offence if he intentionally obstructs any person in the exercise of the power of entry and search under s 48(4): s 48(7). A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale: s 48(8).

587. Exclusion requirements and undertakings.

Where, on being satisfied that an emergency protection order should be made, the court makes such an order in respect of a child<sup>1</sup> it may include an exclusion requirement in the order<sup>2</sup> if it is satisfied that: (1) there is reasonable cause to believe that, if a person ('the relevant person') is excluded from a dwelling house in which the child lives then, in the case of an application by an applicant for an emergency protection order<sup>3</sup>, the child will not be likely to suffer significant harm<sup>4</sup> even though the child is not removed<sup>5</sup> or does not remain in the place in which he is then being accommodated<sup>6</sup>, or, in the case of an application by the local authority<sup>7</sup> or an authorised person<sup>8</sup> the inquiries being made with respect to the child will cease to be frustrated<sup>9</sup>; and (2) another person living in the dwelling house (whether a parent of the child or some other person) is able and willing to give to the child the care which it would be reasonable to expect a parent to give to him, and that person consents to the inclusion of the exclusion requirement<sup>10</sup>. An exclusion requirement may require the relevant person to leave the dwelling house in which he is living with the child, prohibit him from entering the dwelling house in which the child lives, and exclude him from a defined area in which the dwelling house in which the child lives is situated<sup>11</sup>. Where the court makes an emergency protection order containing an exclusion requirement, it may attach a power of arrest to the exclusion requirement<sup>12</sup>, enabling a constable to arrest without warrant any person whom he has reasonable cause to believe may be in breach of the requirement<sup>13</sup>.

The court may provide that the exclusion requirement is to have effect for a shorter period than the other provisions of the order<sup>14</sup>. Equally, where the court attaches a power of arrest to an exclusion requirement, it may provide that the power of arrest is to have effect for a shorter period than the exclusion requirement<sup>15</sup>, although the court may extend either of these specified periods on one or more occasions on an application to vary or discharge the emergency protection order<sup>16</sup>. In any event, if while an emergency protection order containing an exclusion requirement is in force, the applicant has removed the child from the dwelling house from which the relevant person is excluded to other accommodation for a continuous period of more than 24 hours, the order ceases to have effect in so far as it imposes the exclusion requirement<sup>17</sup>.

In any case where the court has power to include an exclusion requirement in an emergency protection order, the court may accept an undertaking from the relevant person<sup>18</sup>, although no power of arrest may be attached to any such undertaking<sup>19</sup>. An undertaking is enforceable as if it were an order of the court, and ceases to have effect if, while it is in force, the applicant has removed the child from the dwelling house for a continuous period of more than 24 hours<sup>20</sup>.

588. Ancillary powers of the court.

Where it appears to the court making an emergency protection order<sup>1</sup> that adequate information as to the whereabouts of the child<sup>2</sup> is not available to the applicant for the order but is available to another person, it may include in the order a provision requiring that other person to disclose, if asked to do so by the applicant, any information that he may have as to the child's whereabouts<sup>3</sup>.

Powers of entry and search for a child may be granted by the court<sup>4</sup>. Where on an application made by any person for a warrant, it appears to the court: (1) that a person attempting to exercise powers under an emergency protection order has been prevented from doing so by being refused entry to the premises concerned or access to the child concerned; or (2) that any such person is likely to be so prevented from exercising any such powers, it may issue a warrant<sup>5</sup> authorising a constable to assist the person mentioned in head (1) or head (2) above in the exercise of his powers, using reasonable force if necessary<sup>6</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'emergency protection order' see para 583 note 1 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

3 Children Act 1989 s 48(1). No person is excused from complying with such a requirement on the ground that complying might incriminate him or his spouse or civil partner of an offence, but a statement or admission made in complying is not admissible in evidence against either of them in proceedings for any offence other than perjury: s 48(2) (amended by the Civil Partnership Act 2004 s 261(1), Sch 27 para 130).

4 See the Children Act 1989 s 48(3); and para 588 ante.

5 The application for a warrant must be made in the manner and form prescribed by rules of court: ibid s 48(12). See the Family Proceedings Courts (Children Act 1989) Rules 1991, SI 1991/1395, r 4(4) (amended by SI 1992/2068; SI 1994/3156; SI 2005/617); the Family Proceedings Courts (Children Act 1989) Rules 1991, SI 1991/1395, Sch 1 (amended by SI 2003/2840; SI 2004/3376; SI 2005/413; SI 2005/2930); the Family Proceedings Rules 1991, SI 1991/1247, r 4.4(4) (amended by SI 1991/2113; SI 1992/2067; SI 1994/3155); and the Family Proceedings Rules 1991, SI 1991/1247, Appendix 1 (amended by SI 2004/3375). Wherever it is reasonably practicable to do so, an application for a warrant and any such warrant must name the child, and where it does not do so it must describe him as clearly as possible: Children Act 1989 s 48(13).

6 Ibid s 48(9). Every warrant issued under s 48 must be addressed to, and executed by, a constable, who must be accompanied by the person applying for the warrant if that person so desires, and the court by whom the warrant is issued does not direct otherwise: s 48(10). The court granting an application for a warrant may direct that the constable concerned may, in executing the warrant, be accompanied by a registered medical practitioner, registered nurse or registered midwife if he so chooses: s 48(11) (amended by the Nursing and Midwifery Order 2001, SI 2002/253, art 54(3), Sch 5 para 10(b)). The reference to a registered midwife is to such a midwife who is also registered in the Specialist Community Public Health Nurses' Part of the register maintained under the Nursing and Midwifery Order 2001, SI 2002/253, art 5 (see MEDICAL PROFESSIONS vol 30(1) (Reissue) para 717): Children Act 1989 s 48(11A) (added by the Health Act 1999 (Consequential Amendments) (Nursing and Midwifery) Order 2004, SI 2004/1771, art 3, Schedule Pt 1 para 4(b)).

589. Duty of the applicant to return the child.

Where an emergency protection order is in force with respect to a child<sup>1</sup> and the child has been removed<sup>2</sup>, but it appears to the applicant to be safe for the child to be returned, or the child has been prevented from being removed<sup>3</sup> but it appears that it is safe for him to be allowed to be removed from the place in question, the applicant must return the child or, as the case may be, allow him to be removed<sup>4</sup>. Where the applicant is so required to return the child he must return the child to the care of the person from whose care he was removed<sup>5</sup>, or, if that is not reasonably practicable, to the care of: (1) a parent of his<sup>6</sup>; (2) any person who is not a parent of his but who has parental responsibility<sup>7</sup> for him<sup>8</sup>; or (3) such other person as the applicant, with the agreement of the court, considers appropriate<sup>9</sup>. Where the applicant has been required<sup>10</sup> to return the child or allow him to be removed, he may again exercise his powers with respect to the child at any time while the emergency protection order remains in force if it appears to him that a change in the circumstances of the case makes it necessary for him to do so<sup>11</sup>.

590. Duration and discharge of orders.

An emergency protection order has effect for such period, not exceeding eight days, as may be specified in the order<sup>1</sup>. The court may on application<sup>2</sup> extend the period during which the order is to have effect by such period, not exceeding seven days, as it thinks fit, but it may do so only if it has reasonable cause to believe that the child concerned is likely to suffer significant harm if the order is not extended<sup>3</sup>. An emergency protection order may be extended only once<sup>4</sup>.

An application may be made for the discharge of an emergency protection order by the child, a parent of his, any person who is not a parent but who has parental responsibility<sup>5</sup> for him, or any person with whom the child was living immediately before the making of the order<sup>6</sup>. On the application of a person who is not entitled to apply for the order to be discharged, but who is a person to whom an exclusion requirement<sup>7</sup> contained in the order applies, an emergency protection order may be varied or discharged by the court in so far as it imposes the exclusion requirement<sup>8</sup>. Where the person who would otherwise be entitled to apply for the emergency protection order to be discharged was given notice, in accordance with rules of court<sup>9</sup>, of the hearing at which the order was made and was present at the hearing that person may not apply for the emergency protection order to be discharged<sup>10</sup>; nor is there any right to apply for the discharge of an order the effective period of which has been extended<sup>11</sup>. No application for the discharge of an emergency protection order may be heard before the expiry of the period of 72 hours beginning with the making of the order<sup>12</sup>.

1 Children Act 1989 s 45(1). For the meaning of 'emergency protection order' see para 583 note 1 ante. Where the court making an emergency protection order would specify a period of eight days as the period for which the order is to have effect but the last of those eight days is a public holiday (ie Christmas Day, Good Friday, a bank holiday or a Sunday) the court may specify a period which ends at noon on the first later day which is not such a holiday: s 45(2). 'Bank holiday' means a day which is a bank holiday under the Banking and Financial Dealings Act 1971 (see TIME vol 97 (2010) PARA 321); Children Act 1989 s 105(1). As to the calculation of time see generally TIME.

2 Any person who has parental responsibility for a child as a result of an emergency protection order and is entitled to apply for a care order with respect to the child may apply to the court for the period during which the emergency protection order is to have effect to be extended: ibid s 45(4). As to parental responsibility under an emergency protection order see para 584 ante.

Rules of court may be made with respect to the procedure to be followed in connection with proceedings under Pt V (ss 43-52) (as amended), and such rules may in particular make provision prescribing the persons who are to be notified of the making of an application under s 45(4) or (8): s 52(1), (2)(b)(ii). order in so far as it confers a power of arrest, whether or not any application has been made to vary or discharge any other provision of the order: Children Act 1989 s 45(8B) (added by the Family Law Act 1996 Sch 6 para 4).

TEXT AND NOTE 12--Children Act 1989 s 45(9) repealed: Children and Young Persons Act 2008 s 30, Sch 4.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/8. PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(1) PROTECTION UNDER THE CHILDREN ACT 1989/ (iii) Emergency Protection Orders/591. Procedural matters and appeals.

591. Procedural matters and appeals.

An application for an emergency protection order is normally made in the family proceedings court<sup>1</sup> and must be made in the prescribed form<sup>2</sup>. However, an application may also be made in the county court or the High Court<sup>3</sup>. An application may be made ex parte<sup>4</sup>. However, where the court refuses to make an order on an ex parte application it may direct that the application be made inter partes<sup>5</sup>. Where the application is made on notice, rules specify who is to be a respondent and who must be given notice of the proceedings<sup>6</sup>.

Regardless of any enactment or rule of law<sup>7</sup> which would otherwise prevent it from doing so, a court hearing an application for or with respect to an emergency protection order may take account of any statement contained in any report made to the court in the course of, or in connection with, the hearing, or of any evidence given during the hearing, which in the opinion of the court is relevant to the application<sup>8</sup>. A court making an emergency protection order may direct that the applicant, in exercising any power which he has by virtue of the order, may be accompanied by a registered medical practitioner, nurse or midwife if he so chooses<sup>9</sup>.

There is no appeal against: (1) the making of, or refusal to make, an emergency protection order<sup>10</sup>; (2) the extension of, or refusal to extend, the period during which the order is to have effect<sup>11</sup>; (3) the discharge of, or refusal to discharge, such an order<sup>12</sup>; (4) the giving of, or refusal to give, any direction in connection with such an order<sup>13</sup>.

1 As to the family proceedings court see para 208 note 10 ante. In such circumstances as the Lord Chancellor, after consulting the Lord Chief Justice, may by order specify, the jurisdiction of a magistrates' court to make an emergency protection order may be exercised by a single justice: Children Act 1989 s 92, Sch 11 para 3(1)(a) (amended by the Constitutional Reform Act 2005 s 15(1), Sch 5 Pt 1 paras 203, 210(1), (4)). 3 As to when an application for an emergency protection order is to be made in a county court or the High Court see para 209 ante. In those circumstances the prescribed forms are Forms C1, C11: see the Family Proceedings Rules 1991, SI 1991/1247, r 4.4(1) (amended by SI 1994/3155; SI 2004/3175); the Family Proceedings Rules 1991, SI 1991/1247, r 4.4(1A) (added by SI 1994/3155; and amended by SI 2004/3375); and the Family Proceedings Rules 1991, SI 1991/1247, Appendix 1 (amended by SI 1997/1893; SI 2004/3375; SI 2005/412; SI 2005/2922).

4 Family Proceedings Courts (Children Act 1989) Rules 1991, SI 1991/1395, r 4(4)(b). An application in the county court or High Court may be made by telephone: see the Family Proceedings Rules 1991, SI 1991/1247, r 4.4(4)(b). In the family proceedings court the applicant must file the application at the time of making it or as directed by the designated officer of the court; and he must serve a copy of the order on each respondent within 48 hours of the making of the order: see the Family Proceedings Courts (Children Act 1989) Rules 1991, SI 1991/1395, r 4(4)(b), (i), (ii) (r 4(4)(i) amended by SI 1994/3156; SI 2005/617). In the county court and High Court the applicant must file the application at the time when the application is made, or where the application is made by telephone, within 24 hours after the making of the application; and he must serve a copy of the order on each respondent within 48 hours of the making of the order: see the Family Proceedings Rules 1991, SI 1991/1247, r 4.4(4)(b), (i), (ii) (r 4.4(4)(i) amended by SI 1994/3155).

Except in 'wholly exceptional cases' these applications must be on notice. An ex parte application would normally be appropriate only in cases of genuine emergency or other great urgency, and even then some informal notice to the parents should be possible unless there are compelling reasons to believe that the child's welfare would be compromised by such advance notice. Particular care is required in the giving, recording and then passing on of a record of the evidence given in applications heard in the absence of and without the knowledge of the parents: X Council v B (emergency protection orders) [2004] EWHC 2015 (Fam), [2007] 1 FCR 512, [2005] 1 FLR 341; Haringey London Borough Council v C (E intervening) [2004] EWHC 2580 (Fam), [2005] 2 FLR 47, [2005] Fam Law 351.

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(1) PROTECTION UNDER THE CHILDREN ACT 1989/ (iii) Emergency Protection Orders/592. Power to make regulations transferring the applicant's responsibilities to the local authority.

592. Power to make regulations transferring the applicant's responsibilities to the local authority.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may by regulations provide that, where: (1) an emergency protection order has been made with respect to a child<sup>2</sup>; (2) the applicant for the order was not the local authority<sup>3</sup> within whose area the child is ordinarily resident; and (3) that local authority is of the opinion that it would be in the child's best interests for the applicant's responsibilities under the order to be transferred to it, that authority must (subject to its having complied with any requirements imposed by the regulations) be treated, for the purposes of the Children Act 1989, as though it and not the original applicant had applied for, and been granted, the order<sup>4</sup>. Such regulations may, in particular, make provision as to: (a) the considerations to which the local authority must have regard in forming an opinion as mentioned in head (3) above; and (b) the time at which responsibility under any emergency protection order is to be treated as having been transferred to a local authority<sup>5</sup>.

1 As to the Secretary of State, and the transfer of certain functions, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers, see para 155 ante.

593. Transfer of responsibilities.

Where an emergency protection order has been made with respect to a child, and the applicant for the order was not the local authority within whose area the child is ordinarily resident, and that authority is of the opinion that it would be in the child's best interests for the responsibilities of the applicant to be transferred to it, the authority is treated as though it had applied for and been granted the order<sup>1</sup>. In forming that opinion the authority must consult the applicant<sup>2</sup> and have regard to the following considerations:

- 1045 (1) the ascertainable wishes and feelings of the child, having regard to his age and understanding<sup>3</sup>;
- 1046 (2) the child's physical, emotional and educational needs for the duration of the order<sup>4</sup>;
- 1047 (3) the likely effect on the child of any change in circumstances which may be caused by the transfer of responsibilities under the order<sup>5</sup>;
- 1048 (4) the child's age, sex and family background<sup>6</sup>;
- 1049 (5) the circumstances which gave rise to the application for the emergency protection order<sup>7</sup>;
- 1050 (6) any directions of the court and other orders made in respect of the child<sup>8</sup>;
- 1051 (7) the relationship (if any) of the applicant for the emergency protection order to the child<sup>9</sup>; and
- 1052 (8) any plans which the applicant may have in respect of the child<sup>10</sup>.

When an authority has formed the opinion that a transfer of responsibilities would be in the best interests of the child, it must give notice of the date and time<sup>11</sup> of the transfer to the court which made the order, the applicant for the order, and those, other than the local authority, to whom the applicant for the order gave notice of it<sup>12</sup>.

1 Emergency Protection Orders (Transfer of Responsibilities) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/1414, reg 2. The regulations do not apply where the child to whom the emergency protection order applies is in a refuge in respect of which there is in force a Secretary of State's certificate issued under the Children Act 1989 s 51 (as amended) (see para 609 post) and the person carrying on the home or the foster parent providing the refuge, having taken account of the wishes and feelings of the child, has decided that the child should continue to be provided with refuge for the duration of the order: Emergency Protection Orders (Transfer of Responsibilities) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/1414, reg 5. #### (iv) Police Powers and Duties

594. Taking a child into police protection.

Where a constable has reasonable cause to believe that a child<sup>1</sup> would otherwise be likely to suffer significant harm<sup>2</sup> he may remove the child to suitable accommodation and keep him there or take such steps as are reasonable to ensure that the child's removal from any hospital, or other place, in which he is then being accommodated is prevented<sup>3</sup>. A child with respect to whom a constable has exercised these powers is referred to as having been taken into police protection<sup>4</sup>.

The powers of the police cannot in practice be exercised unless and until a child is found, and a constable has no right to enter and search premises to remove a child without a warrant<sup>5</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

2 As to the meaning of 'significant harm' see para 274 ante. The power may be used where a police officer attends a domestic dispute and finds a child living in unhygienic conditions: see the Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.71. The power may also be used where the child's parents have been arrested, or when children are found in unsuitable places, or when they are considered to be at risk in case of abuse investigations. As to the guidance and regulations generally see para 163 ante.

3 Children Act 1989 s 46(1). The powers are significant in the context of child protection not least because it is only a constable who has power to take compulsory measures relating to a child without first obtaining a court order. They may be exercised notwithstanding the fact that an emergency protection order under s 44 (see para 583 et seq ante) is in force in relation to the child. However, where a police officer knows there is such an order in force, he should not exercise the s 46 power of removal unless there are compelling reasons to do so, otherwise he will be acting unlawfully: Langley v Liverpool City Council [2005] EWCA Civ 1173, [2006] 2 All ER 202, [2006] 1 WLR 375, [2006] 1 FLR 342.

5 As to the court's power to authorise entry and search of premises see para 586 ante. However, in certain circumstances the police might exercise the general power to enter and search premises without a warrant, ie to arrest a person for an indictable offence, to arrest a person for a breach of the peace, to recapture a person unlawfully at large, to save life and limb, or prevent serious damage to property: see the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 17 (as amended); and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 884.

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(1) PROTECTION UNDER THE CHILDREN ACT 1989/(iv) Police Powers and Duties/595. Duties and responsibilities of police; the designated officer.

595. Duties and responsibilities of police; the designated officer.

As soon as is reasonably practicable after taking a child<sup>1</sup> into police protection, the constable concerned must secure that the case is inquired into by the designated officer (that is, the officer designated by the chief officer of the police area concerned)<sup>2</sup>. On completing that inquiry, the designated officer must release the child from police protection unless he considers that there is still reasonable cause for believing that the child would be likely to suffer significant harm<sup>3</sup> if released<sup>4</sup>. While a child is being kept in police protection, the designated officer may apply on behalf of the appropriate authority<sup>5</sup> for an emergency protection order to be made<sup>6</sup> in respect of the child<sup>7</sup>, but such an application may be made whether or not the authority knows of it or agrees to its being made<sup>8</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

2 Children Act 1989 s 46(3)(e). As to chief officers of police see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) para 178 et seq; and as to police areas see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) paras 136-138.

3 As to the meaning of 'significant harm' see para 274 ante.

4 Children Act 1989 s 46(5). The Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.74, makes it clear that it is envisaged that the designated officer will have an important liaison role in situations in which the police become involved with a child who is at risk of suffering significant harm. As to the guidance and regulations generally see para 163 ante.

5 I.e. the local authority in whose area the child is ordinarily resident: see the Children Act 1989 s 46(3)(b); and para 596 post.

6 I.e. under ibid s 44: see para 583 et seq ante.

7 Ibid s 46(7). Rules of court may be made with respect to the procedure to be followed in connection with proceedings under Pt V (ss 43-52) (as amended), and such rules may, in particular make provision prescribing the persons who are to be notified of the making of an application under s 46(7): s 52(1), (2)(b)(ii). As to the rules of court in family proceedings see paras 206-207 ante.

8 Ibid s 46(8). Good and effective channels of communications should mean that the police never make such an application without the local authority's knowledge and agreement. If they do so without local authority agreement protection can only extend for the duration of the order. The police cannot seek an extension to an emergency protection order, nor can they commence care proceedings: Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.74.

596. Further duties of constable who has exercised powers.

In addition to his duty to secure an investigation by a designated officer<sup>1</sup>, a constable who has taken a child<sup>2</sup> into police protection is required, as soon as is reasonably practicable after doing so:

- 1053 (1) to inform the local authority<sup>3</sup> within whose area the child was found of the steps that have been, and are proposed to be, taken with respect to the child<sup>4</sup> and the reasons for taking them<sup>5</sup>;
- 1054 (2) to give details to the authority within whose area the child is ordinarily resident ('the appropriate authority') of the place at which the child is being accommodated<sup>6</sup>;
- 1055 (3) to inform the child (if he appears capable of understanding) of the steps that have been taken with respect to him, the reasons for taking them and the further steps that may be taken with respect to him<sup>7</sup>;
- 1056 (4) to take such steps as are reasonably practicable to discover the wishes and feelings of the child<sup>8</sup>; and
- 1057 (5) where the child was taken into police protection by being removed to accommodation not provided by or on behalf of a local authority, or as a refuge<sup>9</sup>, to secure that the child is moved to accommodation which is so provided<sup>10</sup>.

The constable concerned must, as soon as is reasonably practicable after taking a child into police protection, take such steps as are reasonably practicable to inform: (a) the child's parents; (b) every person who is not a parent of his but who has parental responsibility<sup>11</sup> for him; and (c) any other person with whom the child was living immediately before being taken into police protection, of the steps that he has taken with respect to the child<sup>12</sup>, the reasons for taking them and the further steps that may be taken with respect to him<sup>13</sup>.

Where a child<sup>1</sup> has been taken into police protection, the designated officer<sup>2</sup> must allow the following persons to have such contact (if any) with the child as, in the opinion of the designated officer, is both reasonable and in the child's best interests<sup>3</sup>: (1) the child's parents<sup>4</sup>; (2) any person who is not a parent of the child but who has parental responsibility<sup>5</sup> for him<sup>6</sup>; (3) any person with whom the child was living immediately before he was taken into police protection<sup>7</sup>; (4) any person in whose favour a contact order is in force with respect to the child<sup>8</sup>; (5) any person who is allowed to have contact with the child by virtue of a care contact order<sup>9</sup>; and (6) any person acting on behalf of any of those persons<sup>10</sup>.

As with all provisions of the Children Act 1989 relating to contact, the wishes and feelings of the child should be fully considered: see the Department of Health publication The Children Act 1989: Guidance and Regulations Volume 1 Court Orders (HMSO, 1991) para 4.76. ### 599. Duties of the local authority.

Where a local authority<sup>1</sup> is informed<sup>2</sup> that a child<sup>3</sup> who lives, or is found, in its area is in police protection it must make or cause to be made such inquiries as it considers necessary to enable it to decide whether it should take any action to safeguard or promote the child's welfare<sup>4</sup>. ## (v) Local Authority Investigations

601. Duty of local authority to conduct inquiries.

Where a local authority<sup>1</sup> is informed that a child<sup>2</sup> who lives, or is found, in its area is either the subject of an emergency protection order<sup>3</sup> or is in police protection<sup>4</sup>, or has contravened a ban imposed by a curfew notice<sup>5</sup>, the authority must make or cause to be made such inquiries as it considers necessary to enable it to decide whether it should take any action to safeguard or promote the child's welfare<sup>6</sup>. The same duty arises where a local authority has reasonable cause to suspect that a child who lives or is found in its area is suffering or is likely to suffer significant harm<sup>7</sup>.

Where a local authority has obtained an emergency protection order with respect to a child, the authority must make or cause to be made such inquiries as it considers necessary to enable it to decide what action it should take to safeguard or promote the child's welfare<sup>8</sup>.

Inquiries must in particular be directed towards establishing: (1) whether the authority should make any application to the court, or exercise any of its other powers under the Children Act 1989 or the Crime and Disorder Act 1998<sup>9</sup>, with respect to the child<sup>10</sup>; (2) whether, in the case of a child with respect to whom an emergency protection order has been made and who is not in accommodation provided by or on behalf of the local authority, it would be in the child's best interests while an emergency protection order remains in force for him to be in such accommodation<sup>11</sup>; and (3) whether, in the case of a child who has been taken into police protection, it would be in the child's best interests for the authority to ask that the designated officer<sup>12</sup> make an application on behalf of the authority for an emergency protection order<sup>13</sup>.

602. Conduct of the inquiries.

Where the local authority<sup>1</sup> is required to make or cause to be made, such inquiries as it considers necessary to enable it to decide what action it should take to safeguard or promote a child's<sup>2</sup> welfare<sup>3</sup> it must (with a view to enabling it to determine what action, if any, to take with respect to him) take such steps as are reasonably practicable to obtain access to the child or to ensure that access to him is obtained on the authority's behalf by a person authorised by it for the purpose, unless it is satisfied that it already has sufficient information with respect to the child<sup>4</sup>. Where, in the course of such inquiries, any officer of the local authority concerned or the person authorised by the authority to act on its behalf in connection with those inquiries is refused access to the child concerned or is denied information as to his whereabouts, the authority must apply for an emergency protection order<sup>5</sup>, a child assessment order<sup>6</sup>, a care order<sup>7</sup> or a supervision order<sup>8</sup> with respect to the child unless it is satisfied that the child's welfare can be satisfactorily safeguarded without its doing so<sup>9</sup>.

Where a local authority is conducting inquiries<sup>10</sup>, it is the duty of any local authority, any local education authority<sup>11</sup>, any local housing authority<sup>12</sup>, any local health board<sup>13</sup>, special health authority<sup>14</sup>, primary care trust<sup>15</sup>, national health service trust<sup>16</sup> or NHS foundation trust<sup>17</sup> and any person authorised by the Secretary of State<sup>18</sup> for the purpose, to assist a local authority with those inquiries, in particular by providing relevant information and advice, if called upon by the authority to do so<sup>19</sup>. However, there is no obligation on any person to assist a local authority where doing so would be unreasonable in all the circumstances of the case<sup>20</sup>. Where a local authority is making inquiries with respect to a child who appears to be ordinarily resident within the area of another authority, the first-mentioned authority must consult the other authority, which may undertake the necessary inquiries in its place<sup>21</sup>.

602 Conduct of the inquiries

NOTES--Certain functions under provisions mentioned in this paragraph are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3, see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/8. PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(1) PROTECTION UNDER THE CHILDREN ACT 1989/(v) Local Authority Investigations/603. Matters arising from inquiries; reviews.

603. Matters arising from inquiries; reviews.

If on the conclusion of any inquiries<sup>1</sup> a local authority<sup>2</sup> decides not to apply for an emergency protection order<sup>3</sup>, a child assessment order<sup>4</sup>, a care order<sup>5</sup> or a supervision order<sup>6</sup> with respect to the child, the authority must consider whether it would be appropriate to review the case at a later date, and if it decides that it would be it must determine the date on which that review is to begin<sup>7</sup>. The same requirement applies on the conclusion of any such review, if the authority decides not to apply for one of the orders mentioned above<sup>8</sup>.

Where, as a result of complying with its duty to conduct inquiries, a local authority concludes that it should take action to safeguard or promote the child's welfare, it must take that action (so far as it is both within its power and reasonably practicable for it to do so)<sup>9</sup>.

For the purposes of making a determination as to the action to be taken with respect to a child, a local authority must, so far as is reasonably practicable, and consistent with the child's welfare, ascertain the child's wishes and feelings regarding the action to be taken with respect to him, and give due consideration (having regard to his age and understanding) to those wishes and feelings<sup>10</sup>.

Where it appears to the authority from its inquiries that there are matters connected with the child's education which should be investigated, the authority must consult the relevant local education authority<sup>11</sup>.

1 le inquiries made under the Children Act 1989 s 47(1) (as amended): see paras 599, 601 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'local authority' see para 138 note 13 ante.

3 As to emergency protection orders see para 583 et seq ante.

4 As to child assessment orders see para 578 ante.

5 As to care orders see para 276 et seq ante.

6 As to supervision orders see para 281 et seq ante.

7 See the Children Act 1989 s 47(7).

8 See ibid s 47(7).

9 Ibid s 47(8). The action which is taken to safeguard or promote the child's welfare is not limited by the Children Act 1989 to instituting legal proceedings. For example, a local authority might find as a result of the inquiries which it has made that a child is 'in need' in which case it would be under certain duties in relation to him, and would consider whether to exercise its powers in respect of such children: see Pt III (ss 17-30) (as amended); and para 851 et seq post.

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(1) PROTECTION UNDER THE CHILDREN ACT 1989/(v) Local Authority Investigations/604. Other duties of local authority to conduct investigations.

604. Other duties of local authority to conduct investigations.

A further duty<sup>1</sup> to make inquiries into the circumstances of a child<sup>2</sup> arises where: (1) a question arises in family proceedings<sup>3</sup> with respect to the welfare of any child and it appears to the court that it may be appropriate for a care order or supervision order to be made with respect to him, and the court directs an investigation<sup>4</sup>; (2) the court discharges an education supervision order and directs the local authority to carry out an investigation<sup>5</sup>; and (3) a local education authority notifies the local authority that a child who is subject to an education supervision order is persistently failing to comply with any direction given under the order<sup>6</sup>.

1    le a separate duty from that described in paras 601-603 ante.

2    For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

3    For the meaning of 'family proceedings' see para 199 ante.

4    See the Children Act 1989 s 37(1); and para 272 ante. As to care orders and supervision orders see para 270 et seq ante. PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(1) PROTECTION UNDER THE CHILDREN ACT 1989/(vi) Abduction and Recovery of Children in Care or at Risk/605. Abduction of children in care, etc.

(vi) Abduction and Recovery of Children in Care or at Risk

605. Abduction of children in care, etc.

A person is guilty of an offence<sup>1</sup> if, knowingly and without lawful authority or reasonable excuse he: (1) takes a child<sup>2</sup> away from the responsible person<sup>3</sup>; (2) keeps such a child away from the responsible person<sup>4</sup>; or (3) induces, assists or incites such a child to run away or stay away from the responsible person<sup>5</sup>. However, these provisions do not apply in relation to any person providing a refuge for any child in a home in respect of which a certificate is in force<sup>6</sup>, nor in relation to a foster parent in respect of whom a certificate is in force, who provides a refuge for any child in accordance with arrangements made by a local authority<sup>7</sup> or voluntary organisation<sup>8</sup>.

The wrongful removal or detention of a child may also give rise to a number of other offences, for example under the Child Abduction Act 1984<sup>9</sup>.

1 The offence is punishable on summary conviction by imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale, or both: Children Act 1989 s 49(3). As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante. As to offences under the Children Act 1989 committed by bodies corporate see para 551 note 3 ante.

2 The offence is restricted to a child who is: (1) in care; (2) the subject of an emergency protection order; or (3) in police protection: ibid s 49(2). For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante. As to care orders see paras 276 ante. As to emergency protection orders see para 583 et seq ante. As to the provisions of the Children Act 1989 dealing with police protection see paras 594-600 ante.

3 Ibid s 49(1)(a). The 'responsible person' means any person who for the time being has care of the child by virtue of the care order, the emergency protection order, or s 46 (see paras 594-598 ante): s 49(2).

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(1) PROTECTION UNDER THE CHILDREN ACT 1989/(vi) Abduction and Recovery of Children in Care or at Risk/606. Power to make orders for the recovery of abducted children.

606. Power to make orders for the recovery of abducted children.

Where it appears to the court that there is reason to believe that a child<sup>1</sup> has been unlawfully taken away or is being unlawfully kept away from a responsible person<sup>2</sup>, or has run away or is staying away from the responsible person, or is missing, the court may make a recovery order<sup>3</sup>. The court may make such an order only on the application of a person who has parental responsibility<sup>4</sup> for the child by virtue of a care order or emergency protection order, or, where the child is in police protection, the designated officer<sup>5</sup>. The order must name the child and also any person who has parental responsibility for the child by virtue of a care order or emergency protection order, or, where the child is in police protection, the designated officer<sup>6</sup>.

1     Is a child to whom the Children Act 1989 s 50 applies. Section 50 only applies to a child who is: (1) in care; (2) the subject of an emergency protection order; or (3) in police protection: see ss 49(2), 50(2); and para 605 ante. As to care orders see para 276 ante. As to emergency protection orders see para 583 et seq ante. As to the provisions of the Children Act 1989 dealing with police protection see paras 594-600 ante. ### 607. Effect of recovery order.

A recovery order<sup>1</sup> (1) operates as a direction to any person who is in a position to do so to produce the child<sup>2</sup> on request to any authorised person<sup>3</sup>; (2) authorises the removal of the child by any authorised person<sup>4</sup>; (3) requires any person who has information as to the child's whereabouts to disclose that information, if asked to do so, to a constable or an officer of the court<sup>5</sup>; and (4) authorises a constable to enter any premises specified in the order and search for the child, using reasonable force if necessary<sup>6</sup>.

Where a child is made the subject of a recovery order whilst being looked after by a local authority<sup>7</sup>, any reasonable expenses incurred by an authorised person in giving effect to the order are recoverable from the authority<sup>8</sup>.

Other provisions relating to recovery of children are to be found in the Family Law Act 1986<sup>9</sup>. The High Court has power to make orders in the exercise of its inherent jurisdiction<sup>10</sup>.

2    For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

3    Children Act 1989 s 50(3)(a). An 'authorised person' is: (1) any person specified by the court; (2) any constable; and (3) any person authorised, after the recovery order is made and by a person who has parental responsibility for the child by virtue of a care order or an emergency protection order, to exercise any power under a recovery order: s 50(7). Where the authorisation is under head (3) supra, it must identify the recovery order, and any person claiming to be authorised must, if asked to do so, produce some duly authenticated document showing that he is authorised: see s 50(8). For the meaning of 'parental responsibility' see para 134 ante. As to parental responsibility under a care order see para 276 ante; and as to parental responsibility under an emergency protection order see para 584 ante.

4    Ibid s 50(3)(b). A person is guilty of an offence if he intentionally obstructs an authorised person exercising the power to remove a child: s 50(9). A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale: s 50(10). As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante. As to offences under the Children Act 1989 committed by bodies corporate see para 551 note 3 ante.

5    Ibid s 50(3)(c). A person is not excused from complying with a request for information about a child's whereabouts on the ground that complying with it might incriminate the person or his spouse or civil partner of an offence, but a statement or admission made in complying is not admissible in evidence against either of them in proceedings for an offence other than perjury: s 50(11) (amended by the Civil Partnership Act 2004 s 261(1), Sch 27 para 131).

6    Children Act 1989 s 50(3)(d). Premises may be specified for this purpose only if it appears to the court that there are reasonable grounds for believing the child to be on them: s 50(6).

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(1) PROTECTION UNDER THE CHILDREN ACT 1989/(vi) Abduction and Recovery of Children in Care or at Risk/608. Recovery of child absconding from place of safety.

608. Recovery of child absconding from place of safety.

- 1058 (1) from a place of safety<sup>4</sup> to which he has been taken<sup>5</sup>; or
- 1059 (2) from local authority accommodation<sup>6</sup>: (a) in which he is required to live<sup>7</sup>; or (b) to which he has been remanded<sup>8</sup>; or (c) to which he has been remanded or committed<sup>9</sup>, he may be arrested by a constable<sup>10</sup> anywhere in the United Kingdom<sup>11</sup> or Channel Islands without a warrant<sup>12</sup>.

A person so arrested must be conducted to: (i) the place of safety<sup>13</sup>; (ii) the local authority accommodation<sup>14</sup>; or (iii) such other place as the responsible person may direct<sup>15</sup>, at the responsible person's expense<sup>16</sup>.

If a magistrates' court is satisfied by information on oath that there are reasonable grounds for believing that a person specified in the information can produce a person who is absent as mentioned in head (1) or head (2) above, the court may issue a summons directed to the person so specified and requiring him to attend and produce the absent person before the court, and a person who without reasonable excuse fails to comply with any such requirement is, without prejudice to any liability<sup>17</sup>, guilty of an offence<sup>18</sup>.

Without prejudice to its powers<sup>19</sup>, a magistrates' court may, if it is satisfied by information on oath that there are reasonable grounds for believing that a person who is absent as mentioned in head (1), (2)(a) or (2)(b) above is in premises specified in the information, issue a search warrant authorising a constable to search the premises for that person<sup>20</sup>.

A court must not issue a summons or search warrant<sup>21</sup> in any case where the person who is absent is a person to whom head (1) or head (2) above applies, unless the information required when issuing a summons or search warrant<sup>22</sup> is given by the responsible person<sup>23</sup>.

A person who knowingly compels, persuades, incites or assists another person to become or continue to be absent as mentioned in head (1) or head (2) above is guilty of an offence<sup>24</sup>.

- 1060 (A) from a place of safety in which he is being kept<sup>27</sup>;
- 1061 (B) from a place which, though not a place of safety such as is mentioned in head (A) above, is a residential establishment in which he is required to reside<sup>28</sup> or a hospital or other institution in which he is temporarily residing while subject to such a requirement (a 'relevant place')<sup>29</sup>; or
- 1062 (C) from a person who, in connection with a supervision requirement<sup>30</sup>, has control over him while he is being taken to, is awaiting being taken to, or (whether or not by reason of being on leave) is temporarily away from, such place of safety or relevant place<sup>31</sup>, may be arrested without warrant in any part of the United Kingdom and taken to the place of safety or as the case may be the relevant place; and a court which is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the child is within any premises may, where there is such power of arrest, grant a warrant authorising a constable to enter those premises and search for the child, using reasonable force if necessary<sup>32</sup>.

A person who:

- 1063 (aa) knowingly assists or induces a child to abscond in circumstances which render the child liable to arrest under the provisions described above<sup>33</sup>;
- 1064 (bb) knowingly and persistently attempts to induce a child so to abscond<sup>34</sup>;
- 1065 (cc) knowingly harbours or conceals a child who has so absconded<sup>35</sup>; or
- 1066 (dd) knowingly prevents a child from returning to the place or person to whom he should return<sup>36</sup>, is guilty of an offence<sup>37</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'young person' see para 3 ante.

3 For these purposes, 'the responsible person' means the person who made the arrangements under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 65, Sch 7 para 7(4) (see para 1357 post) or, as the case may be, the authority designated under s 63, Sch 6 para 5 (see para 1347 post), Sch 7 para 7(8) (see para 1357 post) or the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23 (see para 1247 et seq post): s 32(1C) (added by the Children Act 1989 s 108(4), Sch 12 para 27(1); and amended by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 ss 165(1), 167(1), Sch 9 para 41(1), (3)).

4 'Place of safety' means a community home provided by a local authority or a controlled community home, any police station, or any hospital, surgery, or any other suitable place, the occupier of which is willing temporarily to receive a child or young person: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 107(1) (amended by the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 72(3), Sch 5 para 12); definition applied by the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 70(1). ## (vii) Refuges for Children at Risk

609. Certification of refuges for children at risk.

Where it is proposed to use a voluntary home<sup>1</sup> or private children's home<sup>2</sup> to provide a refuge for children<sup>3</sup> who appear to be at risk of harm, the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup> may issue a certificate with respect to that home<sup>5</sup>. Where a local authority<sup>6</sup> or voluntary organisation<sup>7</sup> arranges for a foster parent<sup>8</sup> to provide such a refuge, the Secretary of State may issue a certificate with respect to that foster parent<sup>9</sup>. Where a certificate is in force with respect to a home, the persons providing a refuge for children in that home are not liable to prosecution for certain offences<sup>10</sup>. Similarly, if a certificate is in force with respect to a foster parent, that foster parent is not liable to prosecution for those offences in relation to the provision by him of a refuge for any child in accordance with arrangements made by the local authority or voluntary organisation<sup>11</sup>.

The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision as to the manner in which certificates may be issued, impose requirements which must be complied with while any certificate is in force, and provide for the withdrawal of certificates in prescribed circumstances<sup>12</sup>. In exercise of this power, regulations have been made which provide that the Secretary of State may withdraw a certificate at any time where: (1) a person providing a refuge fails to comply with the requirements<sup>13</sup> regarding the admittance of a child to a refuge<sup>14</sup>; (2) a person providing a refuge in a home fails to comply with requirements relating to the conduct of children's homes<sup>15</sup>; (3) a foster parent providing a refuge fails to comply with certain requirements contained in the agreement relating to him<sup>16</sup>; (4) the person providing the refuge or any person assisting him in that respect has had proceedings instituted against him in relation to, or has been convicted of, any criminal offence<sup>17</sup>. Where a certificate is withdrawn the person carrying on the voluntary home or registered children's home in respect of which, or the foster parent in respect of whom, it was issued must return it immediately to the Secretary of State<sup>18</sup>.

610. Conduct of refuges.

While a certificate is in force with respect to a home or foster parent<sup>1</sup>, a child<sup>2</sup> may not be provided with a refuge unless it appears that the child is at risk of harm<sup>3</sup> unless the child is or continues to be provided with a refuge<sup>4</sup>. As soon as is reasonably practicable after admitting a child to a home for the purpose of providing a refuge or after a foster parent provides a refuge for a child, and in any event within 24 hours of such provision, the person providing the refuge for the child must notify the designated officer<sup>5</sup> that a child has been admitted to the home or provided with refuge by a foster parent, together with the telephone number by which the person providing the refuge for the child may be contacted<sup>6</sup>. He must also notify the designated officer of the child's name and last permanent address, if he knows those details<sup>7</sup>. As soon as is reasonably practicable after providing the refuge for the child, and in any event within 24 hours of becoming aware of the identity of the responsible person<sup>8</sup> for the child, the person providing the refuge must give to the designated officer the name and address of the responsible person<sup>9</sup>.

Where the designated officer has been notified or is otherwise aware that the child is being provided with refuge, and has been notified or is otherwise aware of the name and address of a responsible person, the designated officer must inform the responsible person that the child is being provided with refuge and by whom it is being provided, and notify the responsible person of the telephone number by which the person providing the refuge may be contacted<sup>10</sup>. He must not, however, disclose to any person the address of the place at which the refuge is being provided<sup>11</sup>.

No child may be provided with a refuge in any one place for a continuous period of more than 14 days or for more than 21 days in any period of three months<sup>12</sup>.

Where a child ceases to be provided with a refuge, the person who provided him with the refuge must notify the designated officer<sup>13</sup>.

7 See ibid reg 3(3)(b), (c). Where subsequently the person providing the refuge discovers the child's name or last permanent address he must immediately notify the designated officer accordingly: reg 3(1), (4).

8 The 'responsible person' in relation to a child means: (1) except where a person has care of a child as mentioned in head (2) infra: (a) a parent of his; (b) a person (not being a parent) who has parental responsibility for him; and (c) any person who for the time being has care of him (not being a person providing a refuge); or (2) any person who has care of him by virtue of a care order, an emergency protection order or the provisions of the Children Act 1989 relating to police protection: see ibid reg 2(1). For the meaning of 'parental responsibility' see para 134 ante. As to care orders see para 276 et seq ante. As to emergency protection orders see para 583 et seq ante. ## (2) PROTECTION FROM CRUELTY AND DANGER

(i) Protection from Cruelty

611. Cruelty.

If any person who has attained the age of 16 years and has responsibility for any child or young person under that age, wilfully assaults, ill-treats, neglects, abandons or exposes him, or causes or procures him to be assaulted, ill-treated, neglected, abandoned, or exposed in a manner likely to cause him unnecessary suffering or injury to health (including injury to or loss of sight or hearing, or limb or organ of the body, and any mental derangement), that person is guilty of an offence<sup>1</sup>.

A parent or other person legally liable to maintain a child or young person or the legal guardian of a child or young person is deemed to have neglected him in a manner likely to cause injury to his health if he has failed to provide adequate food, clothing, medical aid or lodging for him, or if, having been unable otherwise to provide such food, clothing, medical aid or lodging, he has failed to take steps to procure it to be provided under the enactments applicable in that regard<sup>2</sup>.

Where it is proved that the death of an infant under three years of age was caused by suffocation (not being suffocation caused by disease or the presence of any foreign body in the throat or air passages of the infant) while the infant was in bed with some other person who has attained the age of 16 years, that other person must, if he was when he went to bed, under the influence of drink, be deemed to have neglected the infant in a manner likely to cause injury to its health<sup>3</sup>.

<sup>1</sup> See the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 1(1) (amended by the Children Act 1989 s 108(4), (5), Sch 12 para 2, Sch 13 para 2); and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 143. A person may be convicted of an offence notwithstanding: (1) that actual suffering or injury to health, or the likelihood of actual suffering or injury to health, was obviated by the action of another person; or (2) the death of the child or young person in question: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 1(3). A person guilty of an offence under s 1(1) (as amended) is liable: (a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine or imprisonment for a term not exceeding 10 years, or both; and (b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding the prescribed sum, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or both: see s 1(1) (amended by the Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 64(1), (3), Sch 3 para 1, Sch 5; the Children Act 1975 s 108(1), Sch 4 Pt III; the Criminal Justice Act 1988 ss 45, 170(2), Sch 16; and by virtue of the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 32(2)); and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 143. As to the prescribed sum see para 109 note 23 ante. For further discussion on the construction of the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 1(1) (as amended) see R v Sheppard [1981] AC 394, [1980] 3 All ER 899, HL, cited at para 528 note 6 ante.

Proceedings for any offence under the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 Pt I (ss 1-17) (as amended) may be instituted by a local education authority: s 98 (substituted by the Children Act 1948 s 60(2), Sch 3). Without prejudice to that, such proceedings may be instituted by the council of a county or county borough (or in Wales, a Welsh county or county borough), whether or not the council is the local education authority, and may, where the council is the local education authority, be instituted by it otherwise than in that capacity: Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 56(1), (1A) (s 56(1A) added by the Local Government (Wales) Act 1994 s 22(4), Sch 10 para 4). So much of the Local Government Act 1933 s 85(2) as restricts the matters that may be referred to or dealt with by committees established under that provision does not apply in relation to any functions exercisable by a council under the Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 56 (as amended): s 56(2) (amended by the Local Authority Social Services Act 1970 s 14, Sch 2 para 10; and the Children Act 2004 s 64, Sch 5 Pt 5).

2 See the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 1(2)(a) (amended by the Children Act 1989 Sch 12 para 2, Sch 13 para 2; and the National Assistance (Adaptation of Enactments) Regulations 1950, SI 1950/174, reg 2, Schedule); and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 143.

3 See the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 1(2)(b); and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 143.

4 Is an offence the Offences against the Person Act 1861 s 18 (as amended) or s 20 (as amended) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) paras 118, 120): Children Act 2004 s 58(2).

5 Is an offence under the Offences against the Person Act 1861 s 47 (as amended) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 149): Children Act 2004 s 58(2).

7 For the meaning of 'child' see para 164 note 2 ante.

8 Children Act 2004 s 58(1), (2).

9 Ibid s 58(3). 'Actual bodily harm' has the same meaning as it has for the purposes of the Offences against the Person Act 1861 s 47 (as amended) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 149): Children Act 2004 s 58(4).

NOTES--Certain functions under provisions mentioned in this paragraph are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3, see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/8. PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(2) PROTECTION FROM CRUELTY AND DANGER/(ii) Protection from Danger/A. DANGERS ON LAND OR PREMISES/612. Occupier's liability.

(ii) Protection from Danger

A. DANGERS ON LAND OR PREMISES

612. Occupier's liability.

At common law, an occupier of land who allows children<sup>1</sup> on his land, whether as invitees, licensees<sup>2</sup> or trespassers<sup>3</sup>, and who has on the land something which is to his knowledge an allurement to children and a danger to them, must take reasonable care to protect them from the danger<sup>4</sup>.

The duty owed by an occupier of premises to his visitors<sup>5</sup> is the common duty of care<sup>6</sup>. This duty, except in so far as it is extended, restricted, modified or excluded by agreement or otherwise, is to take such care as in all the circumstances of the case is reasonable to see that the visitor will be reasonably safe in using the premises for the purposes for which he is invited or permitted by the occupier to be there<sup>7</sup>. These circumstances include the degree of care, or want of care, which would ordinarily be looked for in such a visitor, so that in proper cases the occupier must be prepared for children to be less careful than adults<sup>8</sup>.

A duty is owed by an occupier of premises to another (not being his visitor)<sup>9</sup> if he is aware of a danger due to the state of his premises or to things done or omitted to be done on them, or has reason to believe that it exists, or if he knows or has reasonable grounds to believe that the other is in the vicinity of the danger concerned or that he may come into the vicinity of the danger, in either case whether the other has lawful authority for being in the vicinity or not, and the risk is one from which, in all the circumstances of the case, he may reasonably be expected to offer the other some protection<sup>10</sup>. The duty is to take such care as is reasonable to see that the other does not suffer injury on the premises by reason of the danger concerned<sup>11</sup>.

The duty which thus falls upon the owner or occupier of property does not, however, absolve parents or other persons in charge of children<sup>12</sup> from their primary responsibility of looking after the children and exercising all reasonable supervision in the circumstances<sup>13</sup>.

613. Protection from fire.

If any person who has attained the age of 16 years, having responsibility for any child<sup>1</sup> under the age of 12 years, allows the child to be in any room containing an open fire grate, or any heating appliance liable to cause injury to a person by contact with it, not sufficiently protected to guard against the risk of the child's being burnt or scalded, without taking reasonable precautions against that risk, and by reason thereof the child is killed or suffers serious injury, that person is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>2</sup>. Neither this provision, however, nor any proceedings taken under it affect the liability of any such person to be proceeded against by indictment for any indictable offence<sup>3</sup>.

1 For the purposes of the Children and Young Persons Act 1933, 'child' generally means a person under the age of 14 years (although s 11 (as amended) applies to a child under the age of 12): s 107(1).

2 See ibid s 11 (amended by the Children and Young Persons (Amendment) Act 1952 ss 8, 9, Schedule para 1; the Criminal Law Act 1977 s 31(5)(a), (6)(a); the Children Act 1989 s 108(5), Sch 13 paras 2, 3(c); and by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 s 46). The fine must not exceed level 1 on the standard scale: see the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 11 (as so amended). As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante. As to the authorities empowered to bring proceedings in respect of this offence see para 936 note 1 post. See CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 144.

As to the sale or hire of unguarded gas or oil heating appliances see the Heating Appliances (Fireguards) (Safety) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/2693 (amended by SI 1992/711). In relation to the disapplication of these regulations to all appliances except 'second-hand' appliances see the Gas Appliances (Safety) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/1629. See also SALE OF GOODS AND SUPPLY OF SERVICES vol 41 (2005 Reissue) para 614.

3 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 11 proviso. A person might be guilty, for example, of manslaughter.

D. EXPLOITATION

619. Prevention of begging.

Any person who causes or procures any child<sup>1</sup> or young person<sup>2</sup> under the age 16 years or who, having responsibility for such a child or young person, allows him to be in any street<sup>3</sup>, premises or place for the purpose of begging or receiving alms<sup>4</sup>, or of inducing the giving of alms, whether or not there is any pretence of singing, playing, performing, offering anything for sale or otherwise, is liable on summary conviction to a penalty<sup>5</sup>. If any person, while singing, playing, performing or offering anything for sale in a street or public place<sup>6</sup>, has with him a child who has been lent or hired out to him, the child is deemed to be in that street or place for the purpose of inducing the giving of alms<sup>7</sup>. If a person having responsibility for a child or young person is charged with an offence under these provisions, and it is proved that the child or young person was in any street, premises or place for the purpose of begging or receiving alms or of inducing the giving of alms, and that the person charged allowed him to be in the street, premises or place, that person is presumed to have allowed him to be there for that purpose unless the contrary is proved<sup>8</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' for these purposes see para 613 note 1 ante.

2 'Young person' means a person who has attained the age of 14 years and is under the age of 18 years: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 ss 31(2), 107(1) (definition substituted by the Criminal Justice Act 1991 s 68, Sch 8 para 1(3)).

3 'Street' includes any highway and any public bridge, road, lane, footway, square, court, alley or passage, whether a thoroughfare or not: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 107(1).

4 In Pointon v Hill (1884) 12 QBD 306, DC, it was held that if a person, not as a regular mode of living but for some object not in itself unlawful, went from house to house and solicited subscriptions, that was not begging or gathering alms within the meaning of the former Vagrancy Act 1824.

5 See the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 4(1) (amended by the Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 64(1), (3), Sch 3 para 4, Sch 5; the Criminal Law Act 1977 s 31(5)(a), (6)(b); the Children Act 1989 s 108(5), Sch 13 para 3(b); and by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 s 46). The penalty is a fine not exceeding level 2 on the standard scale or imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or both: see the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 4(1) (as so amended). As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante. As from a day to be appointed s 4(1) is further amended so as to remove the punishment of imprisonment: s 4(1) (as so amended; and prospectively amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 332, Sch 37 Pt 9). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As to the authorities empowered to bring proceedings in respect of this offence see para 611 note 1 ante.

6 'Public place' includes any public park, garden, sea beach or railway station and any ground to which the public has or is permitted to have access, whether on payment or otherwise: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 107(1).

E. CORRUPTION

623. Harmful publications.

It is an offence for a person to print, publish, sell or let on hire<sup>1</sup>, or have in his possession for the purpose of selling or letting on hire, any book, magazine or other like work of a kind likely to fall into the hands of children<sup>2</sup> or young persons<sup>3</sup>, consisting wholly or mainly of stories told in pictures, with or without the addition of written matter, portraying the commission of crimes, or acts of violence or cruelty or incidents of a repulsive or horrible nature in such a way that the work as a whole would tend to corrupt a child or young person<sup>4</sup>. The importation of any such work, or any plate or photographic film prepared for the purpose of printing copies of such a work, is also prohibited<sup>5</sup>.

1 In respect of selling or buying or possessing for that purpose, it is a defence to prove that the defendant did not examine the contents of the work and had no reason to suspect that it was a prohibited work: see the Children and Young Persons (Harmful Publications) Act 1955 s 2(1) proviso.

2 For the meaning of 'child' see para 613 note 1 ante; definition applied by ibid s 5(2).

4 See ibid ss 1, 2. A person convicted of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding four months or to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale or to both: s 2(1) (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46). As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante. As from a day to be appointed, the maximum term of imprisonment to which a person is liable on summary conviction is 51 weeks: Children and Young Persons (Harmful Publications) Act 1955 s 2(1) (prospectively amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 280(2), (3) Sch 26, para 15). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. ## F. CONTROL OF CHILDREN

624. Child curfew schemes.

A local authority<sup>1</sup> or chief officer of police<sup>2</sup> may make a scheme (a 'local child curfew scheme') for enabling the authority or (as the case may be) the officer to give a notice imposing for a specified period (not exceeding 90 days) a ban on children of specified ages (under 16) being in a public place<sup>3</sup> within a specified area during specified hours (between 9 pm and 6 am) and otherwise than under the effective control of a parent or a responsible person aged 18 or over<sup>4</sup>. A notice imposing such a ban is subject to and must be in accordance with the provisions of the scheme, and may only be made if, after such consultation as is required by the scheme, the authority or the officer considers it necessary to do so for the purpose of maintaining order<sup>5</sup>. Before making such a scheme, the local authority must consult every chief officer of police any part of whose police area<sup>6</sup> lies within its area, and such other persons or bodies as it considers appropriate<sup>7</sup>, and the officer must consult every local authority any part of whose area lies within the area to be specified, and such other persons or bodies as he considers appropriate<sup>8</sup>.

A local child curfew scheme must, if made by a local authority, be made under the common seal of the local authority<sup>9</sup> and a local child curfew scheme does not have effect until it is confirmed by the Secretary of State<sup>10</sup>, who may confirm or refuse to confirm it, and may fix a date on which such a scheme is to come into operation<sup>11</sup>. If no date is fixed, the scheme comes into operation at the end of the period of one month beginning with the date of its confirmation<sup>12</sup>.

A curfew notice must be given by posting the notice in some conspicuous place or places within the specified area, and in such other manner, if any, as appears to the local authority or (as the case may be) the chief officer of police to be desirable for giving publicity to the notice<sup>13</sup>. Where a constable has reasonable cause to believe that a child is in contravention of a ban imposed by a curfew notice, he must, as soon as practicable, inform the local authority for the area that the child has contravened the ban<sup>14</sup>. The constable may remove the child to the child's place of residence unless he has reasonable cause to believe that the child would, if removed to that place, be likely to suffer significant harm<sup>15</sup>. Where a local authority is informed that a child who lives or is found in its area has contravened such a ban it must make or cause to be made, as soon as practicable and, in any event, within 48 hours of receiving the information, such inquiries as it considers necessary to enable it to decide whether it should take any action to safeguard or promote the child's welfare<sup>16</sup>.

Where the police have reasonable grounds for believing that any members of the public have been intimidated, harassed, alarmed or distressed as a result of the presence or behaviour of groups of two or more persons in public places, and that anti-social behaviour is a significant and persistent problem in the relevant locality they have the power to disperse groups and return unsupervised young people under 16 years to their place of residence<sup>17</sup>.

<sup>1</sup> For these purposes, 'local authority' means in relation to England the council of a district or London borough, the Common Council of the City of London, the Council of the Isle of Wight and the Council of the Isles of Scilly, and in relation to Wales the council of a county or county borough: Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 14(8). ## UPDATE

615-624 Crossbows ... Child curfew schemes

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/8. PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(2) PROTECTION FROM CRUELTY AND DANGER/(ii) Protection from Danger/F. CONTROL OF CHILDREN/625. Child safety orders.

625. Child safety orders.

A magistrates court may make a child safety order with respect to a child under the age of 10, on the application of a local authority<sup>1</sup>, if it is satisfied that one or more of the following conditions are met: (1) the child has committed an act which, if he had been aged 10 or over, would have constituted an offence<sup>2</sup>; (2) a child safety order is necessary for the purpose of preventing the commission by the child of such an act<sup>3</sup>; (3) the child has contravened a ban imposed by a curfew notice<sup>4</sup>; and (4) the child has acted in a manner that caused or was likely to cause harassment, alarm or distress to one or more persons not of the same household as himself<sup>5</sup>. However, a court may not make a child safety order unless it has been notified by the Secretary of State<sup>6</sup> that arrangements for implementing such orders are available in the area in which it appears that the child resides or will reside and the notice has not been withdrawn<sup>7</sup>.

A child safety order places the child for a specified period (not exceeding the permitted maximum)<sup>8</sup> under the supervision of a responsible officer<sup>9</sup> and requires the child to comply with such requirements as are specified<sup>10</sup>. The requirements that may be specified are those which the court considers desirable in the interests of: (a) securing that the child receives appropriate care, protection and support and is subject to proper control<sup>11</sup>; or (b) preventing any repetition of the kind of behaviour which led to the child safety order being made<sup>12</sup>. Where a child safety order is in force and it is proved to the satisfaction of the court<sup>13</sup> on the application of the responsible officer that the child has failed to comply with any requirement included in the order the court may make an order varying the order by cancelling any provision included in it or by inserting in it (either in addition to or in substitution for any of its provisions) any provision that could have been included in the order if the court had then had power to make it and were exercising the power<sup>14</sup>.

If while a child safety order is in force in respect of a child it appears to the court which made it, on the application of the responsible officer or a parent or guardian of the child, that it is appropriate to make an order varying or discharging the order, the court may make an order discharging the child safety order or varying it by cancelling any provision included in it or by inserting in it (either in addition to or in substitution for any of its provisions) any provision that could have been included in the order if the court had then had power to make it and were exercising the power<sup>15</sup>.

An appeal lies to the High Court against the making by a magistrates' court of a child safety order<sup>16</sup>.

1 See the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 11(1). For the meaning of 'local authority' see para 138 note 13 ante; definition applied by s 11(7). Proceedings in respect of a child safety order are family proceedings for the purposes of the Children Act 1989 (see para 199 ante) or the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 65 (as amended) (see MAGISTRATES vol 29(2) (Reissue) para 739), and the standard of proof applicable to such proceedings is the civil standard: Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 11(6). As to the civil standard of proof see CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 11 (2009) PARA 775.

2 Ibid s 11(3)(a).

3 Ibid s 11(3)(b).

4 Ibid s 11(3)(c). 'Curfew notice' means a notice given under a local child curfew scheme (see para 949 ante): ss 14(6), 18(1).

5 Ibid s 11(3)(d). Before making a child safety order, a magistrates' court must obtain and consider information about the child's family circumstances and the likely effect of the order on those circumstances: s 12(1). Before making a child safety order, the court must explain to the parent or guardian of the child in ordinary language the effect of the order and of the requirements proposed to be included in it, the consequences if the child fails to comply with any such requirement, and that the court has power to review the order on the application either of the parent or guardian or the responsible officer: see s 12(2). For these purposes, 'responsible officer' means a social worker of a local authority or a member of a youth offending team: ss 11(8), 18(4) (both amended by the Children Act 2004 s 64, Sch 5 Pt 4). The social worker or team member must be a social worker of, or member of a youth offending team established by, the local authority within whose area it appears to the court that the child resides or will reside: Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 18(4) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 323(1), (4)(b)).

6 As to the Secretary of State see para 155 ante.

7 Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 11(2).

8 The maximum permitted period is 12 months: ibid s 11(4) (amended by the Children Act 2004 s 60(3)).

9 Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 11(1)(a).

10 Ibid s 11(1)(b).

11 Ibid s 11(5)(a).

12 Ibid s 11(5)(b). Requirements must, as far as practicable, be such as to avoid any conflict with the parents' religious beliefs and any interference with the times, if any, at which the child normally attends school: s 12(3).

13 The court must be the court which made the order or another magistrates' court acting in the same local justice area: ibid s 12(6) (amended by the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2 paras 56-57).

14 Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 12(6)(b).

15 Ibid s 12(4). Where an application to discharge a child safety order is dismissed, no further application for its discharge may be made by any person except with the consent of the court which made the order: s 12(5).

16 Ibid s 13(1). On such an appeal the High Court may make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to its determination of the appeal, and may also make such incidental or consequential orders as appear to it to be just: s 13(1). Any order of the High Court made on an appeal under s 13 (other than one directing that an application be re-heard by a magistrates' court) must, for the purposes of s 12(4)-(6) (s 12(6) as amended) (see the text and notes 13-15 supra), be treated as if it were an order of the magistrates' court from which the appeal was brought and not an order of the High Court: s 13(2).

For the purposes of s 13(1), the Lord Chancellor may, with the concurrence of the Lord Chief Justice, by order make provision as to the circumstances in which appeals to the High Court may be made against decisions taken by courts on questions arising in connection with the transfer, or proposed transfer, of proceedings by virtue of any order under the Children Act 1989 s 92, Sch 11 para 2 (see para 208 ante): Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 10(6) (amended by the Constitutional Reform Act 2005 s 15(1), Sch 4 paras 276, 277(1), (2)); Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 13(3). At the date at which this volume states the law no such orders had been made. Except to the extent provided for in any order made under s 10(6) (as amended), no appeal may be made against any decision of a kind mentioned in s 10(6) (as amended): ss 10(7), s 13(3).

625 Child safety orders

TEXT AND NOTE 16--Reference to the High Court is now to a county court: Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 13 (amended by SI 2009/871).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/8. PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(2) PROTECTION FROM CRUELTY AND DANGER/(ii) Protection from Danger/F. CONTROL OF CHILDREN/626. School attendance orders and cleanliness of pupils.

626. School attendance orders and cleanliness of pupils.

Where a child of compulsory school age<sup>1</sup> is not receiving suitable education, either by regular attendance at school or otherwise, the local education authority has powers to serve on the parent of the child an order (a 'school attendance order') requiring him to cause the child to become a registered pupil at a school named in the order<sup>2</sup>.

A local education authority may by directions in writing authorise one of its medical officers to have the persons and clothing of pupils in attendance at relevant schools examined whenever in his opinion such examinations are necessary in the interests of cleanliness<sup>3</sup>. If on such examination, the person or clothing of a pupil is found to be infested with vermin or in a foul condition, any officer of the local education authority may serve a notice on the pupil's parent requiring him to cause the pupil's person and clothing to be cleansed<sup>4</sup>. If, after a specified period, a medical officer of the authority is not satisfied that the pupil's person and clothing have been properly cleansed, he may by order direct that they be cleansed under arrangements made by the authority<sup>5</sup>.

1 As to compulsory school age see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 15.

2 See the Education Act 1996 s 437 (as amended); and EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 514.

5 See ibid ss 522(4), 523; and EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) paras 549-550. If after the person or clothing of a pupil has been cleansed under s 522 his person or clothing is again infested with vermin, or in a foul condition, at any time while he is in attendance at a relevant school, and the condition of his person or clothing is due to neglect on the part of his parent, the parent is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 1 on the standard scale: see s 525 (as amended); and EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 552. As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante.

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(2) PROTECTION FROM CRUELTY AND DANGER/(ii) Protection from Danger/F. CONTROL OF CHILDREN/627. Removal of truants and excluded pupils to designated premises.

627. Removal of truants and excluded pupils to designated premises.

A local authority may designate premises in a police area<sup>1</sup> ('designated premises') as premises to which children and young persons of compulsory school age<sup>2</sup> may be removed, and notify the chief officer of police<sup>3</sup> for that area of the designation<sup>4</sup>. If a constable has reasonable cause to believe that a child<sup>5</sup> or young person<sup>6</sup> found by him in a public place<sup>7</sup> in a specified area during a specified period is of compulsory school age and is absent from school<sup>8</sup> without lawful authority the constable may remove the child or young person to such designated premises, or to the school from which he is so absent<sup>9</sup>.

If a constable has reasonable cause to believe that a child or young person found by him in a public place in a specified area during a specified period and during school hours<sup>10</sup> is of compulsory school age, has been and remains excluded on disciplinary grounds from a relevant school for a fixed period or permanently, has not subsequently been admitted as a pupil to any other school, and has no reasonable justification for being in the public place, the constable may remove the child or young person to designated premises<sup>11</sup>.

A police officer of or above the rank of superintendent may direct that those powers conferred on a constable to remove a child or young person<sup>12</sup> are to be exercisable as respects any area falling within the police area and specified in the direction and are to be so exercisable during a period so specified<sup>13</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'police area' see para 624 note 6 ante.

2 As to compulsory school age see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 15.

3 For the meaning of 'chief officer of police' see para 624 note 2 ante.

4 See the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 16(1). For these purposes, 'local authority' means, in relation to England, a county council, a district council whose district does not form part of an area that has a county council, a London borough council or the Common Council of the City of London; and, in relation to Wales, a county council or a county borough council: s 16(5). As to local government areas and authorities in England and Wales see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 22 et seq; as to the London boroughs and their councils see LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) paras 30, 35-39, 59 et seq; as to the Common Council of the City of London see LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) paras 51-55; and as to the Council of the Isles of Scilly see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 36.

5 For these purposes, 'child' means a person under the age of 14: ibid s 117(1).

6 For these purposes, 'young person' means a person who has attained the age of 14 and is under the age of 18: ibid s 117(1).

7 For the meaning of 'public place' see para 624 note 3 ante; definition applied by ibid s 16(5).

8 'School' has the same meaning as in the Education Act 1996 (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 81); Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 16(5).

9 Ibid s 16(3). The references in s 16(3) to a specified area and a specified period are to be construed in accordance with s 16(2) (as amended): see the text and note 13 infra. A child or young person's absence from a school is taken to be without lawful authority unless the child or young person is prevented from attending by sickness or other unavoidable cause or the absence falls within the Education Act 1996 s 444(3) (as amended) (leave or day set apart for religious observance) (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 521); Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 16(4) (amended by the Education and Inspections Act 2006 s 109(10)).

10 'School hours' means any time during a school session of the relevant school or during a break between sessions of that school on the same day: Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 16(3B) (added by the Education and Inspections Act 2006 s 108(1), (4)). 13 Ibid s 16(2) (amended by the Education and Inspections Act 2006 s 108(1), (2)). The Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 16(2) (as amended) has effect in relation to the British Transport Police Force; and for that purpose the reference to any area falling within the police area is to be treated as a reference to any area in a place specified in the Railways and Transport Safety Act 2003 s 31(1)(a)-(f) (see RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) para 283): Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 16(3A) (added by the Police Reform Act 2002 s 75(1); and substituted by the British Transport Police (Transitional and Consequential Provisions) Order 2004, SI 2004/1573, art 1). For these purposes, 'British Transport Police' means the force of constables appointed under the British Transport Commission Act 1949 s 53 (repealed) (see POLICE vol 36(1) (2007 Reissue) para 129; RAILWAYS, INLAND WATERWAYS AND CROSS-COUNTRY PIPELINES vol 39(1A) (Reissue) para 281 et seq): Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 16(5) (amended by the Police Reform Act 2002 s 75(2)(a)).

631. Intoxicating liquor.

If any person gives, or causes to be given, to any child under the age of five any alcohol<sup>1</sup>, except upon the order of a duly qualified medical practitioner or in the case of sickness, apprehended sickness, or other urgent cause, he is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>2</sup>.

Subject to certain exceptions, a holder of a premises license<sup>3</sup> commits an offence if he allows an unaccompanied child<sup>4</sup> to be on the premises at a time when they are open for the supply of alcohol<sup>5</sup> for consumption there<sup>6</sup>. Subject to certain exceptions, it is an offence, on licensed premises, persistently to sell alcohol to children, and where there is a reasonable suspicion that such an offence has been committed, the premises concerned may be susceptible to a closure order<sup>9</sup>. In the event of a conviction for persistent sale to persons under 18 the court may order the suspension of the license permitting the sale of alcohol on the premises to be suspended for a period not exceeding three months<sup>10</sup>. It is an offence to sell liqueur confectionery to children under 16<sup>11</sup>, or to buy or attempt to buy alcohol on behalf of an individual aged under 18<sup>12</sup>, or for a person to allow an individual under 18 to consume alcohol on licensed premises if he works there in a capacity authorising him to prevent the consumption<sup>13</sup>, or for a person working at such premises in any capacity knowingly to deliver alcohol sold or supplied on the premises to a person aged under 18 or to allow someone else to do so<sup>14</sup>. A licence holder commits an offence if on licensed premises he knowingly allows a person aged under 18 to sell or supply alcohol unless the sale or supply has been specifically approved<sup>16</sup>.

Subject to certain exceptions, an individual aged under 18 commits an offence if he buys or attempts to buy alcohol, or, where he is a member of a club, alcohol is supplied to him or to his order by or on behalf of the club, as a result of some act or default of his, or he attempts to have alcohol supplied to him or to his order by or on behalf of the club<sup>17</sup>. Such an individual also commits an offence if he knowingly consumes alcohol on relevant premises<sup>18</sup>.

I. TOBACCO

634. Sale of tobacco to persons under 18.

A person who sells to a person under the age of 18 years any tobacco<sup>1</sup> or cigarette papers, whether for his own use or not, is guilty of an offence<sup>2</sup>. It is a defence for a person charged with such an offence to prove that he took all reasonable precautions and exercised due diligence to avoid commission of the offence<sup>3</sup>. If on a complaint to a magistrates' court it is proved to the satisfaction of the court that any automatic machine for the sale of tobacco kept on any premises has been used by any person under the age of 18 years, the court must order the owner of the machine, or the person on whose premises the machine is kept, to take such precautions to prevent the machine being so used as may be specified in the order or, if necessary, to remove the machine within such time as may be specified in the order<sup>4</sup>. If any person against whom such an order has been made fails to comply with it, he is guilty of an offence<sup>5</sup>.

It is the duty of a constable and of a park-keeper being in uniform to seize any tobacco or cigarette papers in the possession of any person apparently under the age of 18 years whom he finds smoking in any street or public place<sup>6</sup>. A community support officer has the power to seize anything that a constable in uniform has a duty to seize<sup>7</sup>. In addition a constable's powers may be exercised by persons accredited for the purposes of a community safety accreditation scheme<sup>8</sup>.

Nothing in the above provisions, however, makes it an offence to sell tobacco or cigarette papers to, or authorises the seizure of those articles in the possession of, any person who is at the time employed by a manufacturer of or dealer in tobacco, either wholesale or retail, for the purposes of his business, or is a boy messenger in uniform in the employment of a messenger company and employed as such at the time<sup>9</sup>.

Any person carrying on a retail business who sells cigarettes to any person other than in pre-packed quantities of 10 or more cigarettes in their original package<sup>10</sup> commits an offence<sup>11</sup>. At every premises<sup>12</sup> where tobacco is sold by retail, a notice displaying the statement 'It is illegal to sell tobacco products to anyone under the age of 18'<sup>13</sup> must be exhibited in a prominent position where the statement is readily visible to persons at the point of sale of the tobacco<sup>14</sup>. Any person who carries on a business which involves the retail sale of tobacco, and at which no such notice is exhibited, is guilty of an offence<sup>15</sup>. On every automatic machine for the sale of tobacco which is kept available for use as such at any premises, there must be exhibited, so as to be readily visible to persons using the machine, a notice displaying the statement: 'This machine is only for the use of people aged 18 or over'<sup>16</sup>. Where any person is the owner of any such machine which is so kept or the owner of the premises at which any such machine is so kept and no such notice is exhibited on the machine, that person is guilty of an offence<sup>17</sup>.

It is the duty of every local authority<sup>21</sup> to consider, at least once in every period of 12 months, the extent to which it is appropriate for it to carry out in its area a programme of enforcement action relating to the above provisions<sup>22</sup>, and, accordingly, to carry out any appropriate programme<sup>23</sup>.

1 'Tobacco' includes cigarettes, any product containing tobacco intended for oral or nasal use and smoking mixtures intended as a substitute for tobacco; and 'cigarette' includes cut tobacco rolled up in paper, tobacco leaf or other material in such form as to be capable of immediate use for smoking: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 7(5) (amended by the Protection of Children (Tobacco) Act 1986 s 1).

2 See the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 7(1) (amended by the Protection of Children (Tobacco) Act 1986 s 1; the Children and Young Persons (Protection from Tobacco) Act 1991 s 1; and the Children and Young Persons (Sale of Tobacco etc) Order 2007, SI 2007/767, art 2). Note that with regard to sales made before 1 October 2007, the relevant age for these purposes is 16: Children and Young Persons (Sale of Tobacco etc) Order 2007, SI 2007/767, art 1.

A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 7(1) (as so amended). As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante. As to the authorities empowered to bring proceedings in respect of this offence see para 611 note 1 ante.

635. Safety at entertainments.

Where there is provided in any building, other than a private dwelling house, an entertainment for children<sup>1</sup>, or an entertainment at which the majority of persons attending are children then if the number of children attending the entertainment exceeds 100, it is the duty of the person providing the entertainment to station and keep stationed wherever necessary a sufficient number of adult attendants, properly instructed as to their duties, to prevent more children or other persons being admitted to the building, or to any part thereof, than the building or part can properly accommodate, and to control the movement of the children and other persons admitted while entering and leaving, and to take all other reasonable precautions for the safety of the children<sup>2</sup>. Where the occupier of a building permits, for hire or reward, the building to be used for the purpose of an entertainment, he must take all reasonable steps to secure the observance of these provisions<sup>3</sup>. A constable or authorised officer of the licensing authority<sup>4</sup> may enter any building in which he has reason to believe that such an entertainment is being, or is about to be, provided, with a view to seeing whether these provisions are carried into effect<sup>5</sup>. Persons failing to fulfil the above obligations are guilty of an offence<sup>6</sup>.

As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante. As to the authorities empowered to bring proceedings in respect of this offence see para 611 note 1 ante. Safety for children in relation to horse riding and motor vehicles.

637. Safety for children in relation to horse riding and motor vehicles.

It is an offence, subject to regulations<sup>1</sup>, for any person<sup>2</sup> to cause or permit a child under the age of 14 years to ride a horse<sup>3</sup> on a road<sup>4</sup> unless the child is wearing protective headgear of such description as may be specified in regulations<sup>5</sup>, in such manner<sup>6</sup> as may be so specified<sup>7</sup>. This does not apply where: (1) the child is a follower of the Sikh religion while he is wearing a turban<sup>8</sup>; or (2) the riding is within 30 metres of the high water mark of ordinary spring tides, the horse is being led on a leading rein on foot by the owner of the horse or another person aged 18 years or over who is authorised to do so by the owner, and no more than two persons are being led at any time<sup>9</sup>.

Regulations may be made prescribing types of equipment of any description that are recommended as conducive to the safety in the event of accident of prescribed classes of children in prescribed classes of motor vehicles, and to control the sale of such equipment<sup>10</sup>.

1 See the text and notes 5, 8-9 infra.

2 In any person to whom the Horses (Protective Headgear for Young Riders) Act 1990 s 1(1) applies. The provisions of s 1(1) apply to the following persons: (1) any person who for the purposes of the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 Pt I (ss 1-17) (as amended) has responsibility for the child; (2) any owner of the horse; (3) any person other than its owner who has custody of or is in possession of the horse immediately before the child rides it; and (4) where the child is employed, his employer and any other person to whose orders the child is subject in the course of his employment: Horses (Protective Headgear for Young Riders) Act 1990 s 1(2).

3 'Horse' includes pony, mule, donkey or other equine animal: ibid s 3(1).

4 'Road' does not include a footpath or bridleway but, subject to that, has in England and Wales, the meaning given by the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 192(1) (as amended) (see ROAD TRAFFIC vol 40(1) (2007 Reissue) para 206): Horses (Protective Headgear for Young Riders) Act 1990 s 3(1). 'Footpath' means a way over which the public has a right of way, and which is not associated with a carriageway (s 3(2)(a)); and 'bridleway' means a way over which the public has the following but no other rights of way, namely a right of way on foot, on horseback, or leading a horse, with or without a right to drive animals of any description along the way (s 3(2)(b)).

5 The Secretary of State may by regulations made by statutory instrument: (1) provide that ibid s 1 does not apply in relation to children of any prescribed description, or in relation to the riding of horses in such circumstances as may be prescribed; (2) prescribe for the purposes of s 1 (by reference to shape, construction or any other quality) the description of protective headgear to be worn by children of any prescribed description in prescribed circumstances; (3) prescribe for those purposes the manner in which such headgear is to be worn: s 2(1). Before making any such regulations the Secretary of State must consult such representative organisations as he thinks fit: s 2(2). As to the regulations made see the Horses (Protective Headgear for Young Riders) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1201. In the case of a helmet manufactured after 1 July 1992, it must bear the EC mark of conformity and satisfy the basic health and safety requirements for a helmet which is manufactured with the intention that it should be worn by a child riding a horse or a pedal cycle on a road, laid down in EC Council Directive 89/686 (OJ L399, 30.12.89, p 18) of 21 December 1989 on the approximation of the laws of the member states relating to personal protective equipment, Annex II: see the Horses (Protective Headgear for Young Riders) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1201, reg 4(1)(a). In the case of a helmet manufactured before that date, it must: (a) conform to a British Standard and bear a marking applied by the manufacturer indicating compliance with the requirements contained in the British Standard; (b) conform to any relevant national standard of a national standards institution of, or a public authority of, another member state of the European Communities, or conform to any national regulation of such member state, provided that the standard or regulation offers guarantees of safety, suitability and fitness for purpose equivalent to those offered by a British Standard and bears a marking or equivalent indication applied by the manufacturer indicating compliance with the requirements contained in the relevant standard or regulation; or (c) be such that it could reasonably be expected to afford the child a degree of protection from injury in the event of an accident similar to or greater than that provided by a helmet conforming to a British Standard meeting the requirements of head (a) supra or any relevant national standard or regulation meeting the requirements of head (b) supra: reg 4(1) (b). A helmet is regarded as satisfying the basic health and safety requirements if the manufacturer is able to comply with the provisions of EC Council Directive 89/686 (OJ L399, 30.12.89, p 18), art 5(2) (as amended): Horses (Protective Headgear for Young Riders) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1201, reg 4(2). A reference to a helmet bearing an EC mark of conformity is a reference to a mark properly applied in accordance with EC Council Directive 89/686 (OJ L399, 30.12.89, p 18) arts 8-13 (as amended): Horses (Protective Headgear for Young Riders) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/1201, reg 4(3). As to the relevant British Standard see reg 2(a), Schedule.

6 A helmet must be securely fastened to the head of the wearer by means of straps or other fastening provided on the headgear for that purpose: see ibid reg 5.

7 Horses (Protective Headgear for Young Riders) Act 1990 s 1(1). A person guilty of such an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 1 on the standard scale: s 1(3). As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante.

10 See the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 15A (as added); and ROAD TRAFFIC vol 40(1) (2007 Reissue) para 638. At the date at which this volume states the law, no such regulations had been made.

Power of Secretary of State to make regulations in respect of activity centres.

638. Power of Secretary of State to make regulations in respect of activity centres.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> must by order designate a person ('the licensing authority') to exercise such functions as may be prescribed by regulations relating to the licensing of persons providing facilities for adventure activities<sup>2</sup>, namely, such facilities, for such sporting, recreational or outdoor activities, as may be prescribed by regulations, other than: (1) facilities which are provided exclusively for persons who have attained the age of 18; or (2) facilities which do not consist of, or include some element of, instruction or leadership<sup>3</sup>. Regulations may make provision<sup>4</sup> as to:

- 1080 (a) the cases or circumstances in which persons providing facilities for adventure activities are, or are not, required to hold a licence<sup>5</sup>;
- 1081 (b) any requirements relating to safety (whether applying to facilities for adventure activities or to other facilities) which must be satisfied by an applicant for a licence<sup>6</sup>;
- 1082 (c) the conditions subject to which licences are granted (which may include conditions relating to inspection by the licensing authority and conditions imposing requirements of the kind referred to in head (b) above)<sup>7</sup>;
- 1083 (d) the variation of such conditions<sup>8</sup>;
- 1084 (e) the renewal, variation, transfer and revocation of licences by the licensing authority<sup>9</sup>;
- 1085 (f) the charging by the licensing authority of such fees in connection with licences as may be specified in the regulations<sup>10</sup>;
- 1086 (g) the making of payments by the licensing authority into the Consolidated Fund<sup>11</sup>;
- 1087 (h) the investigation by the licensing authority of complaints concerning licence holders<sup>12</sup>;
- 1088 (i) the exercise of functions of the licensing authority by persons authorised by it<sup>13</sup>;
- 1089 (j) the keeping, and availability for inspection by the public, of a register of licences<sup>14</sup>;
- 1090 (k) the bringing of appeals to the Secretary of State against such decisions of the licensing authority as may be specified in the regulations<sup>15</sup>;
- 1091 (l) the procedure to be followed on, and the orders which may be made on, determination of such appeals<sup>16</sup>.

In exercising its functions under regulations<sup>17</sup> the licensing authority must have regard to any guidance given to it from time to time by the Health and Safety Commission, and before giving such guidance the Health and Safety Commission must consult such persons (if any) as it considers it appropriate to consult<sup>18</sup>.

Regulations may provide for it to be an offence: (i) to do anything for which a licence is required under the regulations, otherwise than in accordance with a licence<sup>19</sup>; or (ii) to make a statement to the licensing authority (or someone acting on its behalf) knowing it to be false in a material particular, or recklessly to make a statement to the licensing authority (or someone acting on its behalf) which is false in a material particular, for the purposes of obtaining or holding a licence<sup>20</sup>.

Such regulations<sup>21</sup> must be made by statutory instrument, subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, and may make different provision for different cases and may include transitional provisions<sup>22</sup>. Before making such regulations the Secretary of State must consult the Health and Safety Commission and such other persons (if any) as he considers it appropriate to consult<sup>23</sup>. The Health and Safety Commission may from time to time submit to the Secretary of State such proposals as it considers appropriate for the making of such regulations; and where the Secretary of State proposes to make regulations in the form so submitted, the requirement to consult the Health and Safety Commission does not apply<sup>24</sup>.

The Secretary of State may make grants to the licensing authority in respect of such of its expenses under the Activity (Young Persons' Safety) Act 1995 as are not met by fees, and such grants may be made subject to such conditions as to repayment as the Secretary of State may determine<sup>25</sup>. Any expenditure incurred by the Secretary of State under or by virtue of the Act is to be paid out of money provided by Parliament<sup>26</sup>.

Nothing in, or done by virtue of, the Activity (Young Persons' Safety) Act 1995 or regulations under it prejudices any of the relevant statutory provisions (whenever made) as defined in Part I of the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974<sup>27</sup> or anything done by virtue of those provisions<sup>28</sup>.

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(2) PROTECTION FROM CRUELTY AND DANGER/(ii) Protection from Danger/J. ENTERTAINMENT AND LEISURE ACTIVITIES/639. Licensing of adventure activities.

639. Licensing of adventure activities.

A person is required to hold a licence<sup>1</sup> in respect of the provision of facilities for adventure activities<sup>2</sup> if that person either provides such facilities in return for payment, or is a local authority<sup>3</sup> and the facilities are provided to an educational establishment<sup>4</sup> in respect of the pupils of such an establishment<sup>5</sup>. Where such facilities are so provided by a person at or from more than one activity centre, and those activity centres are being operated by that person at the same time throughout any period of 28 days or more, a separate licence is required in respect of the facilities provided at or from each such centre<sup>6</sup>. However, a person is not required to hold a licence in respect of facilities for adventure activities where those facilities are provided:

- 1092 (1) by a voluntary association<sup>7</sup> to its members, to the members of some other voluntary association pursuant to an agreement between the associations, or to persons who are not its members for the purpose only of encouraging interest in its activities or attracting new members, provided that such facilities are not to be provided, in respect of any one person, on more than three days in any period of 12 months<sup>8</sup>;
- 1093 (2) by an educational establishment to pupils of that establishment<sup>9</sup>;
- 1094 (3) to young persons who are, during their participation in the activities in question, accompanied by an individual who is their parent or guardian or who has parental rights or responsibility for them<sup>10</sup>; or
- 1095 (4) under the authority of a licence held by some other person<sup>11</sup>.

The licensing authority must consider an application for a licence where such application is made in a form and manner approved by the authority, the application is accompanied by such supporting documentation as the authority reasonably requires, and the required fee has been paid<sup>12</sup>. The licensing authority may grant or refuse a licence but, without prejudice to its discretion to refuse a licence on other grounds, the authority will not grant a licence unless the required fee has been paid<sup>13</sup> and it is satisfied that the applicant has: (a) made a suitable and sufficient assessment of the risks to the safety of young persons and other persons who will be engaged in the adventure activities in respect of which the application is made or whose safety may be affected by it<sup>14</sup>; (b) identified the measures he needs to take in consequence of that assessment to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, the safety of those persons<sup>15</sup>; (c) made the arrangements required as conditions of the licence<sup>16</sup>; (d) appointed competent persons to advise him on safety matters or has competence in such matters himself<sup>17</sup>.

The licensing authority must, before reaching a decision as to whether or not it will grant a licence, first consider a report made to the authority by a person authorised by it for that purpose<sup>18</sup>.

Where the licensing authority has received an application for the renewal of a licence not less than three months but not more than six months before the expiry date of that licence, then that licence is to be regarded<sup>19</sup> as continuing in force until such time as a decision is issued on that application by the authority<sup>20</sup>.

A licence granted by the licensing authority must be in writing and must state: (i) the name and address of the licence holder<sup>21</sup>; (ii) the facilities for adventure activities which may be provided pursuant to the licence<sup>22</sup>; (iii) where the licence is issued in respect of a particular activity centre, the address of the centre concerned<sup>23</sup>; (iv) the date on which the licence will commence and the date on which the licence will expire which must be no longer than three years from the date of its commencement<sup>24</sup>; and (v) the conditions subject to which the licence has been granted<sup>25</sup>.

1 'Licence' means a licence granted by the licensing authority in accordance with the Adventure Activities Licensing Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1309, or the Adventure Activities Licensing Regulations 1996, SI 1996/772 (revoked): Adventure Activities Licensing Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1309, reg 2(1).

2 'Facilities for adventure activities' means any facilities which consist of, or include, some element of instruction or leadership given to one or more young persons in connection with their engagement in an adventure activity (other than instructions given solely in connection with the supply of equipment for use in such an activity): ibid reg 2(1). For these purposes, 'young persons' means persons who have not attained the age of 18: reg 2(1). 'Adventure activity' means caving, climbing, trekking or watersports: reg 2(1). 'Caving' means the exploration of underground passages (other than those principally used as show-places open to the public) in parts of mines which are no longer worked, or in natural caves where the exploration of those passages requires, in order to be carried out safely, the use of rock climbing or diving equipment or the application of special skills or techniques: reg 2(1). 'Climbing' means climbing, traversing, abseiling or scrambling over natural terrain or outdoor man-made structures (other than structures designed for such activities) which requires, in order to be carried out safely, the use of equipment for, or the application of special skills or techniques in, rock climbing or ice climbing: reg 2(1). 'Trekking' means journeying on foot, horse or pedal cycle or skiing over terrain which is moorland or more than 600 metres above sea level, and from which it would take more than 30 minutes travelling time to reach any accessible road or refuge but does not include skiing on a prepared and marked-out ski-run which is patrolled by persons engaged to assist in cases of injury: reg 2(1). 'Horse' includes pony: reg 2(1). 'Moorland' excludes any woodland or cultivated land: reg 2(1). 'Travelling time' means the time it would take a person to walk by the quickest safe route, and for this purpose a person is deemed to walk at 5 kilometres per hour and to take, in addition, one minute for every 10 metres of increase in the height above sea level of any uphill section of that route: reg 2(1). 'Accessible road' means a road which is, at the time in question, accessible to ambulances which are road-going vehicles not specially adapted for rugged terrain: reg 2(1). 'Refuge' means a building which would, in an emergency, provide shelter and which was, at the time in question, either occupied or provided with a telephone, or other means of communication, by which help could be summoned: reg 2(1). 'Skiing' means sliding over snow or ice on skis, skates, sledges or similar equipment: reg 2(1). 'Watersports' means the use on specified waters of: (1) canoes, kayaks or similar craft propelled or steered by paddles held in the hand (but excluding rowing boats propelled or steered by oars); (2) rafts (including those which are inflatable or which are improvised from various materials but excluding those propelled by means of a motor or towed by a motor boat); or (3) sailing boats, windsurfers, sailing dinghies or other craft whose principal means of propulsion is the wind but excluding craft the construction, equipment and use of which is subject to a requirement for a certificate issued pursuant to the Merchant Shipping Act 1995 or any regulation or order made thereunder (see SHIPPING AND MARITIME LAW vol 94 (2008) PARA 614 et seq): Adventure Activities Licensing Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1309, reg 2(1). 'Specified waters' means: (a) the sea; (b) tidal waters; (c) inland waters at a location where any part of those waters is more than 50 metres from the nearest land excluding any island; or (d) inland waters where the surface of the water is made turbulent because of weirs, rapids, waterfalls or fast-flowing currents: reg 2(1).

3 'Local authority' means, in relation to England, a county council, a unitary authority, a district council, a London borough council, the Common Council of the City of London or the Council of the Isles of Scilly; and, in relation to Wales, a county council or county borough council: ibid reg 2(1). As to local government areas and authorities in England and Wales see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 22 et seq; as to the London boroughs and their councils see LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) paras 30, 35-39, 59 et seq; as to the Common Council of the City of London see LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) paras 51-55; and as to the Council of the Isles of Scilly see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 36.

4 'Educational establishment' means an educational establishment attended by young persons except such an establishment engaged primarily in the provision of sporting, recreational or outdoor activities: ibid reg 2(1).

6 Ibid reg 3(1).

7 'Voluntary association' means an association, club, society, organisation or other body (whether corporate or unincorporate) which provides facilities to its members and is not a business, or part of a business, conducted for profit; and 'member' in relation to such an association excludes a person who is made a member solely in connection with the sale to him by the association of a course or instruction: ibid reg 2(1).

8 Ibid reg 3(2)(a).

9 Ibid reg 3(2)(b).

10 Ibid reg 3(2)(c). The reference in the text to parental responsibility is to such responsibility within the meaning of the Children Act 1989 (see para 134 ante), or the Children (Scotland) Act 1995; and the reference to parental rights is to such rights within the meaning of the Law Reform (Parent and Child) (Scotland) Act 1986.

11 Ibid reg 3(2)(d).

12 Ibid reg 4. The 'required fee' means, subject to reg 19 (transitional provisions), the fee referred to in reg 5: reg 2(1). A fee of £620 is payable by the applicant to the licensing authority on each application for a licence or renewal of a licence: reg 5.

13 Ibid reg 6(1)(b).

15 Ibid reg 6(1)(a)(ii).

16 Ibid reg 6(1)(a)(iii). As to the arrangements required as conditions of the licence see reg 9(1)(a), (b); and para 640 post.

17 Ibid reg 6(1)(a)(iv).

18 Ibid reg 6(2). The reference in the text to a report made by a person authorised by the authority for that purpose is a reference to a person so authorised pursuant to reg 12: see para 642 post. The report must be made only following an inspection by the person making the report and, subject to reg 7(2) (see note 20 infra), carried out after the application for the licence has been received: reg 6(3). Such an inspection must be of any such places, equipment and documents as the person making the inspection thinks necessary for the purpose of enabling the licensing authority to satisfy itself on the matters referred to in reg 6(1) (see the text and notes 13-17 supra): reg 6(4).

19 Ie subject to ibid reg 15(2): see para 644 post.

20 Ibid reg 7(1). In the case of an application for a renewal of a licence, the licensing authority may rely for the purposes of reg 6(3) (see note 18 supra) on a report based on an inspection made in respect of the licence within a period of one year before the date on which the renewal is to commence: reg 7(2).

21 Ibid reg 8(a). 'Licence holder' means a person to whom a licence has been granted in accordance with the Adventure Activities Licensing Regulations 1996, SI 1996/772 (revoked) or the Adventure Activities Licensing Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1309 (as amended): reg 2(1).

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(2) PROTECTION FROM CRUELTY AND DANGER/(ii) Protection from Danger/J. ENTERTAINMENT AND LEISURE ACTIVITIES/641. Revocation or variation of licences.

641. Revocation or variation of licences.

The licensing authority<sup>1</sup> may at any time revoke or vary a licence<sup>2</sup>: (1) on application being made to it by the licence holder<sup>3</sup>; (2) if there has been a contravention of any condition attached to the licence<sup>4</sup>; (3) if any information supplied by the holder of the licence is false in any material particular<sup>5</sup>; or (4) if it considers such a revocation or variation necessary to ensure safety<sup>6</sup>. The licensing authority must consider an application for the variation of a licence where such application is made in a form and manner approved by the authority, and is accompanied by such supporting documentation as the authority reasonably requires<sup>7</sup>. Where a licence is so revoked or varied the licensing authority must give notice in writing or electronic form to the licence holder informing him of the revocation or, as the case may be, giving details of the variation, and the licence holder must, if so required by the licensing authority, return the licence to the authority and the authority must, if the licence is to be varied, reissue the licence to the licence holder in the varied form<sup>8</sup>.

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(2) PROTECTION FROM CRUELTY AND DANGER/(ii) Protection from Danger/J. ENTERTAINMENT AND LEISURE ACTIVITIES/642. Complaints, investigations and inspections.

642. Complaints, investigations and inspections.

The licensing authority<sup>1</sup> must consider any complaints which it receives relating to the provision of facilities for adventure activities<sup>2</sup> by licence holders<sup>3</sup> and must, if it considers it necessary, cause those complaints to be investigated<sup>4</sup>. Following the investigation of a complaint the authority must take such action as it considers appropriate and, in particular, it may revoke or vary the relevant licence<sup>5</sup> or refer the matter to the relevant enforcing authority<sup>6</sup>. Where a complaint has been investigated by the authority the authority must advise the complainant of the result of that investigation and of any action taken by it in consequence<sup>7</sup>.

The licensing authority may authorise suitably experienced or qualified persons (whether or not its officers or employees) to exercise any function conferred<sup>8</sup> on the authority<sup>9</sup>. Any person authorised by the licensing authority to conduct investigations or carry out inspections is required to carry and produce on request a written authorisation from the authority stating the functions exercisable by that person and the period for which the authorisation will remain in force<sup>10</sup>.

643. The register of licences and provision of information.

The licensing authority<sup>1</sup> must keep, in such form as it considers appropriate, a register of licences<sup>2</sup> which must include the name and address of each licence holder<sup>3</sup>, a description of the facilities for adventure activities<sup>4</sup> which may be provided pursuant to the licence and, where the licence is issued in respect of a particular activity centre, the address of the centre concerned<sup>5</sup>. The licensing authority must make the register available for public inspection without charge during reasonable office hours and must allow copies to be taken on payment of such charge, if any, as it may reasonably require<sup>6</sup>. In addition, the licensing authority must provide information, without charge, to any person seeking to know whether certain named persons are licence holders but the information which the authority is obliged to provide is limited to a request in respect of no more than five such named persons<sup>7</sup>.

644. Appeals.

An applicant for a licence<sup>1</sup> may appeal to the relevant national authority<sup>2</sup> against the refusal of a licence, and a failure to issue a decision on an application or an application for renewal within three months of the date on which the application was received by the licensing authority<sup>3</sup> must be treated as a refusal<sup>4</sup>. A licence holder<sup>5</sup> may appeal to the relevant national authority against any non-standard condition attached to a licence, the revocation or variation of a licence, or the refusal to vary a licence<sup>6</sup>.

Before the determination of an appeal the relevant national authority must ask the appellant and the licensing authority whether they wish to appear and be heard on the appeal<sup>7</sup>. If both of them express a wish not to appear and be heard, the appeal may be determined without a hearing of the parties<sup>8</sup>. If either of the parties expresses a wish to appear and be heard, the relevant national authority must afford to both of them an opportunity of so doing<sup>9</sup>. In determining an appeal the relevant national authority may make an order dismissing the appeal, allowing the appeal or directing the licensing authority to reconsider any matter which is the subject of the appeal<sup>10</sup>. If the relevant national authority allows the appeal it must direct the licensing authority:

- 1103 (1) where the appeal is against refusal of a licence, to grant a licence on the specified conditions<sup>11</sup> and on such other conditions relating to safety, if any, as may be specified in the direction<sup>12</sup>;
- 1104 (2) where the appeal is against any non-standard condition attached to a licence, to remove the condition or vary it in the way specified in the direction<sup>13</sup>;
- 1105 (3) where the appeal is against the revocation of a licence, to reinstate the licence with such variations, if any, as may be specified in the direction<sup>14</sup>; or
- 1106 (4) where the appeal is against the variation of a licence or against the refusal to vary a licence, to reinstate the licence in the form in which it was before the variation, or to vary the licence in the way specified in the direction<sup>15</sup>.

647. Introduction.

At the date at which this volume states the law restrictions on working with children are governed primarily by the Protection of Children Act 1999, which imposes a duty on the Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> to keep a list of individuals who are considered unsuitable to work with children<sup>2</sup> and makes related provision. In addition, the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 makes provision with regard to disqualification orders, by which method a person can be disqualified from working with children<sup>3</sup>. However, as from a day to be appointed<sup>4</sup>, this system is repealed by the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006<sup>5</sup>, which also makes provision for a new children's barred list<sup>6</sup> under the auspices of a newly constituted Independent Barring Board<sup>7</sup>. The tribunal established under the Protection of Children Act 1999<sup>8</sup> will remain the destination for appeals concerning decisions to include or fail to remove a person from the new list<sup>9</sup>.

UPDATE

648 Duty of Secretary of State to keep list

NOTE 1--Appointed day is 12 October 2009: SI 2009/1611.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/8. PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(3) RESTRICTIONS ON WORKING WITH CHILDREN/ (ii) The System under the Protection of Children Act 1999 etc/A. LIST UNDER THE PROTECTION OF CHILDREN ACT 1999 OF PERSONS CONSIDERED UNSUITABLE TO WORK WITH CHILDREN/ (B) Referrals/649. Referrals to Secretary of State for inclusion in list by a child care organisation and other organisations.

(B) REFERRALS

649. Referrals to Secretary of State for inclusion in list by a child care organisation and other organisations.

The following provisions have effect until a day to be appointed<sup>1</sup>.

A child care organisation<sup>2</sup> must, and any other organisation may, refer to the Secretary of State an individual who is or has been employed<sup>3</sup> in a child care position<sup>4</sup> if there is fulfilled any of the primary conditions mentioned in heads (1) to (4) below<sup>5</sup> or the secondary condition mentioned in heads (a) to (c) below<sup>6</sup>. The primary conditions are:

- 1107 (1) that the organisation has dismissed the individual on the grounds of misconduct (whether or not in the course of his employment) which harmed<sup>7</sup> a child or placed a child at risk of harm<sup>8</sup>;
- 1108 (2) that the individual has resigned, retired or been made redundant<sup>9</sup> in circumstances such that the organisation would have dismissed him, or would have considered dismissing him, on such grounds if he had not resigned, retired or been made redundant<sup>10</sup>;
- 1109 (3) that the organisation has, on such grounds, transferred the individual to a position within the organisation which is not a child care position<sup>11</sup>;
- 1110 (4) that the organisation has, on such grounds, suspended the individual or provisionally transferred him to such a position as is mentioned in head (3) above, but has not yet decided whether to dismiss him or to confirm the transfer<sup>12</sup>.

The secondary condition referred to above is that:

- 1111 (a) in circumstances not falling within heads (1) to (4) above, the organisation has dismissed the individual, he has resigned or retired, or the organisation has transferred him to a position within the organisation which is not a child care position<sup>13</sup>;
- 1112 (b) information not available to the organisation at the time of the dismissal, resignation, retirement or transfer has since become available<sup>14</sup>; and
- 1113 (c) the organisation has formed the opinion that, if that information had been available at that time and if (where applicable) the individual had not resigned or retired, the organisation would have dismissed him, or would have considered dismissing him, on such grounds as are mentioned in head (1) above<sup>15</sup>.

If it appears from the information submitted with a reference to the Secretary of State<sup>16</sup> that it may be appropriate for the individual to be included in the list<sup>17</sup>, the Secretary of State must determine the reference in accordance with the following requirements<sup>18</sup>; and pending that determination, he must provisionally include the individual in the list<sup>19</sup>. The Secretary of State must: (i) invite observations from the individual on the information submitted with the reference and, if he thinks fit, on any observations submitted under head (ii) below<sup>20</sup>; and (ii) invite observations from the organisation on any observations on the information submitted with the reference and, if he thinks fit, on any other observations under head (i) above<sup>21</sup>. Where the Secretary of State has considered the information submitted with the reference, any observations submitted to him and any other information which he considers relevant<sup>22</sup>, and, in the case of a reference under head (4) above<sup>23</sup>, the organisation has dismissed the individual or, as the case may be, has confirmed his transfer on such grounds as are there mentioned<sup>24</sup>, the Secretary of State must confirm the individual's inclusion in the list if the Secretary of State is of the opinion:

- 1114 (A) that the organisation reasonably considered the individual to be guilty of misconduct (whether or not in the course of his employment) which harmed a child or placed a child at risk of harm<sup>25</sup>; and
- 1115 (B) that the individual is unsuitable to work with children<sup>26</sup>.

Otherwise, if the Secretary of State is not of that opinion, he must remove the individual from the list<sup>27</sup>.

A child care organisation is not required to refer an individual to the Secretary of State in any case where the dismissal, resignation, retirement, transfer or suspension took place or, as the case may be, the opinion was formed before the commencement of these provisions<sup>28</sup>.

1 The Protection of Children Act 1999 ss 2, 13 are repealed by the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006 s 63, Sch 9 para 8(1), (2), Sch 10 as from a day to be appointed under s 65. At the date at which this volume states the law, no such day had been appointed.

2 'Child care organisation' means an organisation: (1) which is concerned with the provision of accommodation, social services or health care services to children or the supervision of children; (2) whose activities are regulated by or by virtue of any prescribed enactment; and (3) which fulfils such other conditions as may be prescribed: Protection of Children Act 1999 s 12(1). For the prescribed enactments see the Protection of Children (Child Care Organisations) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/2432. Where part of an organisation fulfils the condition in head (2) supra and part of it does not, the Protection of Children Act 1999 has effect as if the two parts were separate organisations: s 12(2). 'Organisation' means a body corporate or unincorporate or an individual who employs others in the course of a business: s 12(1). The Protection of Children Act 1999 has effect as if the Children and Family Court Advisory and Support Service ('CAFCASS') were a child care organisation within the meaning of that Act: Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 24(1) (prospectively repealed); and see para 662 post. As to CAFCASS see para 230 et seq ante.

'Prescribed' means prescribed by regulations made by the Secretary of State: Protection of Children Act 1999 s 12(1). Where an individual is included in the Consultancy Service Index<sup>2</sup> (otherwise than provisionally) immediately before 2 October 2000<sup>3</sup>, and he was so included on a reference made to the Secretary of State by an organisation<sup>4</sup>, and any of the conditions for inclusion on the list<sup>5</sup> was fulfilled in relation to that reference<sup>6</sup>, if it appears from the information submitted with the reference that it may be appropriate for the individual to be included in the list kept by the Secretary of State<sup>7</sup>, the Secretary of State must: (1) invite observations from the individual on the information submitted with the reference and, if he thinks fit, on any observations submitted under head (2) below<sup>8</sup>; and (2) invite observations from the organisation on any observations on the information submitted with the reference and, if he thinks fit, on any other observations under head (1) above<sup>9</sup>.

Where an individual is included in the Consultancy Service Index (otherwise than provisionally) immediately before 2 October 2000<sup>10</sup>, and he was so included on a reference made to the Secretary of State by an organisation<sup>11</sup>, and any of the conditions for inclusion on the list<sup>12</sup> was fulfilled in relation to that reference<sup>13</sup>, the Secretary of State must include the individual in the list kept by him<sup>14</sup> if, after he has considered the information submitted with the reference, any observations submitted to him and any other information which he considers relevant, he is of the opinion that the organisation reasonably considered the individual to be guilty of misconduct (whether or not in the course of his employment<sup>15</sup>) which harmed<sup>16</sup> a child<sup>17</sup> or placed a child at risk of harm<sup>18</sup>, and that the individual is unsuitable to work with children<sup>19</sup>.

Where: (a) a relevant inquiry<sup>20</sup> has been held<sup>21</sup>; (b) the report of the person who held the inquiry names an individual who is or has been employed<sup>22</sup> in a child care position<sup>23</sup>; (c) it appears to the Secretary of State from the report that the person who held the inquiry found that the individual was guilty of relevant misconduct<sup>24</sup>, and that the individual is unsuitable to work with children<sup>25</sup>; and (d) the individual is included in the Consultancy Service Index (otherwise than provisionally) immediately before 2 October 2000<sup>26</sup>, the Secretary of State must: (i) invite observations from the individual on the report, so far as relating to him, and, if the Secretary of State thinks fit, on any observations submitted under head (ii) below; and (ii) invite observations from the relevant employer<sup>27</sup> on any observations on the report and, if the Secretary of State thinks fit, on any other observations under head (i) above<sup>28</sup>.

Similarly, where: (A) a relevant inquiry has been held<sup>29</sup>; (B) the report of the person who held the inquiry names an individual who is or has been employed in a child care position<sup>30</sup>; (C) it appears to the Secretary of State from the report that the person who held the inquiry found that the individual was guilty of relevant misconduct<sup>31</sup>, and that the individual is unsuitable to work with children<sup>32</sup>; and (D) the individual is included in the Consultancy Service Index (otherwise than provisionally) immediately before 2 October 2000<sup>33</sup>, the Secretary of State must include the individual in the list kept by him<sup>34</sup> if, after he has considered the report, any observations submitted to him and any other information which he considers relevant, he is of the opinion that the person who held the inquiry reasonably considered the individual to be guilty of relevant misconduct, and that the individual is unsuitable to work with children<sup>35</sup>.

UPDATE

658 Inclusion in list on transfer from Consultancy Service Index

NOTE 1--Appointed day for the repeal of the Protection of Children Act 1999 s 3 is 12 October 2009: SI 2009/1611.

(C) APPEALS AND APPLICATIONS

An individual who is included (otherwise than provisionally) in the list kept by the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> may appeal to the Tribunal<sup>3</sup> against the decision to include him in the list<sup>4</sup>; or, with the leave of the Tribunal, against any decision of the Secretary of State not to remove him from the list<sup>5</sup>. An individual who has been provisionally included for a period of more than nine months in the list kept by the Secretary of State<sup>6</sup> may, with the leave of the Tribunal, have the issue of his inclusion in the list determined by the Tribunal instead of by the Secretary of State<sup>7</sup>. If on an appeal or determination under this provision the Tribunal is not satisfied of either of the following, namely:

- 1136 (1) that the individual was guilty of misconduct (whether or not in the course of his duties) which harmed<sup>8</sup> a child<sup>9</sup> or placed a child at risk of harm; and
- 1137 (2) that the individual is unsuitable to work with children, the Tribunal must allow the appeal or determine the issue in the individual's favour and (in either case) direct his removal from the list; otherwise, it must dismiss the appeal or direct the individual's inclusion in the list<sup>10</sup>.

Where an individual has been convicted of an offence involving misconduct (whether or not in the course of his employment<sup>11</sup>) which harmed a child or placed a child at risk of harm, no finding of fact on which the conviction must be taken to have been based can be challenged on an appeal or determination under this provision<sup>12</sup>. Where the misconduct of which the individual is alleged to have been guilty is the subject of any civil or criminal proceedings, an application for leave<sup>13</sup> may not be made before the end of the period of six months immediately following the final determination of the proceedings<sup>14</sup>. For these purposes<sup>15</sup>, proceedings are finally determined when:

- 1138 (a) the proceedings are terminated without a decision being made<sup>16</sup>;
- 1139 (b) a decision is made against which no appeal lies<sup>17</sup>;
- 1140 (c) in a case where an appeal lies with leave against a decision, the time limited for applications for leave expires without leave being granted<sup>18</sup>; or
- 1141 (d) in a case where leave to appeal against a decision is granted or is not required, the time limited for appeal expires without an appeal being brought<sup>19</sup>.

3 le the Tribunal established under ibid s 9 (as amended) (see para 708 post): s 12(1). The Tribunal, rather than a judicial review hearing, is the appropriate forum for a person seeking to appeal against the inclusion of his name on the list: R (on the application of M) v Bromley London Borough Council [2002] EWCA Civ 1113, [2002] 3 FCR 193.

4 Protection of Children Act 1999 s 4(1)(a). The provisions of s 4 also apply, with modifications (see notes 10, 12 infra), to those individuals who are included in the list on a reference under the Care Standards Act 2000 Pt VII (ss 80-104) (as amended; prospectively repealed): see the Protection of Children Act 1999 s 2C(5) (added by the Care Standards Act 2000 s 97(1)). See note 1 supra.

5 Protection of Children Act 1999 s 4(1)(b). See note 1 supra. As to removal from the list see s 1(3) (prospectively repealed); and para 648 ante.

6 le under ibid s 1 (as amended; prospectively repealed): see para 648 ante.

7 Ibid s 4(2). See note 1 supra. Section 4(2) is expressed to be subject to s 4(5): see the text and note 14 infra.

9 For the meaning of 'child' see para 648 note 3 ante.

10 Protection of Children Act 1999 s 4(3). See note 1 supra. In the case of those individuals who are included in the list on a reference under the Care Standards Act 2000 Pt VII (as amended; prospectively repealed) (see note 4 supra), if on an appeal or determination under the Protection of Children Act 1999 s 4 the Tribunal is not satisfied of either of the following, namely: (1) that the individual was guilty of misconduct (whether or not in the course of his duties) which harmed a vulnerable adult or placed a vulnerable adult at risk of harm; and (2) that the individual is unsuitable to work with children, the Tribunal must allow the appeal or determine the issue in the individual's favour and (in either case) direct his removal from the list; otherwise, it must dismiss the appeal or direct the individual's inclusion in the list: see s 4(3); and see s 2C(5) (as added: see note 4 supra). As to the duty of the Tribunal under s 4 see Secretary of State for Education and Skills v Mairs [2005] EWHC 996 (Admin), [2005] ICR 1714 (where its view differed from those of a statutory inquiry, the Tribunal was required to show a justifiable basis for its view, acting not as a court of appeal but rather exercising its own judgment in accordance with its statutory obligations). Where, without any explanation, the individual fails to attend his appeal hearing, the Tribunal is entitled to conclude that he did not consider that his account could survive oral examination: Secretary of State for Health v C [2003] EWCA Civ 10, [2003] 2 FCR 274.

In the case of those individuals who are included in the list on a reference under the Care Standards Act 2000 Pt VII (as amended; prospectively repealed) (see note 4 supra), where an individual has been convicted of an offence involving misconduct (whether or not in the course of his employment) which harmed a vulnerable adult or placed a vulnerable adult at risk of harm, no finding of fact on which the conviction must be taken to have been based can be challenged on an appeal or determination under the Protection of Children Act 1999 s 4: see s 4(4); and see s 2C(5) (as added: see note 4 supra).

UPDATE

659 Appeals against inclusion in list

NOTE 1--Appointed day for the repeal of the Protection of Children Act 1999 ss 2C, 4 is 12 October 2009: SI 2009/1611.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/8. PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(3) RESTRICTIONS ON WORKING WITH CHILDREN/ (ii) The System under the Protection of Children Act 1999 etc/A. LIST UNDER THE PROTECTION OF CHILDREN ACT 1999 OF PERSONS CONSIDERED UNSUITABLE TO WORK WITH CHILDREN/ (C) Appeals and Applications/660. Applications for removal from or restoration to the list.

660. Applications for removal from or restoration to the list.

An individual who is included in the list kept by the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> may make an application to the Tribunal<sup>3</sup> whereupon the Tribunal must determine whether or not the individual should continue to be included in the list<sup>4</sup>. If the Tribunal is satisfied that the individual is no longer unsuitable to work with children it must direct his removal from the list; otherwise, it must dismiss the application<sup>5</sup>.

An individual may only make an application to be removed from the list with the leave of the Tribunal<sup>6</sup> and such an application may not be made unless the appropriate conditions are satisfied in the individual's case<sup>7</sup>. In the case of an individual who was a child when he was included (otherwise than provisionally) in the list, the appropriate conditions are satisfied if: (1) he has been so included for a continuous period of at least five years<sup>8</sup>; and (2) in the period of five years ending with the time when he makes the application, he has made no other such application<sup>9</sup>. In the case of any other individual, the appropriate conditions are satisfied if: (a) he has been included (otherwise than provisionally) in the list for a continuous period of at least 10 years<sup>10</sup>; and (b) in the period of 10 years ending with the time when he makes the application, he has made no other such application<sup>11</sup>. The Tribunal may not grant the application unless it considers that the individual's circumstances have changed since he was included (otherwise than provisionally) in the list, or, as the case may be, since he last made an application and that the change is such that leave should be granted<sup>12</sup>.

If it appears to a chief officer of police or a director of children's services of a local authority in England or a director of social services of a local authority in Wales<sup>13</sup> that the following conditions are satisfied in the case of an individual, the chief officer or (as the case may be) the director may apply to the High Court for an order for the restoration of the individual's inclusion in the list to be made<sup>14</sup> in respect of him<sup>15</sup>. The conditions are that:

- 1142 (i) the individual is no longer included in the list kept by the Secretary of State<sup>16</sup>; and
- 1143 (ii) the individual has acted in such a way (whether before or after he ceased to be included in the list) as to give reasonable cause to believe that an order<sup>17</sup> is necessary to protect children in general, or any children in particular, from serious harm from him<sup>18</sup>.

Such an application may be made at any time after the individual ceased to be included in the list<sup>19</sup>. If the High Court is satisfied that the conditions set out in heads (i) and (ii) above are satisfied, it must order the restoration of the individual's inclusion in the list; otherwise, it must dismiss the application<sup>20</sup>.

1 The Protection of Children Act 1999 ss 4A-4C (all as added; s 4C as amended) are repealed by the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006 s 63, Sch 9 para 8(1), (2), Sch 10 as from a day to be appointed under s 65. At the date at which this volume states the law, no such day had been appointed.

15 See ibid s 4C(1) (as added (see note 13 supra); and amended by the Children Act 2004 s 18(9), (10), Sch 2 para 6). The amendment made by the Children Act 2004 has effect, in relation to any authority which appoints a director of children's services before 1 January 2008, from the day of his appointment (see s 18(9) (a)) and, otherwise, from 1 January 2008 (see the Children Act 2004 (Director of Children's Services) Appointed Day Order 2007, SI 2007/1792, art 2). Prior to the appointment of a director of children's services or 1 January 2008, the power to apply to the high court for an order of restoration lies with a chief officer of police or a director of social services of a local authority: Protection of Children Act 1999 s 4C(1) (as so added). See note 1 supra.

16 Ibid s 4C(2)(a) (as added: see note 13 supra). See note 1 supra. As to the list kept by the Secretary of State under s 1 (as amended; prospectively repealed) see para 648 ante. 18 Ibid s 4C(2)(b) (as added: see note 13 supra). See note 1 supra.

19 Ibid s 4C(3) (as added: see note 13 supra). See note 1 supra.

Where an individual who has been restored to the list kept by the Secretary of State under s 1 (as amended; prospectively repealed) (see para 648 ante) by an order under s 4C (as added and amended) wishes to make an application to the Tribunal under s 4A (as added) (see the text and notes 2-5 supra), he may only make such an application with the leave of the Tribunal: see s 4B(1) (as added: see note 6 supra), s 4C(5) (as added: see note 13 supra). Such an application for leave may not be made unless the appropriate conditions are satisfied in the individual's case: s 4B(2) (as so added), s 4C(5) (as so added). In the case of an individual who was a child when the order under s 4C (as added and amended) was made, the appropriate conditions are satisfied if: (1) he has been so included for a continuous period of at least five years beginning with the making of the order under s 4C (as added and amended); and (2) in the period of five years ending with the time when he makes the application, he has made no other such application: s 4B(3) (as so added), s 4C(5) (as so added). In the case of any other individual, the appropriate conditions are satisfied if: (a) he has been included (otherwise than provisionally) in the list for a continuous period of at least 10 years beginning with the making of the order under s 4C (as added and amended); and (b) in the period of 10 years ending with the time when he makes the application, he has made no other such application: s 4B(4) (as so added), s 4C(5) (as so added). The Tribunal may not grant the application unless it considers that the individual's circumstances have changed since the order under s 4C (as added and amended) was made or, as the case may be, since he last made an application under s 4C (as added and amended), and that the change is such that leave should be granted: s 4B(5) (as so added), s 4C(5) (as so added).

NOTE 1--Appointed day for the repeal of the Protection of Children Act 1999 ss 4A-4C is 12 October 2009: SI 2009/1611.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/8. ## B. DUTY TO CONSULT THE LISTS OF PERSONS CONSIDERED UNSUITABLE TO WORK WITH CHILDREN

661. Duty of prospective employers to consult statutory list and ascertain prohibition from teaching, etc.

Where a child care organisation<sup>2</sup> proposes to offer an individual employment<sup>3</sup> in a child care position<sup>4</sup>, the organisation must ascertain whether the individual is included in the list of persons considered unsuitable to work with children<sup>5</sup> or whether the individual is subject to a direction prohibiting him from teaching etc given on the grounds that he is unsuitable to work with children<sup>6</sup> and, if he is included in the list or subject to such a direction, it must not offer him employment in such a position<sup>7</sup>. Where a child care organisation discovers that an individual employed<sup>8</sup> by it in a child care position is included in any such list, it must cease to employ him in a child care position<sup>9</sup>. For these purposes, an individual is not employed in a child care position if he has been suspended or provisionally transferred to a position which is not a child care position<sup>10</sup>.

Where a child care organisation proposes to offer employment in a child care position to an individual who has been supplied by an organisation which carries on an employment agency<sup>11</sup>, or an employment business<sup>12</sup> or an agency for the supply of nurses<sup>13</sup>, the child care organisation complies with its duty if<sup>14</sup>: (1) it satisfies itself that, on a date within the last 12 months, the other organisation ascertained whether the individual was included in the list<sup>15</sup> or subject to a direction; (2) it obtains written confirmation of the facts as ascertained by that organisation<sup>16</sup>; (3) if the individual was included in the list on that date, it does not offer him employment in a child care position<sup>17</sup>; and (4) if the individual was subject to a direction, it does not offer him employment in a child care position<sup>18</sup>. It is immaterial for these purposes<sup>19</sup> whether the individual is already employed by the child care organisation<sup>20</sup>.

The Protection of Children Act 1999 has effect as if the Children and Family Court Advisory and Support Service ('CAFCASS')<sup>2</sup> were a child care organisation within the meaning of that Act<sup>3</sup>. Arrangements which CAFCASS makes with an organisation<sup>4</sup> must provide that, before selecting an individual to be employed under the arrangements in a child care position<sup>5</sup>, the organisation<sup>6</sup> must ascertain whether the individual is included in a list of persons considered unsuitable to work with children<sup>7</sup> or is subject to a direction prohibiting him from teaching etc on the grounds that he is unsuitable to work with children<sup>8</sup> and, if he is included or prohibited, must not select him for that employment<sup>9</sup>. Such arrangements must provide that, if at any time the organisation has power to refer a relevant individual<sup>10</sup> to the Secretary of State under the Protection of Children Act 1999<sup>11</sup>, the organisation must so refer him<sup>12</sup>.

1 The Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 24 is repealed by the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006 s 63, Sch 10 as from a day to be appointed under s 65. At the date at which this volume states the law, no such day had been appointed.

C. DISQUALIFICATION ORDERS UNDER THE CRIMINAL JUSTICE AND COURT SERVICES ACT 2000

663. Disqualification of adults from working with children.

- 1144 (1) the individual is convicted of an offence against a child<sup>6</sup> committed when he was aged 18 or over<sup>7</sup>, and a qualifying sentence<sup>8</sup> is imposed by a senior court<sup>9</sup> in respect of the conviction<sup>10</sup>; or
- 1145 (2) the individual is charged with an offence against a child committed when he was aged 18 or over, and a relevant order<sup>11</sup> is made by a senior court in respect of the act or omission charged against him as the offence<sup>12</sup>.

A disqualification order may not be made under these provisions if the court is satisfied, having regard to all the circumstances, that it is unlikely that the individual will commit any further offence against a child<sup>13</sup>.

If the court does not make a disqualification order, it must state its reasons for not doing so and cause those reasons to be included in the record of the proceedings<sup>14</sup>.

1 The Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 ss 28, 30, 38 are repealed by the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006 s 63, Sch 10 as from a day to be appointed under s 65. At the date at which this volume states the law, no such day had been appointed.

2 Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 28(1). See note 1 supra.

3 'Work' includes: (1) work of any kind, whether paid or unpaid and whether under a contract of service or apprenticeship, under a contract for services, or otherwise than under a contract; and (2) an office established by or by virtue of an enactment; and 'working' must be read accordingly: ibid s 42(1).

4 Ibid s 28(4). 'Child' means a person under the age of 18: s 42(1).

5 Ibid ss 30(5)(a), 42(1). See note 1 supra. As to subsequent application for a disqualification order see para 665 post. A disqualification order is not a sentence for the purposes of the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974: see the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 38(1). As to the rehabilitation of offenders see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 660 et seq.

6 For the meaning of 'offence against a child' see para 667 post.

7 If, for the purpose of making an order under the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 28 (prospectively repealed) or s 29 (prospectively repealed) (see para 664 post), the court determines, after considering any available evidence, that an individual was, or was not, under the age of 18 at the time when the offence in question was committed, his age at that time must be taken for those purposes (and in particular for the purpose of determining any question as to the validity of the order) to be that which the court determined it to be: s 30(4). See note 1 supra.

8 'Qualifying sentence' means:

- 327 (1) a sentence of imprisonment for a term of 12 months or more (ibid s 30(1)(a));
- 328 (2) a sentence of detention in a young offender institution for a term of 12 months or more (s 30(1)(b));
- 329 (3) a sentence of detention during Her Majesty's pleasure (s 30(1)(c));
- 330 (4) a sentence of detention for a period of 12 months or more under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 91 (as amended) (offenders under 18 convicted of certain serious offences) (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 78) (Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 30(1)(d));
- 331 (5) a sentence of detention under the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 226 (detention for life or detention for public protection for serious offences committed by those under 18) (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 82-83) or s 228 (extended sentence for certain violent or sexual offences: persons 18 or over) (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 84) (Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 30(1)(dd) (added by the Criminal Justice Act 2000 s 299, Sch 30 paras 1, 3(1), (3)(b)));
- 332 (6) a detention and training order for a term of 12 months or more (Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 30(1)(e));
- 333 (7) a sentence of detention for a term of 12 months or more imposed by a court-martial or the Courts-Martial Appeal Court (s 30(1)(f));
- 334 (8) a hospital order within the meaning of the Mental Health Act 1983 (see MENTAL HEALTH vol 30(2) (Reissue) para 491) (Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 30(1)(g)); or
- 335 (9) a guardianship order (s 30(1)(h)).

As from a day to be appointed under s 80(1), the provisions of s 30(1)(b) (see head 2 supra) are repealed by ss 61(9)(a), 75, Sch 8. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As from a day to be appointed under the Armed Forces Act 2006 s 383(2), the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 30(1)(d) (see head (4) supra) is amended by the Armed Forces Act 2006 s 378(1), Sch 16 para 180(1) so as to include a sentence of detention for a period of 12 months or more under s 209 (see ARMED FORCES); the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 30(1)(e) (see head (6) supra) is amended by the Armed Forces Act 2006 Sch 16 para 180(1), (2)(b)(ii) so as to include references to the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 100 (as amended) (see para 1398 post) or the Armed Forces Act 2006 s 211 (see ARMED FORCES); and the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 30(1)(f) (see head (7) supra) is repealed by the Armed Forces Act 2006 Sch 16 para 180(1), (2)(b)(iii), Sch 17. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day or days had been appointed.

'Guardianship order' means a guardianship order within the meaning of the Army Act 1955, the Air Force Act 1955, the Naval Discipline Act 1957 or the Mental Health Act 1983 (see MENTAL HEALTH vol 30(2) (Reissue) para 502): Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 30(1). As from a day to be appointed, this provision is amended so as to remove the references to the Army Act 1955, the Air Force Act 1955 and the Naval Discipline Act 1957: see the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 30(1) (amended by the Armed Forces Act 2006 s 378, Sch 16 para 180(1), (2)(a), Sch 17). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

References to a sentence of imprisonment, or to a sentence of detention imposed by a court-martial or the Courts-Martial Appeal Court, include references to a suspended sentence: s 30(3).

The reference to detention in head (3) supra includes a reference to detention by virtue of a custodial order under the Army Act 1955 s 71AA (as added; prospectively amended; prospectively repealed) or Sch 5A para 10 (as added; prospectively amended; prospectively repealed), the Air Force Act 1955 s 71AA (as added; prospectively amended; prospectively repealed) or Sch 5A para 10 (as added; prospectively amended; prospectively repealed), or the Naval Discipline Act 1957 s 43AA (as added; prospectively amended; prospectively repealed) or Sch 4A para 10 (as added; prospectively amended; prospectively repealed) (see ARMED FORCES): see the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 30(2).

See note 1 supra.

9 'Senior court' means the Crown Court, the Court of Appeal, a court-martial or the Courts-Martial Appeal Court: Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 30(1). See note 1 supra. As from a day to be appointed references to a 'senior court' will be replaced by references to a superior court: see s 28(2) (ss 28, 30(1) prospectively amended by the Constitutional Reform Act 2005 s 59(5), Sch 11 Pt 4 para 35(a), (d)). At the date at which this volume states the law, no such day had been appointed.

10 Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 28(2) (prospectively amended: see note 9 supra).

11 'Relevant order' means: (1) an order made by the Crown Court, the Court of Appeal, a court-martial or the Courts-Martial Appeal Court that the individual in question be admitted to hospital; or (2) a guardianship order: ibid s 30(1). See note 1 supra.

12 Ibid s 28(3) (prospectively amended: see note 9 supra). See note 1 supra.

13 Ibid s 28(5). See note 1 supra. The civil standard of proof is to be applied in order to determine whether a defendant is unlikely to re-offend: R v MG [2001] EWCA Crim 2308, [2002] 1 FLR 694. The offender bears this burden of proof: R v Clayton [2003] EWCA Crim 2161, [2004] 1 Cr App Rep (S) 201. A disqualification order is a preventative rather than a punitive measure: R v Field, R v Young [2002] EWCA Crim 2913, [2003] 3 All ER 769, [2003] 2 Cr App Rep 38.

666. Subsequent application for a disqualification order.

It also includes a civil offence<sup>6</sup> of attempting to commit an offence against a child, or an act that would, if committed in England or Wales, be an offence against a child<sup>7</sup>.

1 The Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 27 (prospectively amended) is repealed by the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006 s 63, Sch 10 as from a day to be appointed under s 65. At the date at which this volume states the law, no such day had been appointed.

At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

6 'Civil offence' has the same meaning as in the Army Act 1955 (see ARMED FORCES vol 2(2) (Reissue) para 422); Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 27(5). See note 1 supra. - 337 (2) in relation to an individual whose sentence is suspended and does not take effect, the day on which the disqualification order is made (s 33(6)(b));
- 338 (3) in relation to an individual whose sentence is an order for admission to hospital: (a) if he is detained in a hospital pursuant to the order, the day on which he ceases to be liable to be detained there; or (b) if he is not so detained, the day on which the disqualification order is made (s 33(6)(c));

This definition is amended by the Armed Forces Act 2006 s 378, Sch 16 para 182(a), Sch 17 as from a day to be appointed under s 382(3) so as to repeal head (i) supra. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed). For the meaning of 'guardianship order' see para 663 note 8 ante; definition applied by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 33(7).

References, in relation to a suspended sentence, to its taking effect are to its taking effect by virtue of: (A) an order or direction under the Naval Discipline Act 1957 s 91 (as amended; prospectively repealed) (see ARMED FORCES vol 2(2) (Reissue) para 477), or the Criminal Justice Act 2003 Sch 12 para 8(2)(a) or (b) (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 128); or (B) the determination of the suspension under the Army Act 1955 s 120 (as amended; prospectively repealed) or the Air Force Act 1955 s 120 (as amended; prospectively repealed) (see ARMED FORCES vol 2(2) (Reissue) para 514): Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 42(2) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 Pt 1 paras 133, 135). This provision is repealed by the Armed Forces Act 2006 s 378, Sch 16 para 183(b), Sch 17 as from a day to be appointed under s 382(3). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

16 Ibid s 33(5). See note 1 supra. Where an order has been made under s 34 (as amended) restoring a disqualification order (see para 671 post), the reference to the individual's circumstances changing since the disqualification order was made is to be read as a reference to his circumstances changing since the order restoring the disqualification was made: s 34(5)(c).

B. BARRING

681. The children's barred list.

The following provisions are to have effect as from a day to be appointed<sup>1</sup>.

The Independent Barring Board<sup>2</sup> must establish and maintain the children's barred list<sup>3</sup>.

If it appears to the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup> that a person satisfies certain prescribed criteria<sup>5</sup> he must refer the matter to Board<sup>6</sup>. On the reference being made, the Board must include the person in the children's barred list<sup>7</sup>. If it appears to the Secretary of State that a person satisfies certain other prescribed criteria<sup>8</sup> he must, again, refer the matter to Board<sup>9</sup>. On the reference being made the Board must include that person in the children's barred list, and give him the opportunity to make representations as to why he should be removed from the children's barred list<sup>10</sup>. If it appears that it is not appropriate for the person to be included in the list under these circumstances, the Board must remove him from the list<sup>11</sup>.

If it appears to the Board that a person has (at any time) engaged in relevant conduct<sup>12</sup>, and it proposes to include him in the children's barred list<sup>13</sup>, then it must give the person the opportunity to make representations as to why he should not be included in the children's barred list<sup>14</sup>. The Board must include the person in the children's barred list if it is satisfied that the person has engaged in relevant conduct, and it appears that it is appropriate to include the person in the list<sup>15</sup>.

If it appears to the Board that a person may:

- 1216 (1) harm a child<sup>16</sup>;
- 1217 (2) cause a child to be harmed<sup>17</sup>;
- 1218 (3) put a child at risk of harm<sup>18</sup>;
- 1219 (4) attempt to harm a child<sup>19</sup>; or
- 1220 (5) incite another to harm a child<sup>20</sup>, and it proposes to include him in the children's barred list<sup>21</sup>, then it must give the person the opportunity to make representations as to why he should not be included in the children's barred list<sup>22</sup>.

The Board must include the person in the children's barred list if it is satisfied that the person falls within heads (1) to (5) above and it appears that it is appropriate to include the person in the list<sup>23</sup>.

The Board must not include a person in the children's barred list:

- 1221 (a) only on a particular ground if a relevant Scottish authority<sup>24</sup> has already considered whether the person should be included in a corresponding list<sup>25</sup> on the same ground (whether or not it decided to include him in the list)<sup>26</sup>; or
- 1222 (b) if, in accordance with such criteria as the Secretary of State specifies by order, it is more appropriate for the person's case to be considered by the relevant Scottish authority<sup>27</sup>.

In respect of an individual who is included in a barred list, the Board must keep other information of such description as is prescribed<sup>28</sup>.

NOTE 28--The following information, relating to the identity of the individual and provided to the Board, is prescribed: (1) any alternative names and aliases of the individual; (2) the individual's date and place of birth; (3) the address of the individual; (4) all information on any monitoring application submitted by the individual; (5) the unique identification number accorded to the monitoring application or referral to the Board in respect of the individual; (6) the Police National Computer identification number relating to the individual; (7) the Criminal Records Bureau disclosure number relating to the monitoring application or the referral to the IBB in respect of the individual; (8) the national insurance number of the individual; and (9) all additional information relating to the identity of the individual: Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006 (Barred List Prescribed Information) Regulations 2008, SI 2008/16, reg 3. The information so prescribed is the following information related to the Board's functions: (a) the date of the individual's inclusion on the barred list; (b) all information provided to the Board which it considers relevant to the decision of whether or not the individual ought to be barred; (c) any information provided to the Board by keepers of relevant registers or supervisory authorities in accordance with the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006 ss 41 (see PARA 701) and 45 (see PARA 701); (d) relevant police information provided to the Board but which the Board must not take account of for the purpose of deciding whether or not the individual ought to be barred, in accordance with Sch 3 para 19(5), (6) (see PARA 683); (e) the reasons for the Board's decision to bar the individual, including any findings of fact made by the Board giving rise to that decision; (f) any information provided to the Board, including

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/8. PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(3) RESTRICTIONS ON WORKING WITH CHILDREN/(iii) The System under the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006/B. BARRING/682. Procedural matters.

682. Procedural matters.

The following provisions are to have effect as from a day to be appointed<sup>1</sup>.

The Independent Barring Board<sup>2</sup> must ensure that, in respect of any information it receives in relation to an individual from whatever source or of whatever nature, it considers whether the information is relevant to its consideration as to whether the individual should be included in the barred list<sup>3</sup>. However, this requirement does not, without more, require the Board to give an individual the opportunity to make representations as to why he should not be included in a barred list<sup>4</sup>. When an individual is included in a barred list the Board must take all reasonable steps to notify the individual of that fact<sup>5</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>6</sup> may, by regulations, make provision as to the procedure to be followed for the purposes of any decision the Board is required or authorised to take<sup>7</sup>, including provision as to the time within which anything is to be done<sup>8</sup>.

A person who is given an opportunity to make representations<sup>9</sup> must have the opportunity to make representations in relation to all of the information on which the Board intends to rely in taking a decision<sup>10</sup>. Any requirement<sup>11</sup> to give a person an opportunity to make representations does not apply if the Board does not know and cannot reasonably ascertain the whereabouts of the person<sup>12</sup>. The opportunity to make representations does not include the opportunity to make representations that findings of fact made by a competent body<sup>13</sup> were wrongly made<sup>14</sup>.

Where the Board was unable to ascertain the whereabouts of a person who is included in a barred list (except a person who is subject to automatic inclusion<sup>15</sup>) before he was included in the list<sup>16</sup>, or it grants a person, who did not (before the end of any time prescribed<sup>17</sup> for the purpose) make representations as to why he should not be included in the list, permission to make such representations out of time<sup>18</sup>, then the Board must consider the representations<sup>19</sup>; and if it thinks that it is not appropriate for the person to be included in the list concerned, it must remove him from the list<sup>20</sup>. For these purposes, it is immaterial that any such representations relate to a time after the person was included in the list concerned<sup>21</sup>.

A person who is included in a barred list may, with the permission of the Board<sup>22</sup>, apply to the Board for a review of his inclusion<sup>23</sup>. A person may apply for permission only if the application is made after the end of the minimum barred period<sup>24</sup>, and in the prescribed period ending with the time when he applies for permission, he has made no other such application<sup>25</sup>. The Board must not grant permission unless it thinks that the person's circumstances have changed since he was included in the list or since he last applied for permission (as the case may be)<sup>26</sup>, and that the change is such that permission should be granted<sup>27</sup>. On a review of a person's inclusion, if the Board is satisfied that it is no longer appropriate for him to be included in the list it must remove him from it; otherwise, it must dismiss the application<sup>28</sup>.

683. Information.

The Independent Barring Board<sup>2</sup> may require:

- 1223 (1) any person who holds records of convictions or cautions<sup>3</sup> for the use of police forces generally to provide to it any relevant information<sup>4</sup> relating to a relevant person<sup>5</sup>;
- 1224 (2) any person who holds such records to provide to it prescribed details of relevant matter<sup>6</sup> relating to a relevant person<sup>7</sup>;
- 1225 (3) the chief officer of a relevant police force<sup>8</sup> to provide to it any such relevant information<sup>9</sup>;
- 1226 (4) any person who holds information<sup>10</sup> to provide to it any such information relating to a relevant person<sup>11</sup>.

For the purpose of deciding whether or not a person is included in a barred list the Board must not take account of relevant police information<sup>12</sup> if the chief officer of the relevant police force thinks that it would not be in the interests of the prevention or detection of crime to disclose the information to the person<sup>13</sup>. If the Board so requests, the Secretary of State must inform the Board which police forces are relevant police forces in relation to a person<sup>14</sup>.

The Secretary of State may provide to the Board any information relating to a person which is held by him in connection with his functions under certain enactments<sup>15</sup>; and he must provide any information relating to a person which is held by him in connection with his functions with regard to safeguarding children<sup>16</sup>.

The Board must provide the Secretary of State with the prescribed information relating to a person if:

- 1228 (b) it is considering whether to include him in a barred list<sup>18</sup>;
- 1229 (c) it thinks that any of the prescribed criteria<sup>19</sup> is satisfied in relation to him and that the Secretary of State does not already have the information<sup>20</sup>.

The Secretary of State must inform the Scottish Ministers if a person is included in a barred list<sup>21</sup>. The Board may, at the request of the Welsh Ministers<sup>22</sup>, provide them with such information relating to the exercise of its functions as it thinks may be relevant to the exercise by the Welsh Ministers of any of their functions<sup>23</sup>.

C. REGULATED ACTIVITY

687. Regulated activity.

The following provisions are to have effect as from a day to be appointed<sup>1</sup>.

When they are carried out frequently by the same person, or the period condition<sup>2</sup> is satisfied<sup>3</sup>, the following activities are regulated activities relating to children<sup>4</sup>:

- 1234 (1) any form of teaching, training or instruction of children, unless the teaching, training or instruction is merely incidental to teaching, training or instruction of persons who are not children<sup>5</sup>;
- 1235 (2) any form of care for or supervision of children, unless the care or supervision is merely incidental to care for or supervision of persons who are not children<sup>6</sup>;
- 1236 (3) any form of advice or guidance provided wholly or mainly for children, if the advice or guidance relates to their physical, emotional or educational well-being<sup>7</sup>;
- 1237 (4) any form of treatment or therapy provided for a child<sup>8</sup>;
- 1238 (5) moderating a public electronic interactive communication service which is likely to be used wholly or mainly by children<sup>9</sup>;
- 1239 (6) driving a vehicle which is being used only for the purpose of conveying children and any person supervising or caring for the children pursuant to arrangements made in prescribed circumstances<sup>10</sup>.

Where the child has attained the age of 16, and the activity is not carried out by a person in respect of whom arrangements exist principally for that purpose<sup>11</sup>, heads (1) to (4) above do not include the activities described when carried out in the course of a child's employment<sup>12</sup>. For the purposes of head (5) above a person moderates a public electronic interactive communication service if, for the purpose of protecting children, he has any function relating to monitoring the content of matter which forms any part of the service<sup>13</sup>, removing matter from, or preventing the addition of matter to, the service<sup>14</sup>, or controlling access to, or use of, the service<sup>15</sup>.

When an activity is carried out frequently by the same person or the period condition is satisfied<sup>16</sup>, and in one of the following establishments:

- 1240 (a) an educational institution which is exclusively or mainly for the provision of full time education to children<sup>17</sup>;
- 1241 (b) an establishment which is exclusively or mainly for the provision of nursery education<sup>18</sup>;
- 1242 (c) a hospital which is exclusively or mainly for the reception and treatment of children<sup>19</sup>;
- 1243 (d) an institution which is exclusively or mainly for the detention of children<sup>20</sup>;
- 1244 (e) a children's home<sup>21</sup>;
- 1245 (f) a home provided in pursuance of arrangements for the accommodation of children who are in need of particular facilities and services<sup>22</sup>;

1246 (g) relevant child care premises<sup>23</sup>,

it is a regulated activity relating to children if it is carried out by a person while engaging in any form of work (whether or not for gain)<sup>24</sup>, it is carried out for or in connection with the purposes of the establishment<sup>25</sup>, and it gives that person the opportunity, in consequence of anything he is permitted or required to do in connection with the activity, to have contact with children<sup>26</sup>.

The exercise of a function of any of the following so far as it relates to the inspection of an establishment mentioned in heads (a) to (g) above is a regulated activity relating to children<sup>27</sup>:

- 1252 (vi) the Commission for Healthcare Audit and Inspection<sup>33</sup>;
- 1253 (vii) the Welsh Ministers<sup>34</sup>.

Providing registered child minding<sup>35</sup> is a regulated activity relating to children<sup>36</sup>; and it is a regulated activity to foster a child<sup>37</sup>. The exercise of any function of an officer of the Children and Family Court Advisory and Support Service ('CAFCASS')<sup>38</sup>, or a Welsh family proceedings officer<sup>39</sup>, or certain other designated persons<sup>40</sup> is a regulated activity relating to children<sup>41</sup>.

The exercise of a function of the Commission for Healthcare Audit and Inspection<sup>42</sup> or the Welsh Ministers<sup>43</sup>, so far as it relates to the inspection of a relevant establishment<sup>44</sup> or agency<sup>45</sup> or NHS body<sup>46</sup> which provides any form of treatment or therapy for children, is a regulated activity relating to children<sup>47</sup>.

A person who is part of a group in relation to which another engages in regulated activity relating to children does not engage in regulated activity only because he assists that person or does anything on behalf of or under his direction which, but for these provisions, would amount to engaging in regulated activity relating to children<sup>48</sup>.

The Secretary of State may, by order, provide that in such circumstances as are specified an activity which is a regulated activity in relation to children is not to be treated as a regulated activity<sup>49</sup>; and he may vary the meaning of regulated activity relating to children<sup>50</sup>.

1 The Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006 is to come into force on a day to be appointed under s 65. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

The functions of the former Care Standards Tribunal have been transferred to the First-tier Tribunal: see the First-tier Tribunal and Upper Tribunal (Chambers) Order 2008, SI 2008/2684. An appeal from the First-tier Tribunal lies to the Upper Tribunal (see ADMINISTRATIVE LAW vol 1(1) (2001 Reissue) PARA 13A).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/8. PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(3) RESTRICTIONS ON WORKING WITH CHILDREN/(iv) The Tribunal/C. APPLICATIONS/717. Striking out applications.

717. Striking out applications.

The President of the Tribunal may at any time strike out an appeal or application for leave<sup>1</sup> on the grounds that: (1) it is made otherwise than in accordance with the provisions concerning the initiating of appeals or those concerning applications for leave<sup>2</sup>; (2) it is outside the jurisdiction of the Tribunal or is otherwise misconceived<sup>3</sup>; or (3) it is frivolous or vexatious<sup>4</sup>; or (4) the President or the nominated chairman considers that the appeal or application has no reasonable prospect of success<sup>5</sup>. Before striking out an application, the President or nominated chairman must: (a) invite the parties<sup>6</sup> to make representations on the matter within such period as he may direct<sup>7</sup>; (b) if within the period specified in the direction the applicant so requests in writing, afford the parties an opportunity to make oral representations<sup>8</sup>; and (c) consider any representations the parties may make<sup>9</sup>.

Where the President or nominated chairman strikes out an appeal or application for leave, a costs order may be made<sup>10</sup>.

Where the President or nominated chairman has made a determination to strike out an appeal or application for leave, the applicant may apply for the determination to be set aside<sup>11</sup>. Where, in the case of such an application, the President or nominated chairman considers it appropriate, he may set aside the determination<sup>12</sup>, and may give such directions as he considers appropriate<sup>13</sup>. Before setting aside the determination, the President or nominated chairman may invite the parties to make representations on the matter within such period as he may direct<sup>14</sup>. Where the determination is set aside the Secretary to the Tribunal must alter the relevant entry in the records<sup>15</sup>. If the applicant dies before the case<sup>16</sup> or application for leave<sup>17</sup> is determined, the President or nominated chairman may strike out the case or application for leave in so far as it relates to that individual without making a costs order<sup>18</sup> or appoint such person as he thinks fit to proceed with the appeal in the place of the deceased applicant<sup>19</sup>.

722. Unless orders.

The President or the nominated chairman may at any time make an order to the effect that, unless the party to whom the order is addressed takes a step specified in the order within a period specified in the order, the case<sup>1</sup> may be determined in favour of the other party<sup>2</sup>. The Secretary to the Tribunal must give written notification of the order to the party to whom it is addressed and to the other party<sup>3</sup> and must inform him that if a party fails to comply with such an order addressed to him, the President or the nominated chairman may determine the case in favour of the other party<sup>4</sup>.

The Secretary to the Tribunal must, in consultation with the President or the nominated chairman, fix a date for the hearing of the case<sup>1</sup> unless the applicant has requested in writing that the case be determined without a hearing and the President or nominated chairman has not directed<sup>2</sup> that there be a hearing<sup>3</sup>. The date fixed for the hearing must be the earliest practicable date having regard to any directions which have been made by the President or nominated chairman with regard to the preparation of evidence but must be no sooner than 15 working days<sup>4</sup> after the latest date on which the President or nominated chairman has directed that the evidence of the parties<sup>5</sup> (including the statements of any witnesses or experts) are to be filed or exchanged<sup>6</sup>. The Secretary to the Tribunal must notify the parties in writing informing them of the time and place of the hearing no less than 20 working days before the date fixed for the hearing<sup>7</sup>. The Secretary to the Tribunal may, in consultation with the President or the nominated chairman, alter the place of the hearing; and, if he does, he must without delay inform the parties in writing of the alteration<sup>7</sup>. The President or the nominated chairman may adjourn the hearing either on the application of either party or on his own initiative<sup>8</sup> but must not do so unless satisfied that refusing the adjournment would prevent the just disposal of the case<sup>9</sup>. If the President or the nominated chairman adjourns the hearing, then the Secretary to the Tribunal must without delay inform the parties in writing of the date, time and place of the resumed hearing<sup>10</sup>.

If either party has requested that there be a preliminary hearing, or if the President or the nominated chairman considers that a preliminary hearing is necessary, the President or nominated chairman must fix a date for the preliminary hearing as soon as possible after the expiry of five working days<sup>1</sup> from the date on which each party received from the Secretary to the Tribunal the information the other has provided about witness requirements and other matters of case management pursuant to the requirements set out in the regulations<sup>2</sup>. At the preliminary hearing or, if a preliminary hearing is not to be held, as soon as possible after and in any event not later than 10 working days after the expiry of the five working days referred to above, the President or the nominated chairman: (1) must give directions as to the dates by which any document, witness statement or other material upon which any party is intending to rely is to be sent to the Tribunal, and, if the President or the nominated chairman considers it appropriate, to the other party<sup>3</sup>; (2) may give any other direction in respect of case management which he considers appropriate<sup>4</sup>; and (3) must, where the applicant has requested that the case be determined without an oral hearing, give a direction as to the date, which must not be less than 10 working days after the last date on which he has directed that any document, witness statement or other evidence be sent to the Tribunal, by which the parties must send any written representations regarding their appeal to the Tribunal<sup>5</sup> unless it appears to the President or the nominated chairman at any time that the appeal is of such a nature that it should be determined at an oral hearing, in which case he may, after considering representations from the parties, direct that such a hearing is to be held<sup>6</sup>.

The President or nominated chairman may direct that exchange of witness statements or other material is to be simultaneous or sequential, as he considers appropriate<sup>7</sup>. Before making any further direction or varying a direction, the President or nominated chairman may direct that there is to be a preliminary hearing in relation to the proposed variation or further direction if he considers it appropriate or if a preliminary hearing has been requested by either party<sup>15</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/8. PROTECTION OF CHILDREN/(3) RESTRICTIONS ON WORKING WITH CHILDREN/(iv) The Tribunal/D. THE HEARING/726. Disclosure of information and documents.

726. Disclosure of information and documents.

The President of the Tribunal or the nominated chairman may give directions requiring a party<sup>1</sup> to send to the Secretary to the Tribunal any document<sup>2</sup> or other material which he considers may assist the Tribunal in determining the case<sup>3</sup> and which that party is able to send, and the Secretary to the Tribunal must take such steps as the President or the nominated chairman may direct to supply copies of any information or document so obtained to the other party<sup>4</sup>.

The President or the nominated chairman may give directions granting to a party the right to inspect and take copies of any document or other material which it is in the power of the other party to disclose, and appointing the date, time and place at which any such inspection and copying is to be done<sup>5</sup>.

The President of the Tribunal or the nominated chairman may give a direction on the application of either party requiring a person who is not a party to the proceedings to disclose any document or other material to the party making the application if he is satisfied that: (1) the documents or other material sought are likely to support the applicant's case or adversely affect the case of the other party<sup>6</sup>; (2) it is within the power of the person subject to the direction to disclose any document or other material<sup>7</sup>; and (3) disclosure is necessary for the fair determination of the case<sup>8</sup>.

It is a condition of such supply of any document or material that a party must use it only for the purpose of the proceedings<sup>9</sup>, and before making such a direction the President must take into account the need to protect any matter which relates to intimate personal or financial circumstances, is commercially sensitive, or was communicated or obtained in confidence<sup>10</sup>. Moreover, the above provisions do not apply in relation to any document or other material which the party could not be compelled to produce in legal proceedings in a county court<sup>11</sup>.

The President or the nominated chairman may give a direction as to the number of copies of relevant material which each party must send to the Tribunal; and 'relevant material' means all documents, witness statements and other material on which the parties intend to rely or which they have been ordered by the President or the nominated chairman to send to the Secretary to the Tribunal under his powers of case management<sup>12</sup>. The President or the nominated chairman may, if he considers it appropriate to do so, direct the form and order in which relevant material is to be supplied to the Tribunal<sup>13</sup>.

727. Method of sending documents.

Any document<sup>1</sup> may be sent to the Secretary to the Tribunal by post, by fax, electronically or through a document exchange, unless the President of the Tribunal or the nominated chairman directs otherwise<sup>2</sup>. Any notice or document which the Secretary to the Tribunal is authorised or required<sup>3</sup> to send to a party<sup>4</sup> must be sent by first class post to the address given for the purpose by that party<sup>5</sup>, or by fax or electronically to a number or address given by that party for the purpose<sup>6</sup> or, where the party has given for the purpose an address which includes a numbered box number at a document exchange, by leaving the notice or document addressed to that numbered box at that document exchange or at a document exchange which transmits documents on every working day<sup>7</sup> to that exchange<sup>8</sup>. If a notice or document cannot be sent to a party in one of these ways, the President or the nominated chairman may dispense with service of it or direct that it be served on that party in such manner as he thinks appropriate<sup>9</sup>. Any notice or document sent by the Secretary to the Tribunal to a party<sup>10</sup> is taken to have been received:

- 1343 (1) if sent by post and not returned, on the second working day after it was posted<sup>11</sup>;
- 1344 (2) if sent by fax or electronically, unless the Secretary to the Tribunal has been notified that the transmission has been unsuccessful, on the next working day after it was sent<sup>12</sup>;

The President of the Tribunal or the nominated chairman may, if he thinks that any question arises in relation to the case<sup>1</sup> on which it would be desirable for the Tribunal to have the assistance of an expert, appoint a person having appropriate qualifications to inquire into and report on the matter<sup>2</sup>. ## 729. Evidence of witnesses.

The President of the Tribunal or the nominated chairman may direct that the parties<sup>1</sup> send to each other by a date specified in the direction a copy of a witness statement in respect of each witness on whose evidence he wishes to rely<sup>2</sup>. A witness statement must contain the words 'I believe that the facts stated in this witness statement are true', and be signed by the person who makes it<sup>3</sup>.

The President or the nominated chairman (before the hearing or, if the case<sup>4</sup> is to be determined without an oral hearing, before the case is determined) or the Tribunal may direct that a document<sup>5</sup> or the evidence of any witness other than the applicant is to be excluded from consideration<sup>6</sup> because:

- 1347 (1) it would be unfair in all the circumstances to consider it<sup>7</sup>;
- 1348 (2) the party wishing to rely on the document or evidence has failed to submit the document, or witness statement containing it, in compliance with any direction<sup>8</sup>; or
- 1349 (3) it would not assist the Tribunal in determining the case<sup>9</sup>.

However, instead of excluding evidence the President or the nominated chairman or the Tribunal may permit it to be considered on such terms as he or it thinks fit, including the making of a costs order<sup>10</sup>.

Where the respondent<sup>1</sup> wishes the Tribunal, in determining the case<sup>2</sup>, to consider a medical report and the President of the Tribunal or the nominated chairman is satisfied that disclosure to the applicant of all or any part of the contents of the report would be so harmful to his health or welfare that it would be wrong to disclose it to him, and that in all the circumstances it would not be unfair if the report or that part of it is considered by the Tribunal<sup>3</sup>, the President or nominated chairman may direct that the report may be considered by the Tribunal, and all or any part of its contents must not be disclosed to the applicant<sup>4</sup>. ### 735. Procedure, evidence and the decision at the hearing.

The Tribunal may regulate its own procedure<sup>1</sup>. At the beginning of the hearing the chairman must explain the order of proceedings which the Tribunal proposes to adopt<sup>2</sup>. The parties<sup>3</sup> may be represented or assisted at the hearing by any person<sup>4</sup>. If either party fails to attend or be represented at the hearing, the Tribunal may hear and determine the case in that party's absence<sup>5</sup>.

The Tribunal may consider any evidence, whether or not it would be admissible in a court of law<sup>6</sup>. The applicant has the right to give evidence at the hearing in person, and any other witness may do so unless the President or nominated chairman has directed otherwise<sup>7</sup>. No child<sup>8</sup> may be asked any question except by the Tribunal or by a skilled or experienced person<sup>9</sup>. The Tribunal may require any witness to give evidence on oath or affirmation which may be administered for the purpose by the chairman or the clerk<sup>10</sup>.

The Tribunal's decision may be taken by majority and the decision must record whether it was unanimous or taken by a majority<sup>11</sup>. The decision may be made and announced at the end of the hearing or reserved, and in any event, whether there has been a hearing or not, the decision must be recorded without delay in a document<sup>12</sup> signed and dated by the chairman (or if as a result of his death or incapacity he is unable to sign, or if he ceases to be a member of the chairmen's panel, by another member of the Tribunal)<sup>13</sup>. The document must also state the reasons for the decision<sup>14</sup>, and what, if any, order the Tribunal has made as a result of its decision<sup>15</sup>. The Secretary to the Tribunal must, as soon as reasonably possible, send to each party<sup>16</sup> a copy of the document and a notice explaining to the parties any right of appeal which they may have against the Tribunal's decision and the right to apply for a review of the Tribunal's decision<sup>17</sup>. Except where a decision is announced at the end of the hearing, the decision is treated as having been made on the day on which a copy of the document is sent to the applicant<sup>18</sup>. The decision must be entered in the records<sup>19</sup>.

736. Costs.

If in the opinion of the Tribunal a party<sup>1</sup> has acted unreasonably in bringing or conducting the proceedings, it may make a costs order requiring that party ('the paying party') to make a payment to the other party ('the receiving party') to cover costs incurred by that party<sup>4</sup>. Before making a costs order against a party, the Tribunal must invite the receiving party to provide to the Tribunal a schedule of costs incurred by him in respect of the proceedings<sup>5</sup> and must invite representations from the paying party and consider any representations he makes, consider whether he is able to comply with such an order and consider any relevant written information which he has provided<sup>6</sup>. When making a costs order, the Tribunal must:

- 1350 (1) order the payment of any sum which the parties<sup>7</sup> have agreed should be paid<sup>8</sup>;
- 1351 (2) order the payment of any sum which it considers appropriate having considered any representations the parties may make<sup>9</sup>; or
- 1352 (3) order the payment of the whole or part of the costs incurred by the receiving party in connection with the proceedings as assessed<sup>10</sup>.

Any costs required by an order to be assessed may be assessed in the county court according to such rules applicable to proceedings in the county court as are directed in the order<sup>11</sup>. A costs order may, by leave of a county court, be enforced in the same manner as a judgment or order of that court to the same effect<sup>12</sup>.

E. REVIEW

738. Review of the Tribunal's decision.

A party<sup>1</sup> may apply to the President for the Tribunal's decision to be reviewed on the grounds that:

- 1358 (1) it was wrongly made as a result of an error on the part of the Tribunal staff<sup>2</sup>;
- 1359 (2) a party, who was entitled to be heard at a hearing but failed to appear or to be represented, had good and sufficient reason for failing to appear<sup>3</sup>; or
- 1360 (3) there was an obvious error in the decision<sup>4</sup>.

Such an application must be made not later than 10 working days<sup>5</sup> after the date on which the decision was sent to the party applying for the decision to be reviewed<sup>6</sup>, and must be in writing stating the grounds in full<sup>7</sup>. Such an application may be refused by the President of the Tribunal, or by the chairman of the Tribunal which decided the case, if in his opinion it has no reasonable prospect of success<sup>8</sup>. Unless such an application is refused, it must be determined, after the parties<sup>9</sup> have had an opportunity to be heard, by the Tribunal which decided the case or, where that is not practicable, by another Tribunal appointed by the President<sup>10</sup>. The Tribunal may on its own initiative propose to review its decision on any of the grounds referred to in heads (1) to (3) above, in which case the Secretary to the Tribunal must serve notice on the parties not later than 10 working days after the date on which the decision was sent to them<sup>11</sup>, and the parties must have an opportunity to be heard<sup>12</sup>. If, on the application of a party or on its own initiative, the Tribunal is satisfied as to any of the grounds referred to in heads (1) to (3) above, it must order that the whole or a specified part of the decision be reviewed<sup>13</sup>, and it may give directions to be complied with before or after the hearing of the review<sup>14</sup>. The power to give such directions includes a power to give a direction requiring a party to provide such particulars, evidence or statements as may reasonably be required for the determination of the review<sup>15</sup>.

An appeal lies to the High Court on a point of law from a decision of the Tribunal<sup>16</sup>.

An irregularity resulting from failure to comply with any provision of the Protection of Children and Vulnerable Adults and Care Standards Tribunal Regulations 2002<sup>1</sup> or any direction given in accordance with them before the Tribunal has reached its decision does not of itself render the proceedings void<sup>2</sup>. Where any irregularity comes to the attention of the President of the Tribunal or the nominated chairman (before the hearing) or the Tribunal, he or it may and, if it appears that any person may have been prejudiced by the irregularity, must, before reaching a decision, give such directions as he or it thinks just to cure or waive the irregularity<sup>3</sup>. Clerical mistakes in any document<sup>4</sup> recording the decision of the Tribunal or a direction or decision of the President or the nominated chairman, or errors arising in such documents from accidental slips or omissions, may at any time be corrected by the chairman or the President or the nominated chairman (as the case may be) by means of certificate signed by him<sup>5</sup>. ## 9. EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN

(1) INTRODUCTION

743. Regulation by statute; deregulation of youth employment.

Legislation has long regulated the employment of children<sup>1</sup> and young persons<sup>2</sup>, not just as to safety but also as to tenure of employment and the prohibition or control of the engagement of such persons in certain types of employment. However, the Employment Act 1989 repealed the principal legislative provisions restricting the employment of young persons<sup>3</sup>, amended other provisions which provided for differential treatment of young persons<sup>4</sup>, and empowered the Secretary of State by order to repeal or amend any statutory provision relating to the employment of children and young persons<sup>5</sup>. The law relating to the welfare of young persons in the workplace is now contained in the health and safety at work legislation and is considered elsewhere in this work<sup>6</sup>. The law covered in this part of this title is restricted to the provisions governing the employment of children and young persons<sup>7</sup>.

1 'Child', for the purposes of any enactment relating to the prohibition or regulation of the employment of children or young persons, means any person who is not over compulsory school age: Education Act 1996 s 558. For the meaning of 'compulsory school age' see para 744 note 2 post.

3 Employment Act 1989 ss 10(1), 29(4), Sch 3 Pts I, II, Sch 7 (Sch 3 Pts I, II repealed by the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 2004). The principal repeals were those of the whole of the Young Persons (Employment) Act 1938, the provisions in the Employment of Women, Young Persons and Children Act 1920 relating to employment of young persons at night, the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 19 (power to regulate young persons' employment by byelaws) and the various provisions governing the hours of work, holidays, etc of young persons in the Shops Act 1950, the Mines and Quarries Act 1954 and the Factories Act 1961.

4 Employment Act 1989 s 10(2), Sch 3 Pt III.

5 See ibid s 10(3). Such an order may not in general affect any statutory provision relating to the employment of persons under school leaving age: see s 10(4). In exercise of this power the following orders have been made: the Employment Act 1989 (Amendments and Revocations) Order 1989, SI 1989/2311; and the Railway Employment Exemption Regulations 1962 (Revocation) Order 1990, SI 1990/190. As to the Secretary of State, and the transfer of certain functions, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers, see para 155 ante.

6 See eg:

433 (1) the Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations 1999, SI 1999/3242, reg 19 (as amended) (protection of young persons); and HEALTH AND SAFETY AT WORK vol 52 (2009) PARA 430;

434 (2) the Control of Lead at Work Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2676, reg 4(2), Sch 1 (activities in which the employment of young persons and women of reproductive capacity is prohibited); and HEALTH AND SAFETY AT WORK vol 53 (2009) PARA 641;

435 (3) the Factories Act 1961 s 119 (as amended) (certificate of fitness for work); and HEALTH AND SAFETY AT WORK vol 53 (2009) PARA 847; and

- 436 (4) the Merchant Shipping and Fishing Vessels (Health and Safety at Work) (Employment of Young Persons) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/2411 (as amended); and SHIPPING AND MARITIME LAW vol 93 (2008) PARA 504; SHIPPING AND MARITIME LAW vol 94 (2008) PARA 1137.

In addition, there is a statutory power for local education authorities to prohibit or restrict the employment of children in circumstances where such employment is prejudicial to their health or where it renders them unfit to obtain the full benefit of education provided for them, but this is considered elsewhere in this work: see the Education Act 1996 s 559 (as amended); and EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 558.

7 The Employment of Children Act 1973 was passed to rationalise the existing provisions for the regulation of such employment; but, at the date at which this volume states the law, it had not been brought into force. The legislative provisions therefore continue to be contained primarily in the Employment of Women, Young Persons and Children Act 1920 (see para 745 post), the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 Pt II (ss 18-30) (as amended) (see para 746 et seq post), the Children and Young Persons Act 1963 Pt II (ss 34-44) (as amended) (see para 751 et seq post), and the Education Act 1996 s 560 (as amended) (see para 744 post).

NOTES--Certain functions under provisions mentioned in this paragraph are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3, see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

NOTE 7--Employment of Children Act 1973 repealed: Statute Law (Repeals) Act 2008.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/9. EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN/ (1) INTRODUCTION/744. Work experience as part of education.

744. Work experience as part of education.

The enactments<sup>1</sup> relating to the prohibition or regulation of the employment of children do not apply to the employment of a child in his last two years of compulsory schooling<sup>2</sup> where the employment is in pursuance of arrangements made by the local education authority<sup>3</sup> or by the governing body of a school on behalf of such an authority, with a view to providing him with work experience as part of his education<sup>4</sup>. This does not, however, permit the employment of any person in any way contrary to an enactment which in terms applies to persons of less than, or not over, a specified age expressed as a number of years<sup>5</sup>, or to certain enactments<sup>6</sup> prohibiting the employment of children in any ship<sup>7</sup>.

No such arrangements may be made for a child to be employed in any way which would be contrary to an enactment prohibiting or regulating the employment of young persons<sup>8</sup> if he were a young person and not a child<sup>9</sup>. Where a child is employed in pursuance of arrangements so made, so much of any enactment as regulates the employment of young persons (whether by excluding them from any description of work, prescribing the conditions under which they may be permitted to do it or in any other way), and would apply in relation to him if he were of an age to be treated as a young person for the purposes of that enactment, applies in relation to him, in and in respect of the employment arranged for him, in all respects as if he were of an age to be so treated<sup>10</sup>.

1 'Enactment' includes any byelaw, regulation or other provision having effect under an enactment: Education Act 1996 s 560(7).

2 A child is taken to be in his last two years of compulsory schooling as from the beginning of the last two school years at his school during the whole or part of which he is of compulsory school age: ibid s 560(2) (substituted by the School Standards and Framework Act 1998 s 112(2)). For these purposes, 'child' means a person who is not over compulsory school age: Education Act 1996 s 579(1).

A person begins to be of compulsory school age when he attains the age of five, if he attains that age on a day prescribed by order of the Secretary of State, and otherwise at the beginning of a day so prescribed next following his attaining that age: s 8(2), (4)(a) (substituted by the Education Act 1997 s 52(1)-(3)). As to the Secretary of State, and the transfer of certain functions, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers, see para 155 ante.

A person ceases to be of compulsory school age at the end of the day which is the school leaving date for any calendar year (as determined by order of the Secretary of State): (1) if he attains the age of 16 after that day but before the beginning of the school year next following; (2) if he attains that age on that day; or (3) (unless head (1) supra applies) if that day is the school leaving date next following his attaining that age: Education Act 1996 s 8(1), (3), (4)(b) (s 8(4)(b) substituted by the Education Act 1997 s 52(1), (3)).

See further EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 15.

744-745 Work experience as part of education, Employment in industrial undertakings and ships

Certain persons or indorsements mentioned in these paragraphs are specified for the purposes of Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 37, Schs 5, 6 (meaning of 'regulator' for the purposes of imposing civil sanctions): see ADMINISTRATIVE LAW vol 1(1) (2001 Reissue) PARA 196A.

744 Work experience as part of education

TEXT AND NOTES--A local education authority may secure the provision of work experience for persons in its area who are (1) over compulsory school age but under 19; or (2) aged 19 or over but under 25 and subject to a learning difficulty assessment: Education Act 1996 s 560A(1) (s 560A added by Apprenticeships, Skills, Children and Learning Act 2009 s 47). A local education authority must also encourage participation in work experience by persons within heads (1) or (2) and encourage employers to participate in the provision of work experience for such persons: Education Act 1996 s 560A(2).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/9. EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN/ (1) INTRODUCTION/745. Employment in industrial undertakings and ships.

No child<sup>1</sup> may be employed in any industrial undertaking<sup>2</sup>, other than one in which only members of the same family are employed<sup>3</sup>. Where persons under the age of 16 years are employed in any industrial undertaking, a register<sup>4</sup> of all persons under that age who are so employed, and of the dates of their birth, must be kept and must at all times be open to inspection<sup>5</sup>.

A person under 16 years of age may not be employed in any sea-going United Kingdom ship<sup>6</sup>. A person under school leaving age (but not under 16 years)<sup>7</sup> may not be employed in any United Kingdom ship except as permitted by regulations<sup>8</sup> prescribing:

- 1363 (1) the circumstances in which and conditions subject to which such a person who has attained such age as may be specified may be employed in a ship which is not a sea-going United Kingdom ship in such capacities as may be so specified<sup>9</sup>;
- 1364 (2) the circumstances and capacities in which persons over school leaving age but under the age of 18 or such lower age as may be specified must not be employed in a United Kingdom ship which is not a sea-going United Kingdom ship or may be so employed only subject to such conditions as may be specified<sup>10</sup>; and
- 1365 (3) the circumstances and capacities in which persons of at least the age of 16 but under the age of 18 or such lower age as may be specified must not be employed in a sea-going United Kingdom ship or may be so employed subject to such conditions as may be specified<sup>11</sup>.

If any person is employed in a ship in contravention of this provision or if any condition subject to which a person may be employed under regulations made under it is not complied with, the owner or master is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>12</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 743 note 1 ante.

2 'Industrial undertaking' includes particularly: (1) mines, quarries and other works for the extraction of minerals from the earth; (2) industries in which articles are manufactured, altered, cleaned, repaired, ornamented, finished, adapted for sale, broken up or demolished, or in which materials are transformed, including shipbuilding, and the generation, transformation, and transmission of electricity and motive power of any kind; (3) construction, reconstruction, maintenance, repair, alteration or demolition of any building, railway, tramway, harbour, dock, pier, canal, inland waterway, road, tunnel, bridge, viaduct, sewer, drain, well, telegraphic or telephonic installation, electrical undertaking, gaswork, waterwork, or other work of construction, as well as the preparation for or laying the foundations of any such work or structure; and (4) transport of passengers or goods by road or rail or inland waterway, including the handling of goods at docks, quays, wharves and warehouses, but excluding transport by hand: Employment of Women, Young Persons, and Children Act 1920 s 4, Schedule Pt I art 1 (s 4 amended by the Statute Law (Repeals) Act 1978; and the Employment Act 1989 s 29(3), Sch 6 para 2).

3 Employment of Women, Young Persons, and Children Act 1920 ss 1(1), 3(2). These provisions implement the International Labour Convention No 5 (Minimum Age for Admission of Children to Industrial Employment) (Washington, 28 November 1919; Cmd 627) Pt I art 2. Article 2 refers to 'children under 14' (cf the wording of the Employment of Women, Young Persons, and Children Act 1920, which refers simply to 'child'); and the International Labour Convention No 5 (Minimum Age for Admission of Children to Industrial Employment) art 3 states that art 2 does not apply to work done by children in technical schools provided that such work is approved and supervised by a public authority.

Employment of a child in contravention of these provisions (save in the employments listed in note 4 infra) is an offence to which the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 ss 21(1), (2), 28(1), (3) (ss 21(1), 28(1), (3) as amended) (see paras 749-750 post) apply: Employment of Women, Young Persons, and Children Act 1920 s 1(6)(a)(i) (amended by the Employment Act 1989 Sch 6 para 1).

4 The Employment of Women, Young Persons, and Children Act 1920 s 1 (as amended), in so far as relating to employment in mines and quarries within the meaning of the Mines and Quarries Act 1954, has effect as if it formed part of that Act and the Factories Act 1961, and the provisions of those Acts relating to registers to be kept thereunder apply to the registers required to be kept under the Employment of Women, Young Persons, and Children Act 1920: s 1(6) (read with the Mines and Quarries Act 1954 s 188, Sch 4; the Factories Act 1937 s 159(3) (repealed); and the Factories Act 1961 s 183, Sch 6 para 1). For the meaning of 'mine' in the Mines and Quarries Act 1954 see s 180 (as amended); and MINES, MINERALS AND QUARRIES vol 31 (2003 Reissue) para 5.

5 Employment of Women, Young Persons, and Children Act 1920 s 1(4) (substituted by the Employment Act 1989 s 10(2), Sch 3 Pt III para 1). If any person being the employer of a person under the age of 16 years fails to keep such a register so required to be kept by him, or refuses or neglects when required to produce it for inspection by an officer of a local authority, he is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 2 on the standard scale: Employment of Women, Young Persons, and Children Act 1920 s 1(6)(c) (amended by the Employment Act 1989 Sch 6 para 1; and by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 37, 46). As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante.

6 Merchant Shipping Act 1995 s 55(1A) (added by the Merchant Shipping (Hours of Work) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2125, reg 21, Sch 2 para 1(b)). As to the meaning of 'ship' see the Merchant Shipping Act 1995 s 313(1); and SHIPPING AND MARITIME LAW vol 93 (2008) PARA 229. A ship is a 'United Kingdom ship' for these purposes if it is registered in the United Kingdom under Pt II (ss 8-23): s 1(3).

7 A person is over school-leaving age for this purpose if he has, and under school-leaving age if he has not, attained the age which is the upper limit of compulsory school age under the enactments relating to education in the part of the United Kingdom in which he entered into the agreement under which he is so employed or, if he entered into that agreement outside the United Kingdom or is employed otherwise than under that agreement, under the enactments relating to education in England and Wales: ibid s 55(5). For the meaning of 'compulsory school age' see para 744 note 2 post.

8 Ibid s 55(1) (amended by the Merchant Shipping (Hours of Work) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2125, Sch 2 para 1(a)). Regulations made for these purposes may make different provision for different employments and different descriptions of ship and any other different circumstances: Merchant Shipping Act 1995 s 55(3). As to the regulations made in exercise of this power see the Merchant Shipping and Fishing Vessels (Health and Safety at Work) (Employment of Young Persons) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/2411 (amended by SI 2002/2125; SI 2002/3135). See further SHIPPING AND MARITIME LAW vol 93 (2008) PARA 504; SHIPPING AND MARITIME LAW vol 94 (2008) PARA 1137.

Certain persons or indorsements mentioned in these paragraphs are specified for the purposes of Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 37, Schs 5, 6 (meaning of 'regulator' for the purposes of imposing civil sanctions): see ADMINISTRATIVE LAW vol 1(1) (2001 Reissue) PARA 196A.

745-755 Employment in industrial undertakings and ships ... Licences

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/9. EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN/ (2) GENERAL RESTRICTIONS/746. General restrictions on the employment of children.

(2) GENERAL RESTRICTIONS

746. General restrictions on the employment of children.

In general<sup>1</sup>, no child<sup>2</sup> may be employed<sup>3</sup>:

- 1366 (1) so long as he is under the age of 14 years<sup>4</sup>; or
- 1367 (2) to do any work other than light work<sup>5</sup>; or
- 1368 (3) before the close of school hours on any day on which he is required to attend school<sup>6</sup>; or
- 1369 (4) before 7 am or after 7 pm on any day<sup>7</sup>; or
- 1370 (5) for more than two hours on any day on which he is required to attend school<sup>8</sup>; or
- 1371 (6) for more than 12 hours in any week in which he is required to attend school<sup>9</sup>; or
- 1372 (7) for more than two hours on any Sunday<sup>10</sup>; or
- 1373 (8) for more than eight hours or, if he is under the age of 15 years, for more than five hours on any day on which he is not required to attend school and which is not a Sunday<sup>11</sup>; or
- 1374 (9) for more than 35 hours or, if he is under the age of 15 years, for more than 25 hours in any week in which he is not required to attend school<sup>12</sup>; or
- 1375 (10) for more than four hours in any day without a rest break of one hour<sup>13</sup>; or
- 1376 (11) at any time in a year unless at that time he has had, or could still have, during a period in the year in which he is not required to attend school, at least two consecutive weeks without employment<sup>14</sup>.

These restrictions, and those as to employment in entertainments<sup>15</sup> and employment in entertainment abroad<sup>16</sup>, are additional to the statutory provisions controlling the employment of young persons in factories, workshops, mines and quarries<sup>17</sup> and for giving effect to any international Convention<sup>18</sup> regulating employment<sup>19</sup>.

An employer who contravenes these restrictions commits an offence punishable by a fine<sup>20</sup>.

1 This is subject to any byelaws (see para 747 post) and to the exception that a child may under licence, or without a licence in a case where by virtue of the Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 37(3) (as amended) no licence is required, take part in a performance where such employment would otherwise be prohibited by the provisions described in the text and notes 2-20 infra: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 18(3) (substituted by the Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 64(1), Sch 3 para 4; and amended by the Children (Protection at Work) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/276, reg 2(5)). As from a day to be appointed, this provision is further amended so as to refer to regulations instead of byelaws: see the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 18(3) (as so substituted and amended; and further amended by the Employment of Children Act 1973 s 1(3), Sch 1 para 1). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As from a day to be appointed, regulations of the Secretary of State under the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 18 (as amended) must be made by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: s 18(4) (prospectively added by the Employment of Children Act 1973 s 1(3), Sch 1 para 1). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As to employment in entertainment, and the necessity and grant of licences therefor, see para 751 et seq post.

2 For these purposes, 'child' means a person who is not, for the purposes of the Education Act 1996 s 8 (see para 744 note 2 ante; and EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 15), over compulsory school age: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 30(1) (renumbered and amended by the Employment Act 1989 s 10(2), Sch 3 Pt III para 8; amended by the Education Act 1996 s 582(1), Sch 37 para 133).

3 A person who assists in a trade or occupation carried on for profit is deemed to be employed notwithstanding that he receives no reward for his labour, but a chorister taking part in a religious service or in a choir practice for a religious service is not deemed to be employed, whether or not he receives any reward: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 30(1) (as renumbered: see note 2 supra). 'Employment' must be interpreted in a wide sense, so as to give a wide protection to children; it is not confined to cases of employer and employee, but includes the relation of principal and agent: Morgan v Parr [1921] 2 KB 379; Sweet v Williams (1922) 128 LT 379, DC. See also para 749 note 3 post. If a child is employed in contravention of these provisions his employment is illegal: Pounteney v Turton (1917) 34 TLR 103, CA.

4 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 18(1)(a) (substituted by the Children Act 1972 s 1(2); and amended by the Children (Protection at Work) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/276, reg 2(2)(a)).

5 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 18(1)(aa) (added by the Children (Protection at Work) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/276, reg 2(2)(b)). 'Light work' means work which, on account of the inherent nature of the tasks which it involves and the particular conditions under which they are performed is not likely to be harmful to the safety, health or development of children and is not such as to be harmful to their attendance at school or to their participation in work experience in accordance with the Education Act 1996 s 560 (as amended) (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 558), or their capacity to benefit from the instruction received or, as the case may be, the experience gained: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 18(2A) (added by the Children (Protection at Work) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/276, reg 2(4)).

745-755 Employment in industrial undertakings and ships ... Licences

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/9. EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN/ (2) GENERAL RESTRICTIONS/747. Byelaws and regulations as to the employment of children.

747. Byelaws and regulations as to the employment of children.

A local authority<sup>1</sup> may make byelaws<sup>2</sup> with respect to the employment of children<sup>3</sup>, and any such byelaws may distinguish between children of different ages and sexes and between different localities, trade, occupations and circumstances<sup>4</sup>. Byelaws so made may prohibit absolutely the employment of children in any specified occupation<sup>5</sup>, and may prescribe:

- 1377 (1) the age below which children are not to be employed<sup>6</sup>;
- 1378 (2) the number of hours in each day or week for which, and the times of day at which, they may be employed<sup>7</sup>;
- 1379 (3) the intervals to be allowed for meals and rest<sup>8</sup>;
- 1380 (4) the holidays or half holidays to be allowed<sup>9</sup>; and
- 1381 (5) any other conditions to be observed in relation to the employment<sup>10</sup>.

No such byelaws may, however, modify the general statutory restrictions<sup>11</sup>, except that they may authorise:

- 1382 (a) the employment on an occasional basis of children aged 13 by their parents<sup>12</sup> or guardians<sup>13</sup> in light agricultural or horticultural work, notwithstanding the general prohibition of employment of children under the age of 14<sup>14</sup>;
- 1383 (b) the employment of children aged 13 in categories of light work specified in the byelaw<sup>15</sup>; or
- 1384 (c) the employment of children for not more than one hour before the commencement of school hours on any day when they are required to attend school, notwithstanding the general prohibition of employment before the close of school hours<sup>16</sup>.

As from a day to be appointed<sup>17</sup> the power to make byelaws in this matter is replaced by a corresponding power of the Secretary of State to make regulations<sup>18</sup>, under which he will also be able: (i) to prohibit the employment of children otherwise than under and in accordance with a permit to be issued by the local education authority on application made in accordance with the regulations, and to impose on children and others requirements in connection with permits<sup>19</sup>; (ii) to require employers to furnish particulars with respect to children employed, or proposed to be employed, by them and to keep and produce records<sup>20</sup>.

1 Subject to modifications as to the City of London, the local authority for the purposes of the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 Pt II (ss 18-30) (as amended) is the local education authority: s 96(1) (amended by the Education Act 1944 s 121, Sch 9 Pt I; and the Children Act 1948 s 60(2), Sch 3). As to the meaning of 'local education authority' see the Education Act 1996 s 12; and EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 20. In the City of London, the local authority in respect of street trading and employment is the Common Council of the City of London: see the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 97 (amended by the Education Act 1944 s 121, Sch 9; the Children Act 1948 s 60(2), Sch 3; the London Government Act 1963 ss 30(8), 93(1), Sch 18 Pt II; and modified by the Education Act 1996 s 582(3), Sch 39 para 4). As to the Common Council of the City of London see LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) para 51 et seq.

Expenses incurred by a local authority in connection with powers and duties which are, under the Children and Young Persons Act 1933, exercised and performed by it as local education authorities are to be defrayed as expenses under the enactments relating to education: s 96(3) (amended by the Education Act 1944 s 120, Sch

8 Pt I; and the Education Act 1996 s 582(1), Sch 37 para 1(a)). As to other local authority expenses, in relation to England, see s 96(4) (amended by the Education Act 1944 ss 120, 121, Sch 8 Pt I, Sch 9 Pt I; the National Assistance Act 1948 s 62, Sch 7 Pt III; and the Education Act 1996 s 582(1), Sch 37 para 1(a)); and the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 96(4A) (added by the Local Government (Wales) Act 1994 s 22(4), Sch 10 para 1(3)).

A local authority may refer to a committee appointed for the purposes of the Children and Young Persons Act 1933, or to any committee appointed for the purposes of any other Act, any matter relating to the exercise by the authority of any of its powers under the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 and may delegate any of those powers, other than any power to borrow money, to any such committee: s 96(7) (amended by the Children Act 2004 s 64, Sch 5 Pt 4).

A local authority, or a committee to whom any powers of a local authority under the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 have been delegated, may by resolution empower the clerk or the chief education officer of the authority to exercise in the name of the authority in any case which appears to him to be one of urgency any powers of the authority or, as the case may be, of the committee with respect to the institution of proceedings under that Act: s 96(8). As from 1 January 2008 or, in relation to any authority which appoints a director of children's services before that day, from the day of his appointment, this provision is amended to so empower the director of children's services (in the case of an authority in England) or the chief education officer (in the case of an authority in Wales) in place of the clerk or the chief education officer of the authority: s 96(8) (prospectively amended by the Children Act 2004 s 18(9), (10), Sch 2 para 1); Children Act 2004 (Director of Children's Services) Appointed Day Order 2007, SI 2007/1792, art 2.

2 Byelaws do not have effect until confirmed by the Secretary of State, and must not be confirmed until at least 30 days after publication by the local authority in such manner as is directed by the Secretary of State: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 27(1). Before confirming any byelaw the Secretary of State must consider such objections thereto as may be addressed to him by persons affected or likely to be affected thereby, and may order a local inquiry to be held; where such an inquiry is held, the person holding it must receive such remuneration as the Secretary of State determines, and that remuneration and the expenses of the inquiry must be paid by the local authority: s 27(2). As to the Secretary of State, and the transfer of certain functions, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers, see para 155 ante.

745-755 Employment in industrial undertakings and ships ... Licences

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/9. EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN/ (2) GENERAL RESTRICTIONS/748. Street trading.

748. Street trading.

No child<sup>1</sup> may engage, or be employed<sup>2</sup>, in street trading<sup>3</sup>. However, a local authority<sup>4</sup> may make byelaws authorising children who have attained the age of 14 years to be employed by their parents<sup>5</sup> in street trading to such extent as may be specified in the byelaws, which may also regulate street trading by persons so authorised to be employed in such trading<sup>6</sup>. Such byelaws must contain provisions determining the days and hours during which, and the places at which, such persons may engage or be employed in street trading<sup>7</sup>, may distinguish between persons of different ages and sexes and between different localities<sup>8</sup>, and may contain provisions:

- 1385 (1) forbidding any such person to engage or be employed in street trading unless he holds a licence granted by the authority, and regulating the conditions on which such licences may be granted, suspended and revoked<sup>9</sup>;
- 1386 (2) requiring such persons so engaged or employed to wear badges<sup>10</sup>;
- 1387 (3) regulating in any other respect the conduct of such persons while so engaged or employed<sup>11</sup>.

A child who engages in street trading in contravention of the statutory provisions outlined above or of byelaws made thereunder is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>12</sup>. An employer who contravenes these restrictions commits an offence punishable by a fine<sup>13</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 746 note 2 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'employed' see para 746 note 3 ante.

3 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 20(1) (substituted by the Employment Act 1989 s 10(2), Sch 3 Pt III para 2). 'Street trading' includes the hawking of newspapers, matches, flowers and other articles, playing, singing or performing for profit, shoe-blackening and other similar occupations carried on in streets or public places: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 30(1) (renumbered by the Employment Act 1989 Sch 3 Pt III para 8). It does not include legitimate business between a shop and its customers involving a sale or delivery at a customer's house (Stratford Co-operative Society Ltd v East Ham Corpn [1915] 2 KB 70, DC) but it does include trading at a stall in a street where a market is held (Vann v Eatough (1935) 52 TLR 14, DC). Under different legislation it was held that to photograph a person in the street and there sell a photograph which was not yet in existence and which was later delivered by post is not street trading: Newman v Lipman [1951] 1 KB 333, [1950] 2 All ER 832, DC. 'Street' includes any highway and any public bridge, road, lane, footway, square, court, alley or passage, whether a thoroughfare or not; 'public place' includes any public park, garden, sea beach or railway station, and any ground to which the public for the time being has or is permitted to have access, whether on payment or otherwise: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 107(1). Nothing in s 20 (as amended) or in byelaws made thereunder restricts the engagement or employment of any person in the carrying on in any place of a retail trade or business on any occasion on which it is customary for retail trades or businesses to be carried on there ('retail trade or business' for these purposes having the meaning set out in the Shops Act 1950 s 74(1) (repealed by the Deregulation and Contracting Out Act 1994 s 81(1) Sch 17) which, at the time of that repeal, stated that 'retail trade or business' includes the business of a barber or hairdresser, the sale of refreshments or intoxicating liquors, the business of lending books or periodicals when carried on for purposes of gain, and retail sales by auction, but does not include the sale of programmes and catalogues and other similar sales at theatres and places of amusement'): Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 35(2).

745-755 Employment in industrial undertakings and ships ... Licences

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/9. EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN/ (2) GENERAL RESTRICTIONS/749. Employers' liability.

749. Employers' liability.

If a person is employed in contravention of any of the general restrictions on the employment of children<sup>1</sup> or of any byelaws<sup>2</sup> made under them, the employer<sup>3</sup> and any person (other than the person employed) to whose act or default the contravention is attributable is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>4</sup>. If proceedings are brought against the employer, then, upon information duly laid by him and on giving three days' notice to the prosecution, he is entitled to have any person (other than the person employed) to whose act or default he alleges that the contravention was due brought before the court as a party to the proceedings<sup>5</sup>, and if, after the contravention has been proved, the employer proves to the satisfaction of the court that the contravention was due to that other person's act or default, that person may be convicted of the offence<sup>6</sup>; and if the employer further proves to the satisfaction of the court that he has used all due diligence to secure compliance with the provisions, he must be acquitted<sup>7</sup>. Where an employer makes use of this procedure, he (if he gives evidence), and any witnesses called by him in support of his charge against the other person, may be cross-examined by the prosecution, who may call rebutting evidence<sup>8</sup>, and the court may order costs to be paid by any party to any other party<sup>9</sup>.

<sup>2</sup> As from a day to be appointed this applies to regulations made under ibid s 18(1), (2) (as amended) (see para 747 text and notes 17-20 ante): s 21(1) (prospectively amended by the Employment of Children Act 1973 s 1(3), Sch 1 Pt I para 2). At the date at which this volume states the law, no such day had been appointed.

<sup>4</sup> Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 21(1) (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46). The fine must not exceed level 3 on the standard scale: see the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 21(1) (as so amended). As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante.

Proceedings for any offence under Pt II (ss 18-30) (as amended) may be instituted by a local education authority: s 98 (substituted by the Children Act 1948 s 60(2), Sch 3; and modified by the Education Act 1996 s 582(3), Sch 39, para 4). As to the institution of such proceedings by the local councils see the Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 56(1), (1A) (s 56(1A) added by the Local Government (Wales) Act 1994 s 22(4), Sch 10 para 4). The Children and Young Persons Act 1963 provides that so much of the Local Government Act 1933 s 85(5) (repealed) as restricts the matters that may be referred to or dealt with by committees established under s 85 (repealed) does not apply in relation to any functions exercisable by a council under the Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 56 (as amended): s 56(2) (amended by the Local Authority Social Services Act 1970 s 14, Sch 2 para 10; and the Children Act 2004 s 64, Sch 5, Pt 4). As to the establishment of committees by local authorities see now the Local Government Act 1972 ss 101, 102 (both as amended); and LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARAS 370-371.

In any proceedings under the Children and Young Persons Act 1933, a copy of an entry in the wages book of any employer of labour, or if no wages book be kept a written statement signed by the employer or by any responsible person in his employ, is evidence that the wages therein entered or stated as having been paid to any person, have in fact been so paid: s 100.

5 Ibid s 21(1) proviso. A person so charged is not obliged to make use of this special procedure, if he can prove that not he, but some other person, eg one of his employees, is the employer: Robinson v Hill [1910] 1 KB 94, DC. The proviso does not apply where a person is charged with contravening the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 18(1)(j) (as added) (see para 746 text and note 14 ante), but it is a defence for a person so charged to prove that he used all due diligence to secure that that provision should be complied with: s 21(2A) (added by the Children (Protection at Work) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/276, regs 1, 3).

A. LICENSING OF PERFORMANCES

751. Requirement for a licence for a child to take part in certain performances.

- 1388 (1) take part in certain performances<sup>2</sup>; or
- 1389 (2) otherwise take part in a sport, or work as a model, where payment in respect of his doing so, other than for defraying expenses, is made to him or to another person<sup>3</sup>, except under the authority of a licence granted by the local authority<sup>4</sup> for the area in which he resides or, if he does not reside in Great Britain, by the local authority for the area in which the applicant or one of the applicants for the licence resides or has his place of business<sup>5</sup>.

The performances concerned are:

- 1390 (a) any performance in connection with which a charge is made, whether for admission or otherwise<sup>6</sup>;
- 1391 (b) any performance in premises which, by virtue of an authorisation, may be used for the supply of alcohol<sup>7</sup>, or licensed premises or in premises in respect of which a club is registered<sup>8</sup>;
- 1392 (c) any broadcast performance<sup>9</sup>;
- 1393 (d) any other such performance included in a programme service<sup>10</sup>;
- 1394 (e) any performance recorded (by whatever means) with a view to its use in a broadcast or such a service or in a film intended for public exhibition<sup>11</sup>.

A child is treated as taking part in a performance if he takes the place of a performer in any rehearsal or in any preparation for the recording of the performance<sup>12</sup>.

No licence is, however, required if no payment in respect of his taking part in the performance, other than for defraying expenses, is made to him or to another person<sup>13</sup>, and:

- 1395 (i) in the previous six months the child has not taken part in other performances to which the provisions apply on more than three days<sup>14</sup>; or
- 1396 (ii) the performance is given under arrangements made by a school<sup>15</sup> or by a body of persons approved for these purposes by the Secretary of State or by the local authority for the area in which the performance takes place<sup>16</sup>.

The Secretary of State may make regulations prescribing the conditions to be observed with respect to the hours of work, rest and meals of children taking part in performances mentioned in head (i) above<sup>17</sup>.

Local authority officers and constables have certain powers of entry in respect of places where performances take place in pursuance of a licence<sup>18</sup>.

755. Licences.

The power to grant licences<sup>1</sup> is exercisable subject to any restrictions and conditions prescribed by regulations made by the Secretary of State by statutory instrument<sup>2</sup>. A local authority<sup>3</sup> must not grant a licence for a child<sup>4</sup> to do anything unless satisfied that the child is fit to do it, that proper provision has been made to secure his health and kind treatment, and that, having regard to such provision (if any) as has been or will be made therefor, his education will not suffer; but if the authority is so satisfied, it must not refuse the licence<sup>5</sup>. An application for a licence must be in writing in the prescribed form or in a form to the like effect and must be signed by the applicant and a parent<sup>6</sup> of the child and accompanied by specified documents, including two prints of a photograph of the child<sup>7</sup>. The applicant must be the person responsible for the production of the performance in which the child is to take part or<sup>8</sup> the person who is responsible for the organisation of the sporting event or, as the case may be, who proposes to engage the child as a model<sup>9</sup>. There are restrictions on the grant of licences for troupe work<sup>10</sup>. Before a licence is granted in respect of a performance by a child he must be certified medically fit<sup>11</sup>. Licensing authorities have power to make such inquiries as they consider necessary to enable them to be satisfied that they should grant a licence<sup>12</sup>.

A licence granted to an applicant must be in the prescribed form or in a form to the like effect<sup>13</sup>. In addition to the matters prescribed by regulations<sup>14</sup>, the licence must specify the time, if any, during which the child may be absent from school for the purposes authorised by the licence, a child so absent being deemed to be absent with leave granted by a person authorised in that behalf by the managers, governors or proprietor of the school<sup>15</sup>. The licensing authority must send a copy of the licence to the parent who signed the application form<sup>16</sup>. Where an authority grants a licence authorising a child to do something in the area of another local authority it must send prescribed particulars<sup>17</sup> to that other authority<sup>18</sup>.

The holder of a licence must on request produce the licence at all reasonable hours at the place of performance or, as the case may be, the place where the activity to which the licence relates takes place, to an authorised officer of the local authority or to a constable<sup>19</sup>.

1    Ie licences under the Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 37 (as amended): see para 751 ante.

2    Ibid s 37(4). Any statutory instrument so made is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: s 37(8). As to the Secretary of State, and the transfer of certain functions, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, to the Welsh Ministers, see para 155 ante.

Regulations may make different provision for different circumstances and may prescribe, among the conditions subject to which a licence is to be granted, conditions requiring the approval of a local authority and may provide for that approval to be given subject to conditions imposed by the authority: Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 37(5). Without prejudice to the generality of s 37(5), regulations may also prescribe among the conditions subject to which a licence may be granted a condition requiring sums earned by the child in respect of whom the licence is granted in any activity to which the licence relates to be paid into a county court or dealt with in a manner approved by the local authority: s 37(6) (amended by the Children (Protection at Work) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/276, reg 12(1), (6)).

Regulations have been made prescribing the method of application for a licence, etc (see the Children (Performances) Regulations 1968, SI 1968/1728, Pt I (regs 1-5); and the text and notes 8, 9, 12-18 infra), imposing restrictions on the grant of licences (see Pt II (regs 7, 8); and the text and notes 10, 11 infra), and providing restrictions and conditions applying to licences (see Pts III-V (as amended)). Pt III (as amended) applies to all licences and relates to education (see reg 10 (as amended); and para 757 post), earnings (see reg 11 (as amended); and para 760 post), matrons (see reg 12 (as amended); and para 758 post), lodgings (see reg 13 (as amended); and para 758 post), place of rehearsal and performance (see reg 14 (as amended); and para 759 post), arrangements for getting home (see reg 15 (as amended); and para 759 post), breaks in performances (see reg 16; and para 759 post), further medical examinations (see reg 17; and paras 756, 760 post), restrictions on other employment (see reg 18; and para 760 post), the production of licences (see reg 19 (amended by SI 1998/1678)) and, in relation to Wales, child protection policies (see the Children (Performances) Regulations 1968, SI 1968/1728, reg 19A (added by SI 2007/736)). The Children (Performances) Regulations 1968, SI 1968/1728, Pt IV relates to performances other than broadcast or recorded performances and covers licences, the maximum number of rehearsal and performance days per week (see reg 21; and para 761 post), the maximum number and length of rehearsals and performances daily (see reg 22; and para 762 post), and the earliest and latest hours of attendance for rehearsals and performances (see reg 23; and para 762 post). Part V (as amended) relates to broadcast and recorded performances and covers licences, the maximum number of rehearsal and performance days per week (see reg 25; and para 761 post), limitations on daily performances (see reg 26; and para 763 post), provisions for children aged nine or over (see reg 27 (as amended); and para 764 post), provisions for children aged five to eight (see reg 28 (as amended); and para 765 post), provisions for children under five (see reg 29; and para 766 post), night work (see reg 30; and para 767 post) and exceptions to regs 27-29 (see reg 31; and para 768 post). 'Licence' for the purposes of this regulation means a licence authorising a child to do anything for which, by virtue of the Children and Young Person's Act 1963 s 37(1) (see para 751 ante), a licence is required: Children (Performances) Regulations 1968, SI 1968/1728, reg 42(1) (substituted by SI 1998/1678).

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN/ (3) EMPLOYMENT IN ENTERTAINMENT/(i) Employment in Entertainment in the United Kingdom/A. LICENSING OF PERFORMANCES/756. Restrictions on the grant of licences.

756. Restrictions on the grant of licences.

A licensing authority<sup>1</sup> must not grant a licence<sup>2</sup> in respect of a performance<sup>3</sup> in respect of a child<sup>4</sup> who has attained the age of 13 years if the child<sup>5</sup>, by reason of taking part in any performance for which the licence is requested, will have to live elsewhere than at the place where he would otherwise live<sup>6</sup>, and has during the three months preceding the performance for which the licence is requested (or, if the licence is requested for more than one performance, the first performance) lived elsewhere than at the place where he would otherwise have lived by reason of taking part in a performance<sup>7</sup>. However, these provisions do not apply where:

- 1400 (1) the licence is for acting and the part the child is to act cannot be taken except by a child of about his age<sup>8</sup>; or
- 1401 (2) the licence is for dancing in a ballet which does not form part of an entertainment of which anything other than ballet or opera also forms part and the part the child is to dance cannot be taken except by a child of about his age<sup>9</sup>; or
- 1402 (3) the nature of the child's part in the performance is wholly or mainly musical and either the nature of the performance is also wholly or mainly musical or the performance consists only of opera and ballet<sup>10</sup>.

Nor must a licensing authority grant a licence for performances for film or television, for broadcast performances<sup>11</sup>, or for other performances if the child would perform on the maximum permitted number of days<sup>12</sup> in a week<sup>13</sup>, and for a period exceeding one week<sup>14</sup>, unless the school medical officer<sup>15</sup>, or other medically qualified person approved by it, has examined the child<sup>16</sup> and has certified that he is fit to take part in the performances for which the licence is requested and that his health will not suffer by reason of taking part in such performances<sup>17</sup>.

In relation to Wales, a licensing authority must not grant a licence in respect of a child who attends school without first obtaining a report from the head teacher of that school<sup>18</sup>.

15 'School medical officer' means the duly qualified medical practitioner employed or engaged by the licensing authority, whether regularly or for the purposes of any particular case, to carry out medical examinations of pupils: ibid reg 42(1).

16 Where a child has been so examined he need not be medically examined in order that a further licence may be granted in respect of a performance taking place within a period of six months from the date of the said medical examination unless it appears desirable to the licensing authority that he should be medically examined: ibid reg 8(2).

17 Ibid reg 8(1). Where a child has been medically examined under this provision, that child must be medically examined during the seven days immediately following the day of the last performance to which the licence relates unless the licensing authority is satisfied, having regard to the date of the last medical examination of the child and the number and nature of performances in which the child has taken part, that no such medical examination is necessary: reg 17(2). EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN/ (3) EMPLOYMENT IN ENTERTAINMENT/(i) Employment in Entertainment in the United Kingdom/A. LICENSING OF PERFORMANCES/757. Licence restrictions and conditions: education.

757. Licence restrictions and conditions: education.

A licensing authority<sup>1</sup> must not grant a licence<sup>2</sup> unless it is satisfied that the child's<sup>3</sup> education will not suffer by reason of taking part in the performances<sup>4</sup> or activities for which the licence is requested and has approved the arrangements (if any) for the education of the child during the currency of the licence<sup>5</sup>. The holder of the licence must ensure that the arrangements for the child's education during the currency of the licence, approved by the licensing authority, are carried out<sup>6</sup>.

The licensing authority must not approve any arrangements for the education of a child by a private teacher unless it is satisfied that the course of study proposed for the child is satisfactory<sup>7</sup> and will be properly taught<sup>8</sup>; that the private teacher is a suitable person to teach the child in question<sup>9</sup>; and that he will not teach more than five other children at the same time, or, if the other children being taught at the same time have reached a similar standard in the subject to the child in question, eleven<sup>10</sup>.

Nor must the licensing authority approve any arrangements for the education of a child by a private teacher unless it is satisfied that the child will, during the currency of the licence, receive education for periods<sup>11</sup> which, when aggregated, total not less than three hours on each day<sup>12</sup> on which the child would be required to attend school if he were a pupil attending a school maintained by the local authority<sup>13</sup>. Where the performances to which the licence relates are to be recorded (by whatever means) with a view to their use in a broadcast or in a film intended for public exhibition, or the performance entails any period of recording exceeding one week<sup>14</sup>, then this requirement must be deemed to be satisfied if the licensing authority is satisfied that the child will receive education:

- 1403 (1) for not less than six hours a week<sup>15</sup>;
- 1404 (2) during each complete period of four weeks (or, if there is a period of less than four weeks, during that period) for periods not less than the aggregate periods of six hours a week in respect of the period<sup>16</sup>;
- 1405 (3) on days other than days on which the child would not be required to attend school if he were a pupil attending a school maintained by the local authority<sup>17</sup>; and
- 1406 (4) for not more than five hours on any such day<sup>18</sup>.

Any licence under which a child is to be taught by a private teacher is subject to the condition that the local authority approve the schoolroom or other place where the child is to receive education, and the local authority may give its approval subject to such conditions as it considers necessary to ensure that the place is suitable for the child's education<sup>19</sup>.
